Owing to the presence of the St. Catharines and Brantford regiments in Peterboro on Monday, there will be more doing on the holiday than is generally the case with the celebration of Victoria Day in Peterboro. The militia will be prominently featured in the events of the day. In the morning all three regiments will take part in a review at Riverside Park before the officer commanding the troops of Eastern Ontario and the St. Catharines regiment will troop the colours.

At 11.30 o'clock Peterboro's new armouries will be opened by Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works for Canada.

In the afternoon boats will leave the Wolfe St. wharf at 2 and 4 o'clock to take visiting soldiers for a trip over the lift lock. In the evening the 57th Regimental band will give a concert in Victoria Park.

Hon. J. R. Stratton will entertain at dinner in the Oriental Hotel on Monday evening Hon. Wm. Pugsley, L.L.D., Minister of Public Works, Col. W. D. Gordon, D.O.C., Eastern Ontario, the officers of the Peterborough Garrison, the 19th Regiment of St. Catharines and 38th Dufferin Rifles, Brantford, and a number of prominent local citizens.

The citizens of Peterborough will be awakened early to-morrow by the blare of martial music, the rattle of drums and the clarion call of trumpets that will mark the peaceful invasion of the city by the 19th Regiment of St. Catharines and the 38th Dufferin Rifles of Brantford. The visiting corps will arrive in the early hours of the morning, the St. Kitts contingent by Grand Trunk and the greencoats from Brantford on a special C.P.R. Train, and with their arrival will be the commencement of one of the most imposing military demonstrations in the history of Peterborough. Both regiments will be up to full strength so that there will be in the neighbourhood of eigth hundred men in the city for two days. The visitors will find everything in readiness for them on their arrival. The St. Catharines regiment will occupy a large circus tent erected on Central Park by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, while the officers will have the use of a smaller tent pitched close by. On the other hand the Dufferin Rifles will be sheltered in the regular army tents which are being pitched by their advance guard to-day. A dining tent and cook tent have been erected by Messrs. Turner & Sons for the use of the Dufferins at the North side of the armouries. T. H. Hooper will be in charge of the commissariat and will see that the appetites of the green coats is looked after properly. The St. Catharines Regiment will have their meals in the market hall. Mr. F. A. Jacobi who is an old St. Catharines boy, is looking after the arrangements.

On their arrival the visitors will parade to Central Park to their quarters and then be dismissed for breakfast.

At nine o'clock the two visiting corps and the 57th Regiment will parade at the armouries from which the Protestant members of the regiments will parade to St. Paul's Church after which there will be a reception at the residence of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.

On Monday morning all three regiments will assemble at the armouries at 9 o'clock and march to Riverside Park where they will be reviewed by Col. Gordon, the officer commanding the Eastern Ontario Command. The three regiments manoeuvring together on the green sward at Riverside Park should make an imposing pageant and no doubt there will be a big crowd present for the ceremony. A feature of additional interest will be the trooping of the colours by the 19th Regiment.

The formal opening of the new armouries will take place at 11.30 o'clock. Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, performing the ceremonies.

CHAPTER I.

In the month of July of the year 1346, between the feasts of St. Benedict and of St. Swithin, a strange thing came upon England, for out of the east there drifted a monstrous cloud, purple and piled, heavy with evil, climbing slowly up the brushed heaven. In the shadow of that strange cloud the leaves drooped in the trees, the birds ceased their calling, and the cattle and the sheep gathered cowering under the hedges. A gloom fell upon all the land, and men stood with their eyes upon the strange cloud and a heaviness upon their hearts. They crept into the churches where the trembling people were blessed and shriven by the trembling priests. Outside no bird flew, and there came no rustling from the woods, nor any of the homely sounds of nature. All was still, and nothing moved, save only the great cloud which rolled up and onward, with fold on fold from the black horizon. To the west was the light summer sky, to the east this brooding cloud-bank, creeping ever slowly across, until the last thin blue gleam faded away and the whole vast sweep of the heavens was one great laden arch.

Then the rain began to fall. All day it rained, and all the night and all the week and all the month, until folk had forgotten the blue heavens and the gleam of the sunshine. It was not heavy, but it was steady and cold and unceasing, so that the people were weary of its hissing and its splashing, with the slow drip from the eaves. Always the same thick evil cloud flowed from east to west with the rain beneath it. None could see for more than a bow-shot from their dwellings for the drifting veil of the rain-storms. Every morning the folk looked upward for a break, but their eyes rested always upon the same endless cloud, until at last they ceased to look up, and their hearts despaired of ever seeing the change. It was raining at Lammas-tide and raining at the Feast of the Assumption and still raining at Michaelmas. The crops and the hay, sodden and black, had rotted in the fields, for they were not worth the garnering. The sheep had died, and the calves also, so there was little to kill when Martinmas came and it was time to salt the meat for the winter. They feared a famine, but it was worse than famine which was in store for them.

For the rain had ceased at last, and a sickly autumn sun shone upon a land which was soaked and sodden with water. Wet and rotten leaves rocked and festered under the foul haze which rose from the woods. The fields were spotted with monstrous fungi of a size and color never matched before—scarlet and mauve and liver and black. It was as though the sick earth had burst into foul pustules; mildew and lichen mottled the walls, and with that filthy crop Death sprang also from the water-soaked earth. Men died, and women and children, the baron of the castle, the franklin on the farm, the monk in the abbey and the villein in his wattle-and-daub cottage. All breathed the same polluted reek and all died the same death of corruption. Of those who were stricken none recovered, and the illness was ever the same—gross boils, raving, and the black blotches which gave its name to the disease. All through the winter the dead rotted by the wayside for want of some one to bury them. In many a village no single man was left alive. Then at last the spring came with sunshine and health and lightness and laughter—the greenest, sweetest, tenderest spring that England had ever known—but only half of England could know it. The other half had passed away with the great purple cloud.

Yet it was there in that stream of death, in that reek of corruption, that the brighter and freer England was born. There in that dark hour the first streak of the new dawn was seen. For in no way save by a great upheaval and change could the nation break away from that iron feudal system which held her limbs. But now it was a new country which came out from that year of death. The barons were dead in swaths. No reign turret nor cunning moat could keep out that black commoner who struck them down. Oppressive laws slackened for want of those who could enforce them, and once slackened could never be enforced again. The laborer would be a slave no longer. The bondsman snapped his shackles. There was much to do and few left to do it. Therefore the few should be free men, name their own price, and work where and for whom they would. It was the black death which cleared the way for that great rising thirty years later which left the English peasant the freest of his class in Europe.

But there were few so far-sighted that they could see that here, as ever, good was coming out of evil. At the moment misery and ruin were brought into every family. The dead cattle, the ungarnered crops, the untilled lands—every spring of wealth had dried up at the same moment. Those who were rich became poor; but those who were poor already, and especially those who were poor with the burden of gentility upon their shoulders, found themselves in a perilous state. All through England the smaller gentry were ruined, for they had no trade save war, and they drew their living from the work of others. On many a manor-house there came evil times, and none more than on the Manor of Tifford, where for many generations the noble family of the Lorings had held their home.

There was a time when the Lorings had held the country from the North Downs to the Lakes of Frensham, and when their grim castle-keep rising above the green meadows which border the River Wey had been the strongest fortalice betwixt Guildford Castle in the east and Winchester in the west. But there came that Barons' War, in which the King used his Saxon subjects as a whip with which to scourge his Norman barons, and Castle Loring, like so many other great strongholds, was swept from the face of the land. From that time the Lorings, with estates sadly curtailed, lived in what had been the dower-house, with enough for splendor.

And then came their lawsuit with Waverley Abbey, and the Cistercians laid claim to their richest land, with peccary, turbary and feudal rights over the remainder. It lingered on for years, this great lawsuit, and when it was finished the men of the Church and the men of the Law had divided all that was richest of the estate between them. There was still left the old manor-house from which with each generation there came a soldier to uphold the credit of the name and to show the five scarlet roses on the silver shield where it had always been shown—in the van. There were twelve bronzes in the little chapel where Mathew the priest said mass every morning, all of men of the house of Loring. Two lay with their legs crossed, as being from the Crusades. Six others rested their feet upon lions, as having died in war. Four only lay with effigy of their hounds to show that they had passed in peace.

Of this famous but impoverished family, doubly impoverished by law and by pestilence, two members were living in the year of grace 1349—Lady Ermyntrude Loring and her grandson Nigel. Lady Ermyntrude's husband had fallen before the Scottish spearsmen at Stirling, and her son Eustace, Nigel's father, had found a glorious death nine years before this chronicle opens upon the poop of a Norman galley at the sea-fight of Sluys. The lonely old woman, fierce and brooding like the falcon mewed in her chamber, was soft only toward the lad whom she had brought up. All the tenderness and love of her nature, so hidden from others that they could not imagine their existence, were lavished upon him. She could not bear him away from her, and he, with that respect for authority which the age demanded, would not go without her blessing and consent.

So it came about that Nigel, with his lion heart and with the blood of a hundred soldiers thrilling in his veins, still at the age of two and twenty, wasted the weary days reclaiming his hawks with leash and lure or training the alans and spaniels who shared with the family the big earthen-floored hall of the manor-house.

Day by day the aged Lady Ermyntrude had seen him wax in strength and in manhood, small of stature, it is true, but with muscles of steel and a soul of fire. From all parts, from the warden of Guildford Castle, from the tilt-yard of Farnham, tales of his prowess were brought back to her, of his daring as a rider, of his debonair courage, of his skill with all weapons; but still she, who had both husband and son torn from her by a bloody death, could not bear that this, the last of the Lorings, the final bud of so famous an old tree, should share the same fate. With a weary heart, but with a smiling face, he bore with his uneventful days, while she would ever put off the evil time until the harvest was better, until the monks of Waverley should give up what they had taken, until his uncle should die and leave money for his outfit, or any other excuse with which she could hold him to her side.

And indeed, there was need for a man at Tilford, for the strife betwixt the Abbey and the manor-house had never been appeased, and still on one pretext or another the monks would clip off yet one more slice of their neighbor's land. Over the winding river, across the green meadows, rose the short square tower and the high gray walls of the grim Abbey, with its bell tolling by day and night, a voice of menace and of dread to the little household.

It is in the heart of the great Cistercian monastery that this chronicle of old days must take its start, as we trace the feud betwixt the monks and the house of Loring, with those events to which it gave birth, ending with the coming of Chandos, the strange spear-running of Tilford Bridge and the deeds with which Nigel won fame in the wars. Elsewhere, in the chronicle of the White Company, it has been set forth what manner of man was Nigel Loring. Those who love him may read herein those things which went to his making. Let us go back together and gaze upon this green stage of England, the scenery, hill, plain and river even as now, the actors in much our very selves, in much also so changed in thought and act that they might be dwellers in another world to ours.

CHAPTER II.

The day was the first of May, which was the Festival of the Blessed Apostles Philip and James. The year was the 1,349th from man's salvation.

From tierce to sext, and then again from sext to nones, Abbot John of the House of Waverley had been seated in his study while he conducted the many high duties of his office. All around for many a mile on every side stretched the fertile and flourishing estate of which he was the master. In the centre lay the broad Abbey buildings, with church and cloisters, hospitium, chapter-house and ter- house, all buzzing with a bus life. Through the open window came the low hum of the voices of the brethren as they walked in pious converse in the ambulatory below. From across the cloister there rolled the distant rise and fall of a Gregorian chant, where the precentor was hard at work upon the choir, while down in the chapter-house sounded the strident voice of Brother Peter, expounding the rule of Saint Bernard to the novices.

Abbot John rose to stretch his cramped limbs. He looked out at the greensward of the cloister, and at the graceful line of open Gothic arches which skirted a covered walk for the brethren within. Two and two in their black-and-white garb with slow step and heads inclined, they paced round and round. Several of the more studious had brought their illuminating work from the scriptorium, and sat in the warm sunshine with their little platters of pigments and packets of gold-leaf before them, their shoulders rounded and their faces sunk low over the white sheets of vellum. There too was the copper-worker with his burin and graver. Learning and art were not traditions with the Cistercians as with the parent Order of the Benedictines, and yet the library of Waverley was well filled both with precious books and with pious students.

But the true glory of the Cistercian lay in his outdoor work, and so ever and anon there passed through the cloister some sun-burned monk, soiled mattock or shovel in hand, with his gown looped to his knee, fresh from the fields or the garden. The lush green water-meadows speckled with the heavy-fleeced sheep, the acres of corn-land reclaimed from heather and bracken, the vineyards on the southern slope of Crooksbury Hill, the rows of Hankley fish-ponds, the Frensham marshes drained and sown with vegetables, the spacious pigeon-cotes, all circled the great Abbey round with the visible labors of the Order.

The Abbot's full and florid face shone with a quiet content as he looked out at his huge but well-ordered house-hold. Like every head of a prosperous Abbey, Abbot John, the fourth of the name, was a man of various accomplishments. Through his own chosen instruments he had to minister a great estate and to keep order and decorum among a large body of men living a celibate life. He was a rigid disciplinarian toward all beneath him, a supple diplomatist to all above. He held high debate with neighboring abbots and lords, with bishops, with papal legates, and even on occasion with the King's majesty himself. Many were the subjects with which he must be conversant. Questions of doctrine, questions of building, points of forestry, of agriculture, of drainage, of feudal law, all came to the Abbot for settlement. He held the scales of Justice in all the Abbey banlieue which stretched over many a mile of Hampshire and of Surrey. To the monks his displeasure might mean fasting, exile to some sterner community, or even imprisonment in chains. Over the layman also he could hold any punishment save only corporeal death, instead of which he had in hand the far more dreadful weapon of spiritual excommunication.

Such were the powers of the Abbot, and it is no wonder that there were masterful lines in the ruddy features of Abbot John, or that the brethren, glancing up, should put on an even meeker carriage and more demure expression as they saw the watchful face in the window above them.

A knock at the door of his studio recalled the Abbot to his immediate duties, and he returned to his desk. Already he had spoken with his cellarer and prior, almoner, chaplain and lector, but now in the tall and gaunt monk who obeyed his summons to enter he recognized the most important and also the most importunate of his agents, Brother Samuel the sacrist, whose office, corresponding to that of the layman's bailiff, placed the material interests of the monastery and its dealings with the outer world entirely under his control, subject only to the check of the Abbot. Brother Samuel was a gnarled and stringy old monk whose stern and sharp-featured face reflected no light from above but only that sordid workaday world toward which it was forever turned. A huge book of accounts was tucked under one of his arms, while a great bunch of keys hung from the other hand, a badge of his office, and also on occasion of impatience a weapon of offense, as many a scarred head among rustics and lay brothers could testify.

The Abbot sighed wearily, for he suffered much at the hands of his strenuous agent. "Well, Brother Samuel, what is you will?" he asked.

"Holy father, I have to report that I have sold the wool to Master Baldwin of Winchester at two shillings a bale more than it fetched last year, for the murrain among the sheep has raised the price."

"You have done well, brother."

"I have also to tell you that I have distrained Wat the warrener from his cottage, for his Christmas rent is still unpaid, nor the hen-rents of last year."

"He has a wife and four children, brother." He was a good, easy man, the Abbot, though liable to be overborne by his sterner subordinate.

"It is true, holy father; but if I should pass him, then how am I to ask the rent of the foresters of Puttenham, or the hinds in the village? Such a thing spreads from house to house, and where then is the wealth of Waverley?"

"What else, Brother Samuel?"

"There is the matter of the fish-ponds."

The Abbot's face brightened. It was a subject upon which he was an authority. If the rule of his Order had robbed him of the softer joys of life, he had the keener zest for those which remained.

"How have the char prospered, brother?"

"They have done well, holy father, but the carp have died in the Abbot's pond."

"Carp prosper only upon a gravel bottom. They must be put in also in their due proportion, three milters to one spawner, brother sacrist, and the spot must be free from wind, stony and sandy, an ell deep, with willows and grass upon the banks. Mud for tench, brother, gravel for carp."

The sacrist leaned forward with the face of one who bears tidings of woe. "There are pike in the Abbot's pond," said he.

"Pike!" cried the Abbot in horror. "As well shut up a wolf in our sheep-folk. How came a pike in the pond? There were no pike last year, and a pike does not fall with the rain nor rise in the springs. The pond must be drained, or we shall spend next Lent upon stockfish, and have the brethren down with the great sickness ere Easter Sunday has come to absolve us from our abstinence."

"The pond shall be drained, holy father; I have already ordered it. Then we shall plant pot-herbs on the mud bottom, and after we have gathered them in, return the fish and water once more from the lower pond, so that they may fatten among the rich stubble."

"Good!" cried the Abbot. "I would have three fish-stews in every well-ordered house—one dry for herbs, one shallow for the fry and the yearlings, and one deep for the breeders and the table-fish. But still, I have not heard you say how the pike came in the Abbot's pond."

A spasm of anger passed over the fierce face of the sacrist, and his keys rattled as his bony hand clasped them more tightly. "Young Nigel Loring!" said he. "He swore that he would do us scathe, and in this way he has done it."

"How know you this?"

"Six weeks ago he was seen day by day fishing for pike at the great Lake of Frensham. Twice at night he has been met with a bundle of straw under his arm on the Hankley Down. Well, I wot that the straw was wet and that a live pike lay within it."

The Abbot shook his head. "I have heard much of this youth's wild ways; but now indeed he has passed all bounds if what you say be truth. It was bad enough when it was said that he slew the King's deer in Woolmer Chase, or broke the head of Hobbs the chapman, so that he lay for seven days betwixt life and death in our infirmary, saved only by Brother Peter's skill in the pharmacies of herbs; but to put pike in the Abbot's pond—why should he play such a devil's prank?"

"Because he hates the House of Waverley, holy father; because he swears that we hold his father's land."

"In which there is surely some truth."

"But, holy father, we hold no more than the law has allowed."

To be continued next Saturday.

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted.

Or again, you have, a sinking sensation, a feeling you are going to die; or perhaps, you wake in your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. If you allow these conditions to continue for a short period even, you will begin to feel your health declining. It is the nerves and heart not acting rightly, and they can only be set right by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by deadening the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action.

Mrs. E. Nutt, St. Mary's, Ont., writes:—"I can gladly recommend your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as I was greatly troubled with my nerves. I was so bad I could not sleep at night without the lamp burning, but after taking four boxes of the pills I became all right again."

KEEPING A SECRET.

Tenderfeet Sometimes Overlook the Incidental Expenses.

Once in a while a chap wanders into a New Ontario silver camp with big ambitions and a bank account. He is going to stake three claims on his license and permit, and do the work or have it done and some day own a mine.

I have met one or two—not many in the multitude, says A. C. Pulver in The World—and they are usually unsophisticated enough to declare their ambitions, which are miles ahead of their bankbooks.

There's a rough estimate of expense, that these chaps usually overlook and neglect to pick out of the heaped-up enthusiasm.

First of all comes the license fee of $5 and a permit fee of $15, for staking in the reserve.

Then a man is almost necessary to complete the expedition and this man gets six or seven dollars a day, but this expense will be omitted and the lone individual goes out alone.

His outfit is going to cost about $200, and he stakes three claims allowed by his $15 expenditure for license and permit. After making a discovery and putting in the posts, the prospector comes back again to the recorder's office, and does his recording. First of all, he pays $2 to some lawyer to get an application for record made out for each claim. This means $6 to the lawyers. After that it costs $10.50 a claim to record in the recording office, and this amounts to $31.50.

And still the red tape stretches out. There is next an application to proceed with the assessment work, and this application costs $2 up here in Gowganda, but before that there is the certificate of record at $1. Multiply these by three and there is $9 added.

In order to get a patent there is 180 days' work to do on each claim—that is 30 days the first year, 60 the second and 90 the third year.

This work will average $5 a day or $900 for one claim, at 180 days; for three claims $2,700. During this work a proper survey has to be made, which costs $75 a claim, which comes in at $225. Finally "compensation" for the land hits the purse strings and on three claims it would be $300. After all of this a man can get a patent.

Besides incidentals, this whole business amounts to about $3,266.50.

Survival of the Fittest.

Only one oyster embryo out of every 5,000,000 produced grows up through all the successive stages of youth to the adult state. Even in animals which produce a small number of young there is great destruction, and taking all the individuals into consideration, only a single pair of young arrive at maturity to replace their parents. There is no exception to the rule that every organic being naturally multiplies at so high a rate that if not destroyed the progeny of a single pair would soon cover the earth. The elephant is reckoned the slowest breeder of known animals. It commences to breed at thirty years of age, dies at 100 and has six young in the interval. After 750 years, supposing all the offspring of a single pair fulfilled the rule and were not destroyed in an untimely way, there would be nearly 19,000,000 elephants alive descended from the first pair.—Sir Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

YOU TAKE IT MIXED WITH AIR.

Ever since Adam, the air of the pine woods has been known to possess marvellous healing properties. In fact, doctors claim that people living in the balsamic atmosphere of the woods never contract consumption or catarrh.

A new remedy that embraces all the healing curative powers of the pine woods has at last been realized. It contains the balsams, the ozone, and many other antiseptics that make it an absolute cure for all catarrhal diseases.

For years doctors have been looking for just such a remedy, and claim the newly-discovered Catarrhozone is the most effectual, the most scientific cure for catarrh, bronchitis and winter ills they have met

USED IN ALL HOSPITALS.

So powerfully healing is Catarrhozone that simple colds in the head and coughs can be cured in less than an hour. Chronic catarrh is eradicated from the system in the most thorough manner. It doesn't matter whether the catarrh affects the nose, throat or stomach. It can be completely driven from the system by using fragrant, healing Catarrhozone.

The remotest parts of the lungs and air passages often contain germs of catarrh and consumption which cannot be reached by the ordinary treatment, but the searching vapor of Catarrhozone carries its antiseptic healing power right to these isolated spots. So thoroughly does Catarrhozone reach all diseased surfaces that it cures for all time, and no relapse need ever be feared

CATARRHOZONE A SURE CURE.

No matter how long you have suffered from disease of any portion of the breathing organs, it matters not how many disappointments you have sustained from the hundred and one remedies you may have tried, an hour's use of Catarrhozone will afford better results than you could obtain from months' use of other remedies.

You can readily understand why this is possible—it is because you breathe it right to the parts that are diseased. Immediately the droppings in the throat will lessen, irritation and soreness grow less, the stuffiness and difficulty of breathing will disappear almost as if by magic, and in the majority of cases a very short time is sufficient to effect a radical cure. Druggists sell Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (guaranteed), price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

A GRAND KIDNEY MEDICINE

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him When Everything Else Failed.

Ulverton, Que., March 17th, 1908.

I wish to place on record, for the sake of others who may be suffering in the same way that I suffered, that no medicine I ever took did me so much real good as "Fruit-a-tives" did.

I suffered for many years with Kidney Trouble, with bad pain in the back.

I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill, but nothing gave me any relief, and I was getting discouraged.

I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and did so—and this medicine cured me when everything else failed.

I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," and from the outset they gave me relief and I am now practically well again; no pain, no distress, and all symptoms of kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well, and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I did. To them, I say try "Fruit-a-tives," as they are a grand kidney medicine

HE GOT THE FIFTY.

C. D. Warren of the Trader's Bank Can Always Identify Himself.

A story running through banking circles recently is to the effect that Mr. C. D. Warren, president of the Trader's Bank, found himself short of funds in a little Ontario settlement the other day. Presenting a cheque for fifty dollars at the express office he was eyed with suspicion by the clerk.

"He looks honest, but he's a swell dresser an' might be one of them flim-flam fellers you read about," reasoned the village representative of the express company whose corner in the general store was also used as postoffice. He had heard "the boys," when they called for the mail, talk about just such tricks as this might be, "an' fifty dollars was a hull lot of money." Therefore he demanded satisfactory identification.

Realizing that argument was useless and his cards of not much greater value, Mr. Warren searched in vain through pocket after pocket. Finally he let his fingers rest and made a mental research of his brain—the treasure house of all great men.

"I know!" said he almost instantly. "Have you a Trader's Bank bill in the till? Let's see it."

After a few seconds' fumbling, a five dollar note was produced and spread upon the counter.

"There!" exclaimed Mr. Warren, emphasizing the point with an emphatic first finger. "That's my picture and that's my signature."

"Jimmy" In the Spotlight.

Hon. James Stoddart Duff, though the newest Minister of the Whitney Cabinet, has been in the limelight quite a long time, and isn't specially shy. But he had a little experience a few weeks ago that was rather embarrassing even to one of his experience.

It was on the occasion of one of the several dinner and theatre parties to which Geo. H. Gooderham, M.P.P. for South Toronto, entertained the members during the session. Hon. Mr. Duff was one of the honored guests and after dining sumptuously at the National Club they occupied a box at Shea's. Everything went nicely until the gay little comedienne came out to sing her song entitled, "I Want Only You." Then she turned the halo of her strong spot-light right on the blushing countenance of Mr. Duff, and the scene was more amusing to his fellow-legislators than to the Minister of Agriculture.

But in view of the fact that an abundant good nature is one of the outstanding characteristics of the newest Minister, he enjoyed it, too, even though he may have had a suspicion that some of the facetious members had told the girl where to put the spot-light.

Delighted With Canada.

The Scottish Agricultural Commission, which visited Canada in 1908, has issued its report. It is an excellent analysis of agricultural conditions in Canada. They point out that Canada suffers from "honest exaggeration," as well as from superabundance of land agents and speculators, but on the other hand it is a country of boundless agricultural possibilities. They recommend that no one should farm in Canada until he knows the country, its climatic conditions, and has learned experience has a hired hand or otherwise. It is remarked that their high appreciation of the capacities of Canada will be valuable, especially as it is acknowledged that "rare hospitality" has not swept them away in a tide of indiscriminate flattery.

The Best Advice.

If you are about to do something which may cause trouble, ask the advice of a man who has tried it. His advice will be stronger than that of a moralist, and it will be backed by experience.—Atchison Globe.

Keep an eye on your enemies, but keep a microscope to one eye and a telescope to the other when watching your "friends."—E. P. Shevlin.

FOILED THEIR PLOT.

The Way Mme. Alboni Frustrated a Scheme to Hiss Her.

"Once upon a time, when Mme. Alboni was at Trieste," writes Henry C. Lahee in "Famous Singers of Today," "she was informed of the existence of a plot to hiss her off the stage. Having ascertained the names of her detractors and where they were to be found, she donned male attire, to which her short hair and robust figure helped to complete her disguise, and went to the cafe at which the conspirators met. Here she found them in full consultation, and, taking a seat at a table, she listened to their conversation for a time. After awhile she addressed the leader, saying: 'I hear that you intend to play a trick upon some one. I am very fond of a little practical joke myself and should be glad if you would allow me to join you on this occasion.'

"'With pleasure,' was the reply. 'We intend to hiss an opera singer off the stage this evening.'

"'Indeed! And of what is she guilty?'

"'Oh, nothing, except that, being an Italian, she has sung in Munich and Vienna to German audiences, and we think she ought to receive some castigation for her unpatriotic conduct.'

"'I agree with you, and now please tell me what I am to do.'

"'Take this whistle,' said the leader. 'At a signal to be given at the conclusion of the air sung by Rosina the noise will begin, and you will have to join in.'

"'I shall be very glad to do so,' said the singer and put the whistle in her pocket.

"In the evening the house was packed—every seat was occupied—and the audience warmly applauded the opening numbers of the opera. In due course Mme. Alboni appeared, and at the point at which she was about to address her tutor a few of the conspirators began to make a disturbance, not waiting for the signal.

"Without showing any concern Mme. Alboni walked down to the footlights, and, holding up the whistle, which was hung to her neck by a ribbon, she exclaimed: 'Gentlemen, are you not a little before your time? I thought we were not to commence whistling until I had sung the air.'

"For a moment a deathly stillness prevailed; then suddenly the house broke into thunders of applause, which was led by the conspirators themselves."

A GRATEFUL PATIENT.

The Coin That Was Measured by a Famous Surgeon.

Dr. Grenfell, an old London hospital pupil, in a sketch of Sir Frederick Treves in the Pall Mall Gazette tells the story of a tiny sovereign gold piece given by a grateful patient to the famous surgeon and guarded by him as a priceless treasure. A sailor from Norway had been operated on by Sir Frederick in hospital. His life had been saved, and he had gone his way. Late one evening a timid knock brought Sir Frederick himself at that unusual hour to his door in Wimpole street. A tall, gaunt sailor in threadbare attire asked if this was where "Mr. Treves lives." At his earnest request, though somewhat under protest, he was allowed to enter. He at once proceeded to get out a jackknife, and from the lining of the belt of his trousers he cut out a small gold piece and offered it to Sir Frederick. On his refusal to accept it the man was so hurt that Sir Frederick listened to his story, and an interesting one it was.

The man had on leaving hospital sought a berth at the London docks, but, being a stranger, had been unable to get one. He had got out of money and had gone hungry day after day, though he knew that he had sewed up in his waistband by his wife in Norway the piece of gold in question. He had got so pulled down by bad living that he at last decided he must spend the money, but that very day he succeeded in getting a berth on a ship, and his advance had given the food he stood so sorely in need of. He had promptly tramped all the way to Wimpole street, and his bearing was such that Sir Frederick found himself "bowing into the darkness, holding the gold piece in his hand and with an overwhelming sense of inferiority strongly impressed on his mind."

Tibetan Test of Character.

The Tibetans have some strange tests for ascertaining the character of a man, said Sven Hedin. One is by means of a hole in a block of granite, through which the individual has to crawl. If he is an honest man he will, according to the theory of the Tibetans, creep through, but if a scoundrel he will step in the middle.

He served with distinction through the Indian Mutiny. He was in receipt of a pension of 2s. 3d. per day, which he has drawn for nearly half a century.

There was interred in the Roman Catholic burying ground, Keady, the body of an old Indian Mutiny veteran, ex-Sergeant Patrick Renneghan, who died at the advanced age of 91.

The death took place, suddenly at Belfast of John Aitchison, ex-sergeant of the Highland Light Infantry, and manager of several of Messrs. McLachlan's Irish licensed houses.

In the great whisky fire at Belfast last week enough whisky was destroyed to fill 3,000,000 bottles, the equivalent, as many a sorrowful Bacchanolian is reflecting to-day, of 60,000,000 "goes."

The supply of small coasting vessels, both steam and sailing, but more particularly the former, to carry potatoes from Derry, Antrim, and Down ports to Liverpool, for transhipment to the United States, is scarcely equal to the demand.

The church of Ireland clergy of he united dioceses of Ossory, Ferns, and Leighlin, of which the Right Rev. Dr. Crozier was Bishop for ten years, prior to his translation to the see of Down and Connor and Dromore in 1907, have presented him with his portrait in oils.

Death has removed a familiar Belfast figure in the person of Patrick Caulfield, an old sailor who for many years had followed the occupation of a ship's model maker. In all weathers Caulfield was to be seen occupying a seat near the General Post Office plying his occupation.

DON'T DIET FOR FAT

You have no appetite for greed, have you? By the same token, if you scale in excess of 150 pounds, I know you have no great liking for gymnasium stunts. As a rule fat folks are neither athletic nor ascetic, except under compulsion, and nowadays they are not under compulsion to be either, no matter how necessary it is for them to reduce. There is a third, better, and surer way of getting rid of superfluous flesh.

The trouble with both dieting and exercise is, first, the trouble; second, the danger (fatty heart); third, wrinkles; and, fourth, stomach disgust. You are liable to all four if you exercise or diet. On the other hand, you can sidestep all four, and still reduce as much or little as you please, even up to losing a pound a day if you see fit by taking a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of the following simple home receipt: One-half ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces Peppermint Water.

Any druggist will fill this prescription for you cheaply, and you may take it with perfect confidence that it will do no manner of harm. Instead almost invariably improves the health and, likewise, the complexion.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

The following are suggestive questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club for May 23rd, 1909:

The Council at Jerusalem. Acts xv: 1-35.

Golden Text. — We believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they. Acts xv:11.

Verses 1-5.—Are good men liable to hold wrong opinions?

When good men differ in opinion what is the better way in order to reach an understanding?

When a professed Christian gets angry with another Christian, on a mere matter of opinion, has he or not backslidden from the love of God, and what spirit does it show? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Circumcision no doubt originated from supposed purpose of health a ndphysical cleanliness, and afterwards became a national institution of the Jews. State when God first made circumcision the sign, or token, of the covenant between him and Abraham and his seed, and to whom the rite of circumcision and God's convenant extended. (See Gen. xvii.)

Is circumcision now essential to salvation?

Verses 6-11.—Is experience of God and his dealings with us, conclusive proof of the will of God in the matters which the experience covers?

Is thorough discussion in church courts, a perfectly right way to arrive at the will of God on any matter?

Were those who taught that circumcision was essential to salvation as well as being narrow, necessarily untrue men?

What is the difference between the "yoke" of the law and the "yoke" of Jesus? (v.10.)

Verse 12.—Recall some of the wonders done through Paul and Barnabas, among the Gentiles, and say what bearing they had upon the dispute concerning circumcision?

Verses 13-21.—Who was James, who next addressed the council?

James, the brother of Jesus, was the president of this council; it is probable that his address was of the nature of the judgment of the council on this question?

Verses 22-29.—There seems to have been no formal motion passed by the council, but they apear to have reached an unanimous decision as outlined in the address of the president; say whether we are bound to take this decision as the voice of God.

In what particulars is the great wisdom of the council shown in settling this dispute?

Were each of the commandments given in verse 29 intended to be of lasting obligation, or were some of them only temporary?

From what are Christians to get guidance on all matters in this day?

Verses 30-25.—There never will be a time when disputes may not occur, in the church and between individuals; how should they always be settled?

Did this trouble in the church help it or hurt it, and does God always over-rule trouble, whoever may be the cause of it, for the good of his children?

Nervous, Tired, Anxious, Thin

What causes nervous collapse? Most people say worry, anxiety, brooding, but these are simply the outcomes of a lowered physical condition. When strong we throw them off, but when run down they hold as if by chains.

The true cause of nervous collapse is in the blood. When thin and watery it contains no nourishment for the nerves, no support for the muscles—result is collapse.

The truest food for the nerves is the nourishing blood that Ferrozone forms. Ferrozone builds up the nervous and depressed, not by stimulation, but by the surer way of adding flesh, blood, and sinew. The whole system is vitalized; the nerves are fortified—you can sleep, work hard, and be free from brooding anxiety.

FERROZONE Makes Health

No health winner so certain as Ferrozone, no nerve strengthener more potent, no system tonic so well adapted to the wants of the rundown, nervous, or sleepless. Ferrozone is certain to cure if you give it a chance. 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

HAS SURVIVED 64 BEAR BITES

Victim Lay Exposed Seven Days After Mauling by Bruin.

Washington, May 20.—A remarkable bear story is incoporated in the brief and formal official report of Passed Assistant Surgeon C. G. Grieve, in command of the Naval Hospital at Sitka, Alaska.

Last August there was brought to him for treatment the captain of a fishing sloop who had been bitten sixty-four times by a female brown bear, and also had received many deep scratches. The captain, landing on the shore of Rodman bay to hunt, had stumbled on the bear with her two young cubs. Before he could use his rifle the bear was upon him. In the struggle that ensued the man was bitten in all parts of the body.

For days he lay unable to move and finally made his way to the beach.

Surgeon Grieve says: "This case is interesting in that it shows the remarkable nerve of the man. It also serves to disprove the time-honoured fallacy originating in the claim of old hunters that bears never bite man."

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Temperance and Moral Reform League of this City, who have arranged for its Publication.

THE TRUTH ABOUT WINE AND BEER DRINKING

At every turn the advocate of temperance legislation is met with the argument that the drinking of wine and beer is not injurious. We are told that if men abstain from the use of whisky, gin, brandy and other stronger liquors and drink only wine and beer, it would be a benefit and not an injury to them. In support of this contention, we are told that in the wine producing countries of Southern Europe where people drink wine freely from childhood to old age, they are never intoxicated and never injured by it. Every one has heard that old fable and most of us have believed that there is a good deal of truth in it.

A recent article in this column giving the results of a long series of scientifically conducted experiments showed that for either physical or mental work the efficiency of the human system is decreased by the smallest quantities of alcohol. That it makes no difference under what circumstances it is taken the result is still the same. There now appears an article by Mr. M. Woods, of Philadelphia, who has carried on a thorough investigation as to the actual condition of affairs in the wine and beer drinking countries. Dr. Woods is chairman of a committee charged with the preparation of certain text books on the effects of alcohol, and in connection with the work carried on the investigation referred to.

Fighting the Scourge

Dr. Woods' first conclusion is based on the fact that at the present time there exists in France, Italy, Germany, Belgium and other continental countries of Southern and Central Europe, just as vigorous a crusade against drink as among the people of Britain or America. At a recent Anti-Alcoholic congress in Stockholm, there were on exhibition over 1200 periodicals entirely devoted to fighting the evil and less than 200 of them were in English.

The Governments of nearly all the countries of Europe are at present concerned with legislation dealing in some way or other with the linquor traffic. It is the same awful curse everywhere calling for the same drastic measures of reform.

Effects of Light Drinking

Another line of argument is based on the statistics dealing with crime and insanity in these countries. It is pointed out that at Rome, 28 out of every 100 insane have been made through alcoholism, at Lacca 25, and at Genoa 30 in every 100. Authorities are quoted to show that in Germany 41 per cent. of all recorded crimes are due to drink, in Belgium 75 per cent. and in France and Italy probably even a higher percentage. Special attention is called to the fact that in the last mentioned countries the proportion of juvenile criminals is exceedingly high and that it is attributed to the free use of wine in the homes and on the tables of the people when it is partaken of freely by the children.

Dr. Gordon Sharp writes in the Medical Temperance Review, "For many years it has been taught that slightly intoxicating beverages are not detrimental to the tissues, but we can in truth teach our patients to-day that the continual soaking with dilute alcohol in the shape of beers, ales and wines is harmful to the tissues and often originate permanent damage to the liver, the brain, and the spinal cord. It is often deplored by a certain class of people that we have not the light wines of France and Switzerland or the light beers of Germany and Austria. They imagine that if we could introduce these and get the people to drink them, the whole difficulty would disappear and drunkenness would cease. There can be no greater mistake. One cannot live in any one of those countries without seeing the ravages of alcohol, but I will go farther and say that alcohol produces greater havoc among the people of France, Switzerland and Austria than it does in Great Britain. The intelligent medical men and sociologists of continental Europe are fully alive to the danger and are doing all they can to call serious attention to it. Thus, the man who holds up continental practices to our emulation is lacking in knowledge of the actual state of things."

The truth about alcoholism in wine-drinking countries is a subject of tragic interest; but perhaps enough has been said to convince the reader that general sobriety in these regions is a popular fallacy.

Local Option in Stirling

Stirling, with which many people in Peterborough are well acquainted and which at one time was somewhat noted for the amount of liquor that was consumed there, has been under local option for slightly over a year. According to the leading merchants of Stirling, including its chief municipal officer, Reeve W. R. Mather, local option is proving a great success. This week, a member of the press committee of the Peterbor Temperance League while in Stirling, took occasion to interview some of the leading merchants on the question of local option.

"Local option," said Reeve W. R. Mather, who conducts the largest general store in Stirling, "is proving a great success. Where there used to be cart loads of liquors consumed here, there are not wheelbarrows full now. It is true that some people will tell you, that more liquor is drunk now than before, but such is not the case as any one who investigates the conditions can easily ascertain. Those who want to drink now have to drive 16 miles to such points as Madoc, Trenton or Belleville to get it, and few of them care to do that. Where drunken crowds used to hang around the bar rooms in our hotels we now never see any sign of heavy drinking.

"We are told before we carried local option that it would kill the town and that it would drive away business. It has not done anything of the kind. In spite of the disastrous fire that wiped out a considerable portion of the business section of the town, our citizens have erected new and more costly buildings than those they have replaced and business generally has been good. Many who used to spend their earnings in the saloon are now giving the money to their families and our merchants feel the benefit. We have been very strict in exacting penalties when we have caught any person under the influence of liquor with the result that we now see little evidence of drinking. Local option has proved such a success in Stirling that I advise other municipalities to adopt it if they get a chance."

Another Enthusiastic

All that had been said in favour of local option by Reeve Mather was endorsed by Mr. L. Miklejohn who conducts a large hardware store. "It is a great success," said Mr. Miklejohn in referring to local option. "It has benefitted business, it has reduced drunkenness and crime, it has improved the position of many families, that formerly were in want through the wage earners spending the money in drink. While there is still a little liquor consumed, it is not to be compared in quantity to what was drunk when we had the open bar. Practically every person in Stirling will admit this, although there is an occasional odd, one who contends that the contrary is the case. At one of our lodge meetings recently a member made the statement that more liquor is being consumed under local option that there was formerly. Although he was hooted down by practically every one present he held his ground. As a business man, I willingly bear testimony to the fact that local option is benefitting Stirling."

The proprietor of one of the chief stationery stores in Stirling was asked for his views. "I do not see how any intelligent person can ask us if local option is proving a success," he replied. "Before we had local option, thousands of dollars were spent for liquor. Since the bars have been closed, this money has been free for other purposes and our merchants are reaping the benefit. Men who used to to drink heavily are now reforming and their families are being benefited."

Another merchant said that he had been opposed to local option, but that during the past year he had seen so many families that had been benefited by it, he had changed his views, and would be willing to vote for local option should the question ever again be raised.

ENTOMBED FOR 100 HOURS

Berlin, May 22.—Three men have been rescued after being buried alive for over one hundred hours in a coal mine at Steeale, near Essen.

A fourth miner was killed by a fall of earth, but the others never abandoned hope, although in utter darkness and without food. A stream of water near saved them from the agonies of thirst.

The entombed men agreed to stay awake until they were saved, and continue in turn to count the time, each taking two hours spell. After a couple of days they heard the voices of those seeking them and the watch became easier.

Amid the rejoicings of the entire district they were taken out to-day in an exhausted condition. Now they are in the hospital, where they are doing well. Two of the men are married with families.

BOY SAW LOVER STRANGLE SISTER

Terrible Crime Committed in a Cornwall Village.

London, May 22.—St. Erth, a village near St. Ives, Cornwall, was the scene of a sad tragedy recently, a young girl named Emily Tredrea being strangled to death. A young man is under arrest charged with her murder.

William Hampton, the accused, who is twenty-three years of age, had been lodging with the Tredrea family, and paying his attentions, which were none too welcome, to Emily, whose age was sixteen. About ten o'clock on Sunday night, Mrs. Tredrea went out to visit Hampton's grandmother, leaving her daughter and Hampton in the kitchen. Three other children were in the house—a boy aged nine, a girl of six, and a baby, Rowland, the boy, and the girl had gone to bed.

After his mother's departure Rowland heard a struggle downstairs, and on going into the kitchen saw his sister on the floor, where, he declares, she was being held down by Hampton, who had his knee on her chest, and his hands round her throat. Terrified, the boy endeavored to run out; but the man had fastened the door and prevented his egress. The child then saw the assailant pick his sister up and place her in a chair, from which she fell. He then placed her in a wicker chair, after which the lad was allowed to go out. He immediately ran to his mother and told her what had occurred.

Mrs. Tredrea returned with P. C. Ashford. Emily was found in the chair lifeless and Hampton was missing. Bruises were plainly visible on the girl's throat, and a closer examination showed that extreme violence must have been used.

About half-past eleven p.m. Hampton walked up to two constables on duty in Hayle and stated that he had murdered a young girl at St. Erth. He was brought before the magistrates at Hayle, and after formal evidence he was remanded.

The EDISON PHONOGRAPH

THE Edison Phonograph differs from all other sound-reproducing instruments because it was invented and perfected by Thomas A. Edison, and because it is constructed on a principle which is more nearly perfect than that of any other instrument made for the purpose.

The first Phonograph ever made was made by Mr. Edison, and from that invention was perfected the Edison Phonograph which today is considered the most perfect instrument for reproducing music, voice and other sounds. For you the Edison Phonograph means constant and varied entertainment of the kind for which you would pay theatre and concert prices to enjoy otherwise, but which, with the Edison Phonograph, you can enjoy in your own home. No method of spending an evening can be pleasanter, whether you use it for the enjoyment of yourself and family, whether you invite friends to hear it, or whether you use it for informal entertaining, either for a program or dance. It is always there, always ready to be turned on; it is easily operated, and the cost is slight.

Edison Amberol Records

Mr. Edison did not consider his Phonograph good enough with Records that played only two minutes, so he experimented until he produced a Record which will play more than four minutes. It is no larger than the other Record. It is played on the same Phonograph by means of an attachment which your dealer has. It more than doubles the enjoyment of the Phonograph.

Music formerly unavailable for the two-minute Record, on account of its length, can now be heard in full and to better advantage.

There is an Edison dealer near you. Go and hear the Edison Phonograph, and especially ask to hear the new Edison Amberol Records.

FREE. Ask your dealer or write to us for illustrated catalogue of Edison Phonographs, also catalogue containing complete lists of Edison Records, old and new.

We Desire Good Live Dealers to sell Edison Phonographs in every town where we are not now well represented. Dealers having established stores should write at once to

A HISTORIC WRANGLE

RIOTS ENDING IN BURNING OF PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

Recent Conflicts In the House at Ottawa Pale Into Insignificance Beside the Trouble In Montreal Over Rebellion Losses Bill—Same Day Marked the Setting Up of Vancouver as a Crown Colony.

It has just turned sixty years since riots, stirred up by the Rebellion Losses Bill, resulted in the destruction by fire of the Parliament Buildings of United Canada at Montreal, when the commercial metropolis lost for all time its status as the political capital of the country. During the little more than half a century that has flown since that memorable but equally discreditable occurrence, the narrow union has expanded into a broad federation, and the shores of the Pacific and the Arctic Ocean, as well as those of the Atlantic, have become parts of the boundaries of the Dominion of Canada. Nor has our expansion been wholly material. Something of a national spirit has been developed, a better understanding has been reached between the different races composing our population, a broader outlook is enjoyed both as regard affairs at home and abroad, and a more correct appreciation prevails respecting the future of the Empire and the rights and duties of its widely-scattered members. Although the party spirit still dominates our public life and is still carried to an extreme not always conducive to the best interests of the country, still in comparison with the spirit that prevailed sixty years ago, it is mild and reasonable.

The country was surprised and no doubt pained at the wordy warfare waged in the House of Commons the other day by two opposing leaders, but when compared with the conflicts that resounded through the chamber of the Assembly just prior to the riot of April 25th, 1849, that scene of wrangling was mild indeed.

An evidence of this is found in the report of the debate on the second reading of the Rebellion Losses Bill, proposing to indemnify the sufferers in Lower Canada in much the same way that sufferers in Upper Canada had been indemnified a couple of years before, a movement inaugurated by the Tory Government, of which Mr. Draper, afterwards Chief Justice of the Upper Province, was the head. The Lower Canada bill had been introduced by the Baldwin-Lafontaine Government, and it was supported pretty generally by the whole Reform Party. Opposition to it was led by Sir Allan MacNab, and he and Solicitor-General Blake during that debate almost came to blows, and had to be taken in charge by the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The bill was passed, Lord Elgin gave it royal assent, and the mob burned the Houses of Parliament and stoned the Governor-General. In acting as he did Lord Elgin applied for the first time in its entirety in Canada the principle of responsible Government. He may have disliked the Rebellion Losses Bill, and probably some features of it he heartily disapproved of, but it had been introduced by his Ministers and sanctioned by a majority of the representatives of the people in Parliament assembled. The Ministers were responsible for it, and as a constitutional governor only one course was open to him—to assent to the bill and give operation to the will of Parliament. That the mob vented a portion of their rage upon him showed how imperfectly understood was the principle of responsible Government for which the people had clamored for so many years, and which had only recently been secured.

The work of the mob that night sixty years ago gave Canadian public life a bad name which it took a long time to live down; it lost to Montreal the seat of Government which for the next sixteen years flitted between Toronto and Quebec until it found a permanent abiding-place at Ottawa; and it inflicted a loss that to a large extent was irreparable, for in the fire was consumed the Assembly Library of twenty thousand volumes and many records of great historic value. About the only thing saved was the life-size painting of the Queen, which was rescued from the flames by Sir Allan MacNab, "with characteristic loyalty." To-day that picture adorns one wall of the House of Commons.

On the same day on which the Parliament Buildings of Upper and Lower Canada were destroyed, a new British colony was set up on the western shores of North America, and which to-day is that part of the Dominion looking out towards the Orient. On April 25th, 1849, the Island of Vancouver became a Crown Colony, ceasing to be administered by the Hudson Bay Co. The island's first governor was Richard Blanshard, succeeded a year later by the famous James Douglas. The year of the establishing of the colony is marked by another event of still greater importance in the development of the Pacific coast. One day that spring there came on a visit to Fort Victoria, near where the capital of British Columbia now stands, an old Indian chief named Nanaimo. He brought with him his gun, which needed mending, and while in the shop waiting for the repairs to be completed he watched the men put on the fire fresh coal, which was then brought to the colony from England. Picking up a lump he examined it closely, and then said to the men: "There's plenty black stone like that in the country where I live."

The remark was not lost upon his hearers, who promised the Indian that if he would bring them some of the "black stone" they would mend his gun free of charge, and give him a bottle of rum besides. In the following spring he returned with his canoe-load of "black stone." It was found to be coal. The men were guided back to the place where it had been gathered and there was discovered one of the richest coal deposits on the Pacific coast. A fort was built there, and so began the present city of Nanaimo.

BOA CONSTRICTORS.

The Young Shift For Themselves as Soon as Hatched.

The real home of the boa constrictors is in the tropical countries. Mrs. Boa seeks a sandy place. When she has found it she coils herself into a great and almost flat corkscrew. Then by just two or three turns of her body she digs a shallow hole in the sand. This is her nest. In this hole she lays about twenty-four eggs. The eggs are about as large as those bantam chickens lay and are a dark cream color. They are oblong and more the shape of a pecan than of a hen's egg. The shell is not hard, like a hen's egg, but yields to the pressure of your finger, something like rubber.

Having laid her eggs in the nest of sand, the mother boa winds herself into a perfectly flat coil, like a round mat. This done, she gently pushes waves of sand upon the eggs until they are covered from four to six inches deep. Then she settles herself upon the top and stays there for nineteen days. At the end of this time a lot of little snakes may be seen pushing their way out from the nest and away into the world to get their own living. They don't show a bit of affection for their mother or for each other, but glide away, probably never to be together again. Is it any wonder, when they act so just after being hatched out, that boa constrictors never like anybody and never have anything to do with people if they can avoid it?

Each little snake measures from twelve to fourteen inches in length and is about as big around as a lead pencil. It is said that they eat nothing at all during the first six months of their lives or until they are old enough to catch and crush to death small animals and swallow them whole. The boa constrictor never bites—it has no poison fangs—but always kills by coiling about its victim and crushing it to death. Fully grown, the boa constrictor is thirty to forty feet long and as big around as the large part of a man's leg.

CHEWING TOBACCO.

The Grip With Which This Habit Holds Its Victims.

Every slave of the weed will know better than I do how much truth exists in a story told me a few evenings ago by a well known committing magistrate in New York.

We were seated at a club table discussing various kinds of dissipations, especially the fascination that liquor and gambling are said to have for men who cannot resist the impulse to gratify one or the other of these passions. The judge spoke:

"In my opinion the most overmastering craving known to our race is that for chewing tobacco. Opium in some forms may be as bad, but I am sure it isn't worse. A few weeks ago an incorrigible was brought before me, and after hearing the evidence I sentenced him to the island for three months. He appeared to take it very sensibly until a police officer as a teaser whispered into the man's ear, as I afterward learned, that he would not be allowed any tobacco while in the penitentiary. The chap turned pale, rose in his seat and held up his hand as a sign that he desired to ask me a question. I motioned to him to speak up.

"'I say, good Mr. Judge, will you do me a great favor?

"'Certainly, if it be within my power,' I replied.

"'I hear my tobacco will be cut off. Cannot you make my term six months or even a year if I am allowed to have chewing tobacco?'"

The judge had to explain that he couldn't do anything of that sort. He relieved the prisoner's mind on the tobacco question by telling him that if he was a habitual chewer the prison physician would order a small quantity of the weed for him daily.

"Never did I see a greater change in a human face," concluded his honor.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Preparing an Alibi.

If culture remains confined within the splendidly bound volumes of the new library that has just been bought by a New Yorker it will not be the fault of the rich man's secretary. He is doing everything he can to let it loose.

"I am cutting the leaves in all the books," he said. "The chances are nobody belonging to the family will ever look inside these books, but the boss has friends who may go snooping around through the library sometimes. In case they do he doesn't want them to gain the impression that literature is neglected in this house, so I am making sure that they will at least find the leaves cut."—Exchange.

Not a Crack Shot.

"My aim is truth—always truth," said a man.

"Possibly," rejoined an acquaintance, "but you were always a bad marksman!"

JUST ARRIVED! MY PRIZE GENDRON

"The Gendron Driver"

I am the proudest Baby in Canada to-day. Of course you know I was a prize winner in the "Toronto World's" Baby Contest, and my special prize was this GENDRON car.

It has a beautiful limousine top to keep off the sun and rain, and it is upholstered so "comfy" inside.

My little GENDRON Driver tells me that the springs are of the finest tempered steel—that triple curve so evenly distributing the strain that breakage is impossible and the specially welded wheels cannot warp.

When I want a ride around the house I need not be afraid of scratching the furniture, for there is a little rubber cap over the nut of the axle.

I am so glad that my new car is a GENDRON. Mother says they are the finest, strongest and most stylish, and if I do have an unexpected accident, it can be easily remedied as every single part of the car is made in Canada at the Toronto factory.

You can always get home if you drive a GENDRON

(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

"I am a practical chap and believe in marriages made on common sense principles. What does a man want to go and get intoxicated on love potions for and then settle the most important matter in his life?"

This was my reply to Eggleston when he got off a lot of folderol about love and sentiment and all that. I admit I was interested, for I was meditating a proposal myself. I felt very sure Lydia would have me. Why shouldn't she? I was a passable fellow; some property of my own; doing well in business; fairly educated and of good social position. That's the view I expected Lydia to take of me and a union with me, not whether she would decline me on the ground that I didn't get maudlin over her or she over me. The question was, Having a fairly good offer with a chance to settle down into matrimonial life, was she to accept it or run the risk of not getting another as acceptable? So I went to her and said:

"Miss Brinsley, I'm going to make you a proposition—namely, that we pass our lives together as man and wife till death do us part."

She looked at me out of a pair of steely eyes for a few moments and said:

"How about divorce?"

I've noticed that, no matter how composedly a man makes up his mind to deal with a woman, she straightway sets about to discompose him.

"The more common sense we put into a marriage the less likelihood there'll be of a divorce," I said.

"It is the only part of marriage in which there is a likelihood. Death is certain. Divorce is possible, sometimes probable. It is a contingency that should be provided for."

"It seems to me that the first question to be settled is whether you are prepared to enter upon matrimony with me. After that we can take up the provisions, if there are any."

"That's just like a man—always getting the cart before the horse. It seems to me that the provisions should be settled first. The marriage is merely a possible conclusion to them."

"Good gracious!" I exclaimed under my breath. I was not prepared to hear a woman speak of a proposition of marriage as a categorical syllogism.

"Suppose," I said, "that we leave divorce till the last of the provisions or, rather, contingencies and begin with something of more immediate concern."

"Well, what's your income?"

Again I winced, not so much at the question as at her cold blooded manner of asking it. However, I considered it an eminently proper one to ask and responded frankly:

"I have from investments $5,500."

"Real estate, bonds, stocks or what?"

This was getting irritating. I was becoming flustered.

"After all, I was right in the first place," I said, a bit sharply. "You expect me to lay bare all my affairs to you when you haven't given me the slightest intimation that if they are satisfactory you will accept me for a husband."

"I was not aware," she replied icily, "that I expected anything. I thought that you were the expectant person."

O heavens! Worse and worse! I sat feeling and doubtless looking like a fool. I took out my handkerchief and wiped my lips—they didn't need wiping—then dusted some specks off my coat collar, then crossed one leg over the other and said nothing. Neither did Lydia.

"I think," I said presently, "that I had better"—

"Begin all over?"

A desire to get even with her by saying something smart took possession of me. When a man tries to beat a woman by saying something smart he always gets deeper in the mud.

"Or drop the subject," I said, with some hauteur.

"You haven't taken it up yet," was her imperturbable reply.

What did she mean by this, I wondered. Haven't taken it up! I thought I'd very much taken it up.

"Perhaps you haven't understood," I said, "what I've been talking about."

"I dare say I haven't."

"Didn't I make myself plain?"

"That depends upon what you had to say."

I was getting more miffed every moment. I looked ominously at the door, but it didn't seem to frighten her. I rose. That didn't frighten her either.

"On reflection," I said, "I think my powers of mating things may be better adapted to some other intellect."

"Male or female?"

This broke me up completely. I stood stupidly looking down at my toes.

"Why don't you go and explain it to some nice man and let him come and tell it to me," she remarked.

There was nothing to be gained with this cool creature. But her coolness, the disappointment I suffered, everything, maddened me. I scouted my practical ideas. I would gladly have thrown myself at her feet and begged for pity, mercy, anything except this horrible monster that stood between us. But how could I jump from my position of a practical marriage arranger to a despairing lover? There was no hope. With a feeble attempt at indifference I went to the door.

Hearing a flutter behind me, I was about to turn when a pair of arms was flung about me, and I was held in a tight grasp.

"Come back," she laughed, "and begin anew. And this time at the beginning."

What was the beginning? A kiss.

T. DEWITT BOWMAN.

Spoiled His Taste.

"A friend of mine," said a Montana man, "is defending a damage suit for being a party to making a man take the liquor cure without his consent. This man had been on a protracted spree of several weeks, and his business was going to the dogs. My friend thought it would be a kindly thing to send him to a sanitarium for treatment. He did so, and the man was given the cure for the whisky habit. When he was discharged from the sanitarium the first thing he did was to go to a saloon. He called for whisky. He tasted it, but did not fancy the flavor of it. He set his distaste of it down to the cure he had been given by my friend's orders and immediately began suit for $50,000 damages. He says in his complaint that he had a highly cultivated and discriminating taste for whisky, which had taken years to develop, and that was spoiled by the cure. I do not know how my friend will come out, but he is not helping any more 'down and outs' without first obtaining their consent."—New York Journal.

Rings as a Protection.

"I used to be surprised," said a clerk in a high class jewelry establishment, "when a woman whom I knew was unmarried would come in and coolly select a handsome solitaire diamond ring, the sort usually sold for an engagement ring, and then, quite as a matter of course, buy a plain gold band of the wedding ring variety. I couldn't understand it at first, but now I've learned that many unmarried women think two such rings, worn when traveling, for instance, serve about the same purpose as a chaperon. I had a case the other day where a mother came in with her unmarried daughter —a pretty girl hardly out of her teens —and bought two such rings. From their conversation I learned that the girl was to take the trip to the Pacific coast unaccompanied, and the mother evidently thought if her daughter was protected by her rings she'd not be so apt to be criticised for being alone. Funny idea, but the women seem to think it works well."—New York Sun.

The Chair of Torture.

The most prominent building in the ancient city of Nuremburg is the castle. One of its two towers was used for torture, the other served as a prison. The castle also contained a museum of horrors until it was purchased by the Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot, in whose possession these relics now lie. One of these was the chair of torture. It was very heavily made and studded over the seat and at the elbows with blunt topped spikes. To it the victim was tightly bound, and in a short time discomfort began to manifest itself and in time became unbearable. During its continuance the torture was increased in several ways by means of wedges being passed between the legs and screws being applied to the thumbs until they began to bleed.

A One Man Jury.

A tailor who was defendant in a case tried in court seemed much cast down when brought up for trial. "What's the trouble?" whispered his counsel, observing his client's distress as he surveyed the jurymen.

"It looks pretty bad for me," said the defendant "unless some steps are taken to dismiss that jury and get in a new lot. There ain't a man amongst 'em but what owes me money for clothes."

Josephine's Many Names.

Josephine, empress of the French, was Yeyette to her intimate friends. Her name in reality was Marie Josephe Rose. Napoleon after the marriage exacted that she should be known as Josephine. He had a mania for rebaptizing the women of his entourage. He made his sister Marianne an Elise, of Annonciade a Caroline, of Paulette a Pauline.

Among her numerous friends Josephine remained Yeyette. Barras never called her otherwise.

The pope was so unfamiliar with her name that when he sent his benediction the letter borne by his legate was addressed to "Our Sister In Jesus Christ, Victoria Bonaparte."

In 1814, on the departure for Elba, the Debats designated Josephine under the paraphrase "the mother of Prince Eugene."

At Ruell her tomb bears this simple inscription, "A Josephine, Eugene et Hortense, 1825." The restoration did not permit her recognition as empress. —Cri de Paris.

What Was the Matter.

E. A. Sothern once told a dilemma he got into:

"I was acting in a comedy when I had to speak the words, 'What's the matter?' Well, one night I was rather slow about taking my cue and was prompted. I forgot myself for the moment, and when the words came, 'What's the matter?' I thought something or other had occurred out of the common. I paused and looked round. Everything seemed normal, and the stage waited. Then came another 'What's the matter?' from the O. P. side. They were all getting anxious behind the scenes, and so was I, for that matter. I looked myself up and down and then scanned my fellow actor, but for the life of me couldn't see anything wrong. At last an audible whisper came: 'Go on with your lines, you idiot! What's the matter with you?' Then it suddenly dawned on me where I was, but the house had tumbled to the situation and came down in convulsions."—Minneapolis Journal.

The Substitution.

It is a well known fact that both Sir Arthur Sullivan and Sir W. S. Gilbert had a horror of the titles of their operas becoming known until the very night of their performance. This fear that they might be forestalled created considerable confusion at the initial production of "Iolanthe; or The Peer and the Peri." The opera was rehearsed for weeks under the title of "Perola." It was only at the dress rehearsal that the company was instructed to substitute the name "Iolanthe" for that of "Perola" wherever it occurred in the text or lyrics. It was no easy task to replace vocally and in the dialogue a name of three syllables for one of four. Sullivan, however, said (maybe aside to one or two of the actors who were nervous) "Go ahead and sing the music. Gilbert won't be in front" (Gilbert never attended the first night). No one say name that you think of first if you are rattled. Nobody in the audience will be any wiser."—Boston Post.

TAFT HAS DODGED TARIFF.

In a Special Article the Nebraskan Discusses the Differences Between the Words "Revised" and "Reduced," and Says That the Tariff Outrage is Due to the Republican Party.

(By William Jennings Bryan.)
Written especially for The Examiner.

Party platforms are necessary, but are misconstrued, unless they are positive and specific. I make this statement in view of the way in which the Republicans are revising the tariff upward instead of downward.

Senator Aldrich and his crowd in the senate construe the tariff plank in the Republican platform to mean an increase in duties. The people thought differently, but the Republican tariff plank was so indefinitely worded that there is room for the the two views.

The Republican platform was ambiguous, and the Democratic party platform specific. The Republicans in their tariff plank used the word "revised." The Democrats in their party platform demanded a reduction of the rates. The word revision is subject to a double interpretation, while only one construction can be placed upon the word "reduced."

The Democratic senators and representatives who had voted for the imposition of duties had made a mistake, and whether elected upon or before the adoption of the platform of the party, ought to feel bound by its declarations.

I most heartily approve of the resolution offered by Senator Gore of Oklahoma, proposing an investigation as to the responsibility for the high cost of living.

Senator Gore is entirely right. The high tariff Republicans have tried to shift the responsibility from the manufacturers to the merchants. This is important, and it is only right that the public should know the truth.

It has been found by experience that unless a party formulates a platform, its representatives in office cannot agree upon a definite policy owing to the influence brought to bear by favour-seeking corporatoins. Even when there are platforms they are positive and specific. Sometimes positive and specific platforms are violated, and when they are violated the guilt can be fixed and the guilty punished.

The trouble with the Republican platform of last fall was that it was not specific and definite. The tariff plank used the word "revised" instead of the word "reduced," and now Senator Aldrich and his crowd construe it to mean an increase, while some of the Western Republicans insist it contemplated a decrease in the rates.

Mr. Taft dodged the question. So fas as I could learn from his speeches the nearest he ever came to a construction of the platform was to declare, when in the west, that it meant an "honest revision," at one time declaring that while some schedules ought to be raised and some lowered, the revision would probably be downward.

The Republican national convention was at fault in not making a specifit promise of reduction, and the Republican voters were at fault in accepting so indefinite, so evasive and so deceptive a word as "revision" as a sufficient promise. The voters ought to have known that the "friends of the tariff" will never give us any material reduction.

As to the Democrats who voted for the imposition of duties, they have as a rule defended their conduct on the ground that the duties voted for were revenue duties, and they have not been high duties. Measured on an ad valorem basis, the duty on lumber and on iron ore are but a small portion of the price. I think that the Democrats who voted for the duty made a mistake.

The Democratic platform demanded free lumber, and I believe a platform is binding upon all who run upon it, and it ought to have weight with the members of the party who were elected before the platform was adopted.

Those who voted for a duty on lumber did so, I presume, because of lumber interests in their districts and states, but in doing so I think they gave the preference to a few owners of timber lands over those who buy lumber. There is no state in the union where the consumers of lumber do not outnumber the persons who profit by the tariff on lumber, and the man who votes for tariff on lumber votes to tax a majority of the people of his district and state for the benefit of a minority of his constituents. But the men who get the benefit of the tax are more active in presenting their demands than the consumers are in presenting their protests, and as long as this is true, the tax eaters will have the advantage over the taxpayers.

If the taxpayers would take a little more interest in the tariff question and chastise the representatives who, ignoring the interests of the consumers, follow the advice of the protected interests, relief would come sooner.

As to the duty on iron ore, the chief objection to it is not that it is a high rate of duty, but that it helps people who do not need help, and gives an excuse for higher duties on manufactured iron. The man who owns a bed of iron has such an enormous advantage over the man who owns farming land that it is hardly fair to make the farmer pay tribute to the ore owner.

Every duty placed upon raw material is a burden upon the manufacturer unless he is permitted to transfer it to the consumer. A tariff on iron ore, therefore, is likely to be transferred to the consumer. A duty put upon raw material increases as it proceeds, interest being added each step—it grows like a snow ball in the spring, and is more objectionable than th ad valorem rate levied upon the finished product.

MEASURE OF MERCY FOR GIRL-MOTHER MURDERERS

Text of Lord Alverstone's Bill in British House of Lords.

London, May 22.—Lord Alverstone, the Lord Chief Justice, has issued the text of his Bill, read for a first time in the House of Lords to allow a judge not to pronounce sentence of death on a woman convicted of the murder of her infant child.

This reform was strongly urged in connection, among the recent cases, with that of the girl-mother, Daisy Lord. It was urged that to pass sentence of death that would never be carried out involved needless pain. The Home Secretary recently explained that such prisoners are detained only for a maximum of three years, the object being to restore them to civil life.

The vital clause of the Bill is this: When a woman is convicted of the murder, "and the court is of the opinion that at the time the offence was committed the woman had not fully recovered from the effect of giving birth to the child, and that the case is one in which the exercise of the royal prerogative of mercy could properly be recommended," the judge need not pronounce the death sentence, but simply have it entered on the record. The commutation of the sentence would, of course, follow in due course.

MISTAKE IN MIMIC WARFARE

Paris, May 22.—While the French Northern Squadron was engaged in mimic warfare off Calais, a British cruiser steaming down the channel ahead of the French fleet was sighted by the commander of the submarine Ventose and torpedoed in the belief she was one of the attacking French warships.

When the Ventose, after placing its dummy torpedo, rose to the surface 200 yards away from the British cruiser, her commander discovered his mistake, but before he could plunge again he was figuratively riddled with shot from a couple of French destroyers, while two French battleships, the Marseillaise and the Leon Gambetta, profited by the confusion to make good their escape.

COUNTY SCHOOL TEACHERS CONCLUDED THEIR MEETINGS

The county school teachers' convention, which has been a most successful one, closed yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. About one hundred teachers were in attendance.

The opening exercises were conducted by the Normal School students.

The Rev. J. R. Webb gave a very stirring address on "Patriotism." He spoke of the greatness of the Empire and dwelt on the fitness of King Edward for his exalted position. The speaker dwelt on the South African war. He spoke of the greatness of Canadian fisheries, her grand scenery, her magnificent resources, her great area of arable land, and last, but by no means least, her great love for the Motherland. He closed by urging the teachers to have for their motto, "I owe my country a life."

Mr. Keys, of the Normal School staff, gave a very interesting programme, which was followed by teachers observing Empire Day.

The President, Mr. Frappy, gave a few opening remarks, thanking the convention for electing him the past year. He spoke on the aims of the teacher and urged them to make the school work practical, pleasant and profitable.

Mr. J. L. Garvin, of Lakefield, next gave an address on "Grammar." The noun was based upon its meaning so that it has neither function nor relation. The speaker held that the possessive case of the noun was no inflection at all. Nouns in English, with very few exceptions, could not modify nouns or verbs. The speaker gave the following basis of classification: (1) Form. (2) Meaning. (3) Function. (4) Relation. The function of the verb is to form a predicate the participle and verb infinitive have verb meaning, but not verb function.

Mr. Binder, of Norwood, spoke on art. He began by saying that drawing was the basis of art. One learned to draw for different objects such as amusement or to assist the memory or to obtain quicker perceptions. Pupils who were good writers were generally quick at drawing. Pupils who draw well become accurate. Mr. Binder outlined a programme in art for pupils in the different classes, and urged the teachers not to forget this subject at their schools.

At the close of the address the teachers adjourned to the Assembly Hall, where lunch was served by the Normal School students.

Inspector Richard Lees spoke on "Charles Darwin." He divided his paper into the following divisions:

I. Pre-Darwinian evolution.
(1) Biological—Buffon, Erasmus, Darwin.
(2) Geological—Lyell, Uniformitarianism, Principles of Geology 1830.
(3.) Astronomical "Nebular Theory" Kant, Sir Wm. Herschell.
II. Darwin.
(1.) Parentage—Inherited Characteristics.
(2.) Education—Prof. Hereslow, A naturalist's voyage around the world, 1831-1836.
III. Darwinism.
(1.) Incubation period 1836-1839.
(2.) Origon of Species, 1859.
(3.) Natural selection, surival of the fittest.
IV. Effects
(1.) Pop[illegible]y of the origin of species.
(2.) Extension to allied sciences.
(3.) Influence of the thought of to-day.

At the close of Mr. Lees' address, the President called on Mr. Barton Earle, who was present, to make a few remarks. Mr. Frappy stated that Mr. Earle was a former teacher of his, and he was always welcome to his conventions.

Mr. Earle replied, thanking the President for his kind words, assuring him of his great interest in school work.

Mr. P. O. Nelson, of Havelock, read an interesting and much appreciated paper on "Geography."

Election of Officers

The nominating committee reported as follows:

President—S. A. Smithson (Keene.)
Vice-President — P. O. Nelson, (Havelock.)
Secretary-Treas. — Miss M. Kirkpatrick, (Norwood.)
Executive Committee—Jos. L. Garvin, Misses Hamilton and Ward.
Auditors—Misses Waters and McLachlan.

A vote of thanks was tendered the management of the Normal School for the use of the Assembly Hall and also the staff for their kindness and courtesy.

AIRSHIP WAS CARRIED AWAY IN TERRIFIC THUNDERSTORM AND NAVIGTOR HAD A CLOSE CALL

St. Gruber, a French Aeronaut, Had a Thrilling Experience ---His Flying Machine Was Swept Away by the Storm and Was Wrecked, But the Occupants Got Off Very Luckily---The Perils of the Air.

Berlin, May 23.—A violent wind was responsible for serious disasters in ballooning circles. Lieutenant Gruber, who commanded the military airship battalion at Tegel had an exciting adventure He ascended in a captive balloon for manoeuvring purposes when a thunderstorm came on. At a height of 1,500 feet the rope broke and the balloon flew with lightning speed in a northeast direction over hamlets and villages until it disappeared in the clouds. A wild chase by the battalion ensued on foot, horseback and automobile.

Lieutenant Gruber decided to open the valve and descend, when he noticed smoke issuing from the balloon, which came down with a run at Schoenhols. It was soon in flames, and was dragged over the roofs till finally it landed.

The lieutenant's head came in contact with a tree, and his hands were bruised and cut from the desperate force with which he held on to the basket, but happily his injuries are not serious.

Major Gross, who dashed up in an automobile, tok the aeronaut and bandaged him at the ambulance station while the united efforts of the Schoenholz firemen and soldiers contrived to save two-thirds of the envelope.

At an airship exhibition ground at Frankfurt, a hurricane tore down a nearly completed shed destined for the Parseval ship. Three workmen were buried in the wreckage, and were severely injured, one of them dying.

"PLEASE DON'T HANG MAN WHO KILLED PAPA," PLEAD CHILDREN

JOHN O'NEIL, Confessed Murderer. — MARGARET MACKENENY, With her Youngest Sister. — ROBT. MACKENENY, Dead Policeman.

Special Correspondence.

Chicago, May 22.—"Please don't hang the man who killed our father."

This is, in effect, the petition sent to the state authorities by the seven children of Patrolman Robt. Mackeneny, whom Jas. O'Neil, now confined at Joliet for burglary, has confessed he killed.

The killing occurred two years ago, when burglars broke into the house of Jas. Walsh on Indiana-ave. Walsh was shot dead as he tried to stop the housebreakers, and Mackeneny, passing the house, met the same fate as he rushed to the rescue.

The double killing has always been a mystery. The best Chicago detectives have worked on it. Recently Capt. O'Brien, got evidence to connect O'Neill, then on a 14-year sentence on anther charge with it. He went to the penitentiary, sweated O'Neill and obtained a confession.

When Mackeneny died, he left seven bright children alone in the world with only the police pension to live on. The older children went to work. Now that the case is being brought up again, they don't want to see any one else die on account of it.

"There has been so much suffering and trouble in our family and by the Walshes over it," said Margaret, the oldest daughter, "we can't bear to think of any more coming. It's all right to keep O'Neill in prison if he's guilty, but we don't want to see him hanged."

WAS WM. RICHARDS, FORMER RESIDENT OF CITY, MAN WHO WAS LOST OVERBOARD FROM IONIAN?

His Sons Believe That He Was the Man Who Was Drowned ---He Left Peterborough Over a Year Ago and But Little Has Been Heard of Him Since.

Was William Richards, senior, formerly of Peterborough, the man who was lost overboard from the Allan Liner, Ionian, during her last voyage to England?

His two sons, William and John Richards, who live in Peterborough, are very strongly of the opinion that it was their father who met such a tragic fate. A despatch from Liverpool states that William Richards, a steerage passenger from Toronto, Ont., was lost from the ship on the night of the 14th of May, and from what they ca learn the Richards boys are of the opinion that it was their father.

William Richards, senior, left Peterborough over a year ago, and his sons have heard but little of him since that time. He was supposed to be living with his daughter, but it has been learned that he left her residence two months ago and nothing further could be learned of his whereabouts. He was a native of England, and had stated that in all probability he would return to the mother country during the summer. Reading of the accident on the Ionian his sons are fearing the worst. Inquiries are being made at the Montreal office of the Company.

PHIL AND BOB. COCHRANE.

Interesting Story of Phil and Bob Cochrane and Their Debut in the World of Song Writing—On Road to Wealth.

HAVE WRITTEN MANY HITS.

Special Correspondence.

Toledo, O., May 22.—How would you like to be the Cochrane brothers of Chicago, who have just received a check for $14,400 for four songs—and for their first efforts in the musical line, by the way?

It would be more interesting to say the "Musical Twins" as they are called, wrote in a garret, lived on crusts and hawked their productions from publisher to publisher, only it would not be true, so romance gets it where Amanda grabbed the pullet.

The first man who heard the "Musical Twins'" songs cornered them. His name is Carl Laemmle, who went to Chicago with $2000 he had saved in the clothing business, invested in the moving picture business and is now piling up the cash.

Laemmle met Phil and Rob Cochrane, heard the latter hum a catchy air, suggested it would make a popular song and a few minutes later read the words which are now known as "The Love Bug." Then and there Laemmle contracted for four compositions and signed a check for $14,400. In addition he agreed to publish all future efforts of the brothers.

Before branching out as song writers, Phil and Bob Cochrane were newspaper men, the latter at one time being city editor of the Toledo Bee. They are now in the advertising business in Chicago, writing their songs between drinks, as you might say—or between adds, to be more correct.

To date the brothers have written "The Love Bug," "When the Band Plays at Night," "You've Got Me Goin', Kid," "Let All Go Home."

AN UNIQUE INSTRUMENT

Piano Used by the Natives of South East Africa in Possession of a Local Lady—Brought to Canada by a Bishop.

IS NOW ON EXHIBITION.

Nearly every family of moderate circumstances, nowadays, possesses a piano, but there are few persons who have such an unique one as that owned by Miss Lotta Babcock, one of the evangelists in charge of the City Mission on Water street This interesting piano was placed on exhibition in Mr. J. M. Greene's music store window to-day It was shown an Examiner reporter at Mr. Finch Miller's place the other day.

In Inhambane, in South East Africa, where these instruments are made by the natives, they are commonly called pianos, but they resemble very much the Xyllophone. The keys are [illegible] of pieces of wood that is grown in Africa They vary in length and in width, beginning at the smallest, each is larger than the preceding one. The cords are made of bark, and there are twelve of them. Arranged at the back of them is the same number of gourds, a ntive vegetable. They have been hollowed and they, too, vary in size. These produce the sound, which is a decidedly pleasing one to the ear. It is clear and distinct.

This peculiar-looking instrument was brought to Canada by Bishop Sellew of the Free Methodist Church four years ago. He had been on a tour of that country, visiting [illegible] mission stations under the direction of the Free Methodists. It was purchased from him by Miss Babcock two years ago, and that is how it came to be in her possession She has another very interesting curio from Africa It is a rhinoceros' tail.

A LAYMEN'S BANQUET

Will be Held by the Methodists of Peterborough District — Committee Appointed to Make the Necessary Arrangements— Will be Held in Autumn.

IT HAS JUST BEEN DECIDED

One of the questions of most importance from a general standpoint considered at the annual district meeting of the Methodist Church yesterday, was a Lawmen's banquet to be held in the fall in Peterborough, at which the churches throughout this district will be represented. A favourable response was given the matter and a committee was formed to make the necessary arrangements. This will mean that members of the Methodist churches throughout the district of Peterborough will be here on that occasion and from the announcements already given the occasion should be one of greatest importance. Particularly from the standpoint of the laymen it will be an important event and will further the laymen's movement particularly among the members of the church which is holding the banquet.

Rev. H M. Manning, president of this district was chairman of the meeting. Rev. Mr. Henderson was appointed a member of the stationing committee. Considerable business of less interest to the public was done and the delegates returned home last evening.

WELCOME !

If we were tender-nerved Britons we should be plunged into panic by the impending invasion by two armies which will swoop down upon us to-morrow, when in either the darkest hour or in the cold gray dawn two regiments of citizen soldiers, from Brantford and St. Catharines, respectively, will enter our gates. We welcome them because they come to us as friends and comrades in arms. They will unite with the Rangers to be the defensive forces of the city for two days. Visits like these are to be encouraged. While the visitors come here primarily as soldiers, they will be an inspiration to our own volunteers, for no matter how "crack" a volunteer regiment may be, it may learn from another. The colloguing of the thre regiments for two days will be a mutual benefit. The visit has a significance to citizens, for the volunteers come as citizens as well as warriors, and they will do us other good; the people of three of the most thriving and beautiful towns in Ontario, may know each other better. There is no need to urge upon our citizens an hospitable reception to our visitors. We are all happy and proud to have them with us. But let us show ourselves glad. The city should put on its glad attire, throw out the flags and loop its bunting.

THE BAND.

The people of Peterborough are, with ample reason, proud of their band, the 57th. That is, sentimentally proud; but when it comes to practical demonstration the public is lacking. Last night at Conservatory Hall, the band gave a concert, presenting a new and splendid programme. It is not necessary here to analyze the performance; it is enough to say that their work was quite up to the mark and in keping with their reputation—artistic, effective, and finished. The crescendo effects in the "Grand Pastorate dere simply perfect; the progressive volume of increasing tone, faultlessly smooth and even. The few who were present were simply delighted as they had good cause to be. The point to be emphasized and impressed upon the public in the lack of practical appreciation shown in respect of attendance last night. It can not be that a paltry twenty-five cent equivalent for an admission card had anything to do with it, yet at a free concert in Victoria Park there will be thousands in attendance, who will applaud till the leaves fall. If we are proud and appreciative of our band, he should be less modest in showing it when, as, on rare occasions, a practical opportunity is available.

Faith without works is dead.—St. Paul.

A WEAK CASE.

The Kingston Standard virtuously remarks that "it is not altogether edifying to have a Cabinet Minister continue to hold his sent in the Cabinet despite that he has been condemned by an 'independent'—the quotation marks are ours—commission in his own province." Reference is made to Hon. Wm. Pugsley, who has been condemned by the "independent" Standard and the still more "independent" Mail and Empire and Toronto News. If irresponsible and partisan condemnation were to count, every member of the Dominion Cabinet would necessarily resign, for all have been condemned by, especially, the two last virtuous journals Hon. Mr. Pugsley has been condemned by no competent authority as regards its relation to the Dominion Government or Dominion Parliament. The partizan committee which, with fine unconscious humour, the Standard has dubbed "independent," was appointed by a Conservative government bitterly and prejudicially hostile to Mr Pugsley, and its flagitious and ill-digested advance report was published twelve days before the Dominion election to influence them adversely to the Liberal Government at Ottawa—a report which even in an amended form—the government which fathered it holds in such light regard, that it has not yet, or if so, quite recently—adopted it. Yet, the Standard on the strength of a partizan report of a partizan committee, which has no jurisdiction in the premises, would have the minister, condemned by it for the most obviously sinister reasons, resign his portfolio and the duties of an office which he is capably and satisfactorily discharging in the interest of the country to which and to whose judgment alone he is responsible. On the strength of an extra-parliamentary and partizan report, upon which no single member of the Conservative Opposition dared to base a specific charge, such as would bring the matters alleged within the scope of parliamentary investigation, the resignation of a minister is demanded. If the enemies of Mr. Pugsley in Parliament had no faith in the conclusiveness of and clearness of the Commission's finding, it seems absurd to expect the Minister to consider himself more culpable, than his enemies dare to formally allege.

Plague on it! an I thought he had been valiant and so cunning in fence, I'd have seen him damned ere I'd have challenged him.—Twelfth Night.

JUSTICE AND JUSTICE

Two Montreal men, convicted of beating and abusing a horse till it died, were fined six dollars each or one month in jail. A poor woman in Toronto, who pleaded guilty to stealing food to save her baby from starvation was sentenced to separation from her child by being confined in the Central Prison two years. A man in Chesterville has been arrested for manslaughter for innocently causing the death of a boy who accidentally came within range of a gun fired by the man to frighten a mob which was pelting his house with eggs and breaking his windows with stones. Here we have contrasting examples of justice. The most brutal offence of the three, the cruel doing to death of a horse is compounded by a paltry money fine or a month's idleness in confinement on good fare. The desperate mother who stole—took is the merciful word—to save her baby from starvation would have been saved her crime and escaped two years in prison, if she had had half what the hulking brutes who beat to death a far nobler brute, get to eat in their comparatively comfortable common prison. The man who, acting on the staunch British maxim expressed by Sir Edward Coke—'every man's house is his castle"—fired a shot to intimidate a mob which was breaking the law,he was justifiably trying to enforce, and accidentally killed a lad who strayed into the danger zone, committed no crime, it was accident— without malice. It may be said he was taking the law into his own hands. He was, however, justified in that he was fulfilling the law maxim which regards "every man's house his safest retreat—Domus sui quique est tutissimus refugium." His house at the time was not a very safe refuge; from what the mob had done, the man had no assurance that his life was not as much in danger as his home. As a people we are a law abiding people, and as a country we measure out justice sternly—sometimes—if not evenhandedly and no one will plead for anything in the form of mob law. But there are circumstances under which the tempetation is great because the victim of outrage knows from experience that if an appeal to the courts is made, law, more than justice, will be the deciding factor, and he stands a chance to be deprived of the redress which justice, or equity, should give him. In the case of the woman with the starving child she got the sort of justice which Shylock demanded, the pound of flesh; no quality of mercy was mixed with it. It is sad to be compelled to suggest that if she had robbed a bank, swindled a government or murdered a husband, she might have comparatively escaped more easily, or if she had been convicted, a petition for her release would have been hawked about by pursy philanthropists. No one will say that her heavy sentence was not in strict accord with the letter of the law. But the Divine Lawgiver permits discretion—justice tempered with mercy. The horse-killers in Montreal were treated with exaggerated mercy, the poor woman who stole—took things—to save her child's life got justice, cold calculating justice—where mercy would have been splendidly justified

An earthly power dost show likest Gods'
When mercy seasons justice—
—Shakespeare.

BEAUTIFY THE CITY

The Examiner has received the following letter:

Dear Sir,—I notice that the authorities have done some tree thinning in Central and Victoria parks. This may have been necessary, but was there any necessity for destroying the trees taken out? Could they not have been replanted?

No doubt the removal of these trees was a necessity. It is the tendency of people in their anxiety to secure the effects of beauty which trees give, to plant them too closely together. If this is done with a proper regard for the future it is not so bad. Plant trees so that in time every alternate tree may be removed. The tree to be removed should be selected from the beginning and during the progress of growth, trimmed to grow high—above the trees on either side—so that the latter may spread laterally; and when their boughs approach each other, the intervening tree, trained so as to have grown above them may be removed and replanted, without destroying the continuity of foliage

This takes us to the question of our correspondent. Certainly the trees mentioned could have been replanted. This would have required skill, care and labour, but all these would be well repaid. With proper methods,careful removal, heroic reduction of the top, the place of planting of the tree would have the advantage of twenty years' growth. Last spring a maple tree planted 20 years ago on Gilmour street was removed to the lawn of Mr. John Wood, Hunter street, west. It was carefully removed and planted and is to-day pushing its leaves as vigorously as if it had never been stirred. Thus the grounds mentioned have in one season gained the advantage of a score of years of growth.

This again brings to a consideration of the lack of system in regard to our street trees. The city seems to have no policy in regard to them; no provisions are made for their proper pruning and care. Nor is planting done according to the principles of arboriculture. When the city planted—after many years' delay—the triangular plots at the intersection of Charlotte and Hunter streets with Downie street, the trees were placed in straight rows like cabbages in a garden and in defiance of nature's distribution of tree growth. On streets straight lines must be followed, because there is no possibility of anything else. The city does not seem to recognize its responsibility in respect to trees. Citizens plant street trees which, according to law, become the joint property of the planter and the city. On Hunter street this spring a thrifty and beautiful street tree, one of the splendid line of English elms planted by Hon. Senator Cox, with twenty years of growth behind it, was cut down to make room for a walk for an entrance walk to a new residence. This trees belonged to the public and no private individual had any more right to remove it than to cut down one of the old oaks in Victoria Park. If the city gave permission the blame falls upon it, for no such street tree should be sacrificed except under consideration, of necessity or if no other way is available.

To remove such a tree to make room for a walk was not right, even if it was done with the consent of the city; and its destruction does not seem far removed by vandalism. A slight shifting of the walk would have given it a beautiful curve, making it a section of Hogarth's line of beauty, and robbing it of the prim utilitarian stiff and unsightly lines of a hard faced concrete walk. This might have cost a trifle more, but it would have been worth while, it would have saved a street tree worth, as it stood in thrifty life, a hundred cement walks.

This is mentioned to suggest the value of firmly rooted and beautiful growing trees and to illustrate the necessity of the city adopting some intelligent system of street adornment; if we are to take the proper steps to beautify the city as it can be beautified.

Woodman, spare that tree,
Touch not a single bough!
In youth it sheltered me,
And I'll protect it now.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

New Zealand has offered Great Britain a Dreadnought. Sir James Whitney feels bound to imitate her example, since New Zealand adopted Mr. Whitney's strangle-hold, the three-fifths' clause.

Sir Edward Morris, who swept Newfoundland at the late general elections, is said to favour confederation with Canada. He was elected so strongly in the face of accusation that he was a confederationist, and, therefore an enemy of the island, that it is fair to infer that the sentiment against confederation had, and has more noise than weight, and that possibly negotiations, with a view of joining Canada, may be opened at an early date. It would be nice for Canada to boast of growing her own codfish and to have a venerable fishery question, some 101 years old, on its hands.

BIG FIRE IN MONTREAL

Examiner Special (2.45 p. m.)

Montreal, Que., May 22.—The Canada Lead Works of the Jas. Robertson Co., Limited, William street, made a spectacular blaze this morning, when the extensive plant was completely destroyed, the loss being a quarter of a million dollars. The fire is supposed to have originated in the packing room in the centre of the plant and spread to all sides before being discovered. As a result a large portion of the property was in flames when the firemen arrived. Fortunately there was no wind and the firemen were able to prevent the fire from spreading to adjoining property. The company is understood to be well insured.

A QUESTION OF HEALTH

Without Rich, Red Blood You Cannot Be Healthy—How to Obtain This Blessing

If every woman and young girl would realize the danger of allowing blood to become thin and poor, would understand that the majority of common diseases are caused by an anaemic (or bloodless) condition, that persistent pallor means that the blood is not furnishing the organs with the required amount of nourishment, there would be awakened interest in the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Thin blood means starved nerves, weakened digestion, functional disorders, headaches, frequently neuralgia, sciatica and even partial paralysis. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, repair waste and prevent and check disease. They fill the system with rich, red blood which means good health and life.

Miss Marie Dionne, St. Angele, Que., says:—"I am deeply grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. My blood had almost turned to water. I was pale, had no appetite, suffered from pains in the back and side, and had a feeling of constant depression. The smallest exertion would leave me breathless, and I was reduced in flesh until I weighed only 98 pounds. I got nothing to help me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They began helping me after the first couple of weeks, and in a few weeks more I was again perfectly well. The color returned to my cheeks, the pains left me, and I gained in weight until now I weigh 130 pounds. I feel so happy for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me that I hope some other ailing, miserable girl will profit by my experience and obtain new health.

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Strathcona's Path To The Peerage Over Arduous And Romantic Ways

How Scotch Push Advanced the Barefooted Highland Laddie to a Peer of the Realm---A Romance of Energy, Enterprise and Achievement---Thornton Hall in Scottish American Tells the Story In Brief.

(By Thornton Hall.)

One day in the thirties of last century, not long after Scott had laid down his busy pen for the last time, two Scottish lads, barefooted and bareheaded, were fishing in a little stream on the border of the Highlands when the clatter of hoofs caused them to turn their heads in time to see a gay cavalcade sweep past at a gallop along the road at their back. It was the proud Lord Moray, with his retinue on his way from Darnaway Castle to distant Westminister, and the sight of these splendid horsemen emphasized the lowliness of their own condition.

One of the two lads was George Stephen, a herd boy, the other was Donald Smith, a saddler's son, who was about to fare forth to the far West in search of fortune. "Ye'll see no lairds in Canada, Donald," said the herd boy as he watched the cavalcade dwindle to a dark speck in the distance; "nor any Darnaway Castles, nor," he added, "any such drove of Highland cattle as you see yonder." "Maybe not, George," answered the elder boy with a confident smile; "but there'll be Indians and buffaloes and fur trading. And you know the motto of your Grants—'Stand fast, Craigellachie!' Maybe I'll win enough money to come back and see auld Scotland again—and at the worst, have a snug little place out there of my own."

A few weeks later Donald was crossing the Atlantic in the steerage of an ocean tramp, little dreaming that sixty years later he would make the return voyage on the finest and swiftest ship in the world, with a staff of secretaries and a retinue of servants, no longer as plain Donald Smith, but as the Right Honorable Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal of Glencoe, G. C. M. G., High Commissioner for Canada, and a millionaire several times over.

It took Donald thirty-six days to reach New York, and another month had passed before he put foot in Montreal and presented himself before governor George Simpson, the "King of the Fur Trade," to put his fate to the test. In grim silence Mr. Simpson looked the gaunt, shock headed, freckled Scots laddie up and down, mentally debating what use he could make of him in the enormous territory which he ruled as head of the Hudson Bay Company—a territory four thousand miles wide, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. "Send him to Labrador," came at last the gruff verdict, and, without another word, the lad was led out of the Governor's presence.

The sentence was one to strike terror to the stoutest heart, for Labrador is a bleak, inhospitable coast. The climate is worse even than that of Siberia, and the inhabitants are a few scattered Indians and Eskimo.

But it was with the brave and buoyant heart that young Donald faced this dismal exile, to which he had to travel a thousand miles on snowshoes, and he attacked his work with amazing energy and a stout determination to succeed. He travelled thousands of miles every year by snowshoes and canoe, braving untold hardships and dangers. He bartered for furs with the wandering aborigines; counted, trimmed, pressed, and packed them into bales and superintended their despatch to Montreal.

Once when in charge of a station in the most desolate and distant part of Labrador he was smitten with snow-blindness, and was in imminent danger of losing his eyesight. The nearest doctor was hundreds of miles away; but at any cost Donald must reach him. With two half-breed guides as companions he accomplished the terrible journey, groping along blindly over the snowy wastes and fighting an almost overwhelming temptation to lie down and end it all. On his return journey, after procuring the required medical aid the cold was so terrible that his two guides succumbed, and the young Scotsman was left to struggle on to his destination as best he could, reaching it more dead than alive.

But such incidents as this were "all in the day's work" for Donald. He set himself doggedly to work to learn all that could be learned. The long winter nights he spent in self improvement. There were few books available, but these — the Bible, Shakespeare, Boswell's "Johnson," and Pitt's Speeches—he read and re-read until he could almost have repeated them from memory.

Nor were his labours wasted. His industry and his skill at driving a bargain and-keeping accounts were all noted at headquarters little though he knew it. Long years after one of the Company's Directors said, "We knew that we had a remarkable servant out there in the backwoods, and that, sooner or later, he would fill a big place in the world." Promotion was long in coming, but when it came it was swift. Step by step the patient, plodding, capable Scotsman rose in the Company's service, until after thirty years of toil, such as few men have lived through he found himself recalled to fill the highest post of all—that of Governor.

It seemed, however, that promotion had tarried too long, for the Hudson Bay Company was now nearing its end. Its enemies were clamoring for its extinction; its monopoly was to be taken from it, and its vast territory was to pass to the Crown. Servants and Governors alike were to be discharged, and Donald Smith had barely grasped the prize of his long years of endeavour before it was snatched from his hand.

It was at this critical point in the Scotsman's career that his opportunity came. The French and Indian half breeds who lived in the Red River territory had risen in mutiny at the abrogation of the Company's Charter and the sale of Rupert's Land. They defied the Government, flew to arms, and, under the lead of the fanatic, Louis Riel, proclaimed a Republic. The Canadian Government was in despair, for all its efforts at pacification were rejected and its emissaries either driven back or made prisoners.

It was the time for the strong man, and that man was Donald Smith. For half a lifetime he had lived among the Indians and half-breeds, and he knew them as no other white man did. He offered his services to the Government, and though it was the depth of a cruel winter he set out on his thousand-mile journey to the scene of the rebellion as light-hearted as a boy. "If I have to crawl on my hands and feet all the way I'll get there," he declared to his friends who tried to dissuade him from the word, he reached Fort Garry on Christmas Day, 1869.

His reception, however, was by no means what he had expected. Riel distrusted the ambassador of peace and threw him into prison. But Donald was not disheartened. He demanded a meeting face to face with the rebels, had his way, (as he always had in the long run), and the result of his persuasive eloquence was to win the rebels completely over and to send Riel away a crushed and discredited fugitive. When Col. Wolsley arrived on the scene with his troops it was the victor peace, Donald Smith the Morayshire lad, who received him as host in Fort Garry.

Donald was now a marked man, destined to achieve big things in the land of his exile. A strong, capable Governor was wanted for the new colony, and to Donald the high office fell by right. Offices and honours began to pour on him. he was made a member of the first Executive Council of the N. W. Territory, was elected to represent Winnipeg and St. John's in the Manitoba Legislature, and at the same time was made M.P. for Selkirk in the Dominion House of Commons. There was no honour now to which Donald might not aspire.

But for the honours he cared little. He became fired with a greater ambition, that of linking the Atlantic with the Pacific Coast by a steel highway which should open to the world the richest of the great North-west, and to this enterprise he bent all his colossal energies. Never did task seem more hopeless, for he found few to share his enthusiasm and fewer still to stake their money on his "hare-brained scheme." He was called "visionary" and "fool," but Donald only smiled and went his way. His cousin, George Stephen, the ex-herd boy, now a prosperous man, was with him heart and soul, and together they fought the thing through with grim Scots determination.

Again and again, money failed, and the scheme seemed doomed to ignominious end, but again and again pluck triumphed over every obstacle. Once, in despair, Donald came to England to raise capital at a very crucial stage, leaving George Stephen in Canada awaiting the result of the journey with feverish anxiety. When hope had almost died in Stephen's breast there came the longed-for cable-gram. It consisted of the but one word, "Craigellachie," but that was enough. Donald had triumphed, and and it was not long before he drove the last spike of the world's greatest railway at a spot which is known today as Craigellachie. Donald's fortune was now in full flood, and each year added to his honours and his riches. He was made President of the Bank of Montreal and Director of Railways; great Universities, such as Glasgow, Aberdeen, Yale, and Cambridge, vied with each other in offering him their chief academic laurels, and McGill University made him her Chancellor.

And these honours only paved the way to still greater ones. When Queen Victoria celebrated her diamond jubilee eleven years ago one of the subjects she singled out for special honour was Donald Smith. Donald was to be made a Peer of the realm, and was invited to choose a title. As a little earlier he had purchased an estate which included the historic valley of Glencoe, where he now has a fine country seat, he not unnaturally decided to be known to posterity as "Lord Glencoe." The patent was about to be made out when a great hubbub was raised at Donald's appropriating such a historic designation, and he chose in its place the title of Baron Stratcheona and Mount Royal.

The crowning moment of his arduous and successful life came when "Donald Smith" rose in his place in the House of Lords, and, surrounded by all the great nobles of the land, smiled on by Peeresses in all splendour of robes and jewels, and with three Royal Princes (including our present King) as his most intent auditors, held the most brilliant assembly in Europe spellbound by his earnest oratory for two hours. When he sat down amid murmurs of applause and the fluttering of dainty handkerchiefs and fans it was noticed that a figure in ermine leaned forward and clasped his hands. There were tears in the eyes of both. The figure in ermine was Lord Mount-Stephen, who thus clasped in heartfelt congratulation the hand of the "Cousin Donald" with whom he had fished, sixty years earlier, and enviously watched the proud Lord Moray sweep past on his way to Westminster. — People's Friend.

WE ALL USE PE-RU-NA IN OUR HOME

Who is best able to judge of the value of Pe-ru-na? The housewife who has used it in her home for years, or prejudiced, sensational writers who have never used Pe-ru-na in their lives? It will not take any fair-minded reader a minute to decide which is the best evidence. The mothers of the United States believe in Pe-ru-na. The half million women who praise Pe-ru-na receive no pay for doing so, and the half dozen editors who disparage Pe-ru-na get big pay for doing so. Which is the best evidence?

MRS. ANNIE TESCH.

Now Eats and Sleeps Well.

Mrs. Annie Tesch, 837 22nd Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "When I wrote to you for advice, my health was a total wreck. I could not sleep and thought I would die, as there seemed to be no help for me. But I followed your advice and took Peruna and Manalin.

"I am now cured. I can eat and sleep well, and enjoy life.

"I never will be without Peruna, should any of us be sick."

Catarrh of Worst Form.

Mrs. Amanda Long, 7337 Seeley Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I believe that I am cured of catarrh of the worst form and of long standing.

"I was almost a total wreck. I tried almost everything and doctored with a number of doctors, but they did me no good.

"I tried Peruna as a last resort, and by the time I had taken one bottle I could see that it was helping me, and so I continued taking it. I can say now that I have not felt the slightest symptoms for three months, and I think there is nothing like Peruna. I still keep it in the house, and think there is no medicine like it. I cannot praise it too highly, and bless the day that I learned of it."

Mrs. Judge J. F. Boyer, 1421 Sherman Avenue, Evanston, Ill., writes that several complications united in pulling her down, and she thanks Peruna for new life and strength.

Pain in the Stomach.

Mrs. Mois Pariseau, Ste. Julie de Vercheres, P. Q., Canada, writes that she suffered five years with pain in the stomach. The pains extended through her body, and she also had difficulty in breathing. Her husband heard of Peruna and bought five bottles. This treatment virtually cured her Sore Throat for Years.

Mrs. C. Dashel, 324 Irving Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Curator Natural History Society, writes:

"I am glad to be able to recommend Peruna for chronic sore throat. I had been troubled with sore throat for years, but could find nothing to help me. I had an awful gagging in the morning and was subject to dizzy spells. I could not draw a free breath and life had no pleasure for me. My throat was dry and parched.

"I supposed I was doomed to spend the rest of my days in this condition, when I heard what good Peruna had been to others, so I tried a bottle of it. After using it I was much better and six bottles of it cured me.

"I cannot say too much for Peruna, and I hope that some poor sufferer like myself will see this and give it a trial."

MRS. J. C. RUSSELL.

Acute Indigestion.

Mr. John C. Russell, 810 County Street, Portsmouth, Va., writes regarding his wife's case as follows:

"I thought it would be doing but justice to your great medicine to tell you what it has done for my wife.

"Two years ago the doctor called at our house, on an average, three times a week, in attendance upon my wife, who was suffering from acute indigestion. Her suffering was so great that nothing but morphine would give her relief.

"While on a visit to some friends in Norfolk she had an attack and I prepared to go for the doctor, when our friend proposed Peruna. I gave her a dose, repeating it in a half hour, and her pains passed away. Since that time my wife has gained thirty pounds.

"We are never out of Peruna. When the children or I have a cold we take some of mamma's Peruna. I find it has cut my doctor bills down to almost nothing."

Gained Thirty Pounds.

MRS. C. DASHEL.

Pe-ru-na for Her Children.

Mrs. Alice Bogle, 308 Clinton St., Circleville, Ohio, writes:

"I want to inform you what Peruna has done for me.

"I have been afflicted with catarrh for several years. I have tried different medicines and none seemed to do me any good until I used Peruna. I have taken six bottles and can praise it very highly for the good it has done me.

"I also find it of great benefit to my children."

LEPER'S WIFE MAKES BRAVE FIGHT FOR HIM

Specialist Reports to Her That He Does Not Believe Husband Has Leprosy.

Washington, May 22.—Despite all attempts of the medical authorities to prove John R. Early a leper and separate him permanently from his wife and children, the pretty youthful wife of the suspected man has refused to accept their opinions and has stood by her husband with touching devotion. Since August last the suspect has occupied a little cottage, separated only by a fence, from the house occupied by his wife, where she and the children could talk with him and can now watch him at work in a little garden.

Mrs. Early has resorted to everything a loving wife might do to aid her husband. She first prevented the authorities from separating him entirely from his family and human association, and has tried to obtain every method of treatment that medical science could suggest.

Early's only intercourse with the outside world is through his wife, who gives him every care and attention she is permitted.

Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong Remembered On Departure

Presentation and Addresses by Several Lodges Last Night—A Very Enjoyable Evening Spent at the Orange Hall—Speeches Made by Some of Those Present

IMPORTANT APPOINTMENT

A large number of Orangemen and their friends gathered last night at the Orange Hall, Simcoe street, to say farewell to Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong, who leaves in a few days for Western Canada, to accept the important position of Organizer for the Grand Orange Lodge of Saskatchewan. Mr. Armstrong has taken a prominent part in Orange circles, throughout the County of Peterborough during the past eighteen years. He was formerly a member of Cabra L. O. L. No. 203, of Iandragee, Ireland, and on coming to Peterborough, became affiliated with L. O. L. No. 80. About a year ago, however, Mr. Armstrong, organized Duke of Manchester L. O. L. No. 50, largely a young man's lodge, and became its first Worshipful Master. He has also occupied the offices of W. Perceptor of R. B. P. No. 261, W. C. in C. of Royal Scarlet Chapter, and has held the position of County Master of West Peterborough for the past three years. At the meeting of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland, at Midland, last year, Mr. Armstrong was elected Grand Standard Bearer.

Mr. R. E. Juby, District Master of the City of Peterborough occupied the chair, and fulfilled his duties in his usual efficient manner. He referred to Mr. Armstrong's work in the Orange Order, in Peterborough, and felt that although the Orangemen of Peterborough would be the loser, Saskatchewan would gain materially.

Miss Wiley then rendered a musical selection, which was greatly appreciated by the audience.

An Address.

At this period Mr. R. N. Hopkins read a farewell address from the members of Duke of Manchester L. O. L. No. 50, and Mr. George Godfrey presented him with a Past Master's Jewel:

Worshipful Bro. W. H. G. Armstrong, County Master, West Peterborough.

Dear Sir and Bro.—We, the members of Duke of Manchester Lodge, No. 50, in the District of the City of Peterborough, County of West Peterborough, desire to take this opportunity of extending to you our most hearty congratulations, on your appointment to the most responsible position of Organizer of our honoured order for the Province of Saskatchewan. We congratulate you, Sir, on this signal mark of the esteem and confidence which the leaders of our Order have in you, and we congratulate our own Lodge on having produced from their ranks a member worthy of such an important position. We look over your record of eighteen years' service in the lodges of this city, and we remember that you have always been most faithful and efficient in every capacity—a stimulus and example to the many young men who have joined our ranks in recent years. We feel confident that you will take into your new and higher position the same energy and faithfulness which has marked your career here, and we shall confidently anticipate a great work in the new province in which lies so largely the future of the Dominion. We shall hope to see the Order, which stands as a guardian of civil and religious liberty flourish abundantly in the splendid province of the West.

We wish you God speed in your work, and health and prosperity to yourself and your family in the land of promise. We trust that your interest in the lodges of this city, will never grow less, and that we shall at intervals have the pleasure of welcoming you again in our meetings. We realize the utter impossibility of repaying you for the time and ability that you have so willingly given to further the interests of our Lodge, but we ask you to accept this Past Master's Jewel, with the hope that you may be long spared to wear it in Orange circles, and that it shall ever serve to remind you of the high esteem in which you are held by the members of L. O. L. No. 50.

Dated at Peterborough, this 21st day of May, 1909.

On behalf of the Peterborough District Orange Lodge, Mr. Henry Patterson read the following address, while Mr. C. E. Wiley made the presentation:

Bro. W. H. G. Armstrong, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir and Bro.—We, the members of the District Orange Lodge of the City of Peterborough, having learned of your intended departure from our midst into a field of higher prospects, have gathered here this evening to say farewell, and to express in some manner, our feeling of regret in your having to sever your active connections with the brethren of this city.

While we regret the loss we are sustaining, we are pleased to know that your appointment as Grand Organizer in the Province of Saskatchewan, is one that is commendable.

Whilst in our midst you have made many friends, both in the Association and with those who have had the pleasure of your acquaintance. Your untiring efforts to advance the cause of civil and religious liberty in this city have been crowned with success and we have only to point with pride to your own primary lodge, which you have recently organized for proof of the fact that you are capable of discharging your duties in the West in such a manner as will do credit to the Association.

We feel we cannot in mere words or actions repay you for the many kind acts done, and words of encouragement and advice, which have come from you, not only as from a superior officer, but from the brotherly standpoint you so nobly uphold. We therefore ask you to accept this suit-case, not for its intrinsic value, but as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by the brethren of Peterborough.

As time passes by you will have formed new acquaintances, and this, as a gift, will have passed from view, but we trust your thoughts may often bring you sweet recollections of the many pleasant hours spent with the Orangemen of this city.

Signed, on behalf of the Orangemen of Peterborough—Robert Juby, Dist. M.; Chas. E. Wiley, Dist. D. M.; R. N. Hopkins, Dist. Sect.; Henry Patterson, Dist. Fin.-Sec.

Speeches.

Speeches were given by Messrs. Col. J. W. Miller, P.C.M.; Jos. Jones, P. C. M.; D. Hamilton, P. Com. in C. of Royal Scarlet Chapter; J. A. Carscallan, C. in C. R. S. Chap.; Robt. Wilson, P. D. M.; R. Baker, P. M. No. 80 R. A.; Howard Moore, Fin.-Sec. No. 50; Henry Patterson, D. M. No. 175, J. Briggs, of Manser L. O. L.; N. Lawson, L. O. L. No. 321, and others. All emphasized Mr. Armstrong's services to Orangemen of Peterborough, and wished him every success in his new field of labour.

In replying Mr. Armstrong appreciated the kindness shown him and the eulogy by the several brethren, who had spoken. He had always tried to do what he could to help the Order in the city, and elsewhere, and was glad that they had appreciated what he had done. He would always look back upon the time spent in Peterborough with pleasant recollections. Despite the fact that it was necessary to leave the city and the many friends he made in it, he felt he could be of more service in Western Canada. Though he was severing active connection with the city Orangemen, if there was anything he could do to help them, it would be a pleasure and a privilege to do so.

Refreshments were served and the meeting broke up by singing the National Anthem.

MR. W. H. G. ARMSTRONG.

PARIS SIEGE SURVIVORS TO DINE.

Paris, May 22.—Two Frenchmen, M. Esmonet and Dr. Rabler, who went through the siege of Paris, have hit up a novel idea—that of grouping together all persons of both sexes who are survivors of the terrible siege.

They propose that the members shall meet at dinner, twice a year. The first dinner, in November, will commemorate the "siege suppers," the menu being black bread, horseflesh, and Riz au Chocolate.

The second dinner on 28 Jan., 1910, will commemorate the appearance of the first white bread after five months of siege.

A "Livre d'Or," is also to be started wherein each survivor, with pen or pencil, will relate some experience of the siege.

Central Ontario Power Co. Has Set Price For Burleigh Falls

The Council Received Long Sought Figures Last Night—Report of Prominent Engineer on Burleigh Falls Power—Approximate Cost of Buildings and Erecton of Line to Peterborough.

SOME OTHER INFORMATION.

The Central Ontario Power Company's price for their properties and water power rights at Burleigh Falls was presented to the Council in Committee last night by Mr. R. J. McLaughlin who was present with Mr. J A. Culverwell. This was the main purpose of the meeting, but there were several minor questions brought up.

Alderman Bradburn stated that a man, whose name he had forgotten, had asked what price would be demanded for a city lot on Caddy street in the Ward and a lot of 50 feet frontage on Water street, north, opposite the Colonial Weaving Co. On motion the matter was referred to the Property Committee with power to act.

Mr Dumble, who was present, casually remarked, that if the city had any land in the Fifth Ward, "for goodness sake give it to the children for a playground."

Power Question

Mr. McLaughlin, besides announcing the company's price for Burleigh Falls, presented the report of Andrew F. McCallum, B.B.C., C.E., upon the proposed electric power development at that place. His investigations were made for the Central Ontario Power Co. Some of the important points in the report are given herewith. The head of water that can be secured is 27 feet. At present it is slightly less than this by a foot. The flow of water at Burleigh is 65,000 cubic feet per minute.

The Lovesick Lake Reservoir is sufficient to provide for a flow of about fifty per cent. greater than the amount given above, as it has an area of one and a half square miles. This is assumed to cover the period of working hours each day and without interfering with navigation below on account of the large area of Stony Lake.

With modern wheel efficiency four thousand horse power (4,000) can thus be developed at Burleigh Falls by the utilization of this Lovesick Reservoir.

Site of Power House

The two best locations are, namely First upon Perry's Ravine, and secondly upon an overflow channel just east of the lock channel, at present held back by the government retaining wall.

In Perry's Ravine, the power house would be located at the lower end of the ravine adjacent to Stony Lake; and in the second case the power house would be located at the head of the inlet of Stony Lake just behind the hotel.

Either of these power house sites is quite feasible and in economy of construction differ very little.

Capital Cost of Development

The capital cost of developing the four thousand horse power at Burleigh Falls will be as follows.

Cost of concrete in the power house and dam, flumes, including rock excavation, racks, draft tubes, etc., complete	$27,000 00
Wheels with exciter wheels and governors, complete	26,000 00
Four electrical generators of one thousand h.p. each, exciters and switch boards, lightening arresters, etc.	52,000 00
Step-up transformers	18,500 00
Transmission lines, from Burleigh to Peterborough	24,500 00
Substation at Peterborough with step-down transformers	19,500 00
Contingencies and engineering and interest during construction	18,500 00
Total capital cost	$186,000 00

Allowing for losses of electrification the amount of power delivered and transformed at Peterborough ready for distribution will be 3,550 horse power, or at a capital cost per horse power of about $52.00.

Cost of Operation (Yearly)

The yearly cost of operation for delivering of power transformed and ready for distribution at Peterborough, viz:

General expenses—Superintendent and three men	$3,500 00
Supplies	2,300 00
Repairs	4,300 00
Depreciation or sinking fund	3,750 00
Interest	12,440 00
$11,000	12,440 00
Incidentals	800 00
Total annual operation cost	$26,990 00

Or $7.60 per electrical horse power delivered to Peterborough transformed and ready for distribution, namely 3,550 h.p.

In the above very liberal estimate of operating expenses and capital costs it is assumed that the City of Peterborough debentures will be at the rate of four per cent., and that there will be no taxes as the county does not pay taxes on their property in the City of Peterborough.

Get Separate Report

Alderman Bradburn considered that the city should engage an engineer to prepare a report and compare it with that of Mr. McCallum's. It would have to be considered whether the company's price was a fair one.

On motion of Aldermen Bradburn and Phelan it was left in the hands of the Power Committee.

Seymour Power Co.

During the course of his remarks explanatory of the power possibilities at Burleigh and the cheapness of the cost to the city, Mr. Culverwell made reference to the Seymour Power Co., which he stated were greatly exaggerated and might be taken seriously by the people of Peterborough, who were unacquainted with the situation. They had a head of 22 feet at their dam, and were developing no more than 2,200 h.p. Mr. R. B. Rodgers in his report had stated that the flow of the Trent River at Campbellford is no greater than that of the Otonabee River at Peterborough, because of the additional watershed and the great evaporation, and percolation. The company is under a contract to deliver 700 h.p. to Deloro mines and will have about 1,000 h.p. to spare and a part of this is required for a mill in Campbellford. One-third of the whole is owned by Mr Culverwell and his associates, so he stated, and at a certain stage of an injunction would be applied for to stop the company. Deeds were produced to show that Mr. Culverwell owned as much as the Seymour people of the other dams they spoke of. Furthermore they would not be able to finish their power house by August.

Andrew F. McCallum, B.A., Sc., C.E., is a member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers and is the engineer of the City of Hamilton. He is a member of the firm of Mccallum & McAllister, consulting engineers, Toronto. He was divisional engineer for 75 miles of the Transcontinental railway. He was engaged by the Central Ontario Power Co. to make a report on Burleigh Falls Power as found in part above.

ONCE MORE THE PROOF IS GIVEN

That Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure Even Inherited Ill-Health.

Charles Dayon Suffered From Early Youth But the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy Banished His Ills and Made Him Strong.

St. George,, Man., May 21.—Special.—Yet another case in which ill-health inherited from parents has been vanquished by Dodd's Kidney Pills is that of Mr. Charles Dayon, a farmer, well known in this neighbourhood.

"I suffered from a number of ills from an early age," says Mr. Dayon, who is now thirty-two years old. "I inherited my trouble from my parents. I was weak, nervous and run down. I suffered from Backache and my muscles would cramp. I had a heavy, dragging sensation across the loins. I was always thirsty: I had great difficulty in collecting my thoughts, and my memory was failing me.

"I was altogether in a bad way when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but they helped me almost from the first box. They gave me strength and helped me so much in every way that I am satisfied a little longer treatment will make me a well man."

Mr. Dayon's symptoms were the symptoms of Kidney Disease, and Dodd's Kidney Pills cure every form of Kidney Disease no matter what stage it is in or how it is contracted.

MISSION BAND SALE AND ENTERTAINMENT

The annual box sale and entertainment of the Mission Band of St. Luke's Church was held last evening in the schoolroom, when a large number was in attendance. The boxes containing fancy and useful articles were disposed of quickly. A candy table, too, was largely patronized.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt occupied the chair, and with a few well-chosen remarks, introduced the following numbers:

Piano solo—Mr Kilpach.

"A Trip Through our Pledges".—Mission Band.

Vocal solo.—Miss R. Quartermaine.

Piano solo—Miss Alice Neil.

Vocal solo—Miss F Scott.

Piano duet.—Misses Elsie and Phyllis Dawson.

Vocal duet.—Miss Georgie and Prudence Long.

Mrs W J Scott is in charge of the Mission Band, and to her a great deal of the credit for the success of the affair is due. She was ably assisted by Mrs. T H. Adams, Mrs. G. R Browning and Miss L. Rogers.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR

Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia. If any of the readers of the Examiner are suffering from stomach trouble of any kind Mr. Madill will sell you a box of Mi-o-na for 50 cents with an absolute guarantee of relief or money money back.

Neil Murray, of Huron Road, Goderich, Ont., says; "I suffered with indigestion for over four years and had been given over as incurable by many doctors. I had become a nervous wreck through loss of sleep, and whatever I did eat did not remain on my stomach for over two hours. I would suffer with vomiting spells that would almost kill me, perspiration as large as beads would break out all over my body and leave me in so weakened a condition that I would be unable to stand, not a night's rest in over six months and was so weakened and run down that my family thought I would die. My heart was greatly weakened and would flutter and a sharp pain would come through me and cut off my breath. I was reduced in weight from 150 to less than 110 pounds. Doctors would give different causes for my trouble, yet none of them gave me the slightest relief. I commenced treatment with Mi-o-na and when one half of the first box was used I could eat my meals without suffering the dreadful vomiting spells. I used about ten boxes in all, and I am sincerely cured. My stomach is as strong as ever and there is not the slightest trouble with indigestion. I have gained about 40 pounds in weight, am strong and healthy and like a new man. I will always speak highly of Mi-o-na, as it cured and I believe Kept me from sure death when all else had failed."

Magnificent Musical Treat Was The Concert of 57th Band In Conservatory Music Hall

Prof. Gliddon's Crack Organization Surpassed Itself in the Presentation of a Most Delightful Programme Last Night---Every Number Was a Gem and the Band's Playing Was Superb---An Organization of Which the City Should Well be Proud.

A magnificent treat, to employ a somewhat hackneyed but useful expression, was the concert given by the band of the 57th Regiment, under the direction of Mr. Rupert Gliddon, in the Conservatory of Music Hall last night. Unfortunately, the attendance was not large, but if most hearty applause can stand for empty benches the warmth of the reception given the red-coated musicians more than atoned for the comparatively small audience. The band was never heard in better form. Consistent and earnest practice, the untiring efforts of Mr. Gliddon, and the individual zeal of the members have resulted in a manifest improvement, and the 57th has reached a standard that puts it in a class by itself, when compared to the great majority fo Canadian bands.

Its repertoire includes numbers that few bands in Canada would care to attempt, notably the overture from "The Barber of Seville," one of the numbers given last night, and which the band played with a smoothness and a facility that was most pleasing. The attack never faltered, the tone was clear and well sustained, but never harsh, and the effect was always delightful. The number was quite the best of the evening and admirers of the band were charmed with the number in which Rossini's masterpiece was presented.

The programme throughout last night was one of exceptional merit, and the audience indicated its appreciation in no uncertain manner by warm outbursts of applause. Every number was given a fine reception, and in some cases a double encore had to be given, Mr. Gliddon and his band responding generously. Throughout the band played most delightfully, the organization being seemingly better balanced than ever before, while there has been a great improvement in the reed section. The opening number was Bigelow's stirring march "Our Director," a swinging measure that was played with a precision of attack and a correctness of tempo that made it a most successful commencement to a magnificent programme.

"The Barber of Seville," to which reference has already been made was next, and was alone worth a journey to the Conservatory to hear. No better recommendation as to the merit of the band could be given than the manner in which they handled the difficult overture. Serjt. Walter Hughes' cornet solo, "Sing Me to Sleep," in which he was provided with a sympathetic accompaniment by the band, was one of the gems of the evening. Serjt. Hughes' work is always cleancut and delightful and he was at his best last night.

The Indian intermezzo "Rainbow," a catchy, lilting melody, that provides effective passages for clarionette work, was played with an irresistible swing that called for an encore, and the number had to be repeated in answer to the applause. The selectio nfrom the musical comedy success "The Time, The Place, and The Girl," considered Jos. Howard's best effort, was capitally interpreted by the band, and the tuneful score played as it made a fine impression upon the audience. Overflowing with sparkling music the selection is one of the best in the line of popular music that the band has given us in a long time.

The two-step novelty, "Hoopee-Koo," has a melody that is as unusual as its name, and is altogether a most pleasing number, played in the dashing manner in which the band rendered it last night. The audience enjoyed it so much that an encore was demanded and as a response the selection "Old Settlers on Parade," a compilation of favourite old songs played as a patrol, was given, and met with such a popular reception that it had to be repeated.

Some of Harry Von Tilzer's hits arranged as a medley under the title "Don't Take Me Home," were effectively played, and will undoubtedly be a favourite with local audiences this summer. Such popular songs as "Don't Take Me Home," "I Remember You," "Schreiners That Pass in the Night," etc., are included in the selection.

Miss Julia Choate's contribution to the programme consisted of a violin solo, a valse caprice, by Weiniawski. Her performance of this number brought out an executive facility and artistic sense of appreciation of virtuoso calibre. Miss Choate is showing distinct improvement. Her tone is broadening and her work, as a whole, shows distinct refinement. The sprightly character of her subject received full justice. In the double stopping and staccatto passages, she was at her best, and an all-round artistic treatment made her solo a decided musical triumph. In response to an enthusiastic recall, Miss Choate gave a delightful performance of Schumann's "Traumerei," on muted strings. Miss Choate is taking a prominent place in the ranks of artistic violinists. Miss Sisoon's accompaniments were in every way competently complementary.

Perhaps the number, which developed the musical resources of the band in the most elaborate and effective way, was the Pastorale and Hunting Fantasia, a descriptive piece taking a band over every field of musical achievement, execution and expression. The first movement, opening softly, advances by crescendo to a crashing diapason, and the skill with which the band followed Mr. Gliddon's baton was a revelation of the musical oneness of the organization, and its highly-developed executive skill and dynamic judgment. The storm scene was a splendid piece of mimetec music, forming a splendid contrast to the soothing finale, introducing the distant boom of the monastery bell, the evening hymn and the beautiful harmonies of the Te Deum. The whole selection was superbly handled, in both an executive and sentimental sense.

The band has greatly improved in many ways. The younger members have strikingly developed, the wood wind section is strong and effective, the brasses have greatly improved in character of tone, and all-round there is a decided improvement in executive efficiency and interpretative taste. These characteristics as well as a crispness of attack, a fineness of finish in all classes of work, marked the performance of the band throughout its entire programme and forecast great public enjoyment from their public appearances during hte coming season.

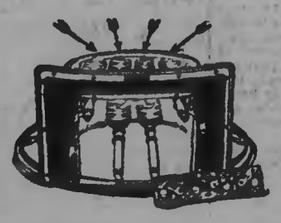
The Hecla Furnace

These Grate Bars Clean Your Fire Without A Poker



Because each of these four Grate Bars can be shaken separately. When the outer edge of a fire is dead, shake only the outer grate bars. When the outer edge needs a hard shaking, and the center only a few twists, you can clean each part of the fire of all the ashes and clinkers, without turning good coal down into the ash pan. This saves the fire—saves coal—saves sifting ashes—and, of course, one grate is much easier to turn than four geared together.

"Hecla" Individual Grate Bar is only one of a score of improvements possessed by this furnace alone.

The "Hecla" Fused Joints, for instance, insure the Furnace being dust, smoke and gas proof. The joints are fused, making them solid and absolutely airtight.

Our catalogue will tell you more of these and other exclusive features, which make the "Hecla" the safest and most sanitary warm air furnace on the market. Write today for free copy.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY

An exciting runaway occurred on Wednesday afternoon about six o'clock. Mr. W. J. Waldon's team of horses became frightened when near Mr. F. J. Moore's residence and cut loose from the rig, coming over the bridges on a mad gallop. At the east end of the bridge they came in contact with the House of Refuge team, attached to a cultivator, and a bad mix-up occurred. The driver of the House of Refuge team escaped with a few bruises, but one of Mr. Waldon's horses was cut up considerably.—Lakefield News.

Bass' Barley Wine

Keeps Your System Healthy and Vigorous.

Disease germs are constantly floating around in the air.

As long as you keep your system in a healthy state, these bacilli are perfectly harmless.

But, once you neglect your health and your system becomes run down, you leave yourself open to contract any contagious disease.

It's in this way that typhoid and low fevers, small pox, pneumonia, tuberculosis, diphtheria and other often fatal diseases develop.

When your system is rundown and you're troubled with loss of appetite, headaches, indigestion, insomnia; are easily fatigued or depressed, it's then that you need Bass' Barley Wine to build you up.

Bass' Barley Wine is made from the finest barley malt and choicest hops.

Barley malt contains the highest nutritive principles of barley.

Hops have a tonic effect and cure dyspepsia, nervous troubles, wakefulness, etc.

There is just sufficient alcohol in Bass' Barley Wine to aid digestion.

To overcome fermentation which is so objectionable and so much in evidence in most malt extracts, Bass' Barley Wine is aged for three years in casks.

As a tonic and nourishing beverage, it is far superior to any malt extract or other malt product.

Bass' Barley Wine is the ideal tonic for old people, and convalescents recovering from low fever and other wasting diseases.

It has no equal for nursing mothers and those suffering from anaemia, chlorosis, leanness, malnutrition, neurasthenia, indigestion, insomnia and tubercular troubles.

It has a wonderfully bracing effect on men and women when fagged out or fearing to become so.

POTATOES HIGH PRICE.

Potatoes are holding the first place in the market to-day. The farmers were asking $1.25 and the grocers are reported to be asking $1.35 and $1.40. The situation is really graver than is estimated. The farmers state that the price is likely to go up higher, in fact they state that it will. This condition obtains throughout the province and potatoes are worth something. The supply of old potatoes is either nearly all gone or the farmers are holding back, covering the market as it were.

A BIG "STRIKE" AT SILVER MOUNTAIN

The Port Arthur Chronicle of Monday, the 17th, publishes a report just received from the mine regarding the development of the Silver Mountain.

Drifting in from the 140 foot level of No. 1 shaft, they succeeded in uncovering about one thousand feet of new ground, all in ore of remarkable richness. The report leads to the belief that the workings of this property and others in this district this season will show results equal to those of Cobalt and Gow Ganda.

The ore now being extracted from this drift is so rich that it can be shipped to the smelter without going through the mill.

This property is owned by the Hanson Consolidated Silver Mines, Limited. They have been employing about twenty men on this property, but in about a month will increase this number to seventy-five. Capt. Shear, the superintendent of the mine, thinks that, in view of the recent developments and the exceptional quality of the ore, the mine should become a good dividend earner.

The following gentlemen, directors of the company, J. C. Shook, Peterborough, general manager and director; M. Avery, ex-M.P., W. Snider, W. S. Calvert, M.P., and Geo. A. Clare, M.P., are very jubilant over the news.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

FRED SIMPSON WILL START IN MARATHON RACE AT CHICAGO

Ojibway Thunderbolt Will Not be in the Running at Montreal on Monday, But Will be Kept for the Big Race in the West.

Toronto, May 22.—"Fred Simpson will not run in the Montreal Marathon Monday," said Tom Eck to-day. "I have a contract with him, and did not sign him for Montreal. I phoned him to-day, and he said he would not go to Montreal, but will run in the $10,000 Marathon at Chicago. Simpson is getting rid of his cold, and will do something in Chicago."

Eck saw Tom Coley run his 15-mile trial in 1.27.57, and says that Coley has a grand chance in the Montreal Marathon. He says he was muscle bound in the Canadian Derby, and has improved 30 per cent. since then. Eck is kicking himself that he let Acoose alide this spring. He had a chance to get him, but put off going west after him.

BOTH TEAMS WILL BE IN SHAPE FOR HOLIDAY GAME

St. Catharines Will Have Strong Line-Up for Their Game With Locals Here on Monday---It Will be a Great Battle All the Way.

The game between the St. Catharines and Peterboro Lacrosse teams at Riverside Park on Monday afternoon will be one of the big events of the holiday, and no doubt will attract a big crowd to the grounds, beside the Otonabee. Both teams are in good shape and it will be a battle royal. The two teams rarely have encountered each other in the sporting line, and there is much interest in the contest on this account. The game will be called at 3.30 o'clock, which will give the visiting soldiers from St. Catharines who will turn out en masse to support their team, a chance to see the liftlock before the game starts. Champion Hoagland will face the ball and an interesting event is being arranged in the shape of a race between Fred Simpson, the Ojibway thunderbolt, and Geo. Brown and Lew West, the crack long-distance walkers, who are to take part in the six-day walk next week. Simpson will run three miles while the walkers go, one each. This should prove an interesting feature, as many people have never seen the Indian in action.

THE INTERNATIONAL SIX DAY WALK BEGINS MONDAY NIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK WITH BIG FIELD

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the International six-day walk in the Brock St. Rink on Monday night at 8 o'clock sharp. Mayor Rush will give the word "Go" to one of the most classy fields of the distance men that ever faced a starter. All the men are in good shape and confident of making a showing in the struggle. Ray Fenton arrived from Auburn last night ready for the grind, and according to the reports from his home city the youngster from across the line will be a far different proposition than he was last year. He was always game but he has been practising faithfully and has developed speed as well, so that he will be heard from during the week.

The following officials have been arranged:

Starter—His Worship Mayor Rush.
Referee—Mark Spenceley.
Chief Scorer—Arthur Graham.
Judges—A. C. Yokome and F. D. Craig.

The track is in splendid condition for the big race and the facilities for the walkers are better than ever before. The scorers' table has been arranged on a platform on the south end of the rink, where the numbers will be in full view of everyone in the building so that the progress of the race can be ascertained at a glance.

Following are the entrants to date:
W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N. Y.
Geo. Brown, Auburn, N. Y.
Ray Fenton, Auburn, N. Y.
Lew West, New York, N. Y.
J. E. Blake, Syracuse, N. Y.
Jim Dixon, Philadelphia, Pa.
Tom Allen, Buffalo, N. Y.
Jack Cooper, Toronto, Ont.
Jim. Harrison, Peterborough.
W. Spenceley, Peterborough.
John Blatchford, Peterborough.
Dave Hartley, Peterborough.

SIMPSON WILL RUN A RELAY RACE AGAINST BROWN AND WEST AT MONDAY'S GAME

Fred Simpson will run three miles against a relay of walkers, composed of Geo. Brown, of Auburn, N.Y., and Lew West of New York City immediately before the lacrosse match at Riverside Park, on Monday afternoon. A quarter-mile track will be mapped out on the grass, so that the conditions will be favourable for fast time. The arrangements are that Simpson is to run three miles while each of the walkers travel a mile. Both Brown and West are very speedy and the Indian will have his work cut out for him to beat them one mile in three. It will be Simpson's first appearance in the running game in Peterborough since he broke into pro. company, and many people who are interested in the Ojibway, but who have not seen him perform, will be on hand to watch the race, which will make a splendid curtain-raiser to the lacrosse game.

RACES AT DRIVING PARK SHOULD ATTRACT CROWD ON MONDAY

The horse races on Monday will undoubtedly attract a large number of lovers of the game, as the Turf Club has promised some fast events. There is a 2.50 class and a free-for-all. The best horses of this district will be here for the day, and in the latter class there should be three or four fast heats. The track will be in a great shape if the weather continues fine and there should be a large attendance. The last matinee was held on December 25th, and provided a great afternoon's sport, but on Monday this should be greatly surpassed. The horses will include the best in Peterborough, Port Hope, Lindsay, and other neighbouring towns.

NO FRESHMEN ON THE SENIOR TEAMS

New Athletic Rule Promulgated by Varsity Directors.

No first year student at the University of Toronto will be allowed in future to be a member of a senior intercollegiate team, rugby, hockey, soccer, track, lacrosse, tennis, swimming or any other.

This rule has been adopted by the athletic directorate. It emanated from the student body, and has met with the hearty approval of the faculties of the various colleges.

It is, in a sense, the first official recognition at any university in Canada that study stands first, and athletic prowess will not be recognized if it exists without a fair amount of application to the courses set down in the curriculum.

This voluntary action taken by the students' representatives is all the more gratifying to the College authorities because it comes at a time when the university men have to their credit almost a clean sweep in athletics over the other colleges in Canada, and also when there have been so glaring instances of the need for such a rule.

"We feel that this will be an upward step, said a man who is in close touch with Varsity athletics. Very often cracker-jacks come from the preparatory colleges, and at once make some of the best men on the senior team, but the excitement and the 'big head' that is apt to be created if the team wins is usually not good for his studies. The new rule allows him to play on an intermediate or junior team, but not on any senior intercollegiate until he 'makes his year.' In this way we can show to the general public that the idea of athletics is secondary to their studies. It may be a hardship here and there, but the second and third teams will be strengthened, and his three last years is long enough for any player to belong to the senior team."

MINNEAPOLIS TEAM GETS. CHAS. DEXTER

CHARLIE DEXTER.

Des Moines, Ia., May 22.—Charlie Dexter, old Des Moines manager and star in the Western League for a half dozen seasons, has been sold to the Minneapolis team in the American Association. Dexter has been handed about by the minors for a year, Des Moines refusing to give him his release until the Millers came through with a wad. He is a catcher and first baseman.

SAYS SPOONING HAS SPOILED ATHLETICS

Too Much "Lovey-Dovey" Business at Indiana University, According to the Coach.

Bloomington, Ind., May 22.—Too much "lovey-dovey" business is hindering athletes at Indiana University, according to the opinion of Coach "Skel" Roach, of the 'varsity baseball team. The veteran player looks with disgust on the "lady-fussers," especially when they try to be athletes at the same time.

"I attribute the lack of spirit in the university to the girls," said the coach. "This 'lovey-dovey' business attracts the men away from the diamond and the athletic fields, and they become more interested in girls and dances. The girls, it seems to me, ought to be the ones to encourage the men to come out and try for the team. Girls are all right to have in the university, but they should not be a detriment to the good of the school along athletic lines."

Coach Roach spoke his mind after Indiana had gone down to defeat, 7 to 2, before Purdue, her old rival, in the game here this week. He is not discouraged, however, as his squad has the making of a star aggregation in it. Lack of good support by the student body was one thing the coach attributed defeat to. He is drilling the men hard on base running, their principal weakness.

THISTLES WON FROM ORIOLES

The Senior Thistles added another to their bunch of scalps yesterday, when they took the Ashburnham Orioles into camp in a lively game at the old tennis court, East City. Alex. Darling was a very satisfactory umpire and the teams were as follows:

Orioles—Quinn, c.; Primeau, p.; B. Swanson, 1st b.; B. Neil, 2nd; B. A. Adams, 3rd; Lavery, s.s.; P. Adams, r.f.; Heath, l.f.; Collins, c.f.

JOE POWERS, MANAGER OF UNDEFEATED TEAM

of Sudbury High School, of Which Mr. John Davidson is Principal.

The Sudbury Mining News of the 7th inst., publishes a group picture of the High School hockey team of that town, of which Mr. Joe Powers is manager. This club was organised a year ago last January, soon after the opening of the Sudbury High School. The boys played excellent hockey and finished both seasons without defeat. The number of games played, 7, the number won, 7, number of goals for, 62, number of goals against, 22. At an informal entertainment in the High School last week in honour of the boys, Principal Davidson, after an able and appropriate address presented the boys in behalf of the association, with a beautiful tie in the school colours and the school pin, and complimented them not only for their success in winning but for their gentlemanly conduct both in their matches and in all their practices. He pointed out that it was a part of the work of a High School not only to encourage manly sport but to elevate it. On the presentation to the students the Principal urged them to bear in mind that the colours of the Sudbury school are expected to be a stimulus to the wearer at all times to honest endeavour, to win by fair means and to accept defeat should it come with equanimity.

Mr. Powers has many friends among the sporting young men of Peterboro, and Mr. Davidson is known to many, having been for years the Principal of the Norwood High School.

24 YEARS A MINOR IS "HOGGY'S" RECORD

GEO. HOGRIEVER.

Des Moines, Ia., May 22.—George Hogriever, manager of the Pueblo Western League team, is one of base balls' most unique characters. He has been a good minor league performer for years, his big league experience being limited to one season with Boston.

"Hoggy," as he is known far and wide, has been playing the game for 24 years, and during this time his batting average has not been more than 10 points away from the .300 mark. To-day he appears to be as good as ever.

Since he left Boston, 10 years back, he has been playing in the American Association or Western League continuously. This season marks his debut as manager.

Foster Predicts Continuance Of Warm And Cool Spells Of Weather

Examiner Special.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—Last Bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 22 to 26, warm wave 21 to 25, cool wave 24 to 28. The principal feature of this disturbance was expected to be a great rise in temperature and dry weather. Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about 26, cross Pacific slope by close of 27, Great Central Valleys 28 to 30, Eastern States 31. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about 26, Great Central Valleys 28, Eastern States 30. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about 29, Great Central Valleys 31, Eastern States June 2.

This disturbance will cause very big temperatures and drouth and following the storm centre a great fall in temperatures will occur with thunderstorms and rains. All weather features will be radical and severe storms in a few limited localities are probable.

Next bulletin will give general crop weather forecasts of June, one of the most important crop months of the year. I am expecting a number of destructive storms during that month and will give readers of these bulletins the best advice possible.

The Comet Is Coming

Much curiosity and excitement will be caused next year by the return of Halley's comet, the largest and most spectacular that ever visited our solar system during historic time. Astronomers cannot tell us the exact day the comet will cross the earth's orbit and therefore cannot determine whether any danger threatens. It is not wholly impossible for a comet to greatly injure the earth and human health would be impaired. The chances, however, are immensely against any danger next year from Halley's comet.

Probabilities are that we will see in this comet the finest display and the most wonderful ever witnessed by many people now living. This comet returns every 76 years and those who might remember its last visit must now be at least 80 years old.

Astronomers are not sure as to its form during the coming appearance as it has frequently changed its appearance. It is the first comet definitely recorded in history, it having caused great alarm more than 2,000 years ago. More anon about this wonderful comet.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 22.—The market opened quite strong with the standard issues and specialties showing fractional gains. Amn. Loco. was very strong being helped by the big order placed for the Western Pacific system. Steel common quickly rose nan a point and among the railroad stocks there was strength again in the Hill and Harriman issues. There is very little in the news to change sentiment, although the fortnightly idle car statistics show an increase of 2,151. This is only a moderate change, however, and was regarded with no market significance.

We look for Northern Pac. to be one of the most prominent stocks during the coming week. Foreigners are optimistic regarding this issue which seems to have been under accumulation for a number of weeks. The strength in the industrial list generally leads to the belief that National Lead common will not be overlooked.

The market continued firm during the last hour and we look for a continuation of bullish activity and higher prices next week. American stocks closed steady in London. Foreign houses expected to buy on balance. The bank statement was a favourable one.

REMARKABLE METHOD OF COMMITTING SUICIDE

Man Was Manacled Hands and Feet and Wore Dainty Female Attire---Was an Amateur Actor.

London, May 22.—An amazing discovery was made at Penlee Point, at the entrance to Mousehole, near Penzance, a few days ago.

The body of a man, dressed in complete woman's attire, but handcuffed and manacled, was found at the foot of the cliffs.

About seven o'clock in the evening a lad named John Haddern was walking along the road which runs at the edge of the cliff at Penlee Point, when he noticed on the rocks beneath what appeared to be a woman's body. He immediately drew the attention of a quarryman, who sent the boy to inform the coastguards, and then descended the cliff and took charge of the body.

The coastguards speedily arrived, accompanied by a local police officer, to whom the body was handed over. It was at once apparent that the hands were handcuffed, while on the ankles were a pair of manacles.

The astonishment of those who had witnessed so much of the affair was by no means complete, for, on the body being removed to Mousehole, it was discovered that it was that of a man, and not of a woman, as the clothing had led all who had seen it to believe. The body was found lying on its face in the crevice of some rocks: On the right side of the face, which was clean shaven, there were several severe bruises, and the eyes were also bruised, but the skull was not fractured.

A careful investigation showed that the body was that of a man about 30 or 35 years of age, and about 5 ft. 4 in. in height. The hair is dark brown, and cut very close: the complexion pale; the eyes are brown; and one of the large teeth in the upper jaw has been filled with gold.

Not only was the body dressed in every particular as that of a woman, but the clothes, and particularly the under-garments, were of a kind which plainly indicated a fastidious taste.

It has since been learned that the body is that of Douglas Panton, the son of Mr. J. A. Panton, of Benskin's Brewery, Watford, who had been mysteriously missing from home for about a fortnight. Mr. Douglas Panton, was a well known amateur actor, and had acted in some private theatricals at Watford, the address which was subsequently found on the dead man's belongings.

Why the man should be masquerading in woman's attire is a mystery, but it is supposed that the man's mind was unhinged by financial troubles, and that he took that peculiar method of ending his life.

FOUR FAMED QUEENS WHO USE CIGARETTES; MOST ROYAL WOMEN SMOKE NOWADAYS

Marie Amelie, dowager queen of Portugal.

According to London Sketch, which proudly prints testimonials of character from King Edward, the majority of the crowned women of Europe do smoke cigarettes.

But they don't use them in public. If Carmen Slyva and King Alphonso's mother were to exchange such question and reply, it would be in the privacy of their boudoirs. However, many women of birth smoke in the public restaurants of London, Vienna, Madrid and St. Petersburg, according to the veracious Sketch.

Conspicuous among the royal women who steal off for an inhale, says Sketch, are the aforesaid Elizabeth and Marie Christina, and Marie Feorodovna, queen mother of Russia and

One firm of manufacturing tobacconists in St. Petersburg prints this on its best brand of cigarettes: "By royal license of Marie Feorodovna, dowager empress."

Not able opponents of the growing custom of smoking among court ladies are Queen Alexandra, of England, and the Empress Victoria of Germany. Alexandra condemns the practice every time it is mentioned. Victoria will not permit even the men to smoke in her court, let alone the women.

The sale of a proprietary article used to remove yellow cigarette stains from fingers has reached an enormous sale in England of late years. Titled women buy it by the case, says Sketch.

HOW THE DETHRONED SULTAN SPENDS HIS TIME

Imprisoned in Villa Allatini, But It Is Pleasant Spot---Abdul Afraid to Go Out.

Salonika, May 22.—Having received definite assurance that his life will be spared, Abdul Hamid is becoming more resigned, and his appetite is returning. He spends much time sitting on the balcony of the Villa Allatini overlooking the sea, smoking cigarettes and chatting with a Sultana or one of the relatives who have accompanied him. His food is prepared by the chief cook from Yildiz, and he drinks Carasiuan water, which was recommended to him by Hilmi Pasha. He remains always in apartments on the second floor, although he could walk in the gardens if he desired, but then he would be under the observation of officers. His residence, which has three storeys, is encircled by extensive gardens and enclosed by a wall. Abdur-Rahim, his son, spends a great deal of time in the gardens. The Sultanas are plentifully provided with jewellery and clothes. Abdul Hamid, on the other hand, brought nothing with him. Yesterday an officer brought a supply of linen, and Fethi Bey went to Yildiz to fetch his ex-Majesty's wardrobe and some objects which were dear to him.

The villa is surrounded by sentries, who keep a strict guard. One hundred soldiers are encamped on the side of the wall nearest the sea. Inside the villa are twenty officers dressed in private uniforms. There are three Italians, who are in the service of General Robilant, to look after the horses and motor-car, which has not been removed yet. I was able to enter the grounds, but on leaving was searched to make sure that I was not carrying any letters.

Four thousand prisoners have arrived here by railway, the majority of them soldiers. They have been sent to Monastir and Uskub to work on the roads. Steamers with 3,000 other prisoners have also arrived. The President of the Commercial Tribunal and other people who were set at liberty through the action of the Military Club have opened a subscription to present to Chefket Pasha a sword of honour, and to assist the families of the recent victims in Constantinople.

HIGHEST SALARIED MONKEYS IN THE WORLD; THEIR PAY IS $800 A WEEK, $41,000 A YEAR

Paris, May 22.—These two monkeys are the highest salaried monks in the world. They draw 4,000 francs a week—$800 in real money.

H. B. Marinelli, who owns them, has just refused $25,000 for the couple. In the past fifteen months they have earned over $40,000.

Monsieur and Madame X.—that's what Marinelli calls the monkeys—are vaudeville artists. Cheap actors are "performers." The monks are artists with a big A. Nightly they are causing shrieks of delight at the Olympia, on a bill with Ethel Levey, formerly Mrs. Geo. Cohan, and Alexia the dancer, to whom Hammerstein paid $4,000 for four weeks last summer.

The stage of the Olympia was altered especially for the monkey act. Out of the stage, on a trap door ten feet by ten feet, rises a room, with Monsieur and Madame X. seated at the dinner table. They are in full evening dress. They eat their meals with knives, forks and spoons, use napkins, Monsieur X. pouring water first into his wife's glass, then his own, all with the politeness of well bred people. Later they undress themselves and retire in a small bed, the coverings of which they turn down and pull them up again.

Then the monks perform all sorts of feats mounted on regulation bicycles, riding up a plank, over a "saw horse" and down the plank on the other side, steering accurately in and around many wine bottles, placed on the floor, never spilling one; and last of all, unassisted, mount a tandem and whirl like "joy-speeders" about the stage.

The Monks probably will be taken to America next fall, but their owner fears the ocean voyage for them; they're subject to colds, grippe and pneumonia.

PAINFUL SCENE IN EDINBURGH COURT

Oscar Slater Sentenced to Death for Murder of Woman.

London, May 22.—Oscar Slater, who has been under trial at the High Court of Justiciary in Edinburgh, for the brutal murder of the octogenarian lady, Marian Gilchrist, in a Glasgow flat, has been found guilty and sentenced to death amid one of the most dramatic scenes ever witnessed in a criminal court.

After Lord Guthrie had concluded his summing up the jury took just one hour to determine on their verdict. As they filed back into court a slight flush mounted on the prisoner's hitherto impassive countenance, which immediately gave place to a deathly pallor.

Amid the breathless silence of the crowded court, the foreman of the jury announced that by a majority they had found the prisoner guilty.

Rising immediately from his seat with a stunned look, prisoner cried, "My lord, will you allow me to speak"

The Judge: Sit down just now.

Then elapsed a long, tense interval, during which the sentence was being recorded. Slater showed signs of the deepest emotion. He rocked to and fro in his seat, his mouth twitched, he cast his eye now to the roof and then to the floor, he sank down in his seat and then pulled himself up again, and a deathly pallor spread over his face.

"My lord—my father and mother," he broke out through his sobs and with a German accent which, made his words hardly distinguishable. He was understood to say he had not been allowed to give his own account to the jury, an dthat they had convicted an innocent man.

The record was not yet complete, and the impression of this piteous utterance was a painful one.

The tea you buy may be good, but you may be quite sure it is if it is "Salada." It is infinitely more delicious and decidedly more economical than other teas because it goes farther. 153

GERMANY TAX QUESTION IS CAUSING TROUBLE

Financial Reform is Demanded by the Nation at Once.

Berlin, May 22 — Confusion still reigns in internal politics in the matter of finance reform, and the public are losing patience. The Reichstag Commission has declined all proposals excepting that of the Agricultural Union, which urged them to try immediately the drafting of a bill in favor of the taxation of the unearned increment on land. This was voted unanimously, and the second part of the proposal, to try a tax on movable property, was supported by the great majority.

The fall of the Government's legacy duties is a heavy blow. The Radical People's Party Committee are making an appeal to all Radicals to stand firm in the just cause of moderate taxation of property, which the Conservatives, in conjunction with the Centre, declined.

Further developments, say the committee, will lead to a bitter struggle, and possibly to the dissolution of the Reichstag.

The "Norddeutsche Allegemeine Zeitung" utters words of sharp criticism in its weekly political resume, and says the situation is terribly serious. The financial reform which is demanded by the nation as an immediate necessity has, despite repeated attempts and spurts during the last six months, made no progress, but is essentially where it was at the beginning of November. The summer is close at hand, and the reform must now be settled. The people demand it of the Reichstag. Foreign countries are looking askance, and the settlement has become a matter of national honour. Should the majority of the Reichstag withdraw from the task the consequences will be incalculable.

DAD TO ABANDON TOWN.

Berlin, May 22.—An official telegram from the Kamerun says that a severe earthquake has compelled the Government to abandon Buea and to transfer the seat of the administration temporarily to Duala.

SAD ENDING TO A FAMILY QUARREL

Wife Killed Herself and Four Year Old Boy After a Tiff.

Paris, May 22.—A young woman, aged 28, has just committed suicide under particularly sad conditions, after poisoning her little son, 4 years of age, because she did not wish him to survive her. She was married, but for some reason or other she and her husband had a quarrel, with the result that the husband left the house and went to live alone. He had no idea of a permanent separation, and probably the difference would soon have been made up. In fact, he several times returned to the house in the hopes of seeing the boy and making it up with his wife, and each time left money to keep her and the boy. He returned again yesterday morning, but had misgivings when he saw the milk bottle still at the door, where the milkman used to place it every day. As he was unable to open the door he called the police, and when the entered the rooms they found both mother and child dead. They had expired only a few minutes before from poison.

FATAL RIOT AT BUENOS AYRES.

Buenos Ayres, May 22.—Serious disturbances took place and twelve lives were lost in fighting between labour demonstrators and police.

According to official statements, a band of anarchists began the affray by firing at the police, of whom they wounded five. The fire was returned, and as a result in addition to the dead there are believed to be about 100 injured. Numerous arrests were also made.

ANOTHER TRUNK TRAGEDY IN FRANCE

Case Like That of the Goulds About to Come Before Courts.

CRIME OF CAESAR TASSO.

Paris, May 22.—Marseilles, which was excited last August over a second trunk tragedy within the space of one year, will now witness the trial of Cæsar Tasso, a Syrian, accused of having murdered an old lady and compatriot of his, and of having cut her body up and stowed the pieces away in a trunk. Tasso held a rather comfortable position at Marseilles, being a successful emigration agent. He was married and had three children, and lived in easy circumstances, having a house in Marseilles and a pretty villa in the suburbs of that city. An elderly Syrian lady, who had been known to his family for years, and who had hitherto been treated as a friend, was returning from a voyage to America, and had, it is alleged, lent him some money, which was in the end made the pretext for the crime.

Tasso alleges that she had insisted on being repaid at once, which exasperated him, and that he killed her in a fit of anger, after which, not knowing what to do, he cut up the body and placed the pieces in a trunk, intending, like the Goulds, to get rid of it by transporting it somewhere. The heat, however, caused the presence of a corpse in the house to be perceived by the neighbors on the second day, and Tasso, who had gone to the country for a day, returned just as the police were searching the house, and a crowd had gathered to watch the proceedings. He stood, it is said, an indifferent onlooker himself, among the crowd for some time, but finally realizing the terrible nature of the crime, he went and gave himself up to the police, alleging that he did not know what he was doing. Shortly after his imprisonment he is alleged to have feigned madness, and was transferred to a lunatic asylum, where he was kept under close medical observation. After some weeks, when it is supposed he believed that the observation was relaxed, he became confidential with one of his fellow inmates of the asylum, and handed him letters of his wife, in which he described in detail how he had been trying to impose on the police and the doctors and hoped that he would escape conviction. He was then transferred to the prison.

But notwithstanding all the details so far brought out, a mystery still seems to hang over this crime, as it is difficult to conceive how a man like Tasso, in easy circumstances, should have committed murder for a sum of a few hundred francs. Besides, there seemed to be no reason why he should have borrowed money from the victim, as it is now known that he had an account in the bank and did not need it.

COULD NOT HIT DUMMY AIRSHIP.

Gibraltar, May 22.—The mobilization of the garrison of the fortress is at an end, and the result of the mimic attack was favourable to the garrison. A new feature of the manoeuvres this year was the firing with 50 pounders at a dummy aeroplane moored to the rock. It is understood that it was found impossible to hit it. It is evident that a gun of new design and some other kind of explosive will be necessary if the aeroplane become a reality in war.

ANARCHISTS WRECKED NEWSPAPER OFFICES

Armed Gangs in Battle With Odessa Newspaper Men.

Odessa, May 22.—The offices of the Odessa newspapers were attacked and raided recently by desperate gangs of armed Anarchists, evidently operating in accordance with a well-conceived plan. The raids were carried out simultaneously, the premises visited being those of the "Odesskoe Obosrenye" and the "Odesskaya Potchta."

It was shortly after midnight when the terrorists made their entry, and at the "Obosreyne" offices the staff were taken so completely by surprise that they made no attempt at resistance, but submitted quietly under threat of death to the rifling of the place. The staff of the "Potchta", however, proved more courageous, with the result that for a few minutes a fierce revolver battle raged, in which three of the editorial staff were severely wounded.

The newspaper men were outnumbered, and the robbers eventually got away with their booty, succeeding in eluding the police.

GREAT SINGERS TO WED IN JUNE

GERALDINE FARRAR
Antonio Scotti

Although the exact date has not yet been made public, friends of Geraldine Farrar, the famous young American diva, say that her wedding to Antonio Scotti, grand opera tenor, will occur at the Madeline in Paris during the first week in June.

Scotti has been attentive to Miss Farrar for a long time. In fact, their engagement was admitted by the cantatrice over a year ago.

Miss Farrar is the 27-year-old daughter of Sydney Farrar, of Melrose, Mass., at one time a famous ball player. From the time she made her debut in the Royal Opera House Berlin, as Marguerite in Faust, in 1901, her success has been phenomenal.

SOUGHT REVENGE ON BAKERS.

Paris, May 22.—Owing to the rise in the price of wheat the bakers in the district of Bertencourt-des-Dames and Saint Leger-les-Domart, in the Somme, put up the price of bread recently.

The inhabitants received this decision badly, and some three or four hundred of them made a determined attack on the bakers' shops, breaking the windows and fronts with stones, and compelling the bakers to show their invoices for flour.

FRANCE AND GERMANY MAY KISS AND MAKE UP

French Senator Makes Notable Address at German Capital.

Berlin, May 22.—The movement in favour of establishing better relations between France and Germany, to which great importance is attached, in German political circles, official and unofficial, was inaugurated by a lecture and banquet at which the French Senator Baron d'Estournelles de Constans, the well-known advocate of arbitration, was the guest of honor.

This gathering took place under the auspices of the German organization called The Central Committee. Baron d'Estournelles delivered a lecture in French called "A rapprochement between France and Germany and the peace of the world," before a distinguished assembly which included some of the most prominent business men in the Government service and public life, in the Chamber and the Prussian House of Peers.

It was followed by a banquet in the Kaiserhof Hotel, at which the Imperial Chancellor Buelow, the Imperial Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Baron von Schoen, the Imperial Secretary of State for Home Affairs, Herr von Betham-Hollweg, and other members of the Prussian Cabinet, the President of the Reichstag and other leading statesmen and politicians, as well as prominent bankers, merchants, representatives of science, art, literature, and commerce were present.

PLAY GOT ROUGH RECEPTION IN DUBLIN

"An Englishman's Home" Was Produced Under Difficulties.

Dublin, May 22.—A riotous reception was accorded at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, to the invasion play, "An Englishman's Home." The first act was much interrupted, but during the second act the gallery broke into uproar so great and so prolonged that the act was carried through in dumb show. The noise was deafening.

When the invaders are seen in the Englishman's house the gallery hissed the occupants of the stage repeatedly. "God Save Ireland" was sung again and again, and the curtain had to be rung down before the act had concluded. Other parts of the house expressed their indignation, and when the National anthem was started all rose to their feet and cheered the close of the verse except the gallery occupants.

Many people left, and when an occupant of the dress circle appealed to the gallery to wait until the end of the play he was only laughed at. Half an hour after the fall of the curtain a big body of police entered the gallery, and the play was proceeded with amid partial quietness.

INSULTING FORM OF LUXURY.

London, May 22.—The Bishop of Stepney, preaching at Christ church, Mayfair, on behalf of the Church of England Temperance Society said, with regard to the decrease in the drink bill of the country, that, however sanguine one might be, one could still believe it had come partly through the bad times that had laid a heavy hand on the rich and a far heavier hand on the poor. They might look forward with fear and trembling to a great increase when there was an improvement in material prosperity.

Speaking in the West End he wished to say that the use of expensive alcohol was one of the most insulting forms it was possible for luxury to take; it flung a most contemptuous challenge in the face of the people who were really poverty-stricken.

MARRIED THREE TIMES.

Bigamist at Winnipeg Gets Three Years In Penitentiary.

Winnipeg, May 25.—A much married man named W. J. Cameron was sent to the penitentiary for three years by Magistrate McMicken on Saturday. Evidence showed that he had been married three times since 1906, and at least two of his wives are still alive, although he states that one of them is dead. He married his first wife in Ottawa, then came west to Winnipeg and married a Miss Porter in 1907, but, tiring of her, he returned east and annexed a bride in Toronto. The last wife is now residing in Ottawa, while the second is a resident of Kenora. He got entangled with a charge of theft here, and, although this was not proven, it led to an investigation of his past and the discovery of his bigamy. He pleaded guilty and went to the penitentiary for three years.

In addition to the three marriages, correspondence found on Cameron at the time he was agrested showed that he was engaged to marry a fourth in the near future.

His Wealth for Poor.

London, May 25.—Rev. Edward Lee Hicks, canon the Church of England, popular clerical figure in Lincoln Cathedral, has developed astonishing socialistic tendencies. Addressing a labor meeting he said:

"As a follower of one who had not where to lay His head, I have to consider how far I am justified in living on the unearned increment from the wealth I happen to have inherited. It is a hard problem, but I intend to face it."

It is understood that Canon Hicks intends to surrender the whole of the income from his private fortune. He has arranged to sell his automobile and part with his carriage and he will live entirely on his salary. His private means he will devote to the alleviation of suffering and want.

Would Depose Gouin.

Montreal, May 25.—There is a story going the rounds that at a recent caucus of Government supporters, or at least a good number of them, at Quebec, a resolutions was adopted asking the Prime Minister to retire.

It is also stated that Sir Henri Taschereau, Chief Justice of the Superior Court, has expressed a strong desire to retire, and should his wish be granted, Sir Lomer Gouin will be appointed in his place. The leadership of the Quebec Liberals would then likely go to Hon. Mr. Taschereau, who was assaulted by Oliver Asselin a few nights ago.

Rubber Interests Merged.

Montreal, May 25.—The American Rubber Co. has secured a substantial interest in the Canadian Consolidated Co., but the control remains as before, in the hands of D. Lorne McGibbon and his associates.

HOW VICTORIA DAY WAS SPENT IN OTHER PLACES

Lord Roberts Reviewed 10,000 Children in London, Eng. ---Sports Held All Over Ontario---Splendid Weather Prevailed Throughout Canada.

London, May 25.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Messages received indicate that Empire Day was celebrated in all parts of the Empire with greater enthusiasm than ever.

There was a splendid display of imperial patriotism in London and the great cities, while the British colony in Berlin, numbering 500, observed the occasion for the first time. The chief item in the capital was the review of 10,000 children by "Bobs." It is estimated that throughout the Empire nearly 7,000,000 children celebrated the day.

For the first time London had an organized celebration. Five thousand uniformed school boys marched through the main streets of the capital to Hyde Park. Here all the children gathered and saluted the national flag, as well as the emblems of 56 dominions and colonies.

Toronto, May 25.—With ideal weather in nearly every one of the inland cities of Canada Victoria Day was given a magnificent celebration yesterday. A storm raged on the Nova Scotian coast, and seriously interfered with the gaiety, but elsewhere in the Dominion the Imperial sentiment reigned supreme.

The day was chiefly taken up with sports, lacrosse, baseball, horse racing, and innumerable Marathons.

Two serious fires and a dozen more minor blazes, the latter from fireworks, kept the Toronto department busy.

Over $6,000 damage was done by a fire of unknown origin, which broke out in the second floor of the three-storey brick building at 49 to 57 Hayter street, and the Island school was burned.

A sky-rocket falling on the roof of Palmer Merritt's residence, 873 East King street, Hamilton, between 11 and 12 last night, caused about $800 damage to building and contents. The roof was entirely burned off.

Other smaller fires are reported throughout the province.

Berlin, May 25.—The seventh annual convention of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario was held in Berlin yesterday, with practically every industrial centre in Ontario represented.

The following officers were elected: President, C. G. Bird, Hamilton (re-elected); first vice-president, W. A. Brown, Ottawa; second vice-president, James Harmon, Toronto; third vice-president, W. Gladstone, Brantford; fourth vice-president, W. J. Driscoll, Kingston; fifth vice-president, G. Taylor, Sarnia; secretary-treasurer, O. H. Zimmer, Berlin (acel.).

Windsor, May 25.—The new public playground was formally opened yesterday, speeches being made by Mayor Wigle, Hon. Dr. Reaume, Hon. R. F. Sutherland and others.

Great Damage Done On Great Lakes And At Coasts By A Terrific Gale On Sunday

Halifax, N.S., May 25.—A terrific wind and rain storm, the severity of which is unprecedented for this season, has swept the Nova Scotia coast for the past thirty-eight hours, carrying devastation in it path.

Early Sunday morning, rain began to fall and with daylight rose a wind which has since blown unceasingly at the rate of forty miles an hour.

The telegraph lines are deranged and it is impossible to estimate the damage, but from all points where the wires are intact, comes messages of loss.

On the coast line the storm wrought the greatest havoc and from North Sydney on the east to Liverpool, on the west, comes news of marine casualties, while every harbor and inlet is filled with crafts of all descriptions, seeking shelter from the terrific wind and mountainous seas.

At Liverpool, two vessels were driven ashore and are likely to become a total loss. They are the Gloucester fishing schooners "Judique" and the "Lena Maud."

Capt. Saul Jacobs, the famous Gloucester skipper brought his schooner, "Benjamin Smith" into Liverpool Saturday and anticipating a hurricane, made fast to the wharf. The veteran fisherman spent the night with his crew patrolling the coast at Liverpool, hoping to render assistance to vessels that might be driven on the rocks. Of the twenty vessels in Liverpool harbor, only one escaped undamaged.

The Grand Banks (Newfoundland) fishing schooner, "Blanche M. Rose," ran ashore on Cranberry Head at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, when entering North Sydney and remained aground till 6.30 o'clock Sunday evening, when she was towed off.

There are forty-five schooners in North Sydney for shelter.

Wrecked on Alaskan Coast.

Seattle, Wash., May 25.—A cable despatch to The Post-Intelligencer from Seward, Alaska, says that the mail steamer Dora has arrived there with 194 survivors of the wrecked ship Columbia.

Following in the grounding in a blinding snowstorm, eight miles east of Unimaka Pass on the night of April 30, the experiences of the passengers and crew were harrowing. There was no wind, but a terrific surf was raging. On the vessel were 53 Italians, 96 Japanese and 45 Americans and Scandinavians. All were passive save the Italians, who raved and prayed. A boat was lowered and the Italians poured in. The Italians attempted to seize two more boats, but were restrained at the point of guns. They rowed eight miles to Scotch Cape lighthouse. Returning two days later for provisions, they were again compelled with revolvers to take only food and refrain from looting.

Two former life-saving men insisted on proceeding for shore alone in a diminutive skiff and succeeded in establishing a life line to the shore. Disembarking by means of the large fish-boats, following the life line, occupied 24 hours. The ship physician had to work continuously to revive the men, who were spilled from capsized boats into the icy waters. Many were nearly drowned and it was in the resuscitation of these that the Japanese showed fine spirit. Only one woman, the Australian wife of the mate, was with the party.

On the morning of May 2, a storm caused the final abandonment of the wrecked Columbia. The same day the ship burned to the water's edge.

Three Sailors Drown.

Buffalo, May 25.—Three lives were lost in a collision between the steamer Western States of the Detroit and Buffalo Navigation Co. and the tug Princeton yesterday morning in the harbor off the United States life-saving station. The drowend were: Wm. McClure, fireman, Buffalo; Frank Traufler, engineer, Buffalo, and Raymond Norburg, fireman, who was assisting McClure. Capt. Jas Sullivan and Thos. McMahon, fireman, saved themselves by swimming to the life-saving dock.

The Princeton was assisting the Western States to her dock, when the big steamer struck the tug amidships —overturning her.

Kept Afloat by Cargo.

Chatham, Mass., May 25.—The Monomoy Point life-saving crew put out yesterday morning to the aid of the three-masted British schooner Clarissa Wolf, lumber-laden, from St. John, N.B., for New York. She opened her seams and was leaking badly, her cargo keeping her afloat.

Archbishop Bruchesi Regrets Growth of Secret Orders.

OBSERVANCE OF SABBATH

Roman Catholic Prelate Warns His Congregation Against Joining Masons, Oddfellows and Knights of Pythias—Are Enemies of Catholic Church, He Says—Amusements on the Sabbath Day.

Montreal, May 25.—Archbishop Bruchesi, in the course of a pastoral charge delivered at Longueuil yesterday, referred to the growth of several Masonic lodges in the province. He regretted to say there were French-Canadians who were members, and that recruiting was going on. The archbishop reminded his hearers that the consequence was the members of lodges who were mostly affiliated with the Grand Orient of France were not in communion with the Catholic Church.

Unfavorable reference was likewise made to the Knights of Pythias and the Oddfellows from a Catholic point of view. The archbishop, referring to Sunday's service, said he noticed on his visit a falling off from the former observance of the Lord's Day, it being now more and more a man's day for pleasure and amusement.

Arrested For Smuggling.

Sarnia, May 25.—Jacob Dolgoff was arrested at the tunnel charged with trying to smuggle silk goods into Canada. The customs collector believes he is one of a number of foreigners who carried on a systematic scheme of smuggling along the border from the States into Canada. Immediately after Dolgoff's arrest a man gave his name as Purdee offered bail of any amount, which the magistrate refused.

Percy Dolgoff of Toronto, a brother of the man arrested, will undertake to produce invoices to show that the goods seized had been regularly passed through the customs at Toronto.

I had ulcers and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Gardiner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Maine.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

EASTER DECORATIONS

Eggshells Transformed Into a Number of Little Gifts.

AN INGENIOUS AUTOMOBILE.

The Invalid's Tray Made Gay For Her on Easter Morning—Flower Vases Filled With Small Flowers and Tiny Vines.

These ideas for Easter are original, inexpensive and very effective. The making is all so simple and easy that almost with a touch common eggshells may be transformed into the various little gifts. You can in a moment make a dainty flower vase that is actually capable of holding water and in which fresh flowers may be kept, as in an ordinary vase.

Have ready three half eggshells as nearly as possible of the same size and fasten them in a straight row on a narrow strip of pasteboard with drops of hot sealing wax. Place the shells close together with sides touching. Pour a little water into the shells, fill them with either flowers or tiny vines, clover leaves and blades of grass, and you will be charmed with the result of your efforts.

Four of these vases standing at equal distances from the center of the breakfast or luncheon table will be appropriate Easter table decorations. They can also be used as favors and gifts. One such vase of flowers placed on an invalid's breakfast tray would add greatly to its attractiveness.

Automobiles have come to stay, and every one aspires to possess a car of some kind. The small boy rigs up his pushmobile with much interest and pride, thinking he is at least approaching in appearance the racers so eagerly read of in the daily papers. Here is a way to make a motor car with an eggshell: Take a hard boiled egg and with one quick stroke of a knife cut it lengthwise in half. Use one-half eggshell for the top front or hood, four saucer shaped ends of shells from the large ends of eggs for the wheels and one shallow end shell for the steering wheel.

Find or make a lightweight narrow paper box about five inches long for the body of the auto. Puncture a hole through the extreme lower edge of each side close to the front end of the box and make a hole on both sides of the box about one inch or less from the back end.

Put a wooden toothpick through the front holes and another through the back ones. Bind the edges of all the shells with tissue paper, paste a bent paper for a seat on top of the back of the box and with sealing wax fasten the lengthwise half shell on top of the front of the box.

Carefully puncture a hole in the center of the top of the box directly behind the eggshell hood and insert the end of a wooden toothpick in the hole, allowing the sticks to lean backward.

With a needle bore a hole in the middle of the steering wheel eggshell and slide the wheel on the top end of the toothpick; then bore a hole in the middle of the wheels and fit them on the ends of the two toothpicks run through the sides of the box. Hold the wheels in place with a drop of sealing wax. If you want a chauffeur for the little automobile use a paper man or girl.

Philosopher and Philanthropist.

"Coquelin was very charitable," said a theatrical manager. "He did more for superannuated actors and actresses than any other man in France. I once heard him speak on charity in the French Actors' home, that he did so much for.

"'There are plenty of philanthropists,' said Coquelin. 'There are plenty of philosophers—plenty, I mean, according to the definition that too many of us accept.'

"He smiled grimly.

"'Too many of us,' said Coquelin, 'define a philosopher as one who bears with resignation the cold and hunger from which his neighbor is suffering, and too many of us define a philanthropist as one who gives away other people's money.'"

A Coy Maiden.

A girl played postoffice at a party and yelled and shrieked and bowled and ran behind the door and scratched the young man's face in seven places, upset a lamp, kicked over the piano stool, and when he finally kissed her on the tip of the ear she fainted dead away and said she could never look anybody in the face again. They led the bashful, modest, gentle, sobbing creature home, and the next day she ran away with a married lightning rod peddler.—Altoona (Kan.) Tribune.

Young's Impromptu.

To most persons Edward Young is the author of "Night Thoughts" and nothing more, but he was also a man of the world and a shrewd and caustic wit as well as the rector of St. Mary's church at Welwyn.

It was there in the garden of the rectory that he composed some of the best impromptu verses known. He was walking with two ladies when some one summoned him to the house. His companions were agreeable, and he was in no haste to leave them. Turning as he reached the gate, he said:

Thus Adam looked when from the garden driven
And thus disputed orders sent from heaven.
Like him, I go and yet to go am loath;
Like him, I go, for angels drove us both.
Hard was his fate, but mine still more unkind;
His Eve went with him, but mine stays behind.

The Alternative.

"If the window had been eight feet from the ground," pouted the young wife, "instead of eight stories, I'd have thrown myself out when you quarreled with me. Then you'd have had to be sweet to me when you picked me up. A lot of wives attempt suicide, they say, just to be petted when they come to."

"Yes," said he, "but sometimes they don't come to, remember."—New York Press.

One For Every Day.

"I've been reading about one of them rich men wot's got er suit of clothes for every day in the week," said one tramp to another.

"That's nothin'. So 'ave I. This is it I've got on now."—London Globe.

WILLOW FURNITURE.

Attractive New Designs For the Summer Home.

VARIETY IN COLOR SCHEMES.

Each Room In a Different Shade if Desired—Desks and Writing Tables Among the Most Useful Pieces of Furniture.

The woman who is on the lookout for ideas for her summer home (and this is the time her plans should be made) will find that there were never so many delightful things in willow for her to draw upon. She can furnish a whole house in it, and nothing is more attractive. The only room which she cannot furnish entirely in it will be the bedroom, but all the chairs, couches, the case for her special books, her work table and small or large stands can be of willow. Consideration is being given to enlarge the range of this material for the bedroom, and dressers will soon be made from it. The bedstead is the only thing that holds its own in other materials. While the willow might have the strength, it has too much of a tendency to creak to make it agreeable.

In color schemes greater variety, if anything, may be had in the willow than in ordinary furniture. The woman first makes the plans for her entire house and fits the colors in as she thinks best. The willow comes in all designs in the natural tones and is stained to order. This gives a wide range of selection. Each room may be in a different color if desired. The willow may be given simply a weathered effect. It may be in soft, light willow green or a dark forest green. Indian yellow is charming; so is delft blue, and one may choose a beautiful shade of sumac red, or it may be stained brown or ebony. Done in gold or bronze the cost is little more, and it is sometimes treated with French enamels in delicate shades.

Desks and writing tables are among the prettiest and most useful pieces of furniture. These stand on four legs, and there is a drawer at the front, an unusual feature in willow furniture. In some cases the drawer runs the length of the table; in others it is shorter, and on either side are bookshelves, just below the top, going across the ends. The desk is raised at the back and has several compartments, two with doors, and a shelf above for small books or ornaments. One pretty desk has wing shelves on either side, and on these are covered baskets for paper, envelopes, etc. Low bookshelves of the willow are the size and shape of the ordinary low bookcases, but with only three shelves, as a rule.

There is a charming little work table made like some of the pretty old time ones, standing on six feet, square covers opening at the center and rounded ones at the two ends of the oval.

We make Sunshine Furnace firepot in two sections—so constructed with fins that they throw off every unit of heat, so constructed with straight walls that it is impossible for ashes to gather and intercept the heat, so constructed that the upper section can expand independent of the lower, thus making it impossible in a Sunshine Furnace for any heat to loaf around the fire-pot, any heat to be nullified by ashes, any cracks to take place as a result of the shock following contraction or expansion.

This fire-pot has greatest weight & longest life

The fire-pot naturally bears the brunt of a furnace's work, and it bears it just in proportion to its original strength.

SUNSHINE FURNACE

Because steel is more powerful than gray iron, we make Sunshine Furnace firepot of semi-steel. This is an exclusive feature, and indicates that in Sunshine Furnace firepot alone you find smooth-as-glass surface, secure maximum fire-resisting strength, can rely on only minimum disintegration and can be assured of long life.

The Middle Horse.

A farmer, plowing with three horses hitched abreast, noticed that the middle horse became tired and exhausted long before either of its mates. As the animal was the equal in every way of the other two, he was puzzled as to the cause of its not being able to stand the same amount of work. He finally observed, however, that as they drew the plow along the three horses held their noses close together, with the result that the middle horse was compelled to breathe the expired air from its fellows. The farmer then procured a long "jockey" stick, which he fastened with straps to the bits of the outside horses. The device worked perfectly, for, given its rightful share of good, fresh air, the middle horse was able to do the same amount of work and with no greater fatigue than its fellows.

Many persons are like the middle horse—they do not get their rightful share of pure air. And this is why they are not able to perform as much work nor of as good a quality as they would otherwise be able to do.—Chicago Tribune.

A Ticklish Moment.

If to act cleverly on the spot is the measure of tact, then the man who figures in the subjoined New York Tribune story deserves both respect and admiration: A woman, driving through New England last summer, noticed suddenly that her horse limped a bit, so when she reached the next village she stopped at the door of the blacksmith shop. A man was holding up the doorpost, and to him she said:

"Will you please tell the blacksmith to come out? I want to see him."

After the manner of the village idler, the man did not stir, but smiled sweetly at the woman and, lifting up his voice, called:

"Bill, come out! There's a lady wants to see you."

From the depths of the blacksmith shop a deeper voice roared:

"Is she young, John, or old?"

In the words of the old poem, "she looked at John and John looked at her." Then, still without moving, he answered:

Willing to Help.

Lord Pauncefote suffered greatly from rheumatic gout in his latter days, and he walked stiffly and sometimes had to use two canes. He went one afternoon to make a call, and he remained quite a long time, so long that the horses got restive, and the groom walked them up and down the street. When Lord Pauncefote left the house the carriage was not in front, and, thinking there was some mistake in his orders, he started to walk to the embassy, which was only a square or two. But he had twinges of his old enemy, and the pavements were icy. He was a large, heavily built man, and he feared a fall. While he was pondering over his dilemma along came a young man in working clothes, and the British ambassador, after a courteous salutation, asked: "My friend, will you walk beside me and help me home? It is just a short ways, but I am afraid of falling. I shall greatly appreciate it." The young man looked him over and then said thickly, "Old gent, I am pretty full myself, but I'll do the best I can—the very best I can."

The Hub of the German Empire.

Unter den Linden is the center spot of Berlin and the hub of the German empire. This magnificent boulevard is 198 feet in width, and under the shade of its lime trees the Berliners have a meeting place which is equal in architectural beauty to any in Europe. It is lined on either side with magnificent hotels, restaurants and palaces. At the east end of Unter den Linden, where it enters upon the Opera House platz, stands the magnificent monument of Frederick the Great, which is worthy of the real founder of United Germany. To the right of this monument is the palace of the Emperor William I., now occupied by Prince Heinrich. The north side of the Opera platz is occupied by the buildings of the University of Berlin, and next to it stands the Royal library, which rivals that at the British museum both in its size and the number of volumes it contains. The opera house itself is on the south of the platz and is a building of a nation of music lovers like the Germans.—Argonaut.

Palpitation of the Heart.
One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular beat or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin and visable pulsations of the arteries. The person may experience a smothering sensation, gasp for breath and feel as though about to die. In such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart, restoring its normal beat and imparting tone to the nerve centres, is, beyond all question, marvellous. They give such prompt relief that no one need suffer.
Mr. Sylvester Smith, Hampton, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with palpitation of the heart and tried doctor's medicines, but they only gave me temporary relief. I heard of your Heart and Nerve Pills and bought two boxes and before I had used them I was completely cured and would recommend them to all similarly affected."
Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A Nervous Wreck
Now in Robust Health.
Mrs. M. E. Harron, of Newton, Ont., writes: "I must say our son would have been in a consumptive's grave long ago had it not been for PSYCHINE. He was taken down with La Grippe and a severe cold. His whole system was weak, including his lungs, which were seriously effected, as is always the case after La Grippe.
"After taking several remedies and treatments we procured PSYCHINE, and tongue cannot tell the marvellous results brought about in two months. He gained over twenty pounds in weight, and strength and appetite returned."
Mr. Harron himself is most emphatic as to the beneficial result of using PSYCHINE. He declares, "To-day I am in splendid health and have never been sick a day since I took PSYCHINE."
PSYCHINE is the greatest tonic known to medical science. It builds up the system and tones up every organ of the body, enabling it to resist and throw off disease. Weak nerves cannot exist where PSYCHINE is used consistently. Send for a trial bottle and prove the truth of these statements.
PSYCHINE is sold by all druggists and dealers, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

It is related that once a German American, growing more and more afflicted with extreme nervousness, got the impression that he was forgetting English. The impression got so strong that he refused to talk anything but German. Then he became convinced that he was forgetting that, closed up like an oyster and was led away to a sanitarium, where he spent his days in complete silence.

A course of treatment was prescribed for him in which baths played an important part. Every morning the dumb German American was thrown bodily into a tub filled with very hot water, allowed to remain there awhile and then hauled out and set to cool on the piazza.

But once the sanitarium acquired a new attendant who got his signals mixed. He was told to bathe the German American. Filling a tub with ice cold water, he threw the patient into it.

"You ——! You confounded ——!" roared the dumb man, beside himself with fury. "You ——!" Then he switched to German. "Du verfluchter Esel! Du ——!"

The doctors pronounced him cured, and he left the sanitarium the next day.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Domestic Hen.

Joe Jefferson used to tell this one:

"In the spring of 1892, being in the vicinity of West Swanzey, N. H., I drove over to call on my old friend, Den Thompson. It happened that I called at an inopportune time, as the women folk were housecleaning. In fact, I noticed as I drove up to the house that the clotheslines in the yard back of the house were laden with carpets.

"Den was very anxious that I should look over his prize fowls, in which he took especial pride. We went out into the big yard back of the house. As Den was pointing out to me his favorites we noticed one old hen going through some queer antics. She was pecking away at something on the ground, lifting it in her bill and dropping it again.

"'What's the matter with the old Biddy, anyway, Den?' I asked.

"Den was silent for a minute, then drawled out:

"'Well, you see, Joe, as she's a rather domestic sort of hen I cal'late the old girl must be getting ready to lay a carpet.'"—New York Telegraph.

Daintiness In Dough.

A west side family that abhors all products of the bakeshop advertised for a maid of all work.

"Can you make bread?" was the question put to each applicant.

Of all the maids who professed to own that accomplishment the mistress chose the one with the frailest hands and arms.

"I don't know about the wisdom of that choice," ventured a male member of the family. "Wouldn't it have been better to pick out a sturdier girl?"

"Not at all," said the lady. "What we require in this family, above all things, is good bread. We half live on bread. I am confident I have chosen a good breadmaker. A girl with rather delicate hands always makes better bread than one whose fists are like sledge hammers. Bread to be good needs to be coddled in the kneading. The light fingered do that instinctively, but the heavy handed slam and bang the very life out of the dough."—New York Globe.

A Strong Reason.

"You always speak kindly to your wife?" said the prying friend.

Whistler as a Letter Writer.

Early Mr. Whistler as a letter writer became a personage to be reckoned with. His pen was very frequently dipped in gall, but it is a joy to read him, with his very delightful personal style. No one ever wrote quite like him. Hamerton, with whom he had many passes, always to the critic's great discomfiture, once, in reviewing his "Symphony In White," stupidly called attention to the fact that there were many other tints in the picture besides white. There was, he maintained, the reddish hair of the woman, for instance; her flesh color, a bit of blue ribbon, and so on. Whistler responded: "Bon Dieu, did this wise person expect white hair and chalked faces? And does he then, in his astounding consequence, believe that a symphony in F contains no other note, but shall be a continued repetition of F F F F? • • • Fool." And, of course, the world is familiar with Whistler's studied insolence in his reply to a communication in the New York Tribune by Hamerton, who complained that Whistler refused to answer his letters. Whistler referred to the writer as "a Mr. Hamerton," which made Hamerton perfectly furious and so served Whistler's ends.—Arthur Hoeber in Forum.

Ancient Skates.

The English chronicler has recorded that the youth of London in the twelfth century understood the art of flying over the ice like birds in the air, but the origin of skating is far more ancient. An Icelandic saga relates how the Norwegian hero Frithjof not only traced verses upon the polished mirror, but also cut the dear name of Ingebord. Skates have been discovered near Spandau, in Germany, which those competent to express an opinion attribute to a period of 3,000 years ago. These skates were made from bones of horses, figured and perforated to attach to the sandal. Similar skates have been found at Moorfields, in Finsbury, and like discoveries have been made in Berlin in the bed of the Spree. These and similar discoveries, we learn, enable the authorities to conclude that the European ice area in prehistoric times extended from Great Britain to Finland and from Norway to Hungary.—London Globe.

A Horse's Toe Nails.

Few persons realize that a horse's hoof is really the same thing as the toe nails of human beings or of animals having toes. The horn of a hoof grows just as a toe nail does. The hoof grows more rapidly in unshod horses than in those wearing shoes, and it grows faster in horses which are well groomed and well fed. But on an average the horn grows about a third of an inch a month. Hind hoofs grow faster than fore hoofs. The toe of the hoof being the longest part, it takes longer for the horn to grow down there than at the heel. For instance, the toe will grow entirely down in from eleven to thirteen months, while the heel will grow down in from three to five months. As the new horn grows out any cracks or defects in the old gradually work down to where they can be cut off, just as with human finger nails you can watch the progress of a bruise from the root to the tip.—London Answers.

Pretty Absentminded.

A book about George Canning and his friends contains among its anecdotes two which deal with Hookham Frere and the absentmindedness for which he was noted. Frere married Lady Errol, and "while they were engaged he took her into supper at a ball. While they were talking he drank up the glass of wine he had poured out for her and then took her back supperless to the ballroom. After the wedding he went straight from the church to Mr. Murray, the publisher, who asked him to stay to dinner, to which he very nearly agreed, remembering only just in time that Lady Errol was waiting to start on the honeymoon."

WOULD YOU CONVICT ON CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE?

THE SILENT SACRIFICE

A TRUE STORY

Copyright, 1909, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.)

MR. W. J. O'SULLIVAN, an eminent medico-legal expert, says:—"The distinction between direct and circumstantial (or indirect) evidence is more apparent than real. Direct evidence is defined as the testimony of a person relative to matters of his personal knowledge gleaned from sensory impressions, chiefly through the eye and ear. Circumstantial evidence is in general defined as the testimony of persons to facts other than the fact in issue and from which the main fact or the fact in issue is inferred.

"The conclusion reached by this 'inference' is in general not as convincing as the direct evidence of facts by one whose sanity and honesty are not open to reasonable doubt. A disadvantage to this 'inference' is that the logical process of the reasoner who draws the 'inference' is in itself an issue. From this it will be seen that both direct and circumstantial (or indirect) evidence necessitate 'inference' and that both are equally open to the same errors. The testimony that sets forth direct facts from which an 'inferred' fact in issue is deduced is open to all the errors and falsehoods of direct testimony, with the added errors of faulty or biassed logic.

"It was Paley who laid down as a cardinal proposition or the rule of evidence that 'circumstances cannot lie.' The whole series of stories by Gaboriau, Du Boisgobey and others gathered from cases before French tribunals of criminal jurisprudence proves how fallacious this dogmatic utterance of Paley's is."

IT was a courageous man that passed the abandoned coal mine twelve miles east of Rock Island, Ill., when the sun had thrown the last orange rays athwart the broken ground and the shadows stole up out of the purple mouths of the pits to spread upon the land. The place was shunned by the country folk, as is likely to be the case with the spots where man has striven and departed and the sounds of pulsing activity have hushed to the deadening advance of vegetation and decay.

The mouldering huts of the vanished workmen stood with gaping doorways, adding the civil touch of desolation to the sweep of rolling prairie. The wind played creak and clatter here and there with a rusted shutter or loosened shingle. A file of wrecked, upended hand cars stood along the streak of sunken track. The highway that wound past the deserted settlement showed clear between the tangled stretches of hedging green, with no diverging bypath or trampled margin to show where part of the passing traffic was wont to leave the common road.

To any who came that way after twilight on clear evenings two points of light sparkling from a distant section of the group of huts stood sharply out against the darkness. For in one corner the hand of man still clung—let him who rode past take comfort in the fact if he might. Those who knew the region found small relief in the proof of habitation and hurried onward. It was an ill place and bore an ill name.

On the night of September 2, 1881, an itinerant tinsmith, whose home and conveyance were the little one horse cart he owned, jogged through the deserted village of the coal mine on his travels down the eastern side of the Mississippi. It was overcast, threatening rain, and he hurried forward, intending to camp when the storm should break. As he swept down a slight decline into the hollow where the huts stood and started up the next gradual rise there came a strange, muffled cry along the wind. The tinsmith glanced fearfully to right and left, from under the cart's hood, leaning from his seat. The black curtain was unbroken. Struck with fear he lashed his horse and drove on forward. At the top of the ascent he drew in a moment and listened. At that moment the first patter drops tapped upon the roof of his vehicle and in a breath the storm burst upon him. But as he gathered up his reins he seemed to hear behind him, lessening into the distance, the hammering hoofs of a galloping horse.

The two families that lived by the abandoned coal mine were market gardeners who cultivated some portion of the rich land earlier overlooked in the search for deeper and less certain treasure. They were German immigrants who had come to Rock Island and drifted beyond the outskirts some years before. William Heilwagen, a man beyond middle age, dwelt with his wife and two grown daughters in one of the yet habitable huts. Some two hundred yards away was the home of J. Otto Heilwagen, a son, who had married a young woman of the local German farming colony.

They were silent, secretive people, congenial by nature to the wild, untenanted refuge they had sought. They courted few visits, and received fewer. Their nearest neighbors, a mile away, regarded them with dislike and suspicion that was not wholly born of the place in which they lived. For the rest, they visited the town with produce each week or so, and the appearance of each was familiar

Their Quarrels Their Own.

They indulged in frequent and violent quarrels among themselves, though seldom with others. Their strife, it was rumored, not only proceeded between the separate households but rent each internally. Some months before J. Otto Heilwagen had had a particularly bitter disagreement with his wife. It was understood, that had ended in his abrupt departure. Since then he had not been seen in the vicinity of the coal mine. It was well known that he had gone across the river to Davenport where he had obtained quarters in a poor lodging house and was reported to be working steadily as a section hand.

STRATTEN SET HIS MEN AT WORK REMOVING THE LUMBER.

On the morning of September 5, 1881, William Freis, a farmer, while driving a team along the road through the abandoned settlement, was minded to stop and ask the wife of the younger Heilwagen, who now lived alone, a question concerning the disposition of her potato crop. He disliked to halt at such a place, but there was a matter of business involved that might accrue to his advantage, and it was then broad daylight.

He made his way among the scattered, crumbling dwellings toward the house which the woman occupied. She was not in sight. On drawing near he found that the door stood open. He called but there was no answer. He entered the front room of the hut to find it empty. Thinking that she might be upon he nearby rise, he climbed the gentle ascent in the direction of the home of the elder Heilwagen.

A field of corn, ripe for the scythe, spread between this rise and the next. He started through it and came to a small clearing, where three or four shocks had been cut and bound. He was passing one of these when he noticed the trailing rag of a garment from under the end of the stalks. He stooped and pulled at it. It resisted, and he pushed the gathered corn aside.

On the ground lay the body of the younger Mrs. Heilwagen. Her head had been beaten with some heavy instrument and her clothing was torn and stained. Apparently she had been dead for several days.

It was a frightened and breathless man that, standing upon his dashboard and driving his tired team with flailing whip, came pounding into Rock Island two hours later. He tumbled from his wagon and hurried to the Sheriff's office, where he told of his terrible discovery. The Sheriff and various deputies returned with him to the coal mine and the first bare outlines of the matter were made ready for the further development of the case.

The victim had been murdered in the bedroom of her home, which took up the rear half of the hut. Traces of a terrific struggle were clear about the place. Mrs. Heilwagen had been a vigorous, powerful woman, with heavy frame and limbs hardened by the active life she had ever led on farm and garden. The flimsy table and two chairs had been smashed to bits. The bedstead, home made, of stout timbers, had crashed to the floor, the two or more persons who had fought the death fight here apparently having fallen across the sidebar in their desperate encounter.

Marks showed plainly where the body had finally lain upon the floor. It was significant that when the murderer or murderers had removed the body it had been dragged, evidently with some difficulty and at the expense of considerable labor. To those who had the immediate investigation in charge, as well as to the man who later constructed the State's hypothesis, this seemed to argue that but one person had been concerned in the killing. The track made by the passage of the burden over the truck garden and prairie led straight to the corn shock under which it had been found by Freis. The attempt to cover the crime appeared unusually clumsy and bungling.

Weapon Not Hidden.

The murderer had not taken away or tried to hide the weapon used when the woman had been overcome or exhausted in her struggle. It lay across the threshold of the back door—an ordinary household hammer, a cheap implement, but sufficiently deadly in a strong hand such as had wielded it. Six heavy blows had been struck upon the victim's head.

There was nothing to indicate that robbery had been the motive of the assailant. Mrs. Heilwagen's little savings, tied up in the corner of a woollen petticoat, were found in a drawer of the kitchen table. It seemed likely that the murderer had come upon her by surprise as she sat in the rear room and had departed without even entering the kitchen. It had not been disturbed and the floor bore no tracks.

The body was removed to Rock Island for an inquest and the prosecuting authorities placed the investigation in the hands of Stratten, a young detective, who had established an enviable reputation through several smaller cases in which he had displayed remarkable enthusiasm and the ability to track a way through a maze of blind clews. He was given full charge of the collection of evidence and began by assembling the few known facts concerning the Heilwagen family, stock and branch.

He had taken but few steps into the matter when he found himself in a complication of petty feuds, jealousies and cross purposes among the dwellers by the abandoned coal mine. The tangle involved each member of both families, and the facts or statements to be elicited from one against the other and from neighbors against them all would have supplied motives for a list of crimes. If ill feeling toward the victim lent a support to suspicion of guilt, then all were equally involved. Few of the domestic virtues had found a welcome at the hearths of the Heilwagens. Dark, heavily framed, shifty eyed men and women they were, physically magnificent, but sullen, quick tempered and vindictive.

Stratten considered first, as the most obvious suspect, the husband of the murdered woman. He instituted strict inquiry into the increasing domestic difficulties that finally had driven him from home. He could not learn that the man ever had indulged in threats or that any one had seen him strike his wife. Heilwagen's removal to Davenport he found to be a fact. The young fellow was still working regularly and was satisfactory in his behavior. So far as Stratten could discover Heilwagen had never returned to the coal mine since his departure. Several persons had seen him in and about Davenport late in the evening of September 2, the day on which the killing was supposed to have occurred. Tenants in the lodging house in which he lived had not missed him from the place, and the detective finally was forced to admit a complete alibi for him.

Having eliminated the most promising figure from his inquiry Stratten set himself to thresh down the mass of hints and suggestions concerning the other members of the family. The mother, he felt, could be removed from consideration. The two grown daughters, heavy handed, black browed girls, were well within the range of possibility. Even after her death they were outspoken in their hatred of their sister-in-law. The detective had worked for several days on the theory of their connection with the crime when his attention was sharply drawn upon William Heilwagen, the father.

The significant discovery involving the head of the family was that he had most bitterly and insistently opposed the marriage of his son two years before. His antagonism after the ceremony had been performed in spite of him had settled into a smouldering resentment against the young woman, and she had been scarcely a week in the refitted coal miner's cabin across the rise when he had struck into a violent quarrel with her near the road over some trifle. Two men who had driven by at that moment described the scene they had witnessed, and, indeed, it had become a matter for common comment throughout the region. His daughter-in-law, for her part, was not inclined to the passive acceptance of abuse. The witnesses could declare that she gave as sharp a word as she got, and frequently on her trips to the town, when she saw an occasional former acquaintance, she had denounced the elder man savagely.

The Hammer Clew.

This was all in the way of preliminary inquiry. Stratten's real chain of evidence began with the hammer used by the murderer. Promise of a clew through this implement was the better by reason of the fact that it was almost new and still bore the paper label of the maker upon the handle. The detective visited the stores in Rock Island at which the farmers of the section were used to purchase their supplies. They could all identify the hammer as of familiar make, and each carried in stock dozens of the same pattern and shape. But none could recall that he had sold one to any of the Heilwagens. A farmer who drove to town a little later, bearing of the quest along this line, cleared the matter. He said that in a small trade of live stock with William Heilwagen he had thrown in such a hammer and various other articles.

Stratten made a careful examination of the scene of the crime, hopeful of finding some additional tangible clew of value in the case. The house of the younger Heilwagen, the garden and the cornfield revealed nothing beyond that discovered on the first day of the investigation.

It now became necessary to search the house of the elder Heilwagen, and Stratten obtained the services of several deputies to assist him. The place and the character of the family under inspection made him unwilling to undertake such a task alone. The party descended suddenly upon the coal mine hut and ordered the four persons of the household out into the garden, where one of the deputies remained to watch them while the others conducted a thorough ransacking within.

They had returned empty handed to the doorway when the deputy who had been left outside informed Stratten in a whisper that he had seen Heilwagen walk to a pile of lumber and old planks saved from the decay of the shanties that had been tossed in one corner of the enclosure and idly kick a strip of board from its place to another side of the pile. Acting on the hint supplied by this alert watcher Stratten set his men at work removing the lumber. They had been engaged in this for several minutes, while the Heilwagens looked stolidly on, when one of the deputies lifted something that had been stuffed between and under the planks. It was a man's shirt, the front and arms of which were stained with blood. Heilwagen was unmoved by this discovery.

While the case was being presented before the Grand Jury the elder Heilwagen was under constant surveillance, but was permitted to remain at large. At this stage, according to his later sworn statements, Stratten made an approach from a new angle after careful consideration, as he said, of the character of the suspect and the manner by which he could be reached.

His achievement was not made known until the trial, when he took the stand and testified to the circumstance. It stood upon his unsupported word, since no witnesses from whom corroboration could be obtained had been present when it occurred.

It appeared that he arranged to encounter the elder Heilwagen at the ferry house of the Rock Island-Davenport ferry. He engaged the man in conversation, informed him that he was a detective and said that he was willing to work for any side of a case that would furnish him the best pay. He allowed the other to see that he was dissatisfied with his present employement, and by skilful flattery and denunciation of the officials brought the talk to a confidential key. After some talk, he swore, Heilwagen disclosed that he had a matter in mind in which an expert detective would be of assistance, and finally proposed that Stratten should begin to shadow his son and to collect evidence against him for the murder of his wife. Terms were agreed to.

From this point, the detective afterward testified, he led the discussion around to the details of the murder, fomented Heilwagen's resentment against the members of his family and finally intimated that the victim of the murder had received no more than her due. And then, Stratten swore, Heilwagen came out suddenly with the admission that he had killed his daughter-in-law and was glad of it.

Story Is Unshaken.

It should be stated that this important allegation of a confession fell within the scepticism of the rule of law which tempers the value of each separate bit of testimony to the number and character of the witnesses who affirm it. While it weighed heavily in the case, it was bitterly attacked by the defence and operated, in fact, for a revulsion in Heilwagen's favor among some who previously had regarded his guilt as certain. Its effect on the jury, however, made for conviction. No amount of cross-examination could shake Stratten's story, and his evidence was able to pass practically intact.

The trial of William Heilwagen for the murder of his daughter-in-law, Dorothea Heilwagen, took place during the January term of the Circuit Court in 1882. The testimony of the wife was excluded on account of the marital relation. The daughters, and more particularly the son, were important witnesses for the State. They related a series of incidents tending to show that the accused had threatened the victim with death, had frequently expressed his hatred of her and on several occasions had attempted to strike her. Their testimony tended to show that the elder man had finally nursed his ill feeling to a degree where he was willing to rid his son and himself of one whom he regarded as an intruder and a trouble maker.

The prisoner remained unmoved throughout. His attorneys received little if any assistance from him in preparing their defence against the formidable attack. He was induced to volunteer the statement that he had worn the stained shirt while butchering a pig and had bidden it after the murder through some vague fear of possible suspicion. But beyond this he made absolutely no effort to escape from the net of circumstance that was woven about him.

The indifference of the man was most marked, because most extraordinary, when his daughters took the stand and swore, one after the other, that their father had been away from home on the night of the murder, that the hammer was his property and that he had threatened the victim. He sat with expressionless, sombre gaze fixed upon the face of his son while the young man outlined the motive of ill will and almost maniacal aversion that upheld the prosecution's view. At such times it was noted that the witness did not look at his father, though there was no hint either of anger or of appeal upon that hard, lined, ill favored countenance.

The convicting elements in the mass of testimony offered were supplied almost entirely by the members of the prisoner's family and by Stratten. The case was ably presented and its strong points were properly emphasized. The defence, handicapped by the inexplicable silence of their client, fought hard. They attempted to break down the testimony of the prosecution's witnesses by showing the unfriendly relations between the father and his children and the alleged confession came in for a heavy fire at their hands. They brought forward the tinsmith who had heard the cry and the galloping of a retreating horse on the night of the murder. They contested every inch of ground, resisting the picture drawn by the prosecution of William Heilwagen's character as untrue and without just bearing upon the question of guilt.

The accused heard the eloquent pleadings of his attorneys as calmly as he had listened to the denunciations of the prosecutor. Observers could make nothing of him. His was not the silence of despair, they agreed, nor of insanity. He saw and noted everything that passed with his furtive, restless eyes. But he made no sign. He was, and he remained, a complete enigma.

The trial lasted about three weeks. The jury was out only a short time and returned with a verdict of guilty. Judge Arthur A. Smith was presiding. Judge Smith was known throughout the State as one of the kindest and most tender hearted of men, one whose nature shrank from the infliction of severe penalties. Many stories were told of him bearing upon his remarkably sympathetic personality and the painful emotions he sometimes experienced in passing the judgments which fell within his duty. When arguments for a new trial were concluded he spoke calmly, in an even, quiet voice.

"I overrule the motion for a new trial. I am not inclined to interfere with the verdict of the jury in this case. Mr. Sheriff, you will remove the prisoner from this court room to the county jail and there hold him in custody until Friday, March 24, when, between the hours of one and five o'clock in the afternoon, you will remove him to the enclosure known as the jail yard and there hang him by the neck until he is dead. May God have mercy on his soul. Mr. Clerk, call the next case."

Sent to His Death.

Throughout his confinement in the death cell the convicted man was under constant pressure to confess. In spite of his violent nature he had been faithful to his religious observances throughout his life and as the last days drew near he was ever in close converse with his spiritual adviser, a Lutheran clergyman. The divine, the man's attorneys and such few friends as he possessed pleaded continually with him to make some definite statement, either to deny positively that he was guilty, with some explanation of the fatal evidence, or to admit once for all that the law had made no mistake in its working. He remained deaf to all such pleas. He was silent, save when religious topics proper to one in his position were under discussion with the clergyman. He was not visited by any member of his family, nor did he express a wish that any of them should see him.

He made no outcry against death. Nor was it merely the case of a strong man in control of his emotions. The indifference of his trial days became accentuated. He did not weep, or smile, or blaspheme, or protest. He simply waited.

The community was fully convinced of Heilwagen's guilt, with the exception of a very few individuals. Among these there was none to assert his innocence. Their belief was that he had not been proved guilty, though in all likelihood he was. Such persons held knowingly or instinctively to the legal rules which govern, or should govern, all cases of circumstantial evidence. In their view there was an innocent interpretation to be placed upon each separate circumstance adduced, with the exception of the confession. The confession they refused to accept. The hardest matter in connection with the affair for them to explain to their own satisfaction was the lethargy of the accused.

William Heilwagen walked unsupported into the jail yard when the time came for his execution. Beside him was the Lutheran clergyman, who read from a book of prayers. The convicted man gave ear as the little procession moved on up the stairs to the scaffold. He had needed no stimulants for the ordeal. Even at the supreme moment he exhibited not a trace of agitation or excitement. He stood solidly on his feet.

Just before the officials stepped forward with the black shroud and cap Heilwagen looked down at the group of newspaper men and others who had obtained entrance to the jail. In a voice so quiet and forceful that the judge at the trial might himself have been speaking he uttered one phrase:—

"Gentlemen, I am innocent of this crime."

Those who know declare that ninety-nine out of every hundred persons who suffer execution for crimes and are able to talk at the last moment assert their innocence. The group about the scaffold accepted the declaration as the usual thing, the right of the man who is about to step into eternity. It meant no more than that to any then present. It changed no opinion, left no impression, served only as subject for an additional paragraph in contemporaneous stories of the hanging. Five minutes after the words were uttered Heilwagen was dead.

* * * * * * *

Eight years later J. Otto Heilwagen, the son, committed suicide by jumping from the bridge at Quincy, Ill., into the Mississippi. Before going to his death he called several acquaintances around him and confessed that, on the night of September 2, 1881, he left his lodging house in Davenport, that he crossed the river, that he took a horse secretly from a stable in Rock Island and that he rode to the abandoned coal mine. There, he said he stole into his wife's house, surprised her, overpowered her and killed her with a hammer. Returning, he left the horse where he had found it and reached his lodging house in Davenport before daybreak. The hammer had been his father's property, but had been borrowed by the young woman a few days before. The aged man's explanation of the stained shirt was correct. He could not explain the alleged confession.

But he could explain his father's silence. It was the memory of that sacrifice that finally drove him to take his own life. He was sure his father was known of his guilt.

Over the Wire.

[Copyright, 1908, by T. C. McClure.]

Job Strong kept a grocery in the town of Medina, and he was an old bachelor. It had been said of him a hundred times over that he was the homeliest man in the state.

Job Strong had a brother living in Brunswick, and, as each had a telephone, messages often passed between them. The grocer had a good voice. It was deep and rich and clear, and he was accounted one of the best singers in his church choir. One day when he went to hello for Brunswick he found himself answered by a new voice. It was that of a female, and it stirred his heart at once. It was pitched to a gentle cadence. It reminded him of his own New Orleans molasses gently gurgling from the spigot into a customer's jug. It rolled along the wire like a new tire on a bike, and he held on to it as long as possible. Curiously enough, that deep, rich voice of his awoke an answering echo in the heart of the operator at Brunswick. She thought of knights and cavaliers and squires and dames, and it was with a sigh that she switched him over to the brother.

It may be giving away the plot too soon, but there is a curious coincidence here to be explained. The Brunswick operator was an old maid named Miss Judkins. She had reached the age of forty and for the last twenty years had been a match for Job Strong in homeliness. "As homely as Miss Judkins" was a saying for thirty miles around. They said of her that she had once scared a cow to death by entering the barn and that when farmers drove to town they double hitched their horses to the posts on her account. And, like Job Strong, she didn't know that anything was amiss.

After the first call over the wire Job Strong had a longing to hear that voice again. Not many hours had passed before he found an excuse. This time he did not inquire for his brother, but asked about the price of real estate and other things in Brunswick and also introduced himself. The operator could do no less than give her own name in reply, and thus began the courtship, for such it truly was. At least three times a day the grocer had something to say over the wire and found a ready and sympathetic listener. He had a picture in his mind's eye of the lady with the voice that thrilled, and whether he was weighing out sugar or drawing molasses it was ever before him. She was tall and stately and gentle and smiling and would make a wife to be proud of. Miss Judkins also hugged a mental photograph to her heart. It was of a knight on a black charger.

When three months had gone by the grocer determined to visit Brunswick and know the worst or best. He found himself absentminded by day and sleepless by night, and this wouldn't do at all. The first he knew his rivals would be selling wagon grease 2 cents a box cheaper than he was and drawing away his trade. He notified Miss Judkins of the day, and she put on her Sunday dress and extra false hair for the occasion and also got a substitute for the day. Two hearts were beating tumultuously as Job knocked at the door. Then two people surveyed each other for a moment and sat down, and there came a painful silence. It was broken at last by Miss Judkins' brother, who was present. After letting out a guffaw to be heard forty rods he exclaimed:

"Well, may I be durned!"

This aroused the sister to action, and with flaming cheeks she turned on Job Strong and severely said:

"Sir, how dare you come here and play such a trick on me?"

"Trick! Trick! What do you mean?"

"You are passing yourself off as Mr. Strong of Medina, but you can't be he!"

"And I expected to see Miss Judkins instead of you."

"But I am Miss Judkins."

"And I am Mr. Strong."

"I'll be durned again!" shouted the brother after another guffaw.

"Sir, this is unbearable!" said Miss Judkins as she rose up.

"Miss, it is a joke that I don't understand at all," replied Mr. Strong as he also rose up.

"I expected to see a rather handsome man."

"And I a rather handsome woman."

"But instead of that you are the homeliest man I ever laid eyes on."

"Ditto."

"You insult me, sir!"

"And you insult me!"

"Good lands, but if I'd have known you were the man you are I wouldn't have wasted a minute on you!"

"Ditto again!"

"Look a-here," said the brother when he could stop laughing, "you two are foolish to quarrel. Destiny has brought this about. You are well matched for homeliness. You both take the cake over anything I ever saw. If you don't get together you will never have another chance on the face of this earth. Julia, you know that I've told you a million times that you'd scare crows into fits. Mr. Strong, you'll excuse me, but I've seen more beauty in old stumps than you can boast of in your face. I'm going outdoors to laugh. Get together."

It is a pleasure to record that they followed the well meant advice, although there were some awkward intervals, and that they were married six months later and have lived as peacefully since as if they had each taken a prize at a beauty show; also that New Orleans molasses at a fixed price per the year round continues to be a drawing card at Strong's cash grocery. FRUIT—THE GREAT PHYSICIAN

Wonderful Medicinal Value of Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes.

How many people realize what remarkable curative principles are contained in fruit juices. There are two—the bitter and the sweet. There is about ten times as much of the sweet as of the bitter, though the bitter principle is the one which has the curative effect on disease. Apples, oranges, figs and prunes contain the highest percentage of bitter principle and thus are the most healthful.

It was a theory of a physician in Ottawa, that if the amount of bitter principle in fruit juice could be doubled, the curative property would be increased, not twice but many times.

After many tests, this physician succeeded in forcing into the combined fruit juices an additional atom of bitter principle, and in doing so formed an entirely new compound. To the combined juices were added valuable tonics and antiseptics and the whole made into tablets.

These are "Fruit-a-tives"—the only remedy known to science that is made of fruit. The wonderful cures in cases of Stomach Trouble, Biliousness, Constipation, Rheumatism, Chronic Headaches and Neuralgia, Kidney, Liver and Skin Diseases are due solely to the fact that "Fruit-a-tives" contain the medicinal properties of fruit. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

When the Terror Quailed.

He would terrorize the neighbors in a most outrageous way, broke the wide world's standing records in athletics every day, while in pugilistic circles he could wipe men in the dust and show master tricks at fencing—laugh at every cut and thrust. He slew tigers in the jungle and scalped redskins on the plain. He chased lions across the mountains and harpooned upon the main. He could break a bucking broncho—yes, and rope a Texan steer; sling a bowie knife or hatchet, throw the boomerang or spear. In hairbreadth escapes he gloried, did this worthy son of Mars, and he'd lick his weight in wildcats—kick them higher than the stars. But his shoes were in his pocket, and his face was ghastly white; he was silent as an oyster when he came in late at night.—Exchange.

He Took the Chance.

"No," she said, and there was that in her voice which told him she would neither change nor falter in her resolve—"no. I have vowed to marry none save one brave and strong enough to swear that should he ever be elected president he will give the vote to woman."

De Lancy, such was his love's abounding depth, hesitated not at all.

"I swear it!" he cried and fell upon his knees before her.—Exchange.

In Longboat's Footsteps.

Once again a Canadian has won the Boston Marathon. This time it is a French-Canadian, Henri Renaud, a weaver of Nashua, N.H. Plugging along steadily, he gradually wore down his competitors, until two miles from the finish he took first place. Not content with this, he steadily opened up a gap between himself and his next rival and at the finish, he was nearly a mile ahead. The time for the race was poor—the poorest in ten years. But there was good reason for this in the unprecedented heat which beat down on the runners and took the snap out of them. Renaud, however, does not seem to have strained himself at all, as he was so fresh at the finish that he ran the last hundred yards or so like a sprinter, and then walked jauntily off to the clubhouse to get the silver bowl, which is the emblem of victory. This shows his excellent judgment of pace, which is altogether remarkable in a boy of twenty, whose first long-distance race was in a Marathon run at Manchester, N.H., a year ago. Renaud displays wonderful stamina, and if he develops properly he should make the best of them look to their laurels. It is to be hoped, however, that he won't be led into the professional ranks like almost all the other amateur distance runners who have distinguished themselves.—Saturday Night.

A Dangerous Subject.

Professor Henry Drummond when a boy discovered that he could hypnotize people. At a birthday party a little girl declined to play the piano. Drummond happened to catch her eye and said, "Play." To his surprise she rose at once, went to the piano and played. At another time he hypnotized a boy and gave him a poker for a gun. "Now," said Drummond, "I'm a pheasant. Shoot me." The boy did so, and Drummond fell to keep up the illusion, whereupon the boy, seeing the "bird" move, was about to hit it over the head with the poker. The hypnotizer had just time to stop the magnetised sportsman.—Pearson's Weekly.

Why the Judge Paid.

A physician, says a medical journal that vouches for the truth of the story, was once summoned in haste to attend the child of a family that lived in two rooms in the heart of a large American city—not New York. The child had been seized suddenly and seriously and just at election time. The mother was in despair, and when the doubtful prognosis was given she broke into wailing and violent self condemnation for some horrible sin of the family to which she said the child's illness was due—a direct punishment for their crime. She would go and curse the magistrate for it all, her husband should resign from "the force," and such evil ways should be renounced forever.

Curious to know how the magistrate could be held responsible for the child's illness, the doctor finally secured the confession that the crime of the poor, conscience stricken woman consisted in allowing the names of many fraudulent voters to be registered as residing in her house, in swearing to the lie, etc. The magistrate also had demanded this of all the neighbors in return for indescribable political favors.

The child recovered, and the magistrate paid the physician's bill.

Carrying a Watch.

"After carrying a watch for thirty years I have just learned something new in watch lore," said the city salesman. "I don't know whether this is true or not, but an old watchmaker told me. I bought a watch of him the other day. It was a cheap watch. He said:

"'What pocket are you going to carry your watch in—the right or left?'

"I told him the left.

"'Then,' said he, 'I will regulate it for the left.'

"I asked what difference it made, and he declared that a watch runs faster on the left side than on the right, so to keep it from gaining time he regulates it accordingly. In fine watches the difference is hardly worth considering, but in watches of cheap make like mine it is very noticeable. I asked for a scientific reason for this variation. He could give none; said he only knew it was true, and then, whether he was faking or not, he pretended to regulate my watch for the left pocket."—New York Sun.

Chinaware of the Big Hotels.

The only china used at private dinners at the Knickerbocker in New York is the bleue de sevres, which was made in France especially for this hotel, with blue and gold pattern and the monogram of the hotel on the rim of each piece. There are seventy-two pieces to a set, and each piece cost $6. At the Plaza and Astor the cost of each piece is $4 and $5 respectively, and designs are white and gold and plain white with border of asters. Great care has been taken and large expense incurred in obtaining the choicest china for the Waldorf-Astoria. For select private dinners the "crown" set is used, consisting of specimens from the sets of royalty dating from the time of Napoleon to the present. The pattern is a blue and gold border with a picture in the center of each piece of the king and queen to whom that particular piece belonged. The set could not be duplicated for $1,000,000.—Good Housekeeping.

New Butter Molds.

Culinary artists, and there are many such, will delight in the new butter mold which figures among the latest improvements in household utensils. The mold is, of course, a wooden one. It is made in two pieces, which, when brought together, fashion the shapeless mass of butter that has been tucked in through an aperture in one side into picturesque design. The two sides are then taken apart, and the butter, in the design provided by the mold, is left on the dish.

A sheaf of wheat, an autumn leaf and a pine cone are the more popular designs, and the fashioning of the design by means of two sections of the mold makes it possible to place the figure on the dish upright. It is a charming idea for the presentation of the butter in new and picturesque forms.

To Carve a Duck.

A young duck or duckling is carved very much the same as a fowl. First cut off the wing portions. The first slices of the breast should be cut close to the wing, proceeding upward to the center of the breastbone. The legs are next removed and cut in two at the joints. If stuffed an opening should be made at the end portion of the duck and the stuffing scooped out with a spoon, allowing a small portion each guest.

Solitaire stripes from the hair line to stripes one inch wide, solid backgrounds are correct. We show them in many shades in pure stock worsted and flannels.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 24.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, receipts for last week were 2760 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 1600 hogs and 1500 calves. The supply this morning consisted of 1100 cattle, 50 sheep and lambs, 200 hogs and 50 calves. The offerings of cattle were 100 head larger than a week ago. The undertone was not quite so strong for the medium and lower grades, but prices for the better classes were fully well maintained. Attendance of buyers was large and demand good. There was some demand from exporters, but owing to high prices and that cable advices from Liverpool noted a decline of ½c to 1c per lb., as compared with a week ago, only a few were taken. A few loads of extra choice Ontario stall-fed steers sold at 6¼c, and some picked lots at 6½c, but the bulk of choice lots sold at 6c, good, at 5½c to 5¾c; fair, at 5c to 5¼c; medium, at 4½c to 4¾c; fat cows, at 4½c to 5½c; bulls, at 4½c to 5½c, and common stock at 3½c to 4¼c per lb.

Hog prices scored a further advance of 75c per cwt., making a net rise of 45c to 50c, within the past ten days, attributed to the very small supplies coming forward and the keen demand from packers. Sales of selected lots were made at $8.75 to $8.85 per cwt., weighed off the cars, and in a few instances, $8.90 to $9.

Trade in small meats was quiet, as offerings were comparatively light. Prices ruled firm. Yearling sheep, sold at 6½c to 7c; old sheep, at 5½c to 6c per lb.; spring lambs, brought from $4 to $6 each, and calves from $2 to $10 each, as to size and quality.

At the Canadian Pacific live stock market receipts for the week were 2300 cattle for export account, and 3000 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 351 hogs, and 1313 calves for local consumption, while the supply this morning amounted to 250 cattle, 40 sheep and lambs, 150 hogs and 300 calves.

Appeals Fail to Upset Jail Sentence.

New York, May 25.—Frank Duffy, a former Tammany district worker, convicted of registration frauds in the election of 1907, surrendered himself yesterday and will begin serving in Sing Sing the prison term of from three to ten years to which he was sentenced nearly two years ago. Duffy's case has since been pending on appeals. He has been at liberty on bail. Last week the appellate division of the Supreme Court confirmed the conviction.

Arrested For Taft Caricature.

San Juan, Porto Rico, May 25.—Joaquin Beirreiro, editor of a weekly paper, given over to the publication of caricatures, and called El Carnival, was arrested yesterday charged with sending improper matter through the mails. The charge is based on a cartoon of President Taft and a reference to his recent message on Porto Rico.

Liquor Marriages Barred.

Muskegon, Mich., May 25.—At all six of the Holland-American churches in this city, where there is a large population of former Hollanders, it is announced by the ministers that they will not officiate at any weddings unless a pledge is made that there will be no liquor served either during or after the ceremony.

Cities at War.

Port Arthur, May 25.—Legal action will be taken by the city to prevent Fort William emptying sewage into the Neebing river, 20 feet from the boundary line.

Head Split Open.

Parry Sound, May 25.—A car standing on one of the sidings at the station here Sunday night was the cause of a fatal accident.

A young man, Walter McLaughlin, a machinist, living at Norwood, Ont., was acting temporarily as fireman of a north bound freight, and while leaning out of the engine cab window, his head came in contact with the corner of a box car and was split open.

He died a short time after the accident while physicians were operating on him.

Fire-Cracker Caused Fire.

St. Catharines, May 25.—Saturday the jewelry and novelty store conducted by A. J. Jackson was gutted by fire and the stock completely destroyed. Jackson was showing some children how to manage fire works and had lighted a fire-cracker. He was swinging it, when it slipped and sparks caught on to other fire works in the open window. Fire works shot in every direction. Loss about $3,500, $1,200 insurance.

Tot Loses Leg Under Car.

St. Catharines, May 25.—At Merritton Saturday afternoon Marie, the six-year-old daughter of Wm. Bradley, was run over by a trolley car and sustained injuries, which resulted in the amputation of the left leg below the knee and the three middle toes of the right foot. The child had been spending the day with her grandmother and had been to a candy store.

Woman Accidentally Shot.

Windsor, May 25.—Mrs. John Atkinson, who, previous to her marriage, resided in London, was accidentally shot and killed at the home of her husband in Flint, Mich., on Saturday morning.

An ancient shotgun, in the hands a neighbor, was discharged, the whole charge penetrating Mrs. Atkinson's body.

Atkinson was nearly crazed, and had to be forcibly restrained from doing himself violence.

Should Seek the Sinner.

Denver, Col., May 25.—Less "stately treating," and more democracy; less lounging in the luxury of the church waiting for the sinner to approach, and more evangelism among the lowly, were the keynotes sounded at the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church. The leader in advocacy of this doctrine was John Convers, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee on evangelistic work.

Storm Signals.

Washington, May 25.—Flashing around the world by wireless telegraphy warnings of approaching storms and other disturbances of the elements is one of the latest international projects. Another is the proposition to equip the vessels of all nations with uniform storm signals.

These are the leading problems to be threshed out at a conference of distinguished meteorologists of the principal nations to be held in London on June 21 next.

Canada Would Profit.

Washington, May 25.—An extended plea for a differential duty on dressed lumber was made in the Senate yesterday by Senator Root, in connection with the consideration of the tariff bill.

"Canada," he said, "offers to every planing mill which will move across the border a remission of taxes for from 15 to 20 years. So that the duty which we are imposing, if we adopt the committee report on dressed timber, merely balances the tax that is imposed upon the property of our mills for the support of our state and municipal Governments.

"The differential of the Dingley bill is just about at the right point to maintain a healthy opportunity for business. I do not think there can be a reduction in these differentials that would not transfer a large portion of the planing business to Canada."

Suicides on His Wedding Day.

Brockton, Mass., May 25.—With his marriage to Miss Florence Adams of Elmwood, arranged for yesterday afternoon and with a home furnished, ready for occupancy, Charles B. Russell of this city yesterday took his life by shooting. He was 24 years old.

French Peasant Women Hard Workers.

The French peasant woman, Bretonne or otherwise, works hard as any man. It makes one sad to see the women working in the fields, digging and delving, carrying heavy burdens, driving the cattle, sometimes attending to the machinery employed on the farms. One wonders whether husbands and fathers appreciate it all, especially when you hear some of the ballads, for ballads are supposed to reveal the soul of a people. I heard one the other day of which the refrain is as follows:

Dear is my good wife Jeanne,
Her death I should deplore,
But dearer are my beaves,
Their loss would grieve me more!

—From Plougastel (France) Letter to New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Mennonites.

The Mennonites grew out of four sects of Dutch, Flemish and German Baptists. They derive their name from Menno Simons, a Catholic priest who became a leader of the anabaptists in about 1537. Simons was born in 1492 and died in 1537. His "True Christian Belief" was published three years before his death. Following the death of the leading spirit the sect underwent divisions and changes of creed.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Divorce in England is Costly.

Divorce in England today is a luxury reserved for the rich and the moderately well to do. The poor man or woman who finds that the bonds of matrimony are too heavy to bear cannot be relieved of them. All the relief that is open to persons of this class is a police court separation, which does not carry with it the right of either party to marry again. It is estimated that the bare costs of a suit for divorce in England are $450 unless the suitor receives permission to sue "as a pauper," in which case the fees will amount to about $150. It is very difficult, however, to secure permission to sue "in forma pauperis," and the proceeding is almost unknown in the divorce court. The estimate of $450 is for residents of London. If the suitor resides in the country the expense will be much greater, for divorce suits are tried only in London, and the suitor must travel to London and bring all his witnesses there. Thus the average cost of divorce suits in England is $1,000.—Exchange.

Travel in Persia.

In great contrast to the extraordinary progress made in transportation in Africa is the backwardness of Persia, one of the oldest countries of the world. Its transportation facilities are much the same as they were in the days of Alexander the Great and Marco Polo. There are only six miles of railroad in the whole country, and often these are not under operation. There are only three or four good dirt roads, and almost all transportation is done by pack trains. Camels, horses, mules, donkeys and men are used as beasts of burden. The traveler can usually ride the post horses, but these are rather poor animals, and it is customary to buy or hire horses and pack animals. This costs a native about 20 cents a day, but no foreigner can hope to travel so cheaply. It would be prodigal, however, for any one to pay more than $5 a day for two servants, four or five animals and their feed.—Travel Magazine.

A Good Steak.

"A steak that has the fat marbled in is the best to eat," said Dr. P. F. Trowbridge, professor of agricultural chemistry in the Agricultural college of the University of Missouri, in a recent lecture. "Pale, pinkish steak is from 'baby beef' and is not nearly as palatable as more mature meat," said Dr. Trowbridge. "The juiciness of a steak varies inversely with the water in it." He explained that the "juicy" appearance of a steak that delights the epicure comes from the fat melted into the fibers and that the flavor comes from the amido acid nitrogen and the fat in the fibers.

The New Boarder.

"What did you say your name was?" inquires the landlady in a hoarse whisper.

"Camp."

"Ladies and gentlemen, this is Mr. Grant."

She waves you to a vacant chair. The young lady on your right drops a half bow. The young gentleman to your left drops a pork chop. Thus, amid covert queers, supercilious glances and general awkwardness, you take your place among an alien people.

"A hash house introduction always reminds me of a minstrel show," declares the humorous boarder. "Be seated, gentlemen; know each other and be acquainted."

Whereat you must smile.

"Chase the cow this way," continues the humorous boarder in time honored reference to the milk pitcher, whereat you must guffaw.

"You are always master of ceremonies," says a young lady boarder to the humorous one. "As for me, I'm too timid."

"Why are you timid?"

"Oh, I'm so little!"

"Sweet goods come in small packages."

"So does poison."

Fine old repartee! After dinner you ascend to your hall bedroom and wonder if you will ever be at home in this company. But you know you will. Within a month you will be lending money to the humorous boarder and perhaps have a love affair started.—Puck.

Not a Success.

The manager of the subscription book department was telling of some of his experiences. "The funniest case I remember," he said, "was that of an applicant for a job at book canvassing from whom I expected great things. He made a careful study of the literature we supplied him with and was very enthusiastic. Judge of my surprise when the first morning he went out back he came and handed in his resignation.

"'But you should not be so easily discouraged,' I told him. 'Few make a success at the start, and you acknowledge that you went into only two places.'

"'Only two,' he said lugubriously. 'One was a real estate agent, who persuaded me to sign a contract for two lots in Fizzlehurst, and the other was a tailor, who sold me a suit of clothes I didn't want.' And, shaking his head mournfully, he mumbled 'Good day' and went out."—Lippincott's.

FAVORS WOMEN'S VOTES.

Two English Ministers In Sympathy With Suffragettes.

London, May 25.—After uproarious suffragette scenes at Westminster Hall Secretary of War Haldane declared himself in favor of votes for women on the ground that the whole tendency of the age is toward minimizing differences of sex and their political consequences.

He said there had lately been a reaction against woman suffrage, which he regretted, but it would only be temporary, and women would get the right to vote as soon as it became the general will of the nation, which it was the business of Parliament to interpret.

A deputation of women at Sheffield interviewed Walter Runciman, president of the board of education, who pronounced himself in favor of their cause.

The English suffragettes expect their campaign of riot to culminate at the Lyceum Club banquet, at which the Earl of Crewe, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and Liberal leader in the House of Lords, is to be the guest of honor.

King Edward Rides Tricycle.

London, May 25.—King Edward finds that he has neither the strength nor the time to take the amount of walking exercise prescribed by his medical advisers. So with their assent he has had a tricycle made, and on this he pedals about five miles every fair day in the secluded paths of the large park attached to Buckingham Palace.

King Edward's "official birthday" is to be celebrated at London and at all home stations, The Gazette officially intimates, on June 28. At all other stations his real birthday, Nov. 9, will be observed. Setting the home birthday adds gaiety to the London season and aids the shopkeepers.

It was in an electric car coming from Streatham one day last week. The loquacious lady seemed greatly perturbed and fully prepared for the strenuous life.

GRAND MILITARY DEMONSTRATION YESTERDAY A SUCCES

HON. WM. PUGSLEY FORMALLY OPENS ARMOURIES AND DELIVERS UP THE KEYS

Interesting Ceremony Marked the Last Stage in the Securing of Peterboro's Splendid Garrison Quarters---Minister of Public Works Makes Pointed Speech.

Colonel Arthur Stevenson Received the Keys on Behalf of the 57th Regiment---Hon. J. R. Stratton Ably Performed the Duties of Chairman.

THE REGIMENT HAS ITS NEW HOME

One of the most important functions of the demonstration was enacted at Central Park in the formal opening of the splendid new armouries and the handing over of the keys by the Hon. Dr. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works of the Dominion Government to Colonel Arthur Stevenson, officer in command of the 57th. The three regiments were formed up in front of the East entrance of the new building after they returned from Riverside. The citizens were present en masse, and displayed a keen interest in the proceedings. A temporary platform had been erected on the north side of the entrance and here the last act in connection with the securing of the armouries was performed. It was of great significance to the citizens as a whole, but particularly to the members of the regiment and to the young men who will be the officers and soldiers of the future.

Seated on the platform were the Hon.Dr. Wm. Pugsley, Mayor Rush, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., Mr. R. R. Hall, Mr Geo. Proctor, Colonel Stevenson, and the commanding officers of the visiting regiments, together with some of their assistant officers.

Hon. Mr. Stratton Presided

Mr. Stratton, who acted as chairman, in opening the ceremony, stated that it was scarcely necessary for him to express his appreciation of the honour of presiding on such an important occasion. The Minister of Militia on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone, a little over a year ago had promised that a building would be erected here which would be worthy of the Government, and of the regiments for which it was intended. At that time some of us did not feel that Peterborough would receive such a magnificent building as we now see before us. He has not only fulfilled his promise, but he has surpassed it. We are proud to appreciate the military spirit that exists in the Midland district and which is expanding throughout the entire Dominion. There are some who think that those in charge of the Militia Department are not travelling as fast as they should. Canada spends five million dollars annually on its militia forces, and no one conderms the government nor regrets this expense. We have a great military force and it has shown its readiness to perform its duties whenever it has been called upon. Under the Government's care it should become more and more a force that will make Canada respected by the other nations of the world.

Mr. Stratton referred to the Imperial Conference, which is to be held soon in London, England, and at which the Marine and Militia Departments of the Canadian Government will be represented. We will be willing and ready to accept the responsibility that may be allotted to us as a result of that conference.

Mr. Stratton in speaking of Hon. Dr. Pugsley, stated that he did not appear to be a soldier, at least he was not in uniform, but he had been on the firing line during the past two or three months, and has faced the foe undauntedly. He comes from the Maritime Provinces, and has shown a spirit that is an example to all. Mr. Stratton welcomed the visiting regiments and expressed the hope that the city would have the pleasure of their presence on a future occasion, when the city would extend to them even greater hospitality.

Mayor Rush

Mayor Rush was called upon and spoke as follows:

Hon. Dr Pugsley, Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen

It is only a short time since we assembled to see the corner stone of this building laid by Sir Frederick Borden, a colleague of our distinguished visitor to-day, and at that time we saw a beginning in the construction of what promised to be handsome and commodious quarters for our citizen soldiers. To-day we are in the happy position of seeing that promise amply fulfilled, and of having the pleasure of taking part in the opening of this splendid drill hall. We were assured that the new drill hall and armouries would be a large building and of handsome [illegible], and that assurance has been fully carried out, for this structure is one that will give suitable accommodation to the local militia and is at the same time one of such beautiful appearance and solid construction that we can look upon it and call attention to it with pride. In this the Government has shown that it recognizes the importance of properly providing for the militia, and also the importance of Peterborough as a military centre.

HON. DR. PUGSLEY

We are not a people who are desirous of quarrelling with other people; we desire to live at peace with and with good will towards all other nations,so that we can give our attention and devote our energies to building up our particular localities and developing our great Dominion as a whole, so that on this northern half of the North American continent we will be a industrious and prosperous people, happy in the favoured part of the earth allotted to us and at peace with the world. We have nothing to do with militarism, using that word in the sense of a system built up with ulterior objects and as a menace to others, but we do need men who will be able and ready to protect our families and our homes, our commerce and our rights, if they should be assailed. We not only need men who are able, willing and brave—and we have them in large numbers—but they should be trained as well, so that when protection is needed they can give it in the most efficient manner.

This country has recognized this; the Government of which Hon. Dr. Pugsley is a member has recognized it, and the erection of this building is an evidence that it is the desire that those who voluntarily undertake the discipline necessary to make good soldiers and are ready to risk their lives to give us protection should have provided for them adequate quarters in which to learn their art.

They should have more than that—they should have quarters that are comfortable and attractive, and we are pleased that the citizen soldiers of Peterborough now have accommodation that is sufficient comfortable, handsome and attractive, and we congratulate the Government that has had the statesmanship to recognize the need and supply it.

We are pleased to have with us on this occasion a member of the Government, the Hon. the Minister of Public Works, who presides over the department which has erected this building, and we welcome him to Peterborough to join in the ceremonies that celebrate the completion of the building and the inauguration of a new era in military affairs in Peterborough. We are not a little proud of our local militia, and knowing as we do the men who hold the commissions in it and guide its affairs here, and the character of the men who fill the subordinate positions and make up the ranks, we know that they will do their duty in time of peace, and that if most unfortunately more serious service should be required of them they will then do their whole duty on any field to which they may be called.

Mr. R. R Hall

In calling upon Mr. R. R. Hall, ex-M.P., Mr. Stratton said that he had played an important part in connection with the local militia in inducing the Government to build the armouries in Peterborough. Mr. Hall thanked the officers of the 57th Regiment for the honour conferred upon him by being invited to assist in the ceremonies. Five years ago, he said, negotiations were entered into to purchase these grounds. There was more or less criticism at the time, but the project was given the hearty accord of the City, the Board of Education and the Government. The matter was taken up with the officers of the Peterborough garrison and it was considered important that the armouries should be suitable, not only for present requirements, but the future growth and development of the city should be considered. Mr. Hall referred to the splendid assistance lent by Mr. Ewart and Mr. Fuller, government architects, whose plans were approved by the officers of the Peterborough garrison. Although the building cost $126,000 ther was only $500 extras, so well were the plans prepared.

It was fitting that the new armouries should be formally opened on Empire Day, which had been set apart in honour of our late beloved Queen

THE BEGINNING OF A NEW ERA

Victoria. We are glad to know that we are a part of the great British Empire upon which the sun never sets and we are also proud that England is a living mother of great nations on the American and Australian continents which are spreading the knowledge and freedom she enjoys.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley

Hon. Wm. Pugsley, under whose department the armouries were built was the speaker. "When Mr. Stratton intimated to me that it would be desirable if I would be present at the opening of your armouries, I gladly acted upon his suggestion and its a great pleasure to be present with you on this occasion. I am glad not only because it affords me an opportunity of seeing the armouries and of officiating at the formal opening of them, but it has enabled me to learn more of your city and to form a better opinion of the splendid future which will surely be yours."

Dr. Pugsley disclaimed any oratorical ability but he was like the Canadian soldiers, he could fight when attacked and called upon. He referred to the bravery of the Canadian militia as evidenced upon past occasions when they were called upon to protect the country or to assist the Motherland and the Empire. It was fortunate he said, that the armouries were commenced some time ago. Owing to the revenue conditions they could not have been obtained now, either by the energy of Mr. Stratton, or of Mr. Hall. Other places would like to have buildings like the armouries,but they would have to wait a while.

"I may say," Mr. Pugsley continued, "that the period of depression seems to have passed away. We are pursuing a prudent course and before long we will be able to continue the building of public works."

Hon. Mr. Pugsley remarked that he was glad Peterborough possessed such fine armouries. Apart from the training they gave for times of war, a military training was calculated to make the best citizens. "Show me a noble true soldier, and I will show you a citizen worthy of the name."

Speaking of the National Conference which Mr. Stratton had referred to, Hon. Mr. Pugsley said that the representatives of the nations which make up the Empire would be present at it. He was not in a position to say what Canada would do but the assurance would be given the King and the Navy Department that whatever sacrifice Canada was called upon to make she would willingly accept it. Mr. Pugsley spoke of Peterborough's position on the Trent Valley Canal, stating that when it was completed the city would be on the great transportation line between Georgian Bay and the St. Lawrence. The Government would put through all reasonable efforts to arrive at an early completion of this important waterway.

Keys Handed Over.

At this stage Hon. Dr. Pugsley stated that it was his very pleasant duty to hand over to the colonel of the Peterborough garrison the keys of the new armouries. To Colonel Stevenson, who stepped forward, the Minister of Public Works expressed his pleasure at having this duty to perform. He hoped the building would remain for generations the pride of future citizens as it is the pride of the Peterborough people of to-day. He hoped the citizen soldiers would find it and make it a happy home and that they would spend many happy years together.

Colonel Stevenson briefly replied to Hon. Dr. Pugsley. "If we turn out regiments in future proportionate as the new building is to the old, when Dr. Pugsley comes to Peterborough again, he will be pleased he gave us the armouries."

Hon. Mr Stratton closed the meeting by calling for three cheers for the King and visiting officers which was heartily answered. In return the officers and soldiers of the visiting regiments cheered heartily for the 57th's officers and men.

IN HANDS OF TROOPS

Peterborough Was Peacefully Captured by the Citizen Soldiers of Brantford and St. Catharines Early Sunday Morning.

EVENTS OF THE VISIT.

Victoria Day observance in Peterborough, 1909, was the most successful in the life of the city or town to which three elements chiefly contributed—the presence of the Hon. Wm. Pugsley, to formally open the new armouries, the presence of two visiting regiments, and the glorious weather. It was Queen's weather. No weather could be et the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of the queen, whose life was, in the virtues of its character, as bright as the day itself. In Canada for the four score and ten years since the queen was born, the Twenty-fourth has been almost unvariably bright and clear. It is a pleasure to record that Peterborough did herself credit in the entertainment of the visiting regiments, who were pleased to the hilt with their reception and treatment, declaring that the outing to Peterborough was the best and most enjoyable they had ever experienced. And it was reasonable that it should have been so. With an attractive city as a beginning, with glorious weather, with open-handed hospitality on the part of the local military and the citizens, the conditions were most favourable for a successful day. The accommodation made by the military authorities, was excellent ,almost sybaritic in comparison with the actual conditions of campaigning. Clean, smooth, sward for a camping ground in the heart of the city, within convenient reach of the hotels, where the soldiers had their meals, with church and review ground within stone throw the burden of marching was reduced to a minimum, and every hour could be devoted to enjoyment. Wherever the soldiers moved, whether at church parade or on review parade they were greeted with great throngs of citizens, the best of feeling and spirit prevailed throughout. The opening of the Armouries by Hon. Mr. Pugsley was the storming of the main position. The presence of the regiments comprising a thousand soldiers lent eclat to the proceedings, and a host of people assisting contributed to make the function a great success, one worthy of the finest and best equipped armoury buildings in the Dominion, the palatial home and permanent headquarters of the 57th Rangers, the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, and the 24th Field Battery. The side expedition to Lakefield, to open the splendid new concrete wharves and to "lay the corner stone" so to speak, of an important extension was another successful occasion, and the people of Lakefield can well be satisfied with a promise of extension as explicit as can be expected of the diplomatic confidences of a responsible Minister. The taking of the visiting volunteers over the Lift Lock, a treat enjoyed by only one in a million o fthe people of this continent, was greatly appreciated. The military ride of the officers, with the local officers as chaperons, in carriages, through the city, have them an opportunity ot see its beauty in detail, while the view from the tower of St. John's church, thrown open for a couple of hours, afforded a magnificent bird's eye view of our city nestling in the embrace of the surounding hills. The banquet at the Oriental, which concluded the festivities of the occasion, was a happy gathering and found a fitting finale to two days splendid entertainement and enjoyment. Meanwhile the rank and file enjoyed themselves with the miscellaneous and enthusiastic hilarity characteristic of those occasions. Altogether the visit of the city regiments of Brantford and St. Catharines, which mustered 372 and 312 respectively, was a great success from every point of view. They were delighted with the open-handed hospitality extended, and they will take away a splendid impression of Peterborough, which cannot fail to add to her prestige in the communities of two of the brightest and most progressive cities of Canada.

The Arrival.

The return visit o fthe St. Catharines and Brantford volunteer regiments, the 19th and 38th, which mustered 375 and 350 respectively, was held Sunday and yesterday. The visitors arrived early Sunday morning, and marched to camp, Central Park, a central situation of great convenience to the visitors. Brantford brought its own commissarent, but St. Catharines regiment had their meals at the several hotels ,and in this respect, as in all others, the visitors were well served and well pleas-

Interesting Ceremony at the Village Yesterday Afternoon ---Addresses From Council and Board of Trade to Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, and to Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.---Their Replies.

TRIP UP THE CANAL.

Those who enjoyed the kind hospitality of Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Canal, on the steamer, were: Hon. Wm. Pugsley, L.L.D., Minister of Public Works; Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., Mr. E. A. Tanner, Ald. G. A. Gillespie, Ald. W. G. Morrow, Messrs. F. D. Kerr, A. H. Stratton, G. L. Hay, L. Sherwood, W. S. Davidson, and Adt. W. D. Leach, 46th Regt.; Rev. H J. Keith and Messrs. Dickson Davidson, Geo. A Proctor ,Sarnia; J. T. Halliday, Hon. Lt. Col. 57th Regt., and Capt. D. Walker, Lt. Col. E. C. Ashton, 38th Dufferin Rifles, Brantford; Lieut. Geo. A. Carlisle, St. Catharines, Lt. C. J. Bell, 7th Battery, C. F. A.; Lieut. T. P. Sutton, 19th Regt., St. Catharines, Mr. T. W. Fuller, Ottawa, Dept. Public Works; Maj. G. H. Syer, 3rd Dragoons, Mr. R. R. Hall, Lieut. M. Comstock, Lieut. Col. R. Campbell, 19th Regiment, St. Catharines; Messrs. P. Campbell, A. P. Poussette, W. H. Belding, and Major E. B. Clegg, Lieut. J. H. Eastwood, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.; Capt. E. S. Clarry, 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons; Capt. V. Eastwood, Lieut. G. Thairs, St. Catharines; Messrs. A. McLaughlin, K.C., W. H. Hill, G. Adam, and Ald. Morrow.

In front o fthe new pavilion, at the wharf a large concourse of villagers had gathered, and it was from the platform of this structure that the addresses were delivered. Mr. E. A. Tanner acted as chairman, and in opening the proceedings expressed the pleasure it gave him to welcome to Lakefield the two representatives of His Majesty's Government, Honourable Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, and Honourable J. R. Stratton, M. P. This fine wharf and pavilion, he said, were largely due to the business insight of Dr. Pugsley and his interest in Lakefield. Whatever work the Minister of Public Works had to do, the people might rest assured that it would be done well. Mr. Tanner then called upon Reeve Kidd to speak.

The Reeve's Remarks.

Reeve Kidd extended a hearty welcome to Hon Mr. Pugsley and Hon. Mr. Stratton. He was glad to see them present. More so in view of the fact that Lakefield had lately received a fine new wharf from the Government. It was a grand improvement and the waiting pavilion was a much-appreciated convenience. "We are pleased to have the representatives of Parliament here," he continued, "because it was not often that they called." He referred to a deputation from the village which waited upon the Minister of Public Works, a few weeks ago. Lakefield wanted a further extension of the wharf to the Grand Trunk siding. He reminded the visiting Minister of this ,but told him that teh residents of Lakefield felt confident of the matter being given earnest consideration when it was in his hands. The reeve expressed his sincere appreciation for all that had been. He looked forward to the time when the extension would be made.

An Address to Hon. Mr. Stratton.

In calling upon Mr. Moore, President of the Village Board of Trade, to read an address to Mr. Stratton, the Chairman referred to the Honourable Member for West Peterborough, as one who needed no introduction. He was well known to every resident of Lakefield, and they had not forgotten his valuable assistance to the village whenever he had an opportunity to help it.

The address read as follows:

Hon. J. R. Stratton, M. P.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of our citizens, we desire to welcome you to Lakefield, rather selfishly, perhaps, for, from past experience we have reason to expect that we shall benefit from your presence amongst us.

During the long period you so efficiently represented West Peterborough, both as a private member and a member of the Government of Ontario, when we were a part of that constituency, we remember by practical tokens that Lakefield, and its interests had always a warm friend in you, and now that we are separated by new boundaries, we know also by experience that you have not ceased to show an active concern in our welfare; and if we permitted ourselves to hazard a conjecture, we might suggest that you have not allowed the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, whom we are proud to have with us to-day, to forget that there is such a place as Lakefield, as that it and the community of which it is the centre, have claims upon the administrative liberality, and just recognition of the Government.

We recognize that that you have broad views of the responsibility of a representative, and that your good offices have not been limited by constituency boundaries, but that you have always been a true friend to Peterborough County as a whole.

In conclusion we hope that you may long be spared to serve the West Riding of Peterborough, with a reasonable overflow of interest in the Village of Lakefield, and the County at large.

Hon. Mr. Stratton's Reply.

In replying to the remarks of Mr. Moore, Mr. Stratton said that he had been entirely taken by surprise by the address, and he felt he was wholly undeserving the kind words. He always endeavoured to be of assistance to the needy, whether it was the individual or the community. He preferred to be so, rather than the opposite. He was glad to accompany Dr. Pugsley and glad to know that the recently completed new wharf met with the approbation of the people. The Minister of Public Works would now know that nothing was too good for the residents of Lakefield.

Lakefield would be one of the main ports at the completion of the Trent Canal waterway between Georgian Bay and St. Lawrence River. Mr. Stratton felt sure that Dr. Pugsley would see that the present wharf would not be large enough, of much greater accommodation would in a short time be a necessity. The extension to the G T R. siding, he believed, was greatly needed. Passengers for the lakes could then be landed right at the steamboats, and much time and expense would be saved. The speaker took occasion to remind the Minister that all the material for the extension could be obtained within a stone's throw of the Pavilion, the Portland cement works being one of the village's flourishing industries. Mr. Stratton referred in eulogistic terms to the beauty of Lakefield, and with the advantages in the way of water power that it held, it was bound to prosper, and, in conclusion, assured his hearers that he would be always pleased to help it in any way that he could and he hoped that in the next estimates of the Department of Public Works an appropriation for the work at Lakefield would be made. He paid a high tribute to the efficiency of Mr J. H McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Canal.

To Hon. Wm. Pugsley, M.P.

The following address was read to Hon. Wm. Pugsley, L.L.D., Minister of Public Works, for Canada, on behalf of the Village of Lakefield, by Mr. W. Sherin, the Village Clerk:

To the Hon. Wm. Pugsley, L.L.D., Minister of Public Works for Canada.

Sir,—On behalf of the citizens of Lakefield, we desire to extend to you a hearty welcome to our Village. We welcome you as a citizen of one of our provinces, down by the sea, and as a Minister of the Crown, holding one of the most important portfolios in the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

We are pleased to have you visit our Village, which we might point out, is an important distributing point on the Trent Canal, and from which a very large percentage of the trade on the Canal, as at present constituted, emanates.

We desire to express to you our appreciation of the public-spirited manner in which you received, and acted upon, our application for improved dockage facilities, with the result that to-day we have the finest dock on the entire Trent Canal. We heartily appreciate the attention you have given our requirements in this respect, and we consider the manner in which the work has been carried out is a credit to your Department and our Village. Now that you are with us, we might point out the desirability of extending the dock some little distance east, to facilitate the transfer of passengers and baggage direct from the railway to the steamers. At the present time the railway trains stop at the Village station and all passengers and baggage has to be transferred at considerable inconvenience and expense. The Grand Trunk Railway System has a siding at the water's edge, a short distance beyond the eastern limit of the present dock, but there is no dockage accommodation. If the present dock were extended, we are assured that the Grand Trunk Railway System will arrange their siding to meet the requirements of the public in this respect. We hope, therefore, that you will give this little matter the same kindly consideration as you have given our original application for a new

STREET RAILWAY WAS VERY BUSY

The Peterborough Street Railway were kept exceedingly busy all day yesterday, and furnished their quota of entertainbent to the local people as well as to the visitors. Within the hearing of an Examiner representative, a conductor stated about seven last evening that he had been at work since that morning with no time for either dinner or supper, and that elevent o'clock would scarcely bring relief. This business, as in others, demonstrates the necessity of "making hay while the sun shines."

We regret that time will not pe you to make a more extended v over the Trent Canal, in order you may personally see the imp ance of the early completion, and possibilities it will possess for development of trade. However, trust that you will, at an early d when you have more time at your posal, make a trip over the en Trent Canal System.

In conclusion, we again desire extend to you our thanks for the siderate manner in which you h so far dealt with us, and to wish many years of successful public Signed on behalf of the citizens Lakefield.

Lakefield, May 24th, 1909.

Dr. Pugsley Speaks.

Honourable Mr. Pugsley was giv an ovation on rising to speak. assured his hearers that any satisf tion they might feel on the occas of his visit, was counterbalanced the great pleasure he felt by h present. When Mr. Stratton ask him to come to Peterborough to op the new armouries he was very mu pleased, but when he added a t to Lakefield, the visiting ministe pleasure was increased. The Lak field deputation that had visited o some weeks ago, spoke of a magnif ent waterway and he was anxious come and find out whether or n that they being so thoroughly wra ped up in the advantages of th village, had slightly exaggerated t But he remarked that he had be more than repaid. Lakefield w bound to be a port of a great tran portation system. In this connecti the speaker said that he had devot a great deal of thought to an im portant Canadian question, namel the shipment of Canadian produc by Canadian waterways. It was surprise to him that the exports Canada went by such ports as Bu falo, Portland, Baltimore and other He considered such a condition affairs a reflection on the country enterprise. But, he added, if enter prise and intelligence would chang that state of things, it would be dem The Honourable Minister of Publi Works referred to the Trent Valle Canal, as playing an important pa in the Transportation system. would mean a saving of two hundre miles between the western shore Lake Superior and Montreal, an would bring the latter port thre hundred miles nearer than New York The result would be the lowering freight rates.

Dr. Pugsley, speaking of the re quest of Lakefield, said that whe one considered that there were on thousand of these to deal with, en incurring much expense, it would b readily seen that it could not b granted at once. "I did hold out p mises to you," he said. "I was sin cere. In all my twenty years of pub lic life, I have been careful in regar to promises." He heartily endorsed further extension of the wharf, rea izing the importance of such an im provement. At the close of the la fiscal year there was a revenue of tw million, and he believed that wit shrewdness in making the estimate and with increasing revenues, th total revenue of the next fiscal ye would be greatly increased.

In conclusion he remarked that h was sure he could hold out a hop that the extension would be carrie out. If he should forget the realiza ion of his duty, he stated, he would be urged upon by Mr. Stratton. H hoped to visit more in Ontario. I was the banner Province, there be ing none but it which possesses every thing in such abundance for its wel fare. He again thanked the people of Lakefield for their appreciativ words, expressing a hope that w might again visit Lakefield and tak a trip over the entire waterway.

Appreciate Mr. McClellan.

Mr. Tanner expressed his apprecia tion of the good way in which Mr McClellan performed his duties. H was a careful, shrewd man, and wor done under his supervison was sub stantial and good.

Cheers for the King, Hon. Mr Pugsley, and Hon. Mr. Stratton were given, after which the visitors ad journed to the station, where a spe cial train brought them to Peterbor ough.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING

The adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade to continue the consideration of the "Purity Ware" by-law will be held to-night. It is to be hoped that in so important a matter, involving as it does, the addition of an important industrial establishment to the city's number, will be dealt with in a spirit which represents only the substantial interests of the city. It is to be hoped that the matter will be dealt with from only one standpoint—with only one object in view; the intrests of Peterborough. There should be a clear-cut presentation of the facts and conditions attending the proposal. While hostile interest outside of the city may find home exponents and thereby introduce irrelevant and conflicting issues, the fact should be impressed deeply that, no matter what may be said or urged, the city will take no action in assisting the enterprise without every condition expressed and set forth in the by-law, is literally and rigidly complied with, and that, so far as foresight and agreement and condition are effective, nothing will be assented or agreed to that will not be in the city's interest.

THE VISIT

The local celebration of Victoria Day by the opening of the armouries and the visit of the Brantford and St. Catharines regiments was well worth while. The weather and sublanary elements combined resulted in success all along the line. The military forces in evidence yesterday may have only represented the holiday phase of war, but they had their uses. They were in one sense superfluous; in that they assisted in commemorating the virtues of the life of a sovereign which are their own sufficient and eloquent exponent; but on the other hand they gave personal trangibility to the relations of the citizens of three important cities, showed each of them what others are and how they do things and combined to cement the bonds of a common citizenship and common patriotism. The military forces present showed that the people of the country can be counted upon to defend it; but the occasion suggested one pregnont idea. Can these soldiers, as well equipped in drill and manoeuvre as they may be, with the esprit de corps and fighting spirit developed highly, with undoubted courage, with splendid equipment as to armouries and arms—do these citizen soldiers possess the one essential quality of the soldier—can they shoot to kill? Is there not a tendency to exalt the showier form of military service to the neglect of the one thing needful—marksmanship? The value of expert marksmanship was taught at bitter cost in the South African war, which retired and invalided the traditional campaigning methods that had been the growth of centuries. The one great essential of the modern soldier is to shoot well; if he is wanting in this he is wanting in his right hand. A gathering of soldiers like that of yesterday is an inspiring sight and, while we spend liberally to maintain a volunteer force, we should at the same time burn powder liberally, in acquiring the art of shooting straight.

THE APPLE AND ITS RIVALS

(Toronto Star.)

On the Pacific coast of the United States there is a war between the orange and the apple. Orange growers in their advertisements claim that oranges are cheaper and more healthful that apples. Apple champions reply that the orange may be cheaper, but cannot compare with the apple in food value. "The orange," they say, "is an insipid fruit of which most people soon weary, and its use is limited, while the apple lends itself to an almost infinite variety of cuisine. It may be served raw as oranges are served; it may be cooked into sauce, or baked, roasted, or fried, or made into pies and tarts; it can be evaporated and transported to the most remote mining and lumber camps, and its by-products, or jelly, cider, and apple wine, are commodities of widest use."

In this part of Canada it is a matter of common observation that the apple is giving way to the orange, and still more to the banana, as a fruit to be consumed raw. And the reason is, not that the flavour of the orange or banana is preferred, but that it is easier to obtain the foreign fruit in good condition than the native fruit. Partly this is due to the energy and persistence of the Italian vendor. The children of Italy exhibit some of those qualities of aggressiveness and enterprise of an Imperial race. They give the lie to the theory that sunny skies are enervating. Try to carry in Italian peddler's load through the city of Toronto on a hot day, and your respect for the race will be increased.

The brange and the banana come to our doors. The apple eludes us. The consumer of raw fruit has almost given up the hope of getting ripe, sound, well-flavoured apples at a moderate price. He has become a banana-eater, not because the flavour of a banana can be compared with that of a Northern Spy, but because the Northern Spy has become too expensive a luxury. And yet this is a country which has achieved some fame for growing and exporting apples. There is something wrong with the means of communication between the Canadian apple grower and the Canadian consumer.

VALUE OF ONTARIO'S SMALLER STREAMS

(Belleville Ontario.)

Whatever others may think about the value of the thousands of lakes and streams in this Province, to the north and west of us, the Railway companies, at all events, recognize the fact that as summer resorts they constitute great attraction for tourists from the United States and elsewhere especially on account of the game fish abounding in them, and they are fully alive to the importance of a more thorough enforcement of the regulations respecting these fish in order to prevent the water from being depleted when their chief attraction would cease.

G. T. R. officials have lately expressed their thanks to the Belleville Branch of The Forest, Fish and Game Protective Association for the practical view taken by them of this matter and for the manner in which it is being presented to the public through the press. It is, however, hard to arouse people to any just conception of the value to the community of this natural source of wealth with which Providence has so richly endowed us, but it seems the public must be awakened to it before the Government will take effective measures to preserve it from destruction. The apathy shown by the general public residing in the front sections of the Province is probably owing to their entire ignorance of what exists in that vast stretch of country extending from the Rideau Lakes through the north of Frontenac, Hastings, Muskoka, Parry Sound District and onwards north of the Georgian Bay and Lake Superior.

As was said, the railway companies are fully alive to the importance to them of conserving this national resource in developing tourist traffic but surely if they can reckon on so much gain to themselves through increased traffic from this, how much more will it profit the community at large, for as much as for one dollar thus gained by the railway companies by increased passenger traffic there will be at least twenty-five to fifty dollars gained to the country through tourists from abroad seeking health and recreation on these lakes and streams and there spending money in hotels and shops and for guides, licenses, boats, outfits, etc? But if the waters are allowed to be despoiled of their chief attraction, as is now being done, all this, representing many millions yearly, will be soon lost to the country for ever.

In the northern part of the County of Hastings and adjoining counties there are unnumbered lakes of from one to fifty square miles in extent all formerly abounding in game fish, such as grey trout, black bass, brook trout, etc. The law-abiding residents there are most anxious to have effectual steps taken by the proper authorities to prevent the wanton destruction being perpetuated by poachers and fish hogs, for they are coming to see what value these waters may be to them in the future. They are looking to the local overseers to have the laws enforced, but not more than one in ten of these will lift his finger to perform the duties for which ostensibly they have been appointed. The special speakers will deal with subjects of considerable importance, which are

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

What Booth's Kidney Pills are Doing for Peterborough, Ont., People.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys every three minutes.

The kidneys filter the blood.

They work night and day to daily remove about 500 grains of impure matter. If they fail some part of this impure matter is left in the blood, bringing on pain in the back, headache, dizziness, irregular heart, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gravel, dropsy, deposits in the urine. Booth's Kidney Pills make the filtering right and overcome kidney trouble. Hundreds of Peterborough County residents have found this out.

Mrs. John Wallace, of No. 323 Water street, Peterborough, Ont., says: "I had suffered with many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble for over two years and could find nothing that would benefit my condition. My back was weak and a dull, heavy pain settled across the small of it, extending into my sides and shoulders. I could not sleep at night as the kidney secretions were so frequent and irregular that I would have to leave my bed a number of times. I was dizzy and weak and would usually awake with a dull headache. Booth's Kidney Pills procured at McDirmid and Jury's drug store, cured me when all else failed. I am stronger and feel better generally. I can conscientiously recommend Booth's Kidney Pills, and I would not be without a box in the house."

WEDDING BELLS

MOHER—WEYER

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a very pretty wedding this morning, when Miss Bessie Weyer, youngest daughter of Mrs. A. Weyer, Weller street, became the bride of Mr. James Moher, Patterson street; Rev. Father McFadden performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Jas. Weyer, looked charming in an Empire gown of mauve directoire soie over taffeta with bertha of real lace and gold trimmings, and wore a tuscan hat with plumes, and carried a mother of pearl prayer book. The bridesmaid, Miss Sophia Weyer, of St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, N. Y., loked very pretty in a Princess gown of pale blue mull, with picture hat to match, and carried pink roses. Mr. Robert Moher, of Ottawa, was best man. The bride, who is a very popular young lady, was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents. Among them was a well filled purse from a number of the groom's friends, and three beautiful presents from the Examiner staff, consisting of a handsome fruit dish, salad bowl and berry spoon.

The grooms gift to the bride was an ameythst necklace; to the bridesmaid a fleur-de-lis brooch, and best man, a tie pin.

After the ceremony about fifty guests drove to the home of the bride's mother and partook of a sumptuous dinner.

After the usual toasts the bride slipped away to done her travelling suit of old rose and black picture hat. They left on the 11:26 C.P.R. for Ottawa, where a reception will be held by Mr. and Mrs. E. Plouffe, Rochester street.

The guests from a distance were Mr. Jas. Carey and Herb. Henry, of Lansing, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Hennessy, Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Wade, of Brampton.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 25.—Stocks opened steady and unchanged. Aside from some pool manipulation in the minor Gould issues at prices a point higher, there was no feature to the market. Dealings were on a small scale and the undertone was rather weak, most issues selling 1-2 to 1 lower during the first two hours. Traders were watching the wheat market and were inclined to put out short lines of stocks on the little bulges. Would not be surprised to see a break in this market at any time and advise conseratism.

REAL ESTATE

The undersigned wishes to intimate that having almost recovered from his somewhat protracted illness, he expects in future to be found at his usual place of business. IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

HOAGLAND, BROWN AND WEST ARE ON EVEN TERMS IN THE SIX-DAY MATCH AT RINK

This is the way in which the ten starters in the International Six Day Walk in Brock St. Rink finished last night after two and ne half hours of the fastest and most exciting walking ever seen in Peterborough. There was more real walking last night than there was in the whole week last year and the rowd present will not soon forget the exciting events of the evening. Hoagland, Brown and West remained together for the whole journey while Harrison lost but one lap on the cracks from across the line and he is not worrying very much about the lost ground. It was one continual sprint all the way. Figure it out for yourself. In the last hour the leaders covered six miles, 12 laps just one circuit of the track away from the seven mile mark, and, then they went right on and covered six miles, 7 laps in the second hour and finished up by doing three miles and five laps in teh last half hour. To get within two laps of the seventeen miles in two and one half hours is sure going some.

There were ten starters in the field which Ald. J. J. Turner started at 8.25. In giving the word "go," Ald. Turner welcomed the outside walkers to Peterboorugh and expressed the pleasure of the citizens at seeing Messrs. Hoagland, Blake, Fenton and Graham back again. Harrison sprang into the lead at the start closely followed by Brown, Hoagland, Spencely, West, Fenton and Blake and the others beginning to drop at once. In less than three laps Blatchford had been lapped and the leaders soon passed Hartley and Graham. The race out in front however, was a peach.

ST. KITTS TEAM EASY WINNERS OF YESTERDAY'S LACROSSE GAME

1200 people gathered at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon and saw the Peterborough Lacrosse Club beaten by the Lincolns of St. Catharines by nine goals to one in a somewhat listless game. The locals had had comparatively no practice and were not in shape to go the route against the visitors, who seemed to be in good condition and out-lasted the homesters. The first quarter showed that the Petes could have easily held them had they been in condition, as they had the better of the play and scored the only goal, although it was not counted. In the second qaurter, however, St. Kitts cut out a pace that the locals could not hold. They were enabled to work in on the nets at will and scored a quartette in the second period while Peterboro scored but once. There wasn't a thing to it from this stage on but St. Kitts. The Lincolns scored four in the third and one in the last period while Peterboro failed to score.

The Petes showed that they have the material for a first-class team, and with a little practice they will take a lot of beating. The visitors were a fairly strong team. Their goal keeper, Dixon, accompanied the Canadian Olympic team to England last year.

As a preliminary, Fred Simpson ran three miles against a relay of two walkers, Brown and West, who went two miles. Simpson succeeded in winning after a most exciting race by a quarter of a lap, doing the three miles in 15.6, while the walkers' time was 15.20 for the two miles.

Ed. Dillon was a satisfactory referee and the teams were as follows:

St. Kitts		Peterborough
Dixon	Goal	Dobbin
O'Neill	Point	Derocher
Ommel	Cover	Mein
Overhold		Dusty
McGlashan	Defence	Seymour
Richards	Dorris	(Gilmour)
Masterson	Centre	Dobson
Boles		Judd
Goulette	Home	Parnell
Daly		Brant
Aubron	Outside Home	McCoy
Hope	Inside Home	Glover

Score by qaurters—1st quarter, Peterboro 0, St. Kitts 0; 2nd quarter, Peterboro 1, St. Kitts 4; 3rd quarter, Peteboro 1, St. Kitts 8; 4th quarter, Peterboro 1, St. Kitts 9.

WOOD BREAKS RECORDS.

Canadian Wins Professional Marathon In Remarkable Time.

Montreal, May 25.—Abbie Wood of Montreal, who finished second to J. D. Marsh in the Marathon at Toronto a couple of weeks ago, won the first professional Marathon run in Montreal yesterday when he finished 50 yards ahead of Hans Holmer of Halifax in 2 hours 39 minutes, thus breaking all Marathon records made on this side of the Atlantic Ocean. The race was run on the M.A.A.A. three-lap cinder path, an authentic course, about which there can be no question.

The timing arrangements were in the hands of experts and there can be no doubt on that score.

Wood ran a great race. From the crack of the pistol he was always up with the leaders. Cibot, the Frenchman, did his best to run the diminutive Montrealer into the ground in the first ten miles, but it was Cibot who got broke first. He ran third to Holmer at the finish, with his team mate, Orphee, in fourth place, and Meadows of Guelph fifth. Pat Dineen of Boston, who might have had a look-in at the money, left the track before he had gone the full distance, under the impression, from a statement made to him by a couple of mutts who should have known better, that he was running his last lap for third place, when as a matter of fact he was finishing up his 24th mile. Twelve started and five finished.

SLIGHTE WON TIME PRIZE

Y.M.C.A. Sealed Handicap Race Yesterday Was Interesting Throughout.

Harry Slighte won the time prize in the Y.M.C.A. sealed handicap race yesterday morning, finishing the five miles in 39.34, beating the scratch man, Peter Wallace, by 16 seconds. Slighte had a handicap of 16 seconds. The race was a very interesting one, the conditions of course and weather being perfect. There were four entries, the other two being McLeod of St. Catharines, and E. Currie. The latter, who had a handicap of one minute, won the first handicap prize money, while Wallace was second, and the St. Catharines man did not finish.

COLLEGIATE BEAT THE PARK NINES

The Col. In. team defeated the plate Institute team defeated the Park Nines of the Intermediate City Baseball League in an interesting game Saturday by six runs to five. It was a warm battle for the whole nine innings, both sides doing some pretty fielding, which kept the score down. The fielding of the students was a feature of the contest. Kirn, for the Collegiate, and Laing for the Park Nines, both pitched good ball. The result was a surprise, as it was thought that the Park Nines would have the Indian sign on their younger opponents.

Teddy Crowe was a satisfactory umpire.

TURF CLUB RACES.

The Turf Club welcomed the warm weather and the dry track for yesterday's matinee, which with their assets was a decided success in every respect. Everything passed off without a hitch and the large crowd went away pleased with the afternono's sport. Owing to lack of space a detailed account cannot be given but the results were recorded as follows:

2.50 CLASS.

Herkland	2	3	3	4
Minnie G.	3	4	4	3
Queen's Bourbon	4	2	1	2

Time, 1.12½, 1.11, 1.13, 1.11.

ROAD RACE

The five mile road race was won by Wm. Parker, who trimmed the six other entries home to the wire. Only four finished in the followin gorder: Wm. Parker, George Brown, Norman Ray, Jimmie McMartin. The race started from Bear's Creek on the Lakefield road, and was finished by three laps at the driving park. The time was 25 minutes flat, which evidently indicates that the distance was less than five miles.

Lulu Chimes, owned by Dr. Johnston, and Holland Boy, owned by Mr. W. J. Cox, won first money quite handily.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A very enjoyable concert was given in the Foresters' Hall, Bridgenorth, last evening by the members of the Alexandra Dramatic Club. D'Oscar Waring and Beverly Ducette gave an amusing sketch, "Timothy Ryan's Return." Mr. Mat. Drysdale did some very good work in his baton act, and also sang some coon songs very cleverly which were much enjoyed. D'Oscar Waring was not allowed to go through the evening without giving us some recitations, and "Kissing Cup's Race," was the best we have heard him give us yet. Mr. Will. Greenslade's tenor solos were splendid and his son, "For the King," carrised the house. Miss Greenslade rendered two clever pianofarte selections, and accompanied the artists of the evening splendidly.

Roney, of Cobourg, and two brothers, Michael, of this city, and Thomas, of Idaho.

Those present from a distance at the funeral included a nephew, Mr. James Grady, of Toronto, a niece, Miss Elizabeth McCarthy, of Toronto, Miss M. McCarthy, of Cobourg, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Murray of Omemee.

The funeral was largely attended and many floral tributes gave silent testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The Catholic Order of Foresters, of which he was a member, was well represented at the funeral.

UPSET OUT OF BOAT

Another drowning fatality was narrowly averted Saturday at the locks. Two young men whose names could not be ascertained attempted to make the canoe slide but were thrown from their canoe just at the breakwater. They pluckily held to the canoe and with great rapidity went floating down the river. Another young man noticing their predicament went out from Rye's boathouse and towed the upset canoe with the fellows holding to it, to the shore. They were drenched through and had a somewhat cold dip.

LAST NIGHT'S BANQUET A FITTING CLIMAX TO MOST ENJOYABLE CELEBRATION

Visiting Officers, Hon. Mr. Pugsley and the Officers of the Peterborough Garrison Were the Guests of Hon. Mr. Stratton at a Delightful Dinner in the Oriental Hotel Formed an Enjoyable Conclusion to the Demonstration

The banquet given at the Oriental Hotel by Hon. Mr. Stratton in honour of Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, and the officers of the visiting and local regiments, was a conspicuous success and a becoming conclusion of two days of splendid entertaining and enjoyment. The tables were well filled by the officers, with a sprinkling of prominent citizens. The banquet hall was draped with colours of the Empire, and upon the walls electric transparencies blazoned the numbers of the "19th", "38th" and "57th". While the banquetters were being seated, the Grand Opera House Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. R. J. Devey, stationed in the rotunda adjoining, performed a programme of high-class music in a high-class and finished manner. The menu was first rate and well served, songs were ringing and well sung, the speeches were crisp and well uttered, the greatest of good humour and hilarity prevailed. The banquet in all respects was a splendid success, and a triumphant ending of a triumphant campaign, in which the visitors, assisted by their local military hosts, in a series of brilliant actions and skirmishes, captured every form, variety, quality and degree of enjoyment, the city afforded or admitted of being created.

The Toast List.

Hon. Mr. Stratton presided and introduced the first toast of the evening. He paid a tribute to the character of King Edward, the worthy successor of his illustrious mother, and concluded by proposing the health of the "Greatest Conqueror of Christendom, King Edward the Peacemaker," which was, of course, splendidly honoured.

Mr. W. McIlroy sang in splendid voice a robust song, "Schooners That Pass in the Night," with a rollicking refrain, and he had to respond to an enthusiastic encore, in which the company helped to carry the burden o fthe swinging strain.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, in a brief speech, proposed the toast "Our Governing Bodies."

Mayor Rush was heartily received when he rose to respond to the toast. He, on behalf of the City Council expressed the thanks of that body for the pleasure of being able to welcome in Peterborough the Hon. Mr. Pugsley and the officers of the 38th and 19th Regiments. The City Council, while it had not the power of Parliament, exercised a large influence in the community, and he was sure that it was the endeavour of those at the helm of municipal affairs to see that the influence was for the welfare of the municipality.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., concurred with Mayor Rush, in expressing the honour Peterborough was having in welcoming such distinguished visitors.

Mr. R. R. Hall, ex-M. P., dealt with the important part that the militia played in the life of Canada. There were two conflicting ideals in connection with the establishment of armouries, one was the building of common ordinary sheds, the other was the erection of baronial halls that were a credit to the place in which they were situated, and to the corps whom they sheltered. The speaker was strongly in favour of the second ideal and his sentiments were enthusiastically approved of by the gathering.

Mr. Walter S. Davidson was heard to great advantage in the comic song, "Harrigan," which was so well received that he had to respond to a most enthusiastic encore, singing "You'll Have to Wait 'Til My Ship Comes In," as a recall number.

Hon. Mr. Stratton, in proposing the toast to "Our Guests," said that he was greatly pleased that Hon. Mr. Pugsley had favoured Peterborough with his presence. He had helped to make the occasion a most enjoyable one. Hon. Mr. Pugsley was a good mixer and an amiable and able man. He hoped he would carry away with him a good impression of Peterborough. He had been careful in pointing out to Mr. Pugsley some of the requirements as well as some of the advantages of the city, and he hoped that when the people of Peterborough waited upon the Minister in his office that he would see that those works which might be asked for would be to the advantage of Canada as a whole. It was not often that men from down by the sea visited Peterborough, and he was glad of the opportunity to welcome Hon. Mr. Pugsley.

The toast was most enthusiastically honoured, the guest of the evening being given a reception that was most enthusiastic and flattering.

"It is not every day that we open armouries in Peterborough," remarked Hon. Mr. Pugsley, in reply. "We have made this building so strong and substantial that it may be one hundred years before we will have occasion to open another one here." The officers of the 57th, the speaker remarked, seemed as happy in their new home as a bride and groom returning from their honeymoon. He was glad to see so many smiling faces and happy people, indicating that they believed there was joy in life. He thanked Hon. Mr. Stratton for the opportunity of meeting the young men of Peterborough, as well as the men, who, like himself, had advanced beyond the youthful stage. Mr. Stratton had referred to the fact that Peterborough had some requirements that should be attended to, and he had not the slightest doubt that he would point this fact not only on the present visit, but on many days in the future. "He will never let me forget that Peterborough is deserving of the best, and I have come to that conclusion myself to-day." It is a great thing the building of public works in a country that is forging ahead. I want to say to you that since I have become Minister of Public Works my ambition has been to do what I can to help the country forward. Canada is flourishing, and within fifteen years we shall have a population, I confidently expect, of twenty millions of people." If the tocsin of war ever sounded in the land, he was sure that the men of the three corps represented would go into the field of battle with the same smiling faces and happy hearts. In conclusion, Hon. Mr. Pugsley thanked the gathering once more for their kind reception.

Lt. Col. Miller was called upon to propose the toast to the visiting regiments which he did in a neat speech. The 57th, he remarked, only a few years ago had the pleasure of meeting the 38th Regiment in Brantford, and last year they had been the guests of the St. Catharines Regiment in their beautiful town. They had been charmed with the reception they had received at both places and would never forget the friendships formed then which had been renewed and cemented by the meeting in Peterborough. If the time ever came when the militia would be needed for active service the 57th would ask for nothing more than to be brigaded with the 19th and 38th.

Amid great enthusiasm the toast was honoured ,and Lt. Col. Campbell of the 19th, was warmly received when he arose to reply, remarking that he had but three things to say: Firstly, to thank the genial and popular host, Mr Stratton, for his hospitality; secondly, as Mayor of St. Catharines, to extend a fraternal greetinb to the Mayor and Aldermen of Peterborough; and, thirdly, to say for himself, and his officers, and ever ynon-commissioned officer and man down to the newest recruit, to the 57th that there were no better fellows in the world. His regiment had enjoyed their reception in the fullest possible measure.

Lt.-Col. E. C. Ashton, of the Dufferin Rifles, was also enthusiastically greeted. In replying, he thanked the gathering for the hearty manner in which they had honoured the toast. The gathering of the three regiments in Peterborough had shown that they made a strong combination. The Dufferins had entertained many regiments in their home city, but the most pleasant recollections were of the visit of the Peterborough Rangers. They had been very anxious ever since to return that visit, and thy had on this occasion found the 57th capital hosts. "We have had the time of our lives," remarked Lt.-Col. Ashton, in concluding.

Hon. Mr. Stratton, proposing the toast to "The Service," regretted the enforced absence at the last moment of Col. W. D. Gordon, Commanding Officer of the Eastern Ontario Command. Mr. Stratton was sure that the militia of Canada always were and always would be ready for service when called upon.

Col. King, in replying to the toast, remarked that he desired to re-echo the feelings of the other officers in the enjoyment of the splendid reception they had had. They had been charmed by the hospitality shown, and would long remember the visit.

Col. Arthur Stevenson of the 57th, proposed the 1st toast to the host Mr. Stratton, and it was honoured in a most enthusiastic demonstration. Mr. Stratton responded briefly, but suitably, and a most delightful and enjoyable event was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne.

SUNDAY WITH SOLDIER VISITORS TWO BAND CONCERTS GIVEN

Church Parade in the Morning---19th and 38th Musicians Were Heard to Advantage---Visiting Officers Were Entertained to a Drive Around the City.

The chief event of Sunday afternoon from a public standpoint was the band concert given in Central Park by the band of the Dufferin Rifles, under the direction of Bandmaster Tresholm. Through a misunderstanding several thousand people had gathered in Victoria Park for the concert, but when their mistake was discovered they made their way to Central Park, where the concert was held. The citizens turned out in large numbers and gave the visiting band an attentive hearing.

The programme given by the Dufferins' musicians was throughly appreciated by the audience and was sufficient to demonstrate that Brantford has an excellent band in Leader Tresholm's organization. Their numbers were nearly all of a sacred nature suitable to the occasion, and their playing throughout was excellent. They responded admirably to their conductor and their tone quality and attack was excellent. Their programme, every number of which was enjoyed, was as follows:

Merch—"The Royal Colours."
Gloria — From Mozart's Twelfth Mass.
Ave Maria and Adeste Fidelis.
Overture—"The Champion."
Intermezzo—"Among the Lillies."
Phraphrase—"Nearer My God to Thee."
Valse—"The Choristers."
Selection—"The Evening Hymn."

The officers of the 57th took the visiting officers in charge during the afternoon and entertained to a carriage drive to the various points of interest in the city and neighbourhood, calling at the different parks, factories, and other lions of Peterborough. The weather was perfect and a very enjoyable time was spent. The drive was brought to a pleasant termination with a reception at the residence of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P. Miss Brown and Mr. Bradburn received the visitors and succeeded in making their visit most delightful. A large marquee had been erected on the beautiful lawn and here light refreshments were served to the officers, a large number of ladies attending and making the event more bright and enjoyable by their presence.

The soldiers were dismissed at the conclusion of the church parade and had the remainder of the day to themselves. They succeeded in obtaining a very enjoyable time in sight-seeing and fraternizing with the members of the 57th. The 57th brass band was at home to the visiting musicians and the band hall on Simcoe street, was the headquarters for the players of the 38th and the 19th, who spent most of their leisure time there. The result was the creation of a strong feeling of friendship between the three bands, and the pleasant tie formed will not soon be forgotten. Professor Ghidion and his men proved ideal hosts.

The non-coms' mess of the 57th also kept open house at their headquarters in the armouries, and their hospitality was thoroughly appreciated by the non-commissioned officers of the Rifles and the St. Catharines corps.

Evening Concert

The band of the St. Catharines' regiment received a splendid reception from hundreds of the citizens who heard their Sunday evening concert in Victoria Park. The St. Kits' musicians proved themselves worthy of the fine reputation they enjoy, and the crowd demonstrated their appreciation of their work by numerous encores. The programme selected for the occasion gave the band an oportunity to exhibit their concert qualities, and they quickly won their way into the good graces of the large number who availed themselves of the opportunity to hear them. Bandmaster William Peel had every section at the very tip of his baton, and imparted into the playing an intelligent and musicianly interpretation of the different numbers. Thorough balance was prominent in the piano as well as the forte parts, the instrumentation being delightful. The band certainly created a very favourable impression among the crowd which was interpersed with many Peterborough musicians.

A feature of the programme was the singing of Mr. Charles O'Donnell, who accompanies the regiment. He possesses a robust tenor which carried to every part of the park. His tone is true and clear, his enunciation is excellent and as a result his two solos were greatly enjoyed. He was encored on each occasion.

Mr. Frank Weis, the solo cornetist, and band sergeant, accepted the conductorship through several of the selections.

The Programme

The programme was a s follows:
Marcl.—"Turkish Imperial Guards."
Overture to "Masaniello" by Auber.
Vocal Solo by Mr. O'Donnell—"The Holy City."
Medley from Gounod's —"Mors et Vita."
Naila (Ballett) by Delibes

Intermission

Fantasia—"Souvenir to Russia."
Introduction to the 3rd act of Lohengrin
Vocal Solo by Mr. O'Donnell—"God Bless the Prince of Wales."
"God Save the King."

The first number of the second part of the programme was very fine and showed the band at its best. There were a number of encores played among them being Robinson's beautiful arrangements of "Nearer My God to Thee" and a march religioso, "Saviour to This Dear Name We Raise." Many complimentary remarks were passed upon the ability of the St. Kits band and their leader, and they carried away with them the good opinion of all those who heard them.

INTERESTING DISCOURSE TO THE MEMBERS OF THREE REGIMENTS

Delivered by Honorary Major Rev. R. Ker of the 19th Regiment, St. Catharines, at St. Paul's Church on Sunday Morning.

A FINE CHURCH PARADE

The finest church parade that has probably ever been seen in Peterborough was that of Sunday morning to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. In point of numbers it was the largest, the 19th Regiment of St. Catharines, the 38th Regiment of Brantford, and the 57th Regiment of this city, combined, making a grand procession.

The line of march was from the Armouries down George street to Hunter street, along Hunter to Water street, and thence to St. Paul's Church. All along the route the streets were filled with citizens. The officers in charge were Colonel Fairs, of St. Catharines, who acted as brigadier; Mayor Howard, of Brantford, brigade major; Captain Ackerman, of the 10th Brigade, Field Battery, orderly officer, and Sergeant Major Edwards, of the 57th, brigade sergeant-major. The commanding officers of the various regiments are Lt.-Col. J. S. Campbell, of the 19th, St. Catharines; Lt.-Col. E. C. Ashton, of the 38th, Brantford, and Lt.-Col. A. Stevenson, of the 57th, Peterborough.

A printed form of service was supplied each soldier and the singing and responses were entered into most heartily by all. The officiating clergy were Honorary Major Rev. R. Ker, of the 19th Regiment, who preached a most excellent sermon; Rev. Major Rev. J. C. Davidson, of the 57th Regiment, who conducted the service; Honorary Capt. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of the 3rd Dragoons, and Rev. Dr. Talling, of St. Paul's Church, who read the lesson.

Rev. Dr. Talling, on behalf of the St. Paul's congregation, welcomed the soldier to the church, and Rev. Canon Davidson, for the local regiment spoke a few words of welcome. The visit to this city of two such fine regiments, was an honour to Peterborough, which was highly appreciated. He hoped their visit would be most satisfactory and pleasant.

The Sermon

Preceding his discourse Rev. Mr. Ker took occasion to express the thanks of the visiting regiments to the pastor and officers of St. Paul's for the opportunity afforded them to hold the service in their church. The reverend officer based his remarks on the seventh and eighth verses of the first chapter of the Book of Joshua, "Only be thou strong and very courageous . . . . . for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous and then thou shalt have success." It was a source of great pleasure to be present, he said, and an honour to preach the sermon on such an occasion. The function was of a two fold nature. It served to keep green the memory the most religious and best sovereign that ever sat upon a throne, the late Queen Victoria; it was to participate in the formal opening of the new armouries.

Two thoughts entered his mind, at such an event as they were celebrating. The first was the duty imposed upon every one as citizens of a world wide Empire and, secondly the responsibilities of the members of a Christian commonwealth. There were many people, the speaker said, who thought that nowadays there was too much militarism. He was of the opinion that such views lacked public spirit and patriotism. He did not think it was a wasteful expenditure of money in keeping up regiments. The money was returned to the people, every cent that was expended. Major Ker believed that every youth should undergo a military training. In Germany employers gave preference to young men trained in the army. They were cleaner, more obedient and much the better men. A wider public spirit should be exercised. While no one, not even the greatest military men did not cherish any sentiments for war the speaker believed that the nation who neglected to prepare for an attack is sure to suffer sooner or later. At present the Empire was worrying over the possibility of an invasion.

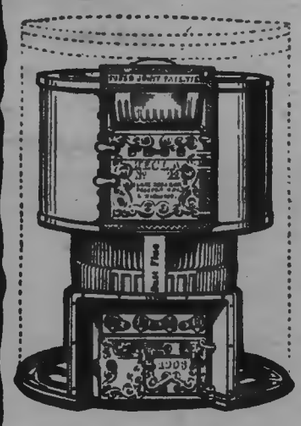
As citizen soldiers, the preacher said that they would never likely be called into actual service but they had to fight the world. He urged his hearers to eschew evil, to be on the side of Christ, doing that which was honest and right. Keep aloof from the godless throng, he remarked and do that which was pleasing to the Great Leader.

After the singing of the National Anthem and the benediction the brigade returned to the Armouries, where they were dismissed.

The Fenian Raid Veterans, of '66, turned out in a body to the service.

The "Hecla" Furnace

And The Wonderful Fused Joints



Do you know what Fused Joints are, and what they mean to every buyer of a Warm Air Furnace?

"Hecla" Fused Joints are made by bringing steel and cast-iron together at white heat. The two metals become practically one. The joints they form are permanently tight.

In 20 years use, "Hecla" Fused Joints have never once worked loose. They form the one and only furnace joint that won't leak gas or dust.

If you want plenty of warm, dry, PURE air—at the minimum cost for fuel, and at the same time want your home absolutely free of gas, dust and smoke—put in a "Hecla" Furnace.

There are dozens of other special features about the "Hecla" that every intending furnace buyer should know. Write for illustrated catalogue. 70

Lockmaster At No. 6 Lock Assaulted On Saturday Night

John Cronin, the genial lockmaster at number six lock in East City, was the victim of an assault on Saturday evening last about half past ten. Mr. Cronin is in the habit of paying a visit to the lock every night. He was going along with a lantern in his hand. When near the bridge at Maria street, some man stole up behind him and with one blow with a sand bag knocked him senseless.

The culprit then made away, but Mr. Cronin has a good idea as to who the guilty party is and the dastardly affair has been reported to the police. Mr. Cronin had his hands badly cut up but otherwise was was not seriously injured. He was able to look after his duties yesterday.

A BRILLIANT PAGEANTRY SPECTACLE AT RIVERSIDE

Three Regiments Manoeuvre Before Thousands of Holiday ing Crowd on Monday Morning---Inspection and March Past Keenly Appreciated by Citizens----Impressive Ceremonies Carried Out Most Creditably.

The holiday opened bright and clear to the delight of the soldiers and the citizens. Everyone was looking forward to seeing the military at their best, and only good weather would guarantee the success of the day. Old Sol peeked over the horizon with a merry twinkle in his eye, and no one doubted that he was going to fail the expectant multitude. The weather man was in his happiest frame of mind and stirred up a bracing breeze to offset Old Sol's too generous offering. It was probably the first day this Spring on which the new fads of the milliners and dressmakers could be shown to best advantage and the display was welcome and pleasing. Thousands of the people found their way to George street for the appearance of the soldiers on march to Riverside Park for the review and other ceremonies. It was a holiday crowd that lined both sides of George street. This was really the first holiday since last year, and no one remained indoors. When the three regiments turned off Murray street shortly after nine o'clock, they found either sidewalk banked by men, women and children, thereby proving the truth of the old statement that the military easily captures the hearts of the populace. It was a splendid sight and one which will not be soon forgotten. The scrupulously clean helmets swaying rythmically from block to block of the city's streets, the dark muzzles of the rifles gleaming dully as they caught the morning sun, the rows of black leather boots and leggings moving forward as if with automatic precision, and to this the bright uniforms of the 19th and 57th Regiments contrasting with the dark green of the Brantford Rifles' uniforms, all combined a sight that will not be seen in Peterborough for some time.

At Riverside Park.

The programme at the Park was carried out as announced. The three regiments were reviewed, following which the St. Catharines corps trooped the colours. Every point of vantage was occupied by the thousands gathered to witness the manoeuvres, and the splendour and impressiveness of the ceremonies was appreciated by the vast crowd which did not fail to give evidence of their delight with the proceedings. If the soldiers presented a vivd and varied colour scheme on the street it was decidedly enhanced by the setting of the beautiful green sward at Riverside. Words can scarcely describe the scene. It was a military spectacle such as is witnessed rarely in this city. Even from the crowded stand the neatness and brightness of the uniforms and accessories was prominent.

Inspection.

The regiments formed up on the east side of the park, and facing the grand stand in front of which the inspecting officer, Col. King, and his staff, had taken up a position.

The 19th Regiment was on the left flank, the north side of the field, the Brantford Rifles were in the centre, and the 57th on the right flank. They were first inspected with their rifles at the "Present Arms." The march past was very effective and it would be difficult to discriminate between the efficiency of the three regiments. It was really the test as to their ability in marching in solid formation. Only an authority on military work could point out any differences. The three regiments did themselves credit, and won cheers from the throng around the entire park, there being great applause as they passed the reviewing stand. The command had been given to fix bayonets, and, as the soldiers marched down the field with their guns at slope they gave the crowd a slight idea of the appearance of an army. The bristling serried steel points gleamed and glittered in the sun as the men marched past the reviewing officer with even motion. The 19th were first, then came the Rifles, and lastly, the 57th. The bands of each regiment played for their respective companies and the old favourite 57th were given a great ovation as to the stirring strains of the well-known regimental march they passed the stand.

Trooping the Colours.

The titbit, so to speak, wer sreserved until the last. It fell to the honour of the St. Catharines regiment to trop the colours, and they acquitted themselves most creditably. The other two regiments formed a hollow square, the men being stretched out in file around the field. The 19th was stretched out in single file facing the grand stand. The ceremony of the "Trooping" is well known and scarcely requires description. The company selected as an escort marched well, and the colours were trooped with an impressiveness that was appreciated by everyone. The 19th Band played "Oh, Canada," during the ceremony. The general salute was given at the conclusion of the trooping, and the regiments prepared to return to the city. The entire affair was a splendid spectacle, and its pageantry effects were not lost upon the throng. The three bands were of great assistance throughout, heightening the military spirit of the ceremonies, and carrying the soldiers along with a swing and spirit that was inspiring to the vast audience, and stirred up a thrill in their breasts.

One of the most enjoyable features in connection with the grand Victoria Day celebration was the trip over the Lift Lock, up the canal to Lakefield, where the fine new wharf was opened by Hon. Wm. Pugsley, L.L.D., M.P., Minister of Public Works. The trip was made in the handsome Government boat the "Bessie Butler." A more delightful sail could not have ben held the weather conditions being exceptionally fine, and nothing conducive to the pleasure of those who were present, were forgotten. The sail up the canal is a pleasant one at any time, but especially so at this season of the year. The steamer left the Lift Lock shortly after three o'clock, reaching the village about six.

At Lakefield a large gathering greeted the visitors and addresses of welcome were read to Hon. Mr. Pugsley and Hon. Mr. Stratton, to which most interesting speeches were made in reply. Mr. E. A. Tanner acted as chairman.

TRIP ROUND THE LAKES THURSDAY

The Str. Stoney Lake or Empress will make a trip round the Lakes on Thursday, May 27th leaving Lakefield on arrival of the morning train, returning on time to connect with the 4.40 p.m. train for Peterborough.

THERE IS NO RAINY SEASON.

General Ashton, of Tacoma, who accompanied Moreton Frewen to Prince Rupert, is a firm believer in the future of the town. The present is his first rtip here, and he predicts that with the sale of lots, there will be an influx of people who mean business and who will stay by the proposition. "I believe," he said yesterday, "that in a great measure, the industrial and commercial history of Tacoma, Seattle and Vancouver will be duplicated here. Your harbour is a truly magnificent one. Prince Rupert is in the path of the growing Alaskan and trans-Pacific trade. The country between here and the prairies presents limitless opportunities for development, and whatever takes place, Prince Rupert must more or less directly benefit. This port is nearer the port of the Orient than any shipping port to the south. The new railway has an exceptionally easy grade. There are matters to be considered by the great business establishments of the east and middle west, whose operations extend across the Pacific. Sometimes you hear people talk about the rain. Why the whole coast, from Alaska, to California, is in the rain belt. We have no rainy season. The weather doesn't enter into the calculations of the big business men, whatsoever. With them it's a matter of time—of dollars and cents. If they find it more to their advantage to do business through this port, they don't care whether it's hot or cold, cloudy or bright. And they will find that it will be to their advantage to figure on Prince Rupert." —Exchange.

RESISTED INVASION.

Official Kept U. S. Cruiser From Entering Lachine Canal.

Montreal, May 26.—There was excitement along the waterfront yesterday when the U.S.S. Nashville, an obsolete cruiser of the United States navy, steamed into port on her way to the great lakes, where she will be used as a training ship for the Illinois naval reserve.

When the Nashville attempted to poke into the first lock on the Lachine canal, the lockmaster refused to open the gates on the ground that the presence of the Nashville on the upper boundary waters between the United States and Canada would directly contravene the international treaty between the two countries. Captain Purdy of the Nashville claimed that Washington had already obtained the necessary permission from the Dominion. He also pointed out that his vessel was unarmed, but it was stated later that he intended to take on his guns, which are being sent overland, at Buffalo. Finally, through the intervention of the United States consul here, and an exchange of telegrams with Ottawa, the Nashville proceeded on her way yesterday afternoon.

"That this R. W. Grand Lodge of British Columbia, now assembled, memorialise the M.W. Grand Lodge of British America to draw up a Protestant platform without delay, suitable for the objects of our association, for the purpose of presenting to candidates for municipal, provincial and Federal honors."

Stillwell & Co., Tottenham Court Row, London, and Mrs. Elizabeth Jennings, the handsome wife of a nephew of Mr. Stillwell, head of the firm, are the pair. Barnard is alleged to have eloped with the woman and $50,000 of the firm's money. They were traced to Liverpool, where they sailed for Montreal by the Dominion. Roberts took the Cunard steamer and arrived in Montreal one day too late.

A Down Hill Career.

Portland, Me., May 26.—Frederick C. Benjamin, a young man, who, according to the story told the court, is a member of a prominent and highly respected family in England, was sentenced to a 10-year term for larceny.

There, without funds, he sought work. His efforts to lead a right life being fruitless, he began to steal in a small way and later became a hardened criminal, known under the name of "Bill Sykes," professional tramp and thief.

The United States Must Send Help To Face German Peril, Says The Mail

If England Should Go Down in Struggle With Germany, Says London Paper, America Would be in Danger.

London, May 26.—The United States is expected to figure largely in the debate which will be raised in the House of Commons this afternoon by Captain Craig relative to the two-power naval standard. In his connection The Daily Mail editorially says:

"We desire to say at once that it is most unfortunate that the name of the United States should enter into the discussion. The American people are bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, and inherit many of our grandest national ideals. Blood, we shall continue to think, is thicker than water, and we believe that some American statesmen already realize that England is a breakwater against the wave which may not be fully spent until it washes upon the shores of South America.

"The movement for expansion from central Europe, which is one of the most notable phenomena of our time, and which proceeds with all the force and tragic possibilities of a great natural convulsion, must break upon our coasts first, but if we were driven from our hold upon the sea it would roll swiftly across the wide Atlantic."

In conclusion the editorial urges the House of Lords, in the event of Mr. Asquith's not making a satisfactory statement, to take the unprecedented step of rejecting the budget and forcing an appeal to the country.

Equally significant of the way in which many Englishmen look to the United States for assistance in the [illegible] is the suggestion made by Coulson Kernahan, the writer, that Britain should celebrate an "America Day," taking as his text a report that two New York State regiments participated in the Empire Day celebration at Kingston, Ont. Mr. Kernahan says:

"I propose that the United States be officially invited to share in all future Empire Day celebrations, and that here in England we celebrate an America Day with equal pride and rejoicing. Let the British nation and the American nation, and the nations of Canada, India, Australia, South Africa, and New Zealand, stand four square and solid to the world, and they and we would be impregnable.

"I would also propose that we cease to speak of Americans as our cousins; let us retain that word of kinship and hearty good-will for our cousins of Germany, but the blood-bond between Britain and America is closer than that of cousinship. The Americans are our brethren, and it is fitting that we and they should so proclaim ourselves before all."

International Commission Comes To Understanding On Fishing Agreement

Buffalo, May 26.—A special to The Evening News from Washington says:

A tentative agreement by which the international fisheries commission shall assume control of all matters pertaining to fisheries in the great lakes, Lake Champlain, the Niagara river, and St. Lawrence river, for the purpose of adopting international regulations for the protection and preservation of good fish in international boundary waters of the United States and Canada, will come up for final action by the commission this week in this city.

One of the provisions abolishes the present rule that all prohibited fish, when caught, shall be thrown back into the water by providing that these fish may be turned over to the inspectors, who shall give them to some charitable institutions.

An army of inspectors is to be appointed, who are to have charge of the punishment of dynamiters, the regulation of the sale of fish, disposition of prohibited catches and pollution of waters.

Commercial fishing for certain game fish is prohibited.

A closed season for sturgeon for four years will be established.

A $1,000 penalty for dynamiting will be levied.

Torchlight fishing will be prohibited.

No fishing with nets will be permitted within half a mile of the international boundary.

The Winning of Brewster.

By CHARLES SLOAN REID.

Copyright, 1907, by Charles S. Reid.

"BACK, you cowards!"

The command came from the doorway and in a voice that was full of peculiar power. Bracket, Johnson and Rowe fell away from their intended victim, each with a downcast countenance. And it was a mere youth, hardly out of his teens, that emerged from a corner into which he had been driven by the gamblers.

When the man in the doorway caught sight of the youth, a slightly startled look appeared in his eyes. To the older man there was something familiar about the younger man's features, yet the two were strangers.

"Does it take three cutthroats to murder a babe?" inquired the newcomer, advancing toward the center of the room.

"I take no insult from a chit like that," growled one.

"Nor I, nor I," chorused the others.

"Yet you would play with him, soak him with wine, then take his money."

There was something about the speaker that commanded deference, notwithstanding the scathing he was delivering; something there was of an honorable bearing in his makeup that had not been obliterated by his frequent associations with men of the class he found there.

"The youngster accused us of combining against him to take his money," acknowledged Rowe, and the man who had just entered smiled.

"Well, it seems the boy has some sagacity, though he is muddled." The speaker swept the gamblers with his gaze as the words fell from his lips.

"You're a privileged talker, Dent Cagle, and we pass it over."

"If it's the real sport you're after, I'll show you a gentleman's game." Cagle had turned upon his companion soon after they had issued from the building.

"Yes, go ahead."

"You say you were born at C—?" He had turned and uttered this in the boy's ear.

"I—I didn't think I said so, but I was born there, which I presume is no crime."

Cagle did not reply, but under his breath he repeated interrogatively, "No crime?" and shrugged his shoulders.

"Come on."

Cagle hailed a cab, and, taking the young man by the arm, he dragged him into it.

"To the Gilded Ball," he called to the driver.

The drive was made in silence.

"Now, if you want a fair game, young man, we can have it."

"But the scoundrel back there got all my money." He pushed the cards from him again.

"Here's a loan." The older man thrust a bill across the table.

Chips were ordered, and the game began. The younger man won steadily, and at the end of half an hour cashed in at considerable profit. A number of times he had insisted upon ordering drinks, but Cagle had positively refused.

"And now," he declared, "I am going to take you home. What street did you say?"

"423 G— avenue, but I hadn't said before, had I?"

Cagle smiled covertly, but did not reply. Leading the way, he was followed closely by the maudlin youth. A cab was found, and this was soon winding its way toward the home of the boy. Cagle was leaning back in a corner lost in thought, and the youth was staring toward his face through the darkness. Presently he began to mutter, half aloud:

"She'll be waiting up for me, and she always cries when I go home like this."

"She?" The older man had leaned forward now.

"My mother, you know. She's a regular fool about me."

"But of course you have no love or respect for her, so why should you be thinking or speaking about the scene now?"

The young man's teeth ground together, and his right hand groped outward in search of the older man's throat.

"You dare assert such a thing. I'll murder you."

"It is written somewhere that actions speak louder than words."

The calm voice that came out of the dark corner of the cab fell upon the young man's ear with peculiar effect. His hand fell to his knee, and he settled back into his seat, thinking as clearly as his condition would allow. And both men were silent now until the cab stopped. The door was jerked open, and Cagle made the way for the young man to get out. A hall night gleamed down from the top of a flight of steps that led up from the street.

"You're all right, I believe," declared the youth, reaching for Cagle's hand. "When can I see you again?"

"At the Gilded Ball tomorrow night."

The boy made his way up the steps and began trying to insert a key in the night latch. But before he had succeeded the door was drawn open from the inside, and for a few seconds Cagle was permitted to gaze upon the face of a beautiful woman, but it was a middle aged and saddened face. The door closed, and the name plate was but dimly discernible—"Mrs. Margaret Brewster."

Cagle was waiting at the entrance to the Gilded Ball and scanning the faces of those who entered. When Brewster arrived, Cagle greeted him quietly; then he led the way inside. After some intricate windings the two men seated themselves at a table, among a number of others in a brilliantly lighted room. At a table not far away were seated two men and a woman, all in evening dress, and the woman was strikingly handsome. They were drinking champagne and playing poker.

Cagle leaned forward and spoke to Brewster in a low tone.

"Will you drink tonight?" he asked.

"I think not."

"Play?"

"No."

"Suppose she were your sister or mother?"

"Do you want me to murder you?" Brewster's hand clinched fiercely.

"She is some one's daughter, and each of her companions is some one's son." Cagle's tone was quiet.

"Ugh!" exclaimed Brewster, turning from the scene.

But a gleam of satisfaction shot from the older man's eyes.

"Let's go somewhere decent," suggested Brewster, arising. "I'm nervous from last night's experience. And, say, you rub me the wrong way, somehow, yet I like you. There is something about you, but I can't explain it. Come on."

Cagle followed, and they entered a cab in the street. The drive was a long one. Cagle had given directions, and when the men alighted they were standing before an obscure entrance to H— cemetery.

"I want to show you a strange inscription." Cagle drew a key from his pocket and turned toward a narrow gate in the wall. Brewster hesitated a moment.

"This is a peculiar hour at which to come here," he said.

"I hope you do not fear me?"

"Not in the least."

Cagle opened the gate, and the two made their way among the intricate windings of the walkways to a tomb covered by a plain slab.

Here Cagle struck a match, for the moonlight was not sufficient, and Brewster read

"The body that lies here was the habitation of a great soul. It held a brain capable of stupendous employments. But it yielded to vicious appetites. What should have been kept as a sanctum became the receptacle of alcohol. The brain that might have planned cities fell to the service of the gambler, and the hand that might have built nobly, an assassin, liberated this soul."

The match had burned out, and the dim shadows of surrounding foliage fell back to their places on the tomb. Brewster gazed for a moment upon the slab now splotched with the shade of ivy leaves, then turned away.

"He was a good boy," fell from the lips of Cagle in a meditative tone, following the younger man toward the gate.

"Where will you alight?"

The return drive had been made in silence, and Brewster had laid his hand upon his companion's shoulder. "I am going home," he added.

The cab had stopped where the light of the Gilded Ball fell into the street.

"Won't you come in and have something?" asked the older man as he got out.

"Not tonight." And Brewster shrugged his shoulders.

Like an ogre nursing a victim for sacrifice, Cagle kept watch for Brewster and took him in tow on every occasion. He steered him past every temptation by bringing to his view object lessons in the results of vice and dissipation.

One day he insisted that Brewster should visit Ward's island with him to see a friend. They entered a ward in the asylum there where wrecks of alcohol found safe keeping.

"Your friend has been going through one of his tantrums," remarked an attendant as he led the way to a padded cell.

In a few moments Brewster was gazing upon a thing that once had been the perfect form of a human being and the tenement of an intelligent soul.

"You say he was a friend of yours?"

They had turned away from the door, and Cagle answered:

"Yes, a friend and a man of fine qualifications, but an idler."

Brewster stooped to pick up a slip of paper at his feet.

"What is this?" he asked.

"Some of that patient's writings," volunteered the attendant.

Brewster read. "An idler is an enemy to himself and a menace to society."

He stopped and reread the words thoughtfully. "It is the truth," he murmured under his breath.

But Cagle caught the words, and a smile of satisfaction slipped from the tail of his eye.

Beyond the gates Cagle turned abruptly to his companion.

"Brewster, what are you doing these days in the way of employment for your time?"

"Nothing, absolutely nothing, and that is what has started me on the road to ruin."

"A friend of mine is in pressing need of a secretary, and I think you would

"I loved him, son!"

suit him. The salary would be worth your while if you're not above"—

"Hang the salary; it's the work I need. You have come into my life at a most opportune time for me, somehow, and brought me around to my senses. At any rate, my mother has begun to look happy again, and you're the cause of it, though I don't quite know how you have done it."

Cagle had turned away his head, and a look that mingled pleasure and pain passed over his features.

Within a few months after Brewster had entered upon his duties he was recognized as a coming business man of the highest qualifications. Cagle had dropped back into the old ruts, a game here and a game there for the sake of the sport, philosophizing quietly and watching with half hearted interest the procession of humanity. Occasionally he would pass the home where Brewster lived and glance at the name on the doorplate. Occasionally Brewster thought of Cagle, and he recognized the tremendous service the latter had done him. And it was not strange that he should think of Cagle as he lay one day on his back at a hospital a crushed and bleeding form, the result of a trolley accident.

He sent for Cagle, but no one could find a man of that name. The directory did not give it. No one among the haunts that Brewster named knew it. He then described the man minutely, and a messenger was sent out. A man answering the description was found, and the messenger approached him.

"Are you Dent Cagle?" was asked.

"Why do you ask?"

"A man named Brewster, who is seriously hurt"—

"You may call me Cagle. Where is the boy?"

"I will take you to him."

As Cagle entered the ward where Brewster lay he paused at sight of a woman who sat beside the cot. Deeply concerned, her eyes were watching the face of her son. But the patient had caught sight of the visitor, and he murmured eagerly:

"Cagle!"

Margaret Brewster arose quickly and turned to meet the man who had done so much for her son. Then, suddenly, she bowed her head and held out her hand gently toward the visitor.

"Not Cagle," she said, "but Hugh—Hugh Morrison."

Cagle, or Morrison, took the hand that was offered him and covered it gently with his free hand, too full for utterance with the emotion of an old love that still burned in his heart.

"You saved me from a pretty bad life, Cagle," began Brewster from the cot, "and I just wanted to thank you for it— What! Why, you two seem to know each other. How is this?"

Allowing Morrison to keep his hold of her hand, she leaned forward and whispered:

"I loved him, son, before I met your father."

A gleam of satisfaction shot from the boy's eyes, preceding an expression of agony which came as he sought to turn himself.

Morrison placed his hand upon the young man's forehead and said:

"The first time I saw you, boy, I recognized that strong resemblance to your mother, and the smoldering ruin of the old love leaped into flame again."

FUN IN SHADOW BUFF.

A Game For a Party That May Be Made Highly Amusing.

Shadow buff is a game of great originality and may be made productive of much amusement. A smooth white sheet is hung against the wall, and near to this on a low stool is seated the victim of the moment, who, in this case, is not blindfolded, but is bound by the severest penalties to look only toward the sheet and not on any pretense to turn his head. On a table at a little distance behind him is placed the most powerful lighted lamp available, all other lights being extinguished. The company now pass in succession before the light, but behind buff, so that their shadows are cast upon the sheet. As soon as he succeeds in guessing the identity of any particular shadow the owner of that shadow takes his place.

PLAYING SHADOW BUFF.

It should be understood that it is quite allowable to increase the difficulty of guessing by the assumption of any available disguise, so long as it does not conceal the whole person. Any amount of grimacing is also permissible.

Where there are folding doors it is a good plan to hang the sheet in the opening and to place buff in the one room and the remaining players in the other. Our illustration depicts this form of the game, but being supposed to be on the other side of the sheet and therefore invisible.—Philadelphia Ledger.

HOUSE BUILT IN A TREE.

Queer Residence of an American Living in Nicaragua.

Years ago a Louisiana planter, aptly named Wildeson, went to establish himself on the Rama river in Nicaragua, where he raises bananas and rubber trees with profit, says the Chicago News. A Mr. Drew who visited him on business describes his three story house as literally built in a tree, a sturdy ebne tree, sixty-three feet from the ground.

To get up and down between the ground and the house an elevator is used, so constructed with block and tackle that the person using it raises himself or controls his descent by means of a rope.

There is also a chicken house suspended from a limb, into which the poultry is collected at night. After a day of free picking and strolling the feathered bipeds come of themselves to be raised to their roost.

A good snake story goes with the rest. Mr. Drew says, "A thing that struck me curiously was the sight of a twelve foot boa constrictor gliding about on the ground at the foot of the trees, climbing over the roofs of the laborers' cabins, even entering them and in general making himself perfectly at home on the plantation.

"'Nobody'd think of harming him,' said the old man to me when I spoke to him about the big snake. 'He's perfectly harmless to any one, and he keeps the place clear of mice and moles that eat the roots of my young banana and chocolate trees. Eat chickens! Never knew him to do such a thing. Still, while they're little I don't put temptation in his way, but keep them in a snake tight coop of wire netting.'"

Queer Chinese Customs.

A Chinaman who wears his spectacles in the presence of a guest or a social superior is held to be as rude as in this country we consider a man who fails to remove his hat when meeting women of his acquaintance. The Chinese do not beckon, as we do, with the palm of the hand turned up, the fingers curled and the index finger successively bending and straightening. They beckon with the fingers curled downward, sweeping the whole hand vigorously back and forth, as if they were beating pancake batter with an invisible spoon.

"Look Out For That Little Cold"

The wise physican says "cure it before it grows large and dangerous. To-day is the time to commence treatment." The remedy, the best one, which doctors say surpasses all others, is "Nerviline." Rub it on the chest and throat, use it as a gargle, and then take 20 drops in hot water—Cold will disappear.

"Last spring I caught a severe cold," writes George V. Smart, of Gibson P.O. Every cough rasped my throat which became perfectly raw. When almost in desperation I was advised to try Nerviline. I rubbed it on and used it as a gargle. Immediate relief followed. For breaking up colds it's the great remedy of to-day.

Use "Nerviline" It Cures Colds

Nerviline will surprise you. It's the best household remedy for coughs, colds, sore chest, croup and internal pains of every kind. Large bottles have been sold by all dealers for nearly fifty years at 25c. Don't forget Nerviline when you go to the druggists.

TOOK SIX—GOT WELL.

Mrs. R. C. Small, of Ottawa, certainly ought to know a lot about Rheumatism. Goodness knows, she suffered long enough. For years, she was almost a cripple and at times, the pain was so severe that she was compelled to lie helpless in bed.

"About a year ago," writes Mrs. Small, "I saw Fruit-a-tives advertised and decided to try them for my Rheumatism. After I had taken two boxes, I was much better. I took six boxes in all — have had no pain for over six months—and feel that I am completely cured. I have gained over ten pounds in weight and am strong and well."

And yet there are some people suffering with Rheumatism, who have not given "Fruit-a-tives" a fair trial. Perhaps they don't want to get well.

"Fruit-a-tives" are a positive cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia and all troubles arising from impure blood.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THROWING THE DART.

Target Practice Game is a Successful Fun Producer.

For a rainy day in the house target practice is great fun. To make your dart, get a horseshoe nail from a blacksmith and a cork and a chicken's wing feather from the cook. The cork should be about half an inch shorter than the nail.

Now push the nail through the cork lengthwise, starting at the large end of the cork. Stop pushing when the head of the nail comes in contact with the cork. Then pull it out a little way and stick the quill of the feather in the hole by the side of the nail, pushing the nail in afterward to hold the feather tight. And there you are! Your dart is now ready for use.

Put your target against a board set up for the purpose and stand off at some distance to test your skill. Get some of your friends to join you and make a game of it by casting the dart, turn about. You had better make a regular target with rings, allowing so many points in the score for each ring, and the largest single score, of course, for the center, or bullseye.

THE DART COMPLETE.

You will find that the dart will always strike point first, and if thrown hard enough it will never fail to stick. The best way to throw is from over your shoulder, holding the dart between the thumb and first finger. But, however you throw it, it will fly true, for the feather will guide it, just as the feather on an arrow does.

Lots of fun may be had with this little toy, but you must always be careful that you do not throw it where there is danger of striking anybody. Your mother will doubtless think it wise to select an empty or bare room for your sport.

TEST IN GEOGRAPHY.

The Best Scholars Likely to Prove Winners at This Game.

To play the geography game a leader is chosen, and every player has a pencil and paper. The leader then selects a word—"republic," for instance—and each player writes all the geographical names he can think of beginning with R, the first letter of the word. Three minutes is usually allowed for each letter. When the leader calls "Time" every one should stop writing.

The leader then reads his column of names, and as he calls a word all the others who have it say "Yes" and draw a line through it. If all have the word, that is the end of it, but in case some have failed to write it then those who have it write after the word the number of those who have it not. These numbers count for game at the end of the play. When the leader has read all the names on his list the player at his left reads the words remaining on his list, marking numbers after them, as before. If the next player has any words left he reads them, and so on through the company. Then each one adds his numbers and sets down the total and is ready for the next letter, E. The leader calls "Begin" and at the end of three minutes "Time," and they proceed as before.

The party may be divided so that sides play against each other instead of each individual for himself.

Whenever a name is challenged the writer must tell something about it and where the place may be found. Any number may play—the more the merrier.

A Drawing Room Race.

This exciting diversion is made with strips of cheesecloth about one and one-half inches wide and five yards long. Have a string drawn across one end of the room and tie the ends of the pieces of cheesecloth to the string two feet apart. Each contestant must choose the name of a racing horse. Armed with a pair of sharp scissors, at the word "Go!" the racers start to cut the cheesecloth through the middle, beginning at the loose end and cutting as fast as possible to the finishing point, where the cheesecloth is tied to the string. If any contestants, instead of cutting through the middle of the cheesecloth, cuts a piece off by it out of the race. The one who reaches the goal first wins the prize.

NEW BODIES FOR OLD.

The Point Toward Which Modern Surgery is Tending.

The family physician of the near future can be pictured in the mind's eye making out a work sheet for the guidance of the surgeons to accompany a hypothetical patient to the hospital, which might read something like this:

"Amputate rheumatic right leg and graft on a new one.

"Cut out kidneys, which are developing Bright's disease, and transplant sound ones, preferably from a healthy young hog.

"Reverse circulation of the blood in the thyroid gland to produce hyperaemia and thus reduce diseased condition.

"Overhaul the intestines and patch where needed. The rest of him is hardly good enough to stand the expense of a new set.

"Overhaul circulatory system, replacing unserviceable veins and arteries with new ones. Put in a new heart only if absolutely necessary.

"Cut out stomach. It is completely worn out and has a well developed cancer. Besides, he won't have much use for it hereafter, as it will take all his earnings for a long time to come to pay his hospital bill.

"Cut out left lung. It is so far gone with tuberculosis that it is good for nothing and only endangers the rest.

"Trim off fifty or sixty pounds of fat. With reduced stomach and lung capacity he can't carry so much ballast.

"Make all minor repairs needed to keep him going for ten or twelve years more."

Nonsense, say you?

Not a bit of it. Perhaps no one man could stand it to have quite all these things done to him at one time, but the surgeons could do their part, all right. They know they could, because they have already performed all these seemingly impossible feats and a great many more besides.

Unbelievers may find at the Rockefeller Institute For Medical Research in New York some living circumstantial evidence in support of these staggering assertions. — Technical World Magazine.

An Odd Test.

One clever housekeeper has learned to outwit a milkman whom she suspected of diluting his stock of milk. She kept in her kitchen a fine steel knitting needle, which was always in a high degree of polish.

As soon as the milk came into the house she stuck the needle lightly into the can and drew it out in an upright position. If no drop adhered to the needle that milkman heard a line of talk on watered milk that caused him to be careful how he dallied with the pump on his next visit.

It is said if there be even a little water in milk not a drop of it will adhere to a needle so used.

The Japanese Baby.

The first name is given to him with great ceremony when he is a month old. At fifteen he is considered grown up, assumes the responsibility of a man and takes a new name. Entering upon public duties he takes another name, which is changed with every step in his life. If his superior officer has the same name he happens to have at that time he must change it again. He must also change it when he marries, and when he dies it is changed for the last time and inscribed upon his tomb.

Doom of the Ear.

The new Paquin gowns leave no room for improvement—nor anything else.

Recent authorities on dress give it as their opinion that the ear will have to go. It is beginning to interfere with the movements of the Naximova collar, which is steadily rising in the world. Several dressmakers have already recommended its painless removal. When it comes to a case of the ear versus the collar, why hesitate?—Life.

A Woman's Smile.

"Strange what a little thing will turn the whole current of a man's life!"

"What's the matter now, Jones?"

"Up to thirty days ago the young lady of my choice was taking my attentions seriously and our marriage seemed a foregone conclusion. Then I met her on the avenue, lifted my hat, made my best bow and dropped through a coal hole. Now she can't keep her face straight a minute while we're together."—Detroit Free Press.

The Finest City in Great Britain.

Edinburgh may be noted for its learning and for beauty of situation, Dublin may rank as one of the most beautiful cities in the world, Oxford may boast its colleges and Canterbury its picturesque streets and grand old cathedral, but London stands supreme—the finest city of Great Britain.—London Captain.

A Paying Garden.

"No money in gardening? Why, I know a man who cleared $90,000 last summer from less than an acre."

"Impossible! Utterly absurd!"

"Not at all. You see, it was a roof garden."—Boston Transcript.

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

Bass' Barley Wine

A Malt Extract that Does Nourish.

For actual nutritive value there's no malt extract sold to-day that can begin to compare with Bass' Barley Wine.

There are two features alone that make this preparation unlike all others.

One of them is that it is brewed at Burton-on-Trent in England by Bass & Co. the greatest brewers in the world.

Ever since barley has been malted, this locality has produced the finest water for malting and brewing purposes yet discovered.

The other feature is that the barley used for malting is known as the Chevalier brand.

This barley is richer in nutritive principles than any other and when malted, contains more grape sugar and proteids.

These proteids in the malting are converted into peptones and parapeptones.

In other words when you use Bass' Barley Wine it means that you are using a partly digested preparation full of nutritive principles.

This is why barley malt is so easily assimilated by anyone in delicate health.

It is particularly suitable for nursing mothers, invalids, nervous patients, delicate and tubercular persons and others.

Unlike most of the malt extracts, Bass' Barley Wine has a body and flavor which makes it especially palatable to persons with delicate stomachs.

The fact that it's the best product of Bass & Co., is its strongest recommendation.

Insist upon getting Bass' Barley Wine — other Malt Extracts are "not as good".

Bass' Barley Wine costs 30c a bottle but contains more nourishment than any other three bottles of Malt Extracts sold to-day.

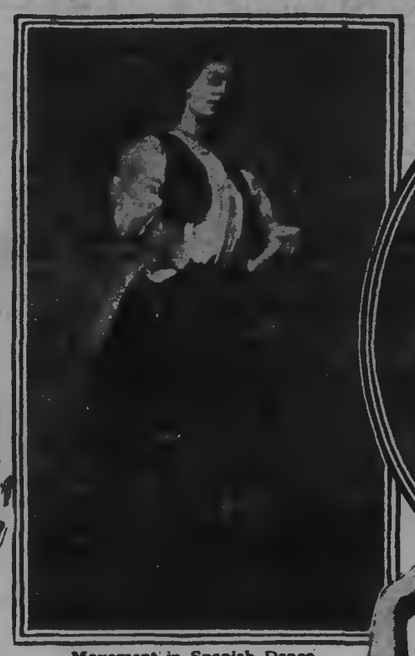
FOLK DANCES as a FORM OF PHYSICAL CULTURE



Movement in Spanish Dance.

Spanish Dance.

Tarantelle.

Spanish Dance.

IN no one instance has the effort to arrive at a renaissance of dancing been productive of greater benefit or more delightful results than in the effect it has had on the carriage and walk of the young society girl of to-day. It has come to be a maxim that grace is a necessary concomitant of her make-up, and lacking it she is seriously handicapped in the race for social favors that lies before her.

Were the statement ever justified that grace is not a notable feature of the typical American girl, it holds true no longer, for a most marked and wonderful change has swept over her. Now instead of the mincing walk taught by her mother or the mannish stride adopted from her Anglo-American friends one sees her stepping off down the avenue with a free and gracious air that is irresistible. She has become emancipated from the restraint of manner which artificial conditions of society have imposed on her and is reproducing the natural grace of little children, who move in unconscious rhythm. It is the revival of dancing to which this wave of graceful culture is due.

It was not altogether Isadora Duncan, with her gifted faculty for interpreting classical music with her feet, who brought about this revival. Rather did she with her wonderful interpretations of Grecian art come simultaneously into existence with the renaissance of dancing which has swept the country and which has affected every circle of society from the tiniest schoolgirl in pinafores to the most accomplished toe dancer of the stage ballet.

In the schools the children are overcoming the restraints of the study desk by the splendid freedom of class dancing and the national and folk dances introduced form as well a valuable educational feature of the work. The old time ballet dancer is regenerating her art, which was more a form of acrobatism and a display of agility and dexterity than graceful interpretation, by the admixture of the new enthusiasm. In England there has been a great revival of the old Morris dances and games, which were supposed to be dying out. Miss Margaret Hughes, a young woman of philanthropic bent, conceived the idea of teaching the old time steps and games to the children of London. From old books and prints in the British Museum and from visits to remote country villages she selected details of the "dances on the green," and has reinstated them in their former places.

It is this out of door dancing which will be a feature in the various summer resorts this summer, and, most important of all, it is the minuet that will be brought once more to the fore and presented with the same al fresco background that characterized the production of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" of recent summers.

IN New York the craze for dancing is at its height. All through the winter classes of young society girls have pirouetted and curtsied, polka-ed and mazurka-ed as they learned the steps and movements of the old time dances, with the result that at the end of the season they have come out as fresh and blithe as if they had not indulged in a winter's dissipation. Now they are still in training for the summer season.

There is evident in their gait the value of this training, for there is a graceful tilt to their bodies as they swing down the street, every muscle co-ordinating, that is positively refreshing. Moreover it has given a degree of self-confidence which is one of the strongest arguments in its favor, besides a freedom of expression quite in contrast to the manner of the calisthenic student.

It is to the Russian dancing that much of this credit is due, for of all the forms of dancing taught by far the most popular is the Russian, and a certain young instructor who for eight years studied and taught in the Royal School of Dancing at St. Petersburg is sponsor for much of the success attributed to it. All the season through he has had classes of society girls who thought nothing of paying him $10 a lesson, and more if the latter was given in the pupil's home. Many of his students have been the star performers at society functions and their dancing has been remarked for its wonderful verve and power.

"Historically," he says, "Russia did as much if not more for dancing than any other country, for while in the early days of Rome all cultured persons practised the art of dancing and a dancing master was a member of every patrician household, yet in Russia the dance is of very ancient Slavonic origin and was a fad with many reigning monarchs and empresses. Catherine II. was so fond of the ballet that she commanded beautiful dances, operas and pantomimes to be given before her and the Empress Elizabeth was herself an accomplished dancer.

"Although it is to France that most persons look to see the minuet performed most perfectly, yet it has been stated that it was danced to the greatest perfection in Russian court circles. Some persons think that Russian dancing is very energetic and while to a certain extent it is, on the other hand the conditions of life in that country have for so long been oppressive that the more forceful dances are mixed with gay measures which form a happy combination.

"FOR this reason I have revived the minuet, for no other dance gives a woman finer bearing or a more charming carriage than this, which has truly been called the Queen of Dances. Its graceful, gliding steps, its many curtsies, its dignified, novel and graceful movements are and always have been deservedly popular, and the control of the muscles which it teaches is by no means the least valuable feature from a physical viewpoint.

"I have always contended that the old idea of teaching calisthenics for strength was wholly wrong. To build up graceful bodies you must train in graceful measures. In dancing every muscle is exercised and yet every movement is grace personified.

"'Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap' is no more true of scriptural teaching than it is of other things. Teach grace and freedom of movement and you reap grace and freedom. Teach the attainment of strength by merely mechanical means and you will gain strength at the expense of grace. Continuous teaching of one principle, whatever it may be, whether the idea of bodily control, or of grace and poise combined, will tell eventually. It sinks into the subconscious and develops in the same ratio in which the seed has been planted.

"I teach grace, and the poise of body and strength of muscles come of their own accord. Dancing combines all of these elements. To aim at beauty and grace of manner tends to beautify the mind. Dancing is also a relief for pent up feeling, and because of this is a relaxation equal to nothing else. I have seen wonderful results among my pupils after they have taken a course in dancing. Girls who were self-conscious became easy and assured in manner, those who were awkward graceful and lithe. Others who at this season are usually affected with spring lassitude are now out golfing, and others formerly under the care of physicians full of gay spirits and animation.

"For poise, balance and quiet grace there is nothing to equal the minuet, and for grace and freedom of manner nothing is more admirable than the various Russian dances, in which the steps of the polka, mazurka and polonaise figure prominently. The Russian calp dance is well liked, and among other national dances the tarantelle, the Spanish fandango, the hop mo amka, a Swedish favorite; the Danish ring dance, the tantli, a form of the schottische, and the French pavane, very like the minnet; as well as the la volta, of Provence, very similar to the American waltz.

"Dancing gives free play to the lungs, brightens the mind, gives self-confidence and exercises the limbs under disciplinary supervision, and, above all, keeps a woman young. The American girl takes to dancing as a duck to water, and these traits are all telling perceptibly upon her health and bearing."

Portable Desk Sets for Vacations

PORTABLE desk sets for the college girl's vacation trip include twelve pieces, composed chiefly of English leather, suede or seal. The fifteen by twenty inch blotter pad has brass corner pieces that are attached by screws, and upon this may be arranged, according to fancy, a hinge covered note pad, with combined pen rack, a letter opener, pen cleaner, double ink well, celluloid leaved perpetual calendar, wax seal, letter rack, paper weight, large tray for pens, pins or clips, hand blotter and a postage stamp box. All these pieces are of stiffened leather and are finished in antique brass, dull silver, nickel or gun metal.

Rather more compact and easily packed than are the desk sets are the writing case or stationery portfolios of leather prized in an original manner simulating hand painting. The case, measuring eight by twelve inches, has two large pockets fashioned in the leather lining beneath the cover. The lower portion is devoted to a capacious stationary compartment and the cover, consisting of a blotter equipped blotting pad, has a year calendar on its reverse side

Other compartments are for pens, stamps and a spring hinged covered glass ink bottle encased in a nickel plated metal well. To accompany these compact travelling portfolios are paper cutters simulating Japanese hand carved miniature swords, mother-of-pearl representations of the old fashioned white quill pens and clever imitations of cuttings from ivory tusks with the brown unfinished ivory on the back. These latter paper cutters have owls, lizards or flowers on the handle ends.

Brought Her Own Potatoes.

A YOUNG German girl who has recently come to live with relatives in America, amused them exceedingly by bringing with her a large box full of potatoes, because she is particularly partial to them, and was told that in this country we had only the variety known as "sweet," which did not sound to her nice at all. As her potatoes sprouted on the journey, showing a decided inclination to convert themselves into flourishing vines, she was greatly comforted to find her relatives could supply the deficiency. This German girl is astonished that though we seem to value the potato we do not, as is the case in her country, erect statues to Sir Walter Raleigh, who introduced the plant into Europe.

Picture Puzzles for the Cars.

AN enterprising railroad which prides itself on its up to date service has added picture puzzles to its already popular library, and persons who find reading can take the puzzles to their seats or compartments and enjoy to the full the excitement of working them out. As many young people do not like to read when travelling the picture puzzles come as a boon, and their success toward relieving the tedium of a journey should make the idea widespread.

The Evening Hood.

IN spite of the approach of warm weather there will be no abatement of the popularity of the evening hood, which is an ideal head covering for girls flying about in motor cars to parties. To be both utilitarian and picturesque is recommendation enough for any article of apparel, and the hoods have this merit, for they admirably keep the hair from blowing, while affording a most charming frame for the youthful face. Made of dainty mull and delicate lace, the summer ones will be particularly fetching.

SOCIAL AMENITIES FOR THE SCHOOL GIRL

WE all know that true politeness means to

"do and say
The kindest thing in the kindest way."

But are we always practising it? Yet if we form the habit of doing kind things we will be apt to have a way of saying them as well, for one is the natural sequence of the other.

Sometimes girls who have quick tongues are prone to use them in throwing out sarcastic remarks or retorts which they believe call forth admiration as clear indication of cleverness. But while some of their remarks may be bright enough to evoke a smile from a group of listeners, such caustic speech invariably hurts the person at whom it is aimed. This is certainly not good manners, and no girl who wishes to be a favorite can afford to get a reputation for saying sarcastic things.

The habit of being overcritical is quite as bad form as the tendency to sarcasm. Do try very hard not to criticise your young friends behind their backs, and above all never commit the offence of making unpleasant remarks about some one who is a particular friend of the person to whom you are talking. Every one of proper spirit resents this, and you offend your listener, besides being unkind to the absent one. Possibly the girl you are discussing may have offensive faults and failings, but even if they are flagrant good breeding demands that you ignore them as much as possible and that you never call the attention of others to them.

All the rules that govern propriety should be adhered to in the little as well as the big things of social intercourse, and in the former class may be put the tendency of some to audibly criticise the food at the table, both at home and in the houses of others. This is shocking manners for which there is no excuse. Of course at home one expects to have things as much as possible to one's taste, but when they are not so the courteous thing is to overlook the deficiences while the meal is in progress and either hope for better things another time or mention the matter to your mother or whoever keeps your house when you are alone with her. Sometimes a whole family will be upset over a meal by the adverse criticism of one of the members regarding one of the dishes which is not just what it should be. The cereal, for instance, may be scorched, so slightly that it will not be noticed probably unless attention be called to it, and all will eat it with their customary pleasure. But let some one at the table say, "Doesn't this cereal taste queer? What do you suppose is the matter with it?" and immediately the family gets suspicious, tastes in a gingerly fashion and frequently concludes it is not fit to eat.

The well bred, tactful thing is to keep still in such a case. Etiquette requires that one be as polite in one's home as in the homes of others, and it seems superfluous to suggest that it would be most reprehensible to criticise food when one is a guest. No greater license is admissible at a hotel table than at a private one when your rôle is that of guest. You may possibly not like the cooking, but you should eat without comment what is offered, and with as much show of interest as possible. Your hostess, of course, is not responsible for the food in the same way that she is in her home, but she is responsible for the selection, and you should pay her the compliment of seeming to be pleased. This is part of your duty as guest quite as much as to make yourself agreeable conversationally.

Amethyst Belt Buckles---Latest Fad

AMETHYSTS decorate many of the belt fastenings worn by schoolgirls. A stunning pair of clasps in oxidized silver is set with a large centre amethyst and four smaller side stones. Another has a pierced dull metal background, to which is applied, in fancy design, a filigree wire decoration, into which is set a large amethyst, and a third represents a dragon fly in green gilt with amethysts for a centre and an elaborately wrought yellow gilt rim.

Both green and rose gold, as well as French and silver tints in metals, cut to represent acorns and birds' heads, are employed as a setting for facet cut amethyst centres, while the various popular compositions are made up in ring belt clasps set closely with chip amethysts interminglied with rhinestone or baroque pearls.

Because realistic beetle forms in girls' jewelry are now fashionable the scarab is extensively employed for belt clasps. In these the large sized insect, done in amethysts, enamel or silver gilt, occupies the central part of the ornament. While the gilt is of rose, maize or verde gold finish, the scarab usually has a stone or enamel body, over which is folded metal wings. The insect perches upon a metal frame of antique design, which sometimes is set with chip amethysts.

The transparent violet stones ornament the four points at either end of an eminently practical two piece belt buckle, which is composed of a semi-loop not in silver or gold plated metal. One of these pieces firmly interlocks with the other by merely inserting the solid under piece beneath the loop of the upper one.

INNUMERABLE USES FOR OLD RIBBONS

GIRLS who like to do fancy work should make a practice of removing ribbons from discarded frocks and hats, as such trimmings may be freshened with very little trouble and utilized in innumerable ways. From the various widths of messaline, moire, plain or figured taffeta, pongee, satin or velvet ribbon may be contrived opera glass, vanity, bridge and hand bags, as well as garment hangers, dressing table spreads, box covers, photograph frames and pin cushions, not to mention a host of smaller fancy articles.

One yard of six inch wide ribbon will make a useful small compass pin roll for all kinds of pins needed in the wardrobe. At one end of the ribbon a boxed and tufted square cushion for ordinary pins of various colors should be attached, while the remainder of the strip, which is lined with cotton wadded fine flannel, holds safety, collar, belt and veil pins.

Ribbons in rose, green, mauve and yellow shadings are especially valuable for luncheon and tea table decorations. The various lengths may be arranged in fancy bows and streamers matching the tints of the china and the candelabra shades. Gold and silver tinsel ribbons, which are of the lightest possible texture and flexibility, are charming for table decorations, as they accord perfectly with china of any color and are a relief to pure white porcelain and glass services.

YOUR PULSE.

Some Facts About the Interesting Little Health Indicator.

A woman who was recently reported to have fled at midnight into the street, crying out that she was dying, and all because her pulse was beating a little more rapidly than usual, may be said to suffer from ignorance regarding the pulse, which is common enough. Here are a few facts concerning the interesting little indicator in question which it is well all should become acquainted with:

A regular and steady pulse which is not easily put out of measure by pressure always indicates a healthy condition of the system. If, however, there is an intermittent beating of the pulse it is an indication that the heart's action is faulty. You need not, however, take alarm, since there is no portion of the body, no matter how vital, which does not get out of order many times in the year. If the pulse is beating very rapidly the nervous system is out of order. When fever is present the action is rapid and very full, and there is evident distention of the vein.

If you are a healthy person in the prime of life your pulse will move at the rate of seventy-two beats to the minute, though the number will vary according to the hour of the day. Do not think, however, that you are more vigorous than others because your pulse beats at the rate of 80 or 90 to the minute. One whose pulse beats at the rate of only 40 or 45 is as likely to be quite as vigorous. Artists, declares Ribot, a French physician, as a rule, have a normal pulse action of 78 to 84; mathematicians, from 60 to 70; laborers, from 65 to 68.

The French Dr. Quetelet has drawn up a table showing the action of the pulse at different stages of life. At birth the little indicator gallops along at the rate of 136 to the minute; at five years, at the rate of 88; from ten to fifteen, at a rate of 78. Here a drop occurs, and between fifteen and twenty there is a fall to 69. Between twenty-five and thirty the rate is 71; between thirty and fifty, about 70. During recent years the exact state of any given heart has been gaugeable, owing to the invention known as the sphygmograph, which registers the action of the pulse and so tells the truth about the heart. Any doctor can tell you whether your heart is weak or strong and, without a doubt, whether a sudden death is likely to be your portion.

New Immigration Buildings.

In order that the officials may be prepared to deal with the immigration into Canada this year, the Government is now erecting buildings, some temporary and some permanent, at the chief points of entry. The rush into the Moose Jaw district promises to be very large both from Britain and from the United States.

Lots of Room Yet.

Statistics issued by the Department of Immigration in Winnipeg show that there are 200,000 homesteads available in the surveyed districts of the three prairie provinces. Manitoba contains 18,118, Saskatchewan 105,560, and Alberta 71,286. Much of the land is as good as anything in the country.

In the Hands of the Law.

An impecunious young lawyer recently received the following letter from a tailor to whom he was indebted:

Dear Sir—Kindly advise me by return mail when I may expect a remittance from you in settlement of my account. Yours truly, J. SNIPPEM.

The follower of Blackstone immediately replied:

Dear Sir—I have your request for advice of a recent date and beg leave to say that, not having received any retainer from you, I cannot act in the premises. Redundant Particulars.

Cleveland people consider the name of their town sufficient as an address without the addition of Ohio, and one protesting against the use of the name of the state tells a story to illustrate the folly of redundant particulars. "It reminds me," he said, "of the fussy Englishman who went up to St. Peter and said, 'I'm from London.' And then, for fear the saint might mix him up with somebody else, he added, 'London, England, you know.' That riled the good old gatekeeper. 'From London, England, eh?' he said. 'Well, Mr. Man from London, England, you're knocking at the wrong door. Your new address is Sheol, Brimstone county, Dominion of Lucifer!'"—Exchange.

The Gnu in the Zoo.

They've got a gnu in the zoo. It's a new gnu. That is to say, no one ever knew it there before. When it arrived it had very little coat. Consequently it was in a state of gnudity; hence, this new ditty we are composing on the subject. But now it is no longer gnude. That new gnu knew something and grew a new coat for the cold weather. If some people knew what that new Nubian gnu knew, they would keep their hair on.—London Scraps.

Importance of Vowels.

Do you fully realize the importance of the vowel "e" in English? The inscription, "Prsrvyprfctmnvrkpthsprcptstu," over the Decalogue in an English country church puzzled people for 200 years. Pepper it properly with "e's" and you may read, "Preserve, ye perfect men; ever keep these precepts ten." Easy, isn't it?—Boston Globe.

Scotch Profits.

"We have decided," said the head of a Glasgow firm, "to conduct our business in future on the profit sharing principle. We shall begin at once on the basis of last year's results."

"We are delighted to hear it," replied the foreman, speaking for the men. "May we ask what were the last year's results?"

"We lost a thousand pounds," said the employer, "and, therefore, on the profit sharing principle, there will be a reduction of 10 per cent in your wages."—Dundee Advertiser.

Feeding Army Elephants.

Elephants in the Indian army are fed twice a day. When mealtime arrives they are drawn in line before a row of piles of food. Each animal's breakfast includes ten pounds of raw rice done up in five two-pound packages. The rice is wrapped in leaves and then tied with grass. At the command "Attention!" each elephant raises its trunk, and a package is thrown into its capacious mouth. By this method of feeding not a single grain of rice is wasted.

Water In the Desert.

It is wonderful how nature provides for the wants of the smallest creatures in most unlikely spots. The multitudes of lizards and mice which inhabit the South African deserts are supplied with water in the most marvelous way. There are various kinds of plants whose berries are regular water supplies. The little creatures nip the berries off the plants and drag them to their holes, a striking instance of how the infinite thought of the Creator is shown to the most insignificant of his

HOW TO SET THE TABLE.

Good Ideas For the Housewife Who Would Be Up to Date.

There should be two knives, three forks and a soup spoon laid at each plate for the usual dinner, but a selection is necessarily made to meet the requirements of the menu, says Good Housekeeping. On the extreme right is the oyster fork, next the soup spoon, and next to this, alongside the plate, the two knives—a silver fish knife and a steel meat knife. On the left of the plate are placed two large dinner forks and a fish fork. The oyster fork is sometimes placed diagonally across the soup spoon and knives.

Before each plate are little pepper and salt cellars of gold, silver or china. There is no butter chip. At the Bel-

Dishes of bonbons, olives, dried fruits and salted nuts are conveniently distributed, usually between the four candlesticks or at the four sides of the center decoration, while at home the decanters are located nearer the corners of the table. For a home dinner that is not wholly ceremonious crystal dishes for radishes, pickles and celery are placed on the table, but for a thoroughly ceremonious dinner these and the olives are passed by the servants, as are also the mustard, horseradish and vinegar.

LENTEN TIDBITS.

Dainties That Can Be Included in the Penitential Menu.

Try adding chopped figs to a nut and apple salad. The flavor is immensely improved. Not much of the fig is used—just enough to give a suspicion of spicy sweetness.

It was chance that hit on a way to improve the somewhat tasteless celery salad with mayonnaise. One night at dinner a woman cut up small blocks of her cranberry jelly among the celery and was delighted with the results, both in looks and taste.

Parmesan cheese sprinkled thickly over stewed tomatoes that are later browned in a baking dish gives them an added zest.

Charlotte russe is both more appetizing and less sickening if it is flavored with sherry. This should be stirred in carefully or the cream will curdle.

Bread pudding takes on new dignity when it is flavored with chocolate. Make a chocolate custard and put it in a baking dish with alternate layers of bread. This can be eaten either with or without cream.

Chocolate for drinking is much better if a few drops of vanilla are added just before removing from the stove.

If you cannot afford marron sauce for pouring over vanilla ice cream, did you ever try preserved tomatoes? It is as pretty as it is delicious.

Scalloped oysters are much better if cooked in individual dishes rather than in a pudding dish. Though somewhat troublesome to prepare, they are best of all scalloped in their own shells, a half dozen being served on each plate.

Waffles are much lighter if made with sour cream and the batter kept rather thin. To eat with them try chicken gravy, or cinnamon and sugar mixed, or lumps of maple sugar melted down and served hot.

Womanly Health
How to Preserve It

The good looks of every woman depend largely upon the proper working of her stomach and other internal organs.

If your stomach is strong and digestion is good, the cheeks flush with color, eyes dance and sparkle, breath will be pure, and your hair smooth and glossy.

Let indigestion creep in, and the skin becomes sallow and rough, pimples break out, eyes get dark circles, ill-breath is all too apparent.

Get the stomach toned up with Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they increase the secretion of the gastric juices, promote vigorous digestion, increase the supply of blood, and thereby invigorate the entire system.

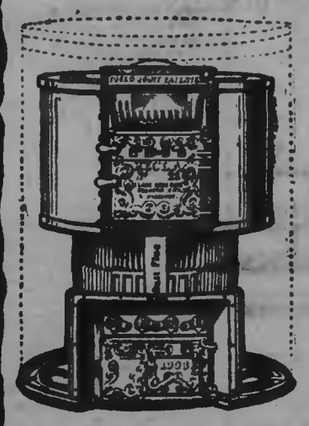
The "Hecla" Furnace
And The Wonderful Fused Joints



Do you know what Fused Joints are, and what they mean to every buyer of a Warm Air Furnace?

"Hecla" Fused Joints are made by bringing steel and cast-iron together at white heat. The two metals become practically one. The joints they form are permanently tight.

In 20 years use, "Hecla" Fused Joints have never once worked loose. They form the one and only furnace joint that won't leak gas or dust.

If you want plenty of warm, dry, PURE air—at the minimum cost for fuel, and at the same time want your home absolutely free of gas, dust and smoke—put in a "Hecla" Furnace.

There are dozens of other special features about the "Hecla" that every intending furnace buyer should know. Write for illustrated catalogue. 76

Mason Sweeps East Victoria.

Lindsay, May 26.—Dr. Mason of Fenelon Falls, Conservative candidate, is elected by over 1,000 majority to represent East Victoria in the Legislature. Lockhart Gordon of Toronto, Independent Conservative, polled about 125 votes, of which he got 68 in Haliburton alone, the only division in which he had a majority. The total vote was light, farmers being busy with seeding. The election was due to the resignation of Mr. Carnegie to accept a lucrative Government appointment.

May Never Find Cure.

Paris May 26.—Major Louis L. Seaman, U.S.A., has arrived here from Momboza, with the first news of the discovery of Dr. Schrin, a German, which completely upsets the theory of the English commission that the tsete fly only transmits the sleeping sickness. Dr. Schrin proved that the fly becomes infected thus establishing "a cycle," as is the case with the mosquito in yellow fever. The fly remains inoculated for 50 days. This discovery renders more difficult the solution of the problem of extinguishing the dread disease, as it ends the hope previously entertained of suppressing it by isolation.

Electricity and Railways.

Interviewed at Toronto, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said: "Electricity is sure to become a great factor in the motive power question, and as it becomes more practical developments will follow which will go a very long way indeed towards the solution of the danger problem. But at present its use would not be practicable for a long stretch of road because of the fact that power would have to be maintained to carry maximum loads, while the traffic does not at present make that possible. Steam must be used for a long time to come because it is much more economical. When the time comes for a road to have its trains hauled by the white coal it will not be by any trolley or underground system of power supply, but by locomotives whose batteries can be renewed at intervals along the route. That is why to-day such locomotives can only be used in terminal stations or on short stretches of road where the power can be renewed frequently. Out west we are going to experiment with electricity on some of our short branch lines."

War Play of the Future.

"What properties will we need for the battle scene?"

"None whatever. The stage will be bare. The men are supposed to be wearing invisible uniforms and firing smokeless powder from noiseless guns."—Kansas City Journal.

LAST SPRING.

I heard the Spring;
This morning at the door
Quickly I ast it wide
And, welcoming,
"Come in, sweet Spring," I cried,
"The winter ash, long dried,
Waits but your breath to rise
On phantom wing!"

A brown leaf shivered by,
A soulless thing—
My heart in quick dismay
Forgot to sing—
Twisted and grim it lay,
Kin to the ghost-ash grey,
Dead, dead—strange herald this
Of jocund Spring!

I spurned it from the door,
I longed that Spring
Should come with song and glow
And rush of wing;
Not this, not this!—But O
Dead leaf, a year ago
You were the dear first-born
Of Hope and Spring!
—Isabel Ecclestone Mackay.

THE OLD TIMERS.

Members of First Parliament Knew a Different Canada.

One of the most interesting banquets held in Canada in many years was that at the Parliamentary restaurant at Ottawa, tendered by the Canadian Club of Ottawa to the surviving Senators and members of the First Parliament of Canada, convened at the Capital on November 6, forty-two years ago. Ottawa at that time had a population of from 17,000 to 20,000. Sir Charles Dilke, who passed through the city in 1869, says of it in his book, "Greater Britain": "The capital of the new Dominion is to be Ottawa, known as 'Hole in the Woods' among the friends of Toronto and Montreal, and once called Bytown. It consists of the huge Parliament house, the Government printing offices, some houseless wildernesses meant for streets, and the hotel where the members of the Legislature 'board.' Such was the senatorial throng at the moment of my visit, that we were thrust into a detached building made of half-inch planks, with wide openings between the boards; and as the French-Canadian members were excited about the resignation of Mr. Galt, indescribable chattering and bawling filled the house."

Sir Richard Cartwright, one of those in whose honor the banquet was given, recently recalled an experience of his own, which was typical of the difficulties of travel in those days. There was only one line of railway into Ottawa—the narrow gauge Ottawa and Prescott line, 54 miles in length, from Prescott. There was no rail connection between the provinces. As to the Ottawa line, Sir Richard said: "I can remember," he said, "being on a train which took four days to make its way from Prescott to Ottawa, and that train had on board, besides myself, the then Minister of Finance of Canada and the manager of the Grand Trunk Railway."

It was through the great Duke of Wellington that Ottawa became a community, as he, in 1812, marked it as the military key to Canada. It was with the idea of strengthening the position as a base of communication that the Rideau canal was begun in 1824. And on December 31, 1857 the announcement of the selection of a capital was made. On August 1, 1860, the King, then Prince of Wales, laid the corner stone of the present Parliament buildings. The departmental offices were removed from Quebec to Ottawa in 1865, and the first session of the Legislature of Canada was held in Ottawa in 1866. Hon. R. W. Scott, another veteran for whom the Ottawa banquet was given, had the honor of drafting the address to her late Majesty setting forth the advantages of Ottawa for the seat of government upon which the decision was made. On the union of Canada with Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, a clause was embodied in the British North America Act which provides that "until the Queen otherwise directs, the seat of government of Canada shall be at Ottawa."

Everything She Ate SEEMED A BURDEN TO CARRY.

HAD STOMACH TROUBLE FOUR YEARS.

When your food has not been properly digested, your body has not received the benefit it should. The secretions of the gastric juice have been confined entirely to removing the unassimilated undigested portions of food which they cannot properly digest as speedily as possible from the body, thereby only giving the blood a small percentage of nourishment with which to feed the tissues. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the bowels, promotes perfect digestion, makes pure blood, tones the stomach, and thus restores perfect health and strength to the debilitated system.

Mrs. D. A. Francisco, Rossland, B.C., writes: "I was suffering from stomach trouble of the worst kind for about four years. Everything I ate seemed a burden to carry. I always arose in the morning with a sickening and feverish taste in my mouth and was also troubled with swellings in my hands and feet, which my physician said was due to the disordered state of my stomach. I tried everything that was purchasable, and also consulted two or three physicians, but could find no relief until one of my neighbors told me of a wonderful cure by Burdock Blood Bitters. I used altogether ten bottles and am now perfectly cured. I wish to recommend B.B.B. to anyone who may be as unfortunate as I was.

CASE WAS NOT MADE

Charge Against Nathaniel Pearson of Buckhorn, of Illicit Sale of Liquor, Dismissed in the County Court—Two Instances.

WITNESSES EXAMINED

Nathaniel Pearson of Buckhorn, appeared before Magistrate Edmison yesterday afternoon on two charges of having sold liquor without a license. In the first instance the date was April 17th, and in the second, May 16th. The witnesses examined were Fred Hall, Harry Nugent, Osborn Montgomery, Nelson Montgomery, Frank Allan and R. Pearson. The defendant also appeared in his own behalf, and stated that he did not know anything about the specific charges. He kept boarders and the only liquor affair he recalled was when one of the Montgomerys gave him money to get a gallon of whisky. Pearson, who is the Buckhorn stage driver, made the purchase, and handed it over to Montgomery. Magistrate Edmison dismissed the case, stating that there was no evidence that Pearson had sold whisky contray to the law. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defendant and Mr. W. H. Moore represented Inspector Stewart.

TURF CLUB TO HOLD MATINEE JUNE 3

Success of Monday's Affair Has Led Them to Put on Another Meeting.

The matinee held by the Peterborough Turf Club on May 24th, was so successful that the Club has decided to hold another with a similar programme, Thursday, June 3rd. A number of fast horses will be entered and suitable prizes, such as were given on Monday, will be offered. The matinee was productive of some classy racing, and there is every reason to expect that next week's affair will be equally as successful.

"MOONLIGHT" OFF

Too Much Fun on Street for People to Spend Evening on River.

The antics of some of the visiting soldiers, coupled with the fireworks on George street last Monday apparently was a greater attraction than the placid waters of the river. The good ship "Otonabee" was to have made a "Moonlight," but owing to the patronage which gathered at 8 p.m., not making a dozen all told, the steamer was kept to her moorings. Moonlight is plentiful, militarism-un-mad, scarce.

BOARD OF TRADE SANCTIONS PURITY WARE LTD. BY-LAW AND COMMENDS IT TO RATEPAYERS

Ald. Hicks Questions the Motive of Mr. Jas. Kendry's Opposition—The Interest of the Kemp Co., Makers of a Similar Article, Pointed Out as an Explanation of the Opposition to the New Company.

MR. DUMBLE SUPPORTS IT

Moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, seconded by Mr. F. D. Kerr, that the by-law to aid the Purity Ware Co., Limited, be approved of by the Board of Trade, and that it is considered deserving of the support of the ratepayers.—Carried.

The above decision was arrived at last night by the Board of Trade after a lengthy discussion of the by-law, which is to be presented to the ratepayers on June 1st. The meeting which had been adjourned from last Tuesday night was largely attended, the majority of those present being business men. Various points were considered and the motion was not passed until nearly eleven o'clock, after an interesting session, which was opened at half-past eight o'clock. Quite a number of the aldermen were present, and without exception they strongly supported the by-law, and many of the other speakers assisted them in arguing in behalf of the new industry, which is now the main subject of discussion among those ratepayers who have the welfare of the city and its industrial progress at heart.

The names of the gentlemen who propose to underwrite the new company were not made public. Chairman Gillespie stated that he had hoped to be able to give them to the people, but owing to conditions which still exist he was unable to do so. However, he strengthened the cause of the by-law by stating that all the aldermen were in possession of the names and the managers of the banks of the city had also been taken into confidence, and these representative men knew whether or not the underwriters were strong financially and would be any guarantee of the success of the Company.

The meeting was replete with interesting debates and in this respect Mr. Dumble and Mr. Jas. Kendry engaged in more than one wordy tilt.

Opening Considerations.

Ald. Gillespie asked for a continuation of the discussion of the by-law to its fullest extent. It is desired by the City Council and the Board of Trade that when the by-law is presented to the citizens they be fully acquainted with its claims.

Ald. Hicks asked if the by-law were going to be discussed or the negotiations which lead up to the formation of the by-law. Chairman Gillespie stated that the purpose of the meeting was to discuss the by-law itself.

Mr. Kendry said he was present to obtain information, to secure the particulars of the financial scheme behind the proposition. He wanted the names of the men who [illegible] backing it.

Mr. Dumble remarked that the identity of these men was only incidental. It made no material difference who the brokers were so long as the stock was subscribed.

Need Industries.

Continuing, he said: Years ago we secured a great establishment in the C. G. E. Since then others have been received until we are known as a manufacturing city. Our future wholly depends upon development of our manufactures. For years the city has been endeavouring to secure industries and they have been at a disadvantage. Hamilton, Toronto, and other cities have men engaged, especially to obtain industries for their respective cities. Greater energy is, therefore, required, and perhaps a little more daring. To wait until the was a guaranteed sure thing beforehand would mean that no industries would be secured. The Council had worked quietly and had prepared their plans and were strong in their convictions that the new establishment would be a success. The city gives the Company a free site, which located on the river, has particular advantages. It was very cheap and it made no difference to the city from whom it was bought. We want the factory and we need it. The ground will always be there and likewise their buildings and part of the machinery. If the concern is a prosperous one there is no risk at all. If the American concern, with its strength, its knowledge, its influence, is willing to put their capital into this scheme they are not going to risk their money. They are going to see that their capital is worked by men of skill, intelligence, and business, and it will be run on business principles. Peterborough cannot afford to lose this concern. We have either got to develop the town or the moss will grow upon our backs. I am prepared to endorse the Council, and to bear any extra taxation the securing of the enterprise may entail.

The Financial Support.

Mr. Peter Campbell, manager of the Bank of Toronto, stated that he happened to know the gentlemen refer

KING EDWARD'S COLT, MINORU, WINNER OF THE CLASSIC EPSOM DERBY TO-DAY

His Majesty's Derby Winner, Minoru.

SPECIAL TO J. N. BARBER

May 26.—King Edward's Colt Minoru, won the classic Epsom Derby to-day. The result:

1.—Minoru, 3 to 4.
2.—Louviers, 9 to 1.
3.—William the Fourth, 20 to 1.

London, May 26.—To-day is Derby day, and England is Derby mad. Its a national holiday, as July 1 is in Canada. A million have gathered on Epsom Downs to see the great event.

King Edward is in the royal box. He is as keen as the most lowly of his subjects. To-day he has an added interest, for his colt, Minoru, is favourite. Minoru won the "Guineas," and carries the good wishes of all we hope to see him take the triple event—the "Guineas," Derby and St. Leger.

Every class is present, Parliament is empty, the members having gone to see the running of the classic. Aristocrats and costers move along the roads, the one in four-in-hands or touring car, the other in donkey chaise. They rub shoulders without frowning—for isn't it Derby day?

The first rush started last night, the leaders camping on the downs. But the real rush began at four this morning. Since then the 18 miles between London and Epsom has been black. Progress is slow and the dust suffocating, but good humour prevails.

At noon the majority of the throng was on the downs. The road had given up its toilers and the trains almost finished pouring out their thousands.

The bell announces the first race and mounted police bear the course. Another bell and they are off. But attention is not on the first or the second race. The crowd awaits the third event, the Derby.

After the second race the interval is longer. Part of the crowd rushes for the paddock. Others surge around the bookies. Everyone bets on the Derby.

Again the police clear the course. But the task is more difficult. Silence falls over the assemblage. It is the calm before the storm, for suddenly, "Here they come!" is heard. It is faint at first, but bursts with a roar.

From the paddock comes a line of horses. They and their riders are in just such a state of excitement as every one in the crowd. They file past the grand stand, the jockeys salute the king, and then canter to the starting place.

Now the wait. The horses are restive. The jockeys use every artifice to secure an advantage and the starter has his trouble, for the 3-year-olds are high spirited and want to get away on their flight to fame. Every one owning a glass has it focused upon the mettlesome thoroughbreds. At last the flag drops, and, like a wave the cry surges, "They're off!"

Now everyone leans forward. On the grass they stand tip-toe, striving to gain a better view of the flying colts. In the stands they lean forward, tense expression revealing the repressed excitement. All is quiet, save a faint rustling, like the wind soughing through a forest. It is the whisper of the crowd.

Who leads? Is it Bayardo? Is it Minoru? Is it the American horse, St. Martin? These and kindred queries are heard. No one answers. Every eye follows the smooth running equine machines with their bobbing riders, as they climb the first hill, where the line lengthens as the stout hearts forge ahead.

They pass Tottenham corner. The top stretch is passed and they have turned into the home stretch, where the course is down hill. How the sod flies beneath the heels of the racing horses. Horses and mounts are straining every nerve. Every fibre tenses to the breaking points as they strive for mastery.

And now the crowd catches the fever. Enthusiasm has been bottled, but as they flash past and near the wire, the shouts ascend, at first sharp staccato yelps, that quickly blend into a concerted roar.

But once a year does England hear such a shout as announces the name of the Derby winner. It is spontaneous and voiced by so many throats that it is heard for miles, and the name of the winner is known almost instantly with the finish of the race, far, far from the scene of the victory.

Congratulated on all hands comes the owner, the proudest man in Europe, to lead his horse past the stand. Another cheer greets him. And the Derby for 1909 is over.

OVER 150 ORANGEMEN IN CITY ATTENDING GRAND LODGE

First Session Opened This Afternoon at the Court House—Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., of Markdale, Grand Master, Presiding—Prominent Officials in Attendance.

The Grand Lodge of British America opened its first session here this afternoon at half past two at the Court House. There are between one hundred and fifty and two hundred delegates in attendance. The Grand Master, Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., of Markdale, is presiding and other prominent officials present are Deputy Grand Master, Lieut. J. H. Scott, of Toronto, Grand Chaplain, Rev. Wm. Walsh; Brampton, Deputy Grand Chaplain, Capt. F. G. Wallace of Woodbridge, Grand Secretary Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald, of Toronto, Deputy Grand Treasurer, Controller H. C. Hawkin, of Toronto and Col. Sam. Hughes, M.P., of Lindsay.

The business at this afternoon's meeting consisted of the receiving of credentials, the appointing of committees and the Grand Master delivered his address. Dr. Sproule has occupied the office of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Orangemen for a great many years and in all likelihood if he allows his name to be put in nomination he will be again re-elected. However, it is understood that he intended to retire this year and in that case will in all probability be succeeded by Col. Sam. Hughes.

Former Manvers Farmer Expects Good Harvest In Saskatchewan

One of the delegates to the annual meeting of the Grand Black Preceptory is Mr. Joseph McGill, of Delorraine, Man., a former resident of Bethany. He is accompanied by Mrs. McGill, and they are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Squire of this city. Mr. McGill called on the Examiner today and very interestingly talked of the West. It is seventeen years since he left Ontario, and he is one of those men who has made a success in the West. He owns a homestead of eight hundred acres, ten miles from Delorraine. Last year his land yielded nine thousand bushels of wheat.

The seeding this year was a little backward, but Mr. McGill stated that it was all completed a week ago last Saturday. He expects that the crops this year will be altogether as good as last.

A former resident of Peterborough, who is doing well in Delorraine, is Mr. Frank Lush. He conducts the Delorraine Advertiser, a weekly newspaper. Mr. McGill has prospered in Manitoba, and, in his opinion, that is the place to live if one wants to make money. He intends to visit here for a month or six weeks, before returning. He is prominent in Orange circles, being Deputy Provincial Grand Master for Manitoba.

Post Office Staff Presents Cane To Retiring Postmaster

The staff of the Post Office including the mail carriers sprang a pleasant surprise yesterday afternoon on the Post Master, Col. H. C. Rogers, who is leaving in a short time on a trip to the Old Country. He was not only surprised but was addressed and caned by the staff who took the opportunity of saying farewell and of materially manifesting their appreciation of his work as Post Master. When the employees had assembled, Mr. John Corkery stepped forward and read the following address:

To Col. H. C. Rogers,
Post Master,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Col. Rogers:—

It is with feelings of deepest regret that we, your staff, learn of your intention of leaving our city. During your long term of office as Post Master, you have always been a kind master, a wise counsellor and a very sympathetic friend. Through your tact, good judgment and foresight, you have always kept the utmost harmony on the staff. We admire you for your excellent traits of character and we shall ever cherish the thought that we have been permitted to come under your influence.

As a slight token of our love and esteem, we wish you to accept this cane, in the hope that it may remind you of our pleasant associations with you.

We wish you a safe journey to the Old Land where you go to meet loved ones, we wish you a safe return to British Columbia, and we wish you God's richest blessing throughout the rest of your life.

Signed, John Corkery, A. M. Watt, H. White, C Lacheur, W. C. Brown, E. W. Morphet, A. Davenport, Leo. Derocher, Chas. A. Stenton, Wm. Stuart, Bertram Stevens, Beverley Doucette, Robert Reid, F. J. Jamieson, T. J. Edwards, Jas. O'Brien, M. Barnett, L. Mowry, John Grisdale.

Mr. Geo. Ross of Toronto, Superintendent of Post Offices, presented Col. Rogers on behalf of the staff with a handsome gold-headed cane suitably engraved.

Col. Rogers acknowledged the kindness of the staff and thanked them one and all for their splendid remembrance which would often serve to recall the staff with whihc he had been connected in Peterborough. Col. Rogers expressed his appreciation of the gift and likewise of the staff's good wishes for a pleasant journey and safe return.

Seeding In The West Has Been Completed Over A Week Ago

Prospects for a bounteous harvest, which will probably exceed that of last year are now pleasing the farmers of Western Canda, and Mr. Simpson Shaw, of Gainesborough, Sask., is looking forward to a splendid year. He arirved in the city this mroning to attend the sessions of the Grand Orange lodge. Mr. Shaw is Grand Master o fthe Order in the Province of Saskatchewan, where it is making good progress and under the present regulations should rapidly grow in strength of numbers and worth.

To the Examiner Mr. Shaw who left Manvers about thirteen years ago to improve his position in the West, said that a higher standard was being demanded in accepting members, and a fine class of citizens were being received. The results would not be apparent for some years to come, but the order would in a few years begin to appreciate a new strength.

Crops Are Good.

Mr. Shaw was not worrying about the weather or the crops. He was, in fact, well satisfied. The Spring had been rather backward, but latterly the weather has been ideal, and growth has been rapid. There has not been a large increase in the amount of land sown with grain, but it will be sufficiently appreciable. Mr. Shaw is well satisfied with the West and looks forward to railway facilities and a general opening up of Southern Saskatchewan. The increasing number of farmers from the United States is still experienced and they are proving good citizens and farmers of the most desirable type.

We know of a number of cases of supposed consumption that have been cured by Miller's Compound Iron Pills.—Wm. Madill, Druggist.

LAWN BOWLING.

An important meeting of the Peterboor Lawn Bowling Club will be held this evning in Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald's offices at 8 o'clock. All the members are requested to be present and also the protective members. The particular purpose is to draw up the schedule for the year. Other questions will also be discussed.

NEGLECTED FACILITIES.

A feature of the late session of Parliament not to be neglected is the fact that, though, the scandal campaign was renewed by the Opposition, it ended a failure. Not one scandal made good for very good reasons. The Conservatives had not the courage to take the means to try to prove one of their insinuations, and they were not susceptible of proof. A man that has a reasonably good case will have the courage of his convictions, and bring his claim to the proof. This was not attempted. Even the Public Accounts Committee, which the Public Accounts Committee, which is usually made by the Conservative Opposition, the medium of facile ventilation of political canards and suspicions, has been singularly free from insinuations of wrong doings and of some attempt to prove them. In the past there have been many allegations brought before the committee, but proof has been wanting. No doubt the lack of success to make good the insinuations employed, has had a discouraging effect upon the scandal hunters. The Mayes-McAvity charges might have been thoroughly ventilated in the Public Accounts Committee, and the real facts as asserted by the Government interests, made subjects of proof. But the Opposition neglected this convenient and ready-provided means of investigating charges which they were content to deal with in the way of insinuation and incoherent allegation.

THE EXPLANATION.

Mr. E. A. Kemp, of the Kemp Manufacturing Company, Toronto, is deserving of the gratitude of the citizens of Peterborough for his deep interest in the welfare of the city. He is afraid that Peterborough will make a bad bargain if it closes an arrangement with the Purity Ware, Limited. Of course it will be a bad thing—for the Kemp Manufacturing Company of Toronto, which will meet competition in the wares it produces, the same general class to be made by the Peterborough industry. Thus we have an explanation of Mr. Kemp's deep interest in the welfare of the City of Peterborough, who does not want the city to commit the outrage of sheltering an industry whose products will come into competition with the products of the factory in which he is interested. This seems to be the only possible explantion of Mr. Kemp taking the trouble of coming to Peterborough in an effort to spike the guns of the proposed industry. The enterprise is not objected to on its merits, but because it may cut into the profits of a combine, practical, if not actual, or, at least, a monopoly. Is there another town or city in Canada where so transparent an attempt to swamp her industrial progress, would receive the assistance of a citizen of the place? What a mistake the Special Committee of the City Council made in not obtaining the consent of the Toronto concern and its Peterborough advocate, before venturing to conduct negotiations for the establishment of a big industry in Peterborough that would have the audacity to manufacture the same kind of ware.

The point must not be forgotten that the City of Peterborough will not advance a particle of substantial assistance to the Purity Ware, Limited, till every condition set forth in the by-law as complied with, conditions that provide ample security and protection in respect of any assistance which may be extended. The enterprise should be judged on its merits, and not by the representations or rather misrepresentations of its rival industry.

It seems that Canada is more loyal than Great Britain itself. At any rate we celebrate Victoria Day with more eclat and enthusiasm than they do in the Mother Country. While every little hamlet in Canada flew the flag in honour of Empire Day (or Victoria Day as we here in Canada call the 24th of May), the Imperial Government declined to allow the dispay of the flag at military stations.

WOMANLY QUEENS.

The advanced masculine femininea are energetic in assertion of the claim that women are men's equal in all things, and that they should be placed on positions of political and civil and social equality, in fact equality in everything except—keeping silence. Some women claim this, but there are sensible women who regard woman as woman, and recognize that she has a special place in the human economy which she can fill with credit and even distinction, and that there are some places in life which men only are fittest to fill. The late Queen Victoria of blessed memory is one of these. A few years ago she wrote:

"We women are not made for governing—and if we are good women we must dislike these masculine occupations.

"God created men and women different—then let them remain each in their own position. . . Woman would become the most hateful, heartless, and disgusting of human beings were she allowed to unsex herself, and where would be the protection which man was intended to give the weaker sex?"

And the point has been recently emphasized by Queen Alexandra, who in a message to the Jubilee Congress of Nursing at Liverpool, said:

"Queen Alexandra. She has the fullest sympathy with you in your work. She is sorry that she cannot be present, but she will hear all about the Congress. She feels that this is a work which women can do. Some women nowadays try to be like men, but this is a thing that men cannot do, and it is therefore here that we feel superior to anybody else."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The London Advertiser says that Great Britain has more to fear from Germany's school system than from German's navy. Which the same is a pointer for Dr. Pyne.

Admiral Dewey thinks or at least says that the American navy is the best in the world, upon which the Chicago Record-Journal remarks that "we earnestly hope that this may not cause another war scare in England."

AROUND THE GLOBE IN THIRTY DAYS.

(London Advertiser.)

If the calculations of Senator Casgrain, who, by profession, is an engineer, are correct, when the National Transcontinental Railway is completed, it will be possible to circle the globe in thirty days, or less.

In the course of a recent speech in the Senate, Mr. Casgrain claimed that the route of the road had very great advantages over any other known. From Liverpool to Yokohama, via Quebec and Prince Rupert, the distance is the shortest possible. It follows a great circle on the terrestrial globe, and the total distance is given by the Grand Trunk Pacific Company as 10,030 miles. Senator Casgrain, however, fails to see how they arrive at that estimate, for he makes the distance 9,528 miles, or 528 miles less than by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and 1,313 miles less than by New York. The route is also 130 miles less than via Moscow and the Trans-Siberian line to Yokohama. The length of the circle around the globe at that latitude is 19,164 miles, or 5,000 miles less than making the great circle at the equator. That distance of 19,164 miles is divided about equally by travelling on land and water—9,500 miles by steamship, and 9,500 miles by rail. Travelling by ocean part of the journey could be made in 17 days; and travelling at the rate of 30 miles an hour by rail, the 9,500 miles of land could be covered in 13 days. The average rate of railway travel is, of course, much faster than 30 miles an hour in America, but as the trains on the Trans-Siberian Railway go much slower, Mr. Casgrain considers 30 miles would be a fair average. He figures out, therefore, that it would take altogether 30 days for a letter mailed from Quebec, following that route, to make the circuit of the globe and be returned to that city.

Senator Casgrain claims that a comparison of distance corroborates his statements. The distance from Liverpool to Quebec is 2,632 miles, and a steamship travelling at the rate of 20 knots an hour would make it in five days. From Quebec to Prince Rupert is 3,086 miles. A train travelling at the rate of 40 miles an hour—a speed maintained by the C. P. R. last year with its trans-Canada train from Montreal to Vancouver—would cover the distance from Quebec to Prince Rupert in three and a half days. A steamship running at twenty knots an hour could make the trip from Prince Rupert to Yokohama, 3,800 miles, in eight days. The short distance from the latter place to Vladivostock, even at a slow rate of speed, could be covered in ten days, making the time of the world-girdling trip by this new route in 28½ days.

The senator further points out that the great Canadian road is being built in such a way and with such grades that it will be able to do business at about one-half the cost to any other road in the country, or, for that matter, to any of the other great roads across the country.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL

New York Post

Earl Grey has broken a precedent by choosing to fill out his six years as Governor-General of Canada, instead of resigning at the end of the fifth year. This is a very frank and manly way of saying that Lord Grey likes Canada. It carries the implication that the Canadians are fond of their Governor-General. On this point there is abundant testimony. Not even the popularity of Lord Dufferin was so great as the strong personal liking for Lord Grey throughout the Dominion. The constitutional limitations surrounding the chief executive in the English scheme of government are naturally re-inforced in Canada by the fact that their Governor-General is a stranger imposed on them from without. There once was an inclination among Canadians to look upon their chief executive not only as a figurehead, but as one from whom excessive interest in the people that he nominally governed was neither necessary not desirable. Lord Grey has refused to be the formal figure of a viceroy. He has travelled about much, mingled with all kinds of people, and evinced as deep an interst in the future of the Candian West as the native-born. A Governor-General who could forsee the greatness of Canada's new Pacific port, Prince Rupert, and grow rapturous over the millions of bushels of wheat it would export, is obviously something more than a mere impersonal connection between a hustling commonwealth and its Mother Country.

BOARD OF TRADE SANCTIONS PURITY WARE LTD. BY-LAW

red to as the supporters of the Purity Ware, Limited. They constituted one of the best firms in Canada, and enjoy a high reputation in large business circles. The people would be more than agreeably surprised when they learned their names. They were above reproach of any form or description. They were very wealthy men and none better could have possibly been selected. They hold a high position in the financial world. Mr. Campbell would not divulge their names at present.

Mr. Kendry Speaks.

Mr. Kendry took up the question next.

"I want this affair," he said, "carried along in a business way." The Council and Mr. Campbell wanted the people to vote on the by-law, which Mr. Kendry said they did not know anything about. He was interested solely in the welfare of the city and had always acted in its best interests. He had done as much for the city as any other citizen. "I want to ask you, Mr. Chairman, if the New York Co. are interested why are they not represented?" Mr. Gillespie said he had their letter, which he read on request.

Mr. Kendry continued. The importation of enamelware into Canada was not as great as had been stated. This he said, was shown from the blue book, which he handed Mr. Dumble to read. The latter wanted to know who told Mr. Kendry that the Company was going to manufacture "only little enamelled pots." They touched galvanized ware as well and Mr. Dumble read figures which Mr. Kendry had not presented, and which he claimed were not to be included, as the goods mentioned would not be manufactured.

Ald. Hicks to the Fore.

Ald. Hicks picked up the gauntlet at this stage. He asked Mr. Kendry who Mr. A. D. Kempt was.

"He is a personal friend of mine." Mr. Kendry replied. He is also one of the largest manufacturers of an article practically identical with that which the Purity Ware Co. will turn out.

Continuing, Ald. Hicks said: "You have a peculiar way of showing your high ideals of citizenship. Why did you not go to the Mayor or Ald. Gillespie and tell them early in the negotiations about the Company?"

Another Little Scene.

Mr. Kendry resented what he termed the insinuations Ald. Hicks had made. No man had a right to say those things or that he was not actuated by only the best interests of the city. Mr. Kendry stated that he had intimated to Ald. Bradburn that all was not right with the Company.

"Did I not send you word?" he asked the Chairman of the Property Committee of the Council.

"No, you did not, Mr. Kendry."

"Did Mr. Burnham not go into your office and tell you about it?"

"No, he did not." Ald. Bradburn replied, "but I guessed it."

Ald. Hicks, addressing Mr. Kendry, stated that he had a letter in his pocket from the firm behind the Company. Ald. Hicks asked if there was any man present whom he had confidence in. He would show him the letter in order to assure Mr. Kendry of the standing of the men referred to. Mr. Kendry did not mention any one.

Mr. Poussette.

Mr. A. P. Poussette considered that the by-law amply protected the city. We have the very best argument that can be procured in the fact that Mr. Kendry secured some of his information from his friend, Mr. Kemp, who has largely increased his product of a similar nature from year to year. I submit to the ratepayers that they are fully protected by this by-law. The value of the industry was shown by the fact that Mr. Kemp had made such a great success of it.

Mr. W. H. Moore stated that we are not getting ample security for the money which will be loaned. There was no provision that before advancing the money we would get our mortgage on the grounds and plant. The particular clause dealing with this point was conditional.

"If the Council so desired" was the reading of the clause, "and there should be no condition whatever."

Ald. Morrow told Mr. Moore he was quibbling, and there was no question about the mortgage being secured beforehand, this had been taken as granted. Mr. Moore, however, wanted nothing taken for granted.

Mr. V. E. Eastwood thought the last speaker touched upon an important point, and it should be carefully considered.

Mr. Smoke, Solicitor of the Company, stated that the by-law did not come into force until it had been confirmed by the Council after the people had passed it on June 1st. Mr. Moore was too acutely critical. He surely did not suppose the Council would advance the money before they received the mortgage for the amount loaned. The valuator would be selected by the city, which was surely satisfactory. You do not put up one cent of your $50,000 until you see our money in the bank and receive its audit. There was a high protection on the Purity Ware Co's. output and largely for this reason Mr. Kempt had made a great success of his business. Mr. Smoke stated that the Council would look over the terms and the exact agreement when they give it the last reading and that alone was binding.

Croup Quickly Cured.

Don't Let the Child Choke to Death While Waiting For the Doctor.

Hyomei, the miraculous, antiseptic dry air treatment, will cure croup in either the first or second stages. Easily inhaled, even when the breathing is irregular, it reaches more promptly than any other remedy the terribly inflamed membrane of the windpipe. It's soothing balsams act immediately, the inflammation is allayed and the swelling reduced.

George H. King, of 22 Wellington street, South Woodstock, says: "We would not think of keeping house without Hyomei. It has warded off colds, croup, coughs and sore throats for all of our three children many and many a time. When a child breathes badly and through the mouth and the glands around the eyes and nose commence to swell, then is the time that we find the Hyomei quickly relieves the trouble and gets the bronchial tubes, lungs and throat cleared up."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is guaranteed by Wm. Madill to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and croup, or money back. A complete outfit, including a neat, hard rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1.00. An extra bottle of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents.

BROWN HAS ONE LAP LEAD ON HOAGLAND AND WEST EXCITEMENT IN THE WALK IS AT FEVER HEAT

Boy Walker Gained a Lap and One-half When Hoagland Was Off the Track and Held His Lead Until the End---Harrison is Still Doing Grand Work, and Hartley and Spenceley Made Big Improvement---A Wonderful Exhibition of Walking.

George Brown, Auburn, N.Y., 33 miles, 10 laps.
Lew West, New York, N. Y., 33 miles, 9 laps
W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N. Y., 33 miles, 9 laps.
Jim Harrison, Peterboro, 33 miles, 7 laps.
J. E. Blake, Syracuse, N. Y., 32 miles, 9 laps.
W. Spenceley, Peterboro, 30 miles, 11 laps.
Ray Fenton, Auburn, N. Y., 30 miles, 2 laps.
Jim Graham, Buffalo, N. Y., 29 miles, 2 laps.
Dave Hartley, Peterboro, 28 miles, 1 lap.
John Blatchford, Peterboro, 25 miles, 11 laps.

When the ten walkers in the six day grind finished the second night of the long contest in Brock St. rink last night, George Brown, the boy walker from Auburn, N. Y., was one lap in front of W. A. Hoagland, his fellow townsman, and Lew West, the other good boy from across the line. Three laps back of Brown was Jim Harrison of Peterboro, grimly fighting out every inch of the race. Throughout the whole two and one half hours it was a terrific fight that aroused the spectators to a high pitch of excitement. Frequent sprints among the leaders brought the crowd to its feet while the brushes between the men further back were every bit as exciting. It was a grand battle and had last year's walk discounted in every way.

For the first time since he appeared in Peterboro, champion Hoagland is behind in a race. Whether he will remain second long is a matter for dissussion, as Brown is a classy performer who walks with speed and ease and looks fit to last. He cut out a terrific pace last night at times and the going between him and Hoagland was alone well worth the price of admission.

When the walk commenced at ten minutes after eight o'clock, Hoagland, West and Brown all had a lap on Harrison. They started off at a terrific clip with Hoagland setting the pace and Harrison, Brown, West, Spencely, Blake and Fenton hanging on. Round after round they circled the sawdust track at a dizzy pace. Blake and Fenton found the going too hard and dropped back but the others held together until Spenceley got a stitch and fell back. The other four stayed together, Hoagland pacing for the first half hour when Brown went out in front. Suddenly Brown tore loose with a tremendous sprint, Hoagland hooked on and the two flew around the track like winged things lapping Harrison and West. The latter however fell in behind when they came around and once more the four were together travelling at a clip that was within an ace of being a seven mile an hour clip. At the end of the first hour the standing was:

Brown 23 miles, 8 laps.
Hoagland 23 miles, 8 laps.
West 23 miles, 7 laps.
Harrison 23 miles, 6 laps.
Blake 23 miles.
Fenton 21 miles, 10 laps.
Spencely 21 miles, 7 laps.
Graham 20 miles, 7 laps.
Hartley 19 miles, 9 laps.
Blatchford 18 miles, 6 laps.

At 9.20 Hoagland left the track for a moment and while he was off Brown, Harrison and West gained a lap and one half on the champion, putting Brown who has been on even terms with the walking machine, that distance in the lead. On his return he cut out a lively pace and gained half a lap in short order but the others ghied on and refused to allow him to get away. The dizzy pace was kept up with Hoagland and Brown alternating in doing the pacing until 10.05 when West suddenly shot to the front in a pretty sprint, Hoagland and Brown followed and the three shook Harrison. A long chase followed, the three going out after the lap on Harrison and the Peterborough ped who is walking the pluckiest kind of a race, fighting for all that was in him to keep them from lapping. Finally, however, the leaders caught him, but once more he swung in behind and despite the fast pace that Hoagland set up he hung there until the finish. In the last five minutes West tried to grab another lap but Harrison refused to let him get away and they end up with West and Hoagland two to the good on the Peterborough man.

There were many features in last night's session of the grind. One was the appearance of a dark horse in the person of Jack Richards. Mr. Richards was billed to start on the first night but failed to put in an appearance. He, however, determined to start last night in the hope of catching up before the week was over. Three-quarters of an hour in the grind was enough to convince him that there is nothing in the walking game. Dave Hartley and the new-comer hooked up in a long series of sprints and the veteran took the ginger out of Richards in short order. Hartley would sprint and pass the added starter and the latter would come back with a spurt that would put him out in front again. For five miles they chased each other this way to the delight of the crowd but the young man found the going too rough and when Hartley had gained half a lap on him at nine o'clock he threw up the sponge.

During the night Brown went one lap further than on the previous night, coming within one lap of seventeen miles in the two and one half hours. Hoagland and West covered exactly the same distance as on the first night, negotiating 16 miles, 11 laps, Harrison did one lap less and Blake one less, Fenton fell back rapidly towards the finish. He was ill and not in condition to do himself justice and his mark was nearly a mile short of his effort for the first session. Spencely on the other hand did much better, covering nine laps more and as a result of his good work succeeded in passing Fenton and ended up in sixth place. The veterans Jimmy Graham and Dave Hartley also gave a considerably better performance, Hartley gaining laps on his mark and Graham one. Blatchford kept up his same gait all the way and succeeded in making his score over 25 miles for the five hours although he went six laps less than on the first night. Still a five mile clip is pretty good going for a man of his age and lack of experience at the game. Hartley was bothered on Monday night with a bad pair of shoes and there was a great improvement in his walking last night.

A section of the 57th band was present and played appropriate music for the occasion giving the American walkers a stimulant in the shape of "Yankee Doodle" and the "Star Spangled Banner," once in a while and added "The Maple Leaf for Harrison and played Southern melodies for Blake. The latter is hanging on gamely and may be heard from before the week is out.

Jim Harrison's fine showing is the subject of much favourable comment from those who have seen the walk. He has improved wonderfully since his last appearnce before a Peterborough audience and his performance so far has been highly creditable. The following table shows just how much ground the walkers covered last night:

Brown 16 miles, 12 laps.
Hoagland 16 miles, 11 laps.
West 16 miles, 11 laps.

NOTES ON THE WALK.

There are four duels being fought out in the awlk just now that make the contest a most interesting one. First there is the strenuous battle between Brown and Hoagland for first place and the struggle between West and Harrison for third. Then there is a hot fight between Spencely and Fenton, while the veteran Jim Graham and Dave Hartley are after each others' scalps.

The leaders are travelling at a clip that is practically seven miles an hour, and when you walk seven miles in one hour you are covering some ground.

The added starter Richards showed signs of early speed, but couldn't go the route. He was out to beat Hartley, but the man who is responsible for the walking craze in Peterboro, kille dhim off in short order.

Blatchford pays no attention to the other walkers, but jogs along at his own pace. eH is generally walking alone, preferrinf to act as his own pace maker.

Blake is making a game effort to hold the leaders, but they have too much speed for the colourd boy. The latter will do better during the seven hours on Saturday.

Brown is a grand walker. The boy from Auburn has caught Hoagland's swing nicely and the way the two circle the track is well worth seeing.

West is another good one, and although his style is not as pretty, is there with a big barrel of that speed stuff too. It is a grand sight to watch the four at work.

If Spencely had any chance to get into training he would have been up higher in the standing. The lanky local boy has lots of speed, and for the first hour each night he has followed the terrific pacing of Hoagland, Brown and company in splendid fashion. eH is not in condition, however, and has to drop back after an hour or so. Last night he jumped into sixth place and will be chasing Blake hard if the latter does not improve.

Jimmy Graham is there with a cheerful retort all along the journey. Last night he picked a union jack off the track ropes and travelled a lap or two waving the emblem of British liberty, thereby gaining a hand from the crowd.

West made a beautiful sprint when he gained a second lap on Harrison last night. The New York ped can get over the ground in splendid fashion when he lets out. Referee Mark Spencely and Blake have many arguments over the latter's gait during the sprints.

The walkers start at 8 o'clock sharp to-night and will go two and one-half hours. There will be a big crowd on hand for the opening to-night, as the interest in the contest is at fever heat just now.

Hoagland has to get back a lap from Brown, while Harrison will endeavor to slip away from West and get back the ground he has lost.

The 57th band will be present to-night.

For the sake of the many ladies present, gentlemen are asked not to smoke on the west side of the rink.

PROMINENT HOSPITALS SAY

PE-RU-NA IS EFFICIENT

IN RELIEVING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, MONTREAL.

HOSPITALS ALL OVER THE CONTINENT FIND PE-RU-NA VALUABLE IN TREATING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES

CATARRH of the respiratory organs is a common ailment in Canada for at least two-thirds of the year.

This condition is no doubt caused by the long, severe winters experienced in this part of the continent.

Therefore, when Peruna was discovered by Canadian people to be a reliable remedy for these catarrhal diseases, it at once became a popular medicine, not only among individuals and in families, but in the great hospitals, where it was used as a preventive and relief in hundreds of cases.

These institutions do not hesitate to give their endorsement of the remedy which has been so helpful in the treatment of their poor and sick.

Among these institutions is that of the Sisters of Good Shepherd, who gave the following endorsement:

The Peruna Company,
Columbus, Ohio,

Having used Peruna for the past few months, for our sick and poor, we are happy to say that it has given us great satisfaction.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd,
August 20, 1903.
Montreal.

After a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

Montreal, Nov. 7, 1903.

We found Peruna a relief in several cases.

We can say it is a good tonic and we are very thankful,
Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

When catarrh once fastens itself upon the system it becomes an obstinate disease to eradicate.

A systemic remedy—one that reaches every internal organ of the body—is an absolute necessity.

Peruna is just such a remedy. It searches out the cause of the disease, healing and strengthening the mucous membrane, and thus giving Nature an opportunity to perform her part of the restorative process.

One of the many hospitals which have found Peruna of value in treating old and obstinate cases of catarrh is the Hospital St. John, who write as follows:

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it, one 68 years old Renoui Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years.

"A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear.

"As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic.

"Before the treatment I could not walk for a quarter of an hour without experiencing much fatigue. Now I can walk a mile easily.

"Through these three cases we desire to make known to the public the efficiency of your remedy."

Hospital St. John, of St. Johns, Province of Quebec.

A later letter received from the same institution reads as follows:

"Three weeks ago I wrote to tell you how satisfactory we found Peruna. We recommend it highly for colds, coughs, catarrh and neuralgia.

"I have used it myself as a tonic with the best results, taken as directed, half a teaspoonful every half hour."

Mrs. Etta Booker, Dundurn, Sask., N. W. T., Canada, writes:

"I suffered with internal catarrh until I wrote to Dr. Hartman, and after taking treatment as he advised, I can say I am now cured of this most trying affliction, for which I am truly thankful. I think Peruna the best medicine for catarrh. I never felt better in my life than I do at present."

Peruna not only promptly relieves coughs and colds in their first stages, but is equally prompt and efficient for catarrhal diseases in the chronic stage.

Of course, it is only reasonable to suppose that a great deal less medicine will be necessary to cure a slight attack of catarrh than would be required to relieve the ailment after it had been allowed to become chronic.

THE NOX TASTELESS LIQUOR, DRUG AND TOBACCO CURE.

We have yet to hear of one failure to cure where a fair trial has been given. Can be given without the person knowing it, is harmless and absolutely without taste. Mother, sister or wife, you would be doing a great work by giving this remedy to some members of your family. We will mail a full month's treatment for five dollars. ZAM-BUK ENDS YEARS OF PAIN!

Powerful Proofs of its Healing Value.

As a household remedy, useful in emergencies such as are already arising in any home, and particularly where there are children, Zam-Buk is without equal. Here are some opinions of its merit:

Mrs. Halliday, Wroxeter, Ont., says: "I have proved Zam-Buk unequalled for cuts, sores and diseases of the skin. In every case to which I have applied it, it has brought about a cure, and I recommend it to all mothers."

Miss Cassie Petrie, Victoria Mines, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, says: "For a long time I suffered from pimples and unsightly spots on my face, and hearing so much about Zam-Buk, gave it a trial. It has now removed the eruption, and I would heartily recommend it for pimples and skin diseases."

Miss A. Bourgue, Notre Dame, Kent County, N.B., says: "For months I suffered with a running sore on my leg, and although I tried several ointments and salves, none did me much good. The sore would just heal over and then break out again. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and obtained a supply, together with some Zam-Buk Soap. I carefully washed the sore, night and morning, with the Zam-Buk Soap, and then applied the balm. A few weeks of this treatment completely healed the sore."

Mr. Joseph Kostyuk, of Woodridge, Man., says: "I had eczema on my face, neck, and hand, so bad that I was unable to leave my room. Several doctors failed to do me any good, although I spent large sums of money. Zam-Buk has effected what they failed to do, and I am now cured."

Zam-Buk is the finest-known cure for skin diseases and injuries. It heals cuts, burns, bruises, abscesses, ulcers, eczema, scalp sores, bad leg, inflamed patches poisoned sores, insect stings, blisters, sore feet, etc. It also cures piles. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c a box, or post-free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Brantford's Opinion Of The Trip To Peterborough And Of The Electric City

The Brantford Courier says of the trip:

The members of the Dufferin Rifles had the time of their lives on their trip to Peterborough. From first to last everything went off with an exhilarating swing and, what is more, the Regiment is admitted on all hands to have been one of the big factors in the splendid success of the Victoria Day doings in the sister city. The men carried themselves throughout as soldiers should. They looked well, and acted well, and made friends and admirers of all with whom they came in contact. The St. Catharines Regiment also took part in the proceedings, and the members of the Peterborough Regiment proved themselves to be princes of hospitality and courteous treatment.

In the afternoon Peterborough officers took the visiting officers for a trip around the city. There were many carriages as well as several automobiles. The views in Peterborough are beautiful, and the city has acted very wisely in setting aside large tracts of land for park purposes. The place is situated in a valley with hills on all sides, affording a beautiful view of the city and surrounding country. Some of the parks were donated by the late Mrs. Nicholls, who was a very wealthy resident. They are run by a board of trustees. The water facilities in Peterborough are excellent. The river that runs through the city is a large and deep one. The scenery along the banks is fine, and helps to beautify the city to a great extent. There are a number of different manufacturing concerns but they do not come up to Brantford in that line. The city is rapidly progressing and building operations are brisk. A great many new houses are in course of erection, and a great many of them are of red brick. There are excellent churches, and the schools are new and up-to-date. There is a handsome Y. M. C. A. building. One thing that Peterborough is ahead of Brantford in is that they have two town clocks that keep correct time. From all quarters of the place both dials can be readily seen. There are many cement sidewalks, and a majority of them are laid outside the boulevards, as this seems to be a favourite plan there. There are many shade trees, and the G. T. R. and the C. P. R. are the two railroads that pass through Peterborough, and the way in which they have cut the city up is really a shame. None of the streets are paved, and the people do not seem to want anything of the kind. The streets are good as they are. Gravel is put on and the steam roller does the rest. The main street is ahead of Colborne street in the matter of buildings, which are from three to four stories high, and very substantial looking.

Lecture On The Olympic Games In Y. M. C. A. Tomorrow Night

On Thursday evening of this week, W. Tait of Toronto, will ive an illustrated lecture on the Olympic games in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Mr. Tait has fifty-nine views, which he will throw life-size on a screen, and tell a complete story of the games.

This will be the only opportunity to see this famous collection of pictures and hear the only complete story of the famous games held in London last year. There are Dorando's sensational finish; Hayes winning the Marathon, Simpson finishing, Bobby Kerr, in the sprints; W. Tait, in the mile; Longboat, Goulding, Parkes, Archibald and many others.

ST. ANDREW'S TEAM WON THE JUNIOR CHURCH LEAGUE GAME

The opening game in the Junior Church League was played last night in Boswell's field, St. Andrew's beating All Saints by 5 runs to 4, after an interesting six innings game. A base on balls by Taylor in the last innings, with the score tied and the bases full, gave the victory to the Presbyterians. It was a fine game all the way, both sides fielding nicely, while the pitchers did fine work. Mr. W. O'Brien was a most satisfactory umpire. The teams were as follows:

Following was the line-up.

St. Andrews—McConnell, c.; Cresswell, p.; Minorgan, 1st; Rankin, 2nd; Lees, s.s.; Gibson, 3rd; Wade, r.f.; McWilliams, c.f.; Laing, l.f.

GIVEN ONE MONTH IN JAIL FOR SUPPLYING LIQUOR TO AN INDIAN

Edward Herron Found Guilty in Police Court This Morning—Bought Whiskey for Alex. Knott of Chemong Reserve.

THE MINIMUM SENTENCE.

Edward Herran was given one month in gaol, for supplying liquor to an Indian, Alexander Knott. The case was heard at the police court this morning. Magistrate Dumble imposed the minimum punishment. The maximum fine for such an offence is $300, and the maximum sentence six months. Herran pleaded not guilty.

Alexander Knott was called. He said that he lived on the Reserve at Chemong. He was a treaty Indian and drew government money. On Friday last he was drunk and on Saturday morning pleaded guilty. He gave "Tidy" Herron 75c. to buy some wiskey, as he had a toothache. He got him the liquor. The two drank it.

Edward Herron said that he met Alex. Knott in the morning. Witness was asked several times to buy him a flask bue he refused him. The Indian had a bottle later and the two drank from it in the shed.

His Worship in passing sentence, said that from the simple, frank way in which the Indian told his story, he was assured that it was the truth. He found Herron guilty and imposed the above punishment.

VICTORIA HARRIERS MADE GOOD SHOWING ON THE HOLIDAY

Harold Slighte, winner of the time prize in the Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club's five mile handicap race.

Geo. Brown second in the Turf Club's five mile race.

Geo. Fowler third in the Omemee five mile road race.

Chas. Thorpe eighth in the fifteen mile road race at Woodstock.

That is what the Victoria Harriers' representatives accomplished on Victoria Day ,and is no bad showing for a newly formed club. Slighte ran a beautiful race in cleaning up the Y. M.C.A. handicap, and shows promise of being a crack runner with consistent training.

Brown also ran a well judged race in the Turf Club's meet and will be heard from again.

Fowler started in the five mile road race at Omemee with no hope of getting the prize if he did win. He was not eligible as the race was confined to residents of Victoria County. He, however, resolved to start anyway, and was leading the bunch at four and one-half miles, when he tired and two passed him on the last half mile, the three finishing with not thirty yards separating them. Lowes, who was second last year won the cup.

There were forty-two starters in the Woodstock race, in which Charlie Thorpe finished eighth. Thorpe has not had much training for the fifteen mile distance, and would have done much better at ten miles. For that distance he was in third position, running well up with the leaders, but the pace was too much for him to hold after covering that much and he fell back. Geo. Adams, the crack Hamilton runner, won the event.

The 24th F.B.C.A. will hold a gun drill in the Peterborough armouries on Thursday night, May 27th, at eight o'clock. All members and intending members are requested to be present. Uniforms will be issued.

By order, T. W. H. Young, Major, 24th F.B.C.A.

"CITIZEN" ON THE DUST EVIL

Editor of The Examiner.

Before the aftermath of the Celebration has passed away let me call the attention of our City fathers to their dereliction of duty in one of the many instances. We have fallen on dusty, if not evil days, and while the desirability of keeping down the dust at all times has been repeatedly pointed out for obvious reasons, it became a pressing necessity when so many strangers were in the city, especially when the streets were to be used for a Military parade by three regiments. The line of March was simply disgraceful. If after their experience of Sunday and Monday our visitors should dub us the "Dirty City," instead of the "Electric City," we cannot complain of its appropriatness. The ratepayers have paid for the watering, but the goods were not delivered. We do not care what it costs, but we want the work performed thoroughly. I shall say nothing about the waste paper, banana peelings and other debris that lay strewn around if not blown around in profusion.

Your, etc.,
Citizen.

Young Man In Court For Driving Through Simcoe Street Gates

James Wallis was charged at the police court this morning with driving through the gates at Simcoe St. early Sunday morning, and thereby injuring the property of the G. T. R. He pleaded not guilty. After hearing the evidence for the prosecution His Worship said that the young man was guilty, but he enlarged the case until to-morrow morning, that the accused might bring witnesses to prove that the horse was uncontrollable, and that the accident was unavoidable.

Mr. Samuel McIlroy, gateman at Simcoe and Bethune streets, said that he was there at five minutes to four on Sunday morning. A horse and buggy came along and drove through the gates, which were down for a double-header. They had just been freshly painted. A young man was alone in the buggy, but he could not identify him. The gates were broken. He yelled at the fellow, but he paid no attention to him. After crossing the track he turned up Bethune St.

Isaac Watson was called. He is employed at Robinson's livery. They had a number of horses out on Saturday night, one coming in about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The horse had white paint on it. Wallace brought the animal in. He said that he had met with an accident.

Detective Wm. Scott of the Grand Trunk, said that the cost of repairing the gates would be about twenty dollars.

Dr. Robinson said that he noticed the buggy was marked with white paint, and badly damaged. There was also paint on the horse. The accused had this horse and buggy out. The damage to it would be about two dollars.

The defendant said that he did not drive any more than six miles. It was impossible for him to stop the horse, it having become scared.

MR. R. J. McLAUGHLIN, K.C., SENDS LETTER TO COUNCIL REGARDING THE POWER AT BURLEIGH FALLS

May 19th, 1909.

H. Rush, Esq., Mayor of the City of Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—In reference to the resolution passed by your Council on the 6th inst., I am enclosing you herewith an offer for the sale of Burleigh Falls properties. I am also enclosing an original report of Andrew F. MacCallum, C.E., consulting engineer for the City of Hamilton.

In connection with this offer I wish to make the following observations: The title of the Company to the Burleigh Falls power is originally a fee simple. It is not in the ordinary sense "leased power" as the Government of Canada never expropriated Burleigh Falls, consequently the title of the Company is similar to that of the powers in the City of Peterborough and at Nassau, which were not expropriated, but instead of compensation for the diversion of water for canal purposes the owners of the Burleigh Falls powers have accepted an agreement with the Dominion of Canda for the use of the Government dam at this point. This agreement was drawn for sixty years and there is nominal rental of one dollar a year. At the expiration of the sixty years the power does not revert to the Government and the Government would not be in a position to give the power to anyone else as the company owns in fee simple the water power rights and it is expressly provided that this agreement shall not affect the title which the company otherwise has to the property. The affect of the agreement is merely to define the rights of the Company and the Government. At this price the city would be paying an equivalent of a rental of five thousand dollars a year for Burleigh for four thousand horse power. I think we must assume that the price the Government charges for the power it owns is reasonable. The Government's price would be two dollars per horse power or say at least six thousand dollars per annum, so you will see that the company is offering you the power at a considerably lower annual charge than it could be obtained from the Government and a considerably lower charge than what is paid by the lessees of Government power on the Otonabee River. It may be said that this power is situated further away from Peterborough than some of the small powers that have been leased by the Government and developed nearer the City of Peterborough, but the extra cost of transmission lines is much more than offset by the economy in the development of a large body of power and lower pro rata cost of operation. It will cost very little more to operate a plant of four thousand horse power than for one of a thousand. It is no harder work for men in charge to look upon the flow of Burleigh Falls pass into the turbines than it would be on one of the little powers.

I think if we were to offer you the lease of ten hundred or twelve hundred horse power at two dollars a horse power on the river you would very quickly take it.

This matter is larger, but is it too large for the assured prospects of your city. In looking over the engineer's report I think you will come to the same conclusion that I have done that is that his figures are very conservative, that the prices put down for power house and other matters of developments are sufficiently large to cover all contingencies. We desire that this should be so.

You will notice the engineer's report figures three thousand five hundred and fifty horse power delivered at Peterborough for an annual charge that is exceedingly low, in round numbers about $7.50 a horse power. This, we think, cannot be excelled anywhere. It is about one-third of the cost of Niagara power to the western cities of Ontario. In considering Burleigh and comparing it with one of the powers on the Otonabee River, it must be especially borne in mind that the reservoir gives Burleigh a great additional value by enabling the water to be restored during the period of low load at night, and as a result gives much additional power during the working day. Then the large area of Stony Lake spreads the freshet and prevents this power from suffering from back water as the others do. The reservoir above will also have the affect of preventing a temporary interference with the flow of the water by reason of lockages, which will often seriously lessen the river powers. I am not saying anything about the greatly increased head that will be given to this power when the proposed new dam is erected and the enormous reservoir will then be behind it. If your city accepts this proposition you will be obtaining a power sufficiently large to be economically operated and to enable you to offer the highest inducements possible to incoming manufacturers, namely, cheap power for all time to come. You will be obtaining the power at a lower annual rate than the Dominion Government have been charging the other Power Companies, and at the same time you will be obtaining a power that will have forty or fifty per cent. more actual efficiency than a river power of the same head.

You will note that Engineer MacCallum's figures are $7.50 for horse power for twenty-four hours yearly, delivered, transformed, and ready for distribution.

Yours truly,
R. J. McLAUGHLIN.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 26.—A good reaction occurred in stocks to-day with Reading leading the way down. Selling started on the floor by professionals communicated to outsiders and the list lost ground almost from the tap of the opening bell. There was some good support in copper stocks which lost only fractions and Steel was supported fairly well, but the others were under steady pressure and sold off easily. There was no news of importance to influence values and the decline was thought to be due more to an overbought condition than anything else. We would not be surprised to see this market sell considerably lower and would advise against buying except on the very weak places and then for turns only.

KENNEDY'S MEAT MARKET

THE CANNON BURST.

Tragedy in a Celebration to Honor President Tyler.

In 1844 an accident took place in the American navy—the explosion of a big gun, the Peacemaker, on board the frigate Princeton, off Broad bay, in the Potomac river, eight miles below Washington.

Those killed were Abel Upshur of Virginia, secretary of state; Thomas W. Gilmer, governor of Virginia; Commodore Kenson of the navy, Representative Sykes of New Jersey, Representative Maxey of Maryland and Mr. Gardiner, an ex-member of congress from New York.

The severely wounded were William Wilkins of Pennsylvania, secretary of war; Miss Wickliffe, daughter of the postmaster general; Colonel Dade, Colonel Benton, Judge Phelps of Vermont, Commodore Stockton, commander of the Princeton, and nine seamen.

On Feb. 28, 1844, President Tyler, the members of his cabinet and their families and many other prominent persons, said to number over 400, were invited by Commodore Stockton to spend the day on the frigate Princeton, which was lying at anchor off Alexandria. After the guests were on board anchor was weighed for a short sail on the Potomac, and the ship proceeded down the river to a point below Fort Washington. On the trip down the heaviest piece of ordnance on the frigate was fired several times, presumably as a matter of entertainment for the company. The gun had been constructed from a model made by Commodore Stockton, and President Tyler expressed a decided interest in the weapon. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon on the return trip the Princeton anchored off Broad bay, and the company was invited to luncheon in the cabins below the gun deck. After luncheon Commodore Stockton proposed that the gun be fired once more as a salute, he said, to the memory of the great peacemaker, George Washington. President Tyler, his cabinet and a number of gentlemen repaired to the gun deck.

As the gun was fired the breech end from the trunnion's back was blown off, and this section was split in twain. One-half of it fell on Secretary Upshur. Two sailors removed it, but the secretary expired in a few moments. Governor Gilmer had been struck and killed by this section of the gun before it felled Mr. Upshur. The party on the gun deck was scattered, and the whole ship ebook under the force of the explosion.

The excitement was great. The bodies were removed from the Princeton, taken to Washington, placed in hearses at the wharf and carried to the White House, where they lay in the east room till the day of the funeral—a day of general public mourning.—Exchange.

"Now, see here, if you are going to prolong this line of thought you can go right to bed."

The Old Ones.

"We'll have to give up the idea of puttin' pictures in the parlor, Jane," remarked old John Turnipseed as he threw the bridle under the table.

"Why?" asked his wife.

"Too dear! Why, I priced one in town today, and the dealer sez, sez he, 'That's an old master; it's price is £500.'

"'Why,' sez I, 'it looks like a second-hand pictur'.'

"'Yes, it is,' sez he.

"Then, thinks I, if a secondhand pictur' costs that much it's no use to price a new un. So, Jane, I reckon we'll have to hang up a few mottoes, 'God Bless Our Home' and the like, and let the pictur's go."—Pearson's Weekly.

City of Snow White Domes.

The little city of El-Oued, with its population of 8,000 people, at the extreme south of the province of Constantine, in Algeria, is unique even for a Mohammedan city, because of the great number of its snow white domes or cupolas. So extraordinary is the great number of these cupolas that many writers have referred to El-Oued as "the city of a thousand cupolas." The homes of the residents of El-Oued are constructed of white plaster and were it not for the whiteness of the domes would be taken at a cursory glance to be a city of coke ovens.—Popular Mechanics.

To Protect a Bureau.

One housekeeper who has mahogany bedroom furniture and a careless family has hit upon a way to protect the top of her bureaus. She buys a remnant of white oilcloth and has it cut to fit the top of the bureau. This is put on beneath the ordinary bureau cover.

Naturally, a cover that is not trans parent must be used, but those of pique or heavy linen are both smart and serviceable, and the oilcloth not only keeps the wood from scratching, but prevents more serious scarring from hot curling irons or dropped matches.

Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., Gives His Opinion of Purity Ware Company

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—I attended the public meeting last night in the council chamber to hear the discussion upon the bylaw of the Purity Ware Company, that is to be voted upon by the taxpayers on June 1st. and I must say that I was surprised at the stand that Mr. Jas. Kendry took, and I felt sorry to see a gentleman and a business man like Mr. Kendry, talk against this company as he did at the meeting last night. I feel that we want more manufacturers in this city, and I think that this Purity Ware Company is one of the right kind of manufacturers and one that we should all work hard to get. We all know that the manufacturing industries are the things that keep our city to the front, and help us all. The money that is earned by the mechanics, laborers and girls is spent in our city.

I would also like to remark that we elected Alderman Gillespie and Alderman Bradburn to look after our interests in the council, and we had confidence in that that they would endeavour to do their very best to boom the city of Peterborough, and help themselves at the same time, because these men are business men and property holders, and, I might say, good, shrewd business men. These same men and our worthy City Clerk, S. R. Armstrong, were sent to New York by our city to look into the matter of the Purity Ware Company, and bring in their report. They did so and their report was a good one and they recommended it to the Mayor, and the City Council, and the Board of Trade, and I feel sure that these men went through the matter carefully before they presented their report, and our tax payers should show these men that they have confidence in their judgment, and go to the polls on June 1st, and vote for the bylaw, and carry it by an overwhelming majority.

I have also heard it remarked that it looks bad because Mayor Rush is trying to sell his ground to the company. Surely Mayor R should have the same privilege to s land as any other individual, and ertainly think that Mayor Rush ha ered his land at a very low price indeed to induce this Purity Ware Company to locate here. I will do all that I can to get this company to locate in our good city. I am largely interested in the welfare of the city of Peterborough, as all that I possess is here, and I feel sure that the people will see that we want this Purity Ware, and many other factories, and will vote for the bylaw.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the use of your valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,

J. J. TURNER, SENR.

WEDDING BELLS

STARR—LEA.

The marriage of Miss Edna Mary Lea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Lea, to Mr. Charles Alexander Starr took place at three o'clock this afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents in Sherbourne street.

The ceremony was performed by the Rv. F. Wilkinson, rector of St. Peters' Anglican church, in the drawing room with flowers and palms. To the strains of the Lohengrin Wedding March, played by an orchestra, the bride aws brought in and given away by her father. She was attired in an Empire wedding gown of ivory satin and Irish lace. Instead of the conventional tulle veil she wore a wreath of lillies of the valley, and carried a shower of lilies and roses, which, with a handsome diamond ring, were the gifts of the groom.

Miss Hazel Lea attended her sister as bridesmaid, in white dotted Swiss muslin and Maltese lace, and pink mohair hat with roses, and ties, and carried pink roses, and wore the groom's gift, a cross of pearls. Mr. Richard Meredith was best man.

Mrs. Lea held a reception after the ceremony, wearing grey satin with an overdress of marquisette. Mrs. Aldridge, an other sister of the bride, was in Dutch blue lace and hat with pink roses. After the usual toasts and speeches, Mr. and Mrs. Starr drove away in a shower of confetti to catch the train for New York, where the wedding trip will be spent. The bride traveled in rose cloth and tuscan hat with pal blue and black.

THE ORANGE GRAND MASTER'S REPORT REFERS TO CATHOLIC DISABILITIES BILL

Dr. T. S. Sproule Gave His Annual Address to Sovereign Grand Lodge Yesterday---Reports of the Other Officers are Being Discussed To-day---A Welcome From City.

The eightieth annual session of the Grand Lodge of British America opened yesterday afternoon in the Court House, at which one hundred and fifty delegates were in attendance. Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., of Markdale, the Grand Master, was in the chair. The afternoon's session was taken up with the reading of reports and the appointment of Standing Committees.

Grand Master's Address

The meeting was opened with the reading of the Grand Master's address. In this he congratulated Peterborough citizens on their live and enterprising town, in his introductory remarks, describing the city as a bee-hive of industry where the Orange element played no important part in making it what it was.

"The year just closed," he said, "has been marked by commendable energy and growth in our Society. The organizers placed in the field since last year by the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge and Provincial Grand Lodges, have been doing great work, and their labours have resulted in organizing and opening up new lodges in large numbers, reviving and strengthening weak ones, and infusing greater interest and increased activity and energy amongst our members as a whole.

The Grand Master referred at length to "Mr. Redmond's Catholic Disabilities Bill," which was regarded as tantamount to a repeal of the Coronation Declaration. Referring to the vigorous fight put up against the proposed legislation in the Old Country, he suggested a consideration of how the Grand Lodge could most effectually join forces with their friends in the Motherland, in trying to prevent legislation which threatens to result in such conditions that "the fight for freedom will have to be made over again."

The West, owing to the rapid settlement of the country, and the great influx of immigrants from almost every quarter of the world, is filling up with a heterogeneous cosmopolitan population, which seems to make it the most important field for our labours. Our energies should be particularly directed to that locality. Therefore, aided by the Provincial Grand Lodge of British Columbia we kept Bro. Whiteley in that Province most of the year where he has done, and is doing, good work.

In Bro. Whiteley, we have a typical organizer. A man thoroughly posted in the work, and one who commands the respect and good will of all those with whom he is brought in contact, and leaves a good impression wherever he labours. His work is elevating and ennobling the order and popularizing it as a Society.

Grand Secretary's Report

This report was read by Mr. Wm. Lee, of Toronto. It showed that sixty-five new Primary lodges had been organised, three in Newfoundland, four in Nova Scotia, five in New Brunswick, seven in Ontario, East; twenty in Ontario West, five in Manitoba, eleven in Saskatchewan, four in Alberta and six in British Columbia. Three County and three District Lodges were formed, five Royal Scarlet Dispensations were issued and eight warrants for the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association. The annual returns from the various Provinces denoted much progress.

Secretary Benefit Fund

Mr. J. S. Leighton, Secretary of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America Benefit Fund, stated:

This fund was organised to provide financial protection for the widows and orphans of deceased brethren; and to assist in building up the Orange Association. $600,000. has been paid to the beneficiaries of deceased brethren. Its influence in keeping up a steady membership in the Orange Association was also good, because those insured knew that it was just as important on their part, to keep their Primary Lodge dues paid up, and be in good standing therein, as it was to have their monthly assessments paid on the books of the Fund.

The following figures from the Auditor's Report for 1908 shows progress at present being made. At the end of the year 1907 there was a balance of cash on hand and in the bank of $17,692.18, and at the end of the year 1908 there was $28,655.13, thus increasing the reserve by the amount of $10,962.95 during that year.

Finances Strong

The Grand Treasurer's and the Auditor's Report was also read, showing the finances to be in a healthy condition. The total receipts were $9,218.65 and the total expenditures $4,974.41, leaving a balance in The Ladies' Society treasurer's hands of $4,244.24.

several who have occupied honourable positions in it, and we recognise among them many of our best citizens. We know that, along with upholding those principles which it is your especial aim to protect, you also carry on the benevolent work of providing for the helpless, and that in the labours which will engage your attention your time will be pretty fully occupied, but we hope you will be able to have a look over our city while you are here. eW think that you will be well repaid if you will do so. Our manufacturing industries are numerous, but many of them are of such importance that you should not fail to visit them ,and their combined importance is shown by the fact established by the last Government report, that the value of the manufactured products per head of population is larger in Peterborough than in any other city in Canada. Our public buildings, we also think, are are worthy of your attention, including the Armories, which were opened last Monday ,the Normal School, the Collegiate Institute, the hospitals, churches, public schools, and other public buildings, as well as many private residences, and our parks, of which we have several, are just putting on their summer garb in time to welcome you. The lift lock on the Trent Waterway — a waterway of which the greater part is completed, and which will open navigation through the heart of Ontario from Lake Ontario to the Georgian Bay—you should not on any account miss seeing, and I am pleased to know that amny of you have had an opportunity of visiting it, for there is not another like it on the continent and it is the highest in the world.

We hope your stay in Peterborough will be a most pleasant one, so that you will carry away with you only favourable recollections of your visit and not a tinge of regret that you chose Peterborough for your annual meeting this year.

Ald. Turner also addressed a few remarks, welcoming the Orangemen to the city.

District Master W. H. G. Armstrong and Mr. J. B. McWilliams made speeches of welcome, to which suitable replies were made by Dr. Sproule and Lieut.-Col. A .B. Belcher, ex-Mayor of South Hampton.

OTHER BUSINESS.

The morning was principally taken up with ritual work An important feature of the session, however, was the bringing of the report of the Correspondence Committee by Controller Hacken, of Toronto. It recommended that petitions be sent to each community to be sigend and forwarded to the Imperial Government, protesting against any interference with the Coronation Declaration. It also commended the Ontario Legislature in its action in having the Racine and McGarry bills withdrawn and in case they should be re-introduced that they meet with similar treatment. The committee protested aginst the dropping of the word "Public" in connection with the school system of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

In this conection Mr. F. Milley, Grand Secretary for Newfoundland, stated that there the dominational schools, each church supported its

Orangemen Formally Welcomed By City At This Morning's Session

The Orange Lodge of Britsh America resumed its session at nine o'clock this morning, with the Grand Master, Dr. T. S. Sproule, in the chair. The delegates were formally welcomed by the city this morning, His Worship Mayor Rush and Ald. J. J. Turner, jr., extending addresses to them.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

To the Most Worshipful, the Grand Master, Officers and Members of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America:—

Gentlemen,—On behalf of the people of Peterborough, we wish to give you a hearty welcome to this city on this occasion of your eightieth annual meeting. It always gives us pleasure to welcome visitors, whatever may be the occasion of their coming, and it is an especial pleasure to receive the representatives of a large and influential association and who are gathered from all parts of our great Dominion and Newfoundland. There was a time, perhaps, when there was a certain amount of jealousy or rivalry that was not as friendly as it should have been between the different Provinces, but that, happily, has passed away, and to-day, whether our home is in the Provinces washed by the Atlantic or laved by the Pacific, or on the great lakes or on the mighty St. Lawrence or in those western prairie Provinces of great promise, we are all Canadians, loyal to our country and to each other, happy that our lot has been cast in this forward part of the world, and proud to be British subjects and part of the great British Empire. Your jurisdiction goes beyond the boundaries of the Dominion, and includes the sister colony of Newfoundland, and that island we regard with the spirit of brotherhood, wishing it prosperity as a sister colony so long as it wishes to occupy that position and ready to open our arms to it whenever it comes to the conclusion that union with the Dominion is to be preferred to the state of independent blessedness. We in this section of Ontario are acquainted with your Order, and have residing here

Tragedy in a Celebration to Honor President Tyler.

In 1844 an accident took place in the American navy—the explosion of a big gun, the Peacemaker, on board the frigate Princeton, off Broad bay, in the Potomac river, eight miles below Washington.

Those killed were Abel Upshur of Virginia, secretary of state; Thomas W. Gilmer, governor of Virginia; Commodore Kennon of the navy, Representative Gykes of New Jersey, Representative Maxey of Maryland and Mr. Gardiner, an ex-member of congress from New York.

The severely wounded were William Wilkins of Pennsylvania, secretary of war; Miss Wickliffe, daughter of the postmaster general; Colonel Dade, Colonel Benton, Judge Phelps of Vermont, Commodore Stockton, commander of the Princeton, and nine seamen.

On Feb. 28, 1844, President Tyler, the members of his cabinet and their families and many other prominent persons, said to number over 400, were invited by Commodore Stockton to spend the day on the frigate Princeton, which was lying at anchor off Alexandria. After the guests were on board anchor was weighed for a short sail on the Potomac, and the ship proceeded down the river to a point below Fort Washington. On the trip down the heaviest piece of ordnance on the frigate was fired several times, presumably as a matter of entertainment for the company. The gun had been constructed from a model made by Commodore Stockton, and President Tyler expressed a decided interest in the weapon. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon on the return trip the Princeton anchored off Broad bay, and the company was invited to luncheon in the cabins below the gun deck. After luncheon Commodore Stockton proposed that the gun be fired once more as a salute, he said, to the memory of the great peacemaker, George Washington. President Tyler, his cabinet and a number of gentlemen repaired to the gun deck.

As the gun was fired the breech end from the trunnion's back was blown off, and this section was split in twain. One-half of it fell on Secretary Upshur. Two sailors removed it, but the secretary expired in a few moments. Governor Gilmar had been struck and killed by this section of the gun before it felled Mr. Upshur. The party on the gun deck was scattered, and the whole ship shook under the force of the explosion.

The excitement was great. The bodies were removed from the Princeton, taken to Washington, placed in hearses at the wharf and carried to the White House, where they lay in the east room till the day of the funeral—a day of general public mourning.—Exchange.

Just Before the Spanking.

"Pop, does a chicken come from an egg?"

"Yes, my son."

"And does an egg come from a chicken?"

"Yes."

"Well, if a chicken comes from an egg, and an egg comes from a chicken, which"—

"Now, see here, if you are going to prolong this line of thought you can go right to bed."

"But, pop!"

"Well, what?"

"How does a chicken come from an egg?"

"Oh, any hen can sit on an egg and hatch it."

"Gee! I'm glad I ain't a hen. It must hurt to sit on a hatchet!" (Hasty exit.)—New York Times.

The Old Ones.

"We'll have to give up the idea of puttin' pictures in the parlor, Jane," remarked old John Turnipseed as he threw the bridle under the table.

"Why?" asked his wife.

"Too dear! Why, I priced one in town today, and the dealer sez, sez he, 'That's an old master; it's price is £500.'

"'Why,' sez I, 'it looks like a second-hand pictur'.'

"'Yes, it is,' sez he.

"Then, thinks I, if a secondhand pictur' costs that much it's no use to price a new un. So, Jane, I reckon we'll have to hang up a few mottoes, 'God Bless Our Home' and the like, and let the pictur's go."—Pearson's Weekly.

City of Snow White Domes.

The little city of El-Oued, with its population of 8,000 people, at the extreme south of the province of Constantine, in Algeria, is unique even for a Mohammedan city, because of the great number of its snow white domes or cupolas. So extraordinary is the great number of these cupolas that many writers have referred to El-Oued as "the city of a thousand cupolas." The homes of the residents of El-Oued are constructed of white plaster and were it not for the whiteness of the domes would be taken at a cursory glance to be a city of coke ovens.—Popular Mechanics.

To Protect a Bureau.

One housekeeper who has mahogany bedroom furniture and a careless family has hit upon a way to protect the top of her bureaus. She buys a remnant of white oilcloth and has it cut to fit the top of the bureau. This is put on beneath the ordinary bureau cover.

Naturally, a cover that is not transparent must be used, but those of pique or heavy linen are both smart and serviceable, and the oilcloth not only keeps the wood from scratching, but prevents more serious scarring from hot curling irons or dropped matches.

Willing to Oblige.

"Scuse me, ma'am," said the husky hobo; "but, as youse kin see, I ain't hardly got a rag t' me back. Can't youse do sumthin' fer me?"

"Certainly," replied the kind lady. "Here's the rag bag. Help yourself."—Detroit Tribune.

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Dear Sir,—I attended the public meeting last night in the council chamber to hear the discussion upon the bylaw of the Purity Ware Company, that is to be voted upon by the taxpayers on June 1st. and I must say that I was surprised at the stand that Mr. Jas. Kendry took, and I felt sorry to see a gentleman and a business man like Mr. Kendry, talk against this company as he did at the meeting last night. I feel that we want more manufacturers in this city, and I think that this Purity Ware Company is one of the right kind of manufacturers and one that we should all work hard to get. We all know that the manufacturing industries are the things that keep our city to the front, and help us all. The money that is earned by the mechanics, laborers and girls is spent in our city.

I would also like to remark that we elected Alderman Gillespie and Alderman Bradburn to look after our interests in the council, and we had confidence in that that they would endeavour to do their very best to boom the city of Peterborough, and help themselves at the same time, because these men are business men and property holders, and, I might say, good, shrewd business men. These same men and our worthy City Clerk, S. R. Armstrong, were sent to New York by our city to look into the matter of the Purity Ware Company, and bring in their report. They did so and their report was a good one and they recommended it to the Mayor, and the City Council, and the Board of Trade, and I feel sure that these men went through the matter carefully before they presented their report, and our tax payers should show these men that they have confidence in their judgment, and go to the polls on June 1st, and vote for the bylaw, and carry it by an overwhelming majority.

I have also heard it remarked that it looks bad because Mayor Rush is trying to sell his ground to the company. Surely Mayor Rush should have the same privilege to sell his land as any other individual, and I certainly think that Mayor Rush has offered his land at a very low price indeed to induce this Purity Ware Company to locate here. I will do all that I can to get this company to locate in our good city. I am largely interested in the welfare of the city of Peterborough, as all that I possess is here, and I feel sure that the people will see that we want this Purity Ware, and many other factories, and will vote for the bylaw.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the use of your valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,
J. J. TURNER, SENR

WEDDING BELLS

STARR—LEA.

The marriage of Miss Edna Mary Lea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Lea, to Mr. Charles Alexander Starr took place at three o'clock this afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents in Sherbourne street.

The ceremony was performed by the Rv. F. Wilkinson, rector of St. Peters' Anglican church, in the drawing room with flowers and palms. To the strains of the Lohengrin Wedding March, played by an orchestra, the bride aws brought in and given away by her father. She was attired in an Empire wedding gown of ivory satin and Irish lace. Instead of the conventional tulle veil she wore a wreath of lillies of the valley, and carried a shower of lilies and roses, which, with a handsome diamond ring, were the gifts of the groom.

Miss Hazel Lea attended her sister as bridesmaid, in white dotted Swiss muslin and Maltese lace, and pink mohair hat with roses, and ties, and carried pink roses, and wore the groom's gift, a cross of pearls. Mr. Richard Meredith was best man.

Mrs. Lea held a reception after the ceremony, wearing grey satin with an overdress of marquisette. Mrs. Aldridge, an other sister of the bride, was in Dutch blue lace and hat with pink roses. After the usual toasts and speeches, Mr. and Mrs. Starr drove away in a shower of confetti to catch the train for New York, where the wedding trip will be spent. The bride traveled in rose cloth and tuscan hat with pal blue and black.

THE ORANGE GRAND MASTER'S REPORT REFERS TO CATHOLIC DISABILITIES BILL

Dr. T. S. Sproule Gave His Annual Address to Sovereign Grand Lodge Yesterday---Reports of the Other Officers are Being Discussed To-day---A Welcome From City.

The eightieth annual session of the Grand Lodge of British America opened yesterday afternoon in the Court House, at which one hundred and fifty delegates were in attendance. Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., of Markdale, the Grand Master, was in the chair. The afternoon's session was taken up with the reading of reports and the appointment of Standing Committees.

Grand Master's Address

The meeting was opened with the reading of the Grand Master's address. In this he congratulated Peterborough citizens on their live and enterprising town, in his introductory remarks, describing the city as a bee-hive of industry where the Orange element played no important part in making it what it was.

"The year just closed," he said, "has been marked by commendable energy and growth in our Society. The organizers placed in the field since last year by the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge and Provincial Grand Lodges, have been doing great work, and their labours have resulted in organizing and opening up new lodges in large numbers, reviving and strengthening weak ones, and infusing greater interest and increased activity and energy amongst our members as a whole.

The Grand Master referred at length to "Mr. Redmond's Catholic Disabilities Bill," which was regarded as tantamount to a repeal of the Coronation Declaration. Referring to the vigorous fight put up against the proposed legislation in the Old Country, he suggested a consideration of how the Grand Lodge could most effectually join forces with their friends in the Motherland, in trying to prevent legislation which threatens to result in such conditions that "the fight for freedom will have to be made over again."

The West, owing to the rapid settlement of the country, and the great influx of immigrants from almost every quarter of the world, is filling up with a heterogeneous cosmopolitan population, which seems to make it the most important field for our labours. Our energies should be particularly directed to that locality. Therefore, aided by the Provincial Grand Lodge of British Columbia we kept Bro. Whiteley in that Province most of the year where he has done, and is doing, good work.

In Bro. Whiteley, we have a typical organizer. A man thoroughly posted in the work, and one who commands the respect and good will of all those with whom he is brought in contact, and leaves a good impression wherever he labours. His work is elevating and ennobling the order and popularising it as a Society.

Grand Secretary's Report

This report was read by Mr. Wm. Lee, of Toronto. It showed that sixty-five new Primary lodges had been organized, three in Newfoundland, four in Nova Scotia, five in New Brunswick, seven in Ontario, East; twenty in Ontario West, five in Manitoba, eleven in Saskatchewan, four in Alberta and six in British Columbia. Three County and three District Lodges were formed, five Royal Scarlet Dispensations were issued and eight warrants for the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association. The annual returns from the various Provinces denoted much progress.

Secretary Benefit Fund

Mr. J. S. Leighton, Secretary of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America Benefit Fund, stated:

This fund was organized to provide financial protection for the widows and orphans of deceased brethren; and to assist in building up the Orange Association. $600,000 has been paid to the beneficiaries of deceased brethren. Its influence in keeping up a steady membership in the Orange Association was also good, because those insured knew that it was just as important on their part, to keep their Primary Lodge dues paid up, and be in good standing therein, as it was to have their monthly assessments paid on the books of the Fund.

The following figures from the Auditor's Report for 1908 shows progress at present being made. At the end of the year 1907 there was a balance of cash on hand and in the bank of $17,692.18, and at the end of the year 1908 there was $28,655.13, thus increasing the reserve by the amount of $10,962.95 during that year.

Finances Strong

The Grand Treasurer's and the Auditor's Report was also read, showing the finances to be in a healthy condition. The total receipts were $9,218.65 and the total expenditures $4,974.41, leaving a balance in The Ladies' Society treasurer's hands of $4,244.24.

several who have occupied honourable positions in it, and we recognise among them many of our best citizens. We know that, along with upholding those principles which it is your especial aim to protect, you also carry on the benevolent work of providing for the helpless, and that in the labours which will engage your attention your time will be pretty fully occupied, but we hope you will be able to have a look over our city while you are here. eW think that you will be well repaid if you will do so. Our manufacturing industries are numerous, but many of them are of such importance that you should not fail to visit them ,and their combined importance is shown by the fact established by the last Government report, that the value of the manufactured products per head of population is larger in Peterborough than in any other city in Canada. Our public buildings, we also think, are are worthy of your attention, including the Armories, which were opened last Monday ,the Normal School, the Collegiate Institute, the hospitals, churches, public schools, and other public buildings, as well as many private residences, and our parks, of which we have several, are just putting on their summer garb in time to welcome you. The lift lock on the Trent Waterway — a waterway of which the greater part is completed, and which will open navigation through the heart of Ontario from Lake Ontario to the Georgian Bay—you should not on any account miss seeing, and I am pleased to know that amny of you have had an opportunity of visiting it, for there is not another like it on the continent and it is the highest in the world.

We hope your stay in Peterborough will be a most pleasant one, so that you will carry away with you only favourable recollections of your visit and not a tinge of regret that you chose Peterborough for your annual meeting this year.

Ald. Turner also addressed a few remarks, welcoming the Orangemen to the city.

District Master W. H. G. Armstrong and Mr. J. B. McWilliams made speeches of welcome, to which suitable replies were made by Dr. Sproule and Lieut.-Col. A .B. Belcher, ex-Mayor of South Hampton.

OTHER BUSINESS.

The morning was principally taken up with ritual work An important feature of the session, however, was the bringing of the report of the Correspondence Committee by Controller Hacken, of Toronto. It recommended that petitions be sent to each community to be signed and forwarded to the Imperial Government, protesting against any interference with the Coronation Declaration. It also commended the Ontario Legislature in its action in having the Racine and McGarry bills withdrawn and in case they should be re-introduced that they meet with similar treatment. The committee protested aginst the dropping of the word "Public" in connection with the school system of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

In this conection Mr. F. Milley, Grand Secretary for Newfoundland, stated that there the dominational schools, each church supported its

Orangemen Formally Welcomed By City At This Morning's Session

The Orange Lodge of Britsh America resumed its session at nine o'clock this morning, with the Grand Master, Dr. T. S. Sproule, in the chair. The delegates were formally welcomed by the city this morning, His Worship Mayor Rush and Ald. J. J. Turner, jr., extending addresses to them

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Mayor Rush in welcoming the Orangemen, spoke as follows:

To the Most Worshipful, the Grand Master, Officers and Members of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America:—

Gentlemen,—On behalf of the people of Peterborough, we wish to give you a hearty welcome to this city on this occasion of your eightieth annual meeting. It always gives us pleasure to welcome visitors, whatever may be the occasion of their coming, and it is an especial pleasure to receive the representatives of a large and influential association and who are gathered from all parts of our great Dominion and Newfoundland. There was a time, perhaps, when there was a certain amount of jealousy or rivalry that was not as friendly as it should have been between the different Provinces, but that, happily, has passed away, and to-day, whether our home is in the Provinces washed by the Atlantic or laved by the Pacific, or on the great lakes or on the mighty St. Lawrence or in those western prairie Provinces of great promise, we are all Canadians, loyal to our country and to each other, happy that our lot has been cast in this forward part of the world, and proud to be British subjects and part of the great British Empire. Your jurisdiction goes beyond the boundaries of the Dominion, and includes the sister colony of Newfoundland, and that island we regard with the spirit of brotherhood, wishing it prosperity as a sister colony so long as it wishes to occupy that position and ready to open our arms to it whenever it comes to the conclusion that union with the Dominion is to be preferred to the state of independent blessedness. We in this section of Ontario are acquainted with your Order, and have residing here

WM. RICHARDS WAS DROWNED

Report of the Tragic Death of Former Local Resident is Confirmed by Cablegram.

RELATIVES GET WORD

The fears entertained by his relatives in Peterborough that William Richards, formerly of this city had been drowned while crossing to England on the Allan liner Ionian on May 14th, have been confirmed by the reception of a cablegram yesterday morning by Mr. John Richards from his sister in Torquay, England, that their father's body had been found. He had fallen overboard not far from Liverpool and the crew of the liner were unable to rescue him. The funeral will be held in England.

The deceased who left Peterborough about a year ago was well known here. Two brothers, Messrs. John and William and one daughter, Miss Susan Richards reside in this city and other surviving children are Mrs. Harry Herbert, Seaforth; Mrs. Wm. Bramfield, Clinton; Miss Emma, Port Hope; Miss Bessie, Garden Hill and Miss Adelaide in Torquay, England. His wife is a resident of Toronto.

BUILDING CITIES.

If activity in building operations is any indication of national prosperity, the "good times" have come again once more. "Construction," a journal devoted to the interests of the building trade, issues a monthly bulletin, showing the condition of structural operations throughout Canada. The first three months of the year showed a highly satisfactory condition of the building trade—a marked increase over the corresponding months of 1908, and the month of April of this year continues and emphasizes the story of increase. All sections of the country are having a steady advance in construction work. It seems that with the heavy influx of settlers into the western sections of the Dominion and the attendant growth of the middle and eastern sections, the high percentage of gain recorded in the opening months of 1909 will speedily be surpassed.

Summaries from fifteen representative population centres, based on returns furnished "Construction," twelve of which embrace comparative figures, show that the average general gain in building operations for the month of April is 53.36 per cent over the same month of last year. Only one city in the Dominion shows a falling off—Vancouver, B. C.—which, after an extended period of consecutive gains, shows a decline of 42.77 per cent., but it is expected that this deficit will be soon reduced, or wiped out. The largest increase for the month of April is in Fort William, which shows a gain of 1,188 per cent., something truly remarkable in view of the great building strides this city has been making within the past two years. Peterborough still holds the second place, by virtue of the striking gain for April—over this month of last year—of 287 per cent., the total amount of permits issued amounting to $81,721, as against $21,110 for the corresponding month of 1908, and the indications are that the pace will be maintained. Reports as to immediate prospects for all parts of the Dominion are very encouraging.

In May, 1908, Fort William issued building permits to the total of $85,500; the same month of this year shows a total of $1,114,900, a gain of 1,188 per cent.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

King Edward, the Peacemaker, is also the pacemaker

With wheat, beef, pork, and other table necessities mounting in price, the housewife's struggle with a daily menu will be intensified.

We have been wont to boast of the healthfulness of Canadian climate—but with so many ladies and gentlemen being reaped at the untimely age of 100 and 102, our vaunt will have to be revised

In the present Parliament there are 134 Liberals and 85 Conservatives, though the former number will be increased by one when the bye-election in Ottawa, made necessary by Sir Wilfrid Laurier electing to sit for Quebec, is held

Electing a Conservative in East Victoria is very like the Turks capturing Constantinople or the Dutch taking Holland If East Victoria had not been so wedded to Torysm we should not have had Mr J H Carnegie resigning his seat for the stamp counter.

Michigan has now a law which limits the number of liquor licenses to one for every 500 of the population, and denies the right to sell to those who repeatedly violate the law. Under such a law in Ontario, the licenses in Peterboroubh would be limited ot 34

It is gratifying to learn that application for Government annuities under the Government Annuities Act, continue to increase, those in hand totalling about a quarter of a million dollars. The annuity scheme is one of those provident ones that should succeed. It will prove a great boon to a self-respecting people, and be a great inducement to development of habits of thrift.

It was Mrs. Clementina Fessenden who suggested and founded Empire Day. To this Canadian lady we owe the fact that throughout the British Dominions the day is celebrated with zeal, and the people are thus enabled to reflect upon the importance of the Empire. The circumstance that 18,000 schools in Great Britain joined in the observance this year shows that the setting apart of the day was an inspiration. Mrs. Fessenden deserves to be congratulated upon her valuable contribution to the work of Empire building.

According to the judgment of the Essex County Court in the John H. Patton case, estates of persons dying in Ontario are liable for succession duties to the Province, although the property may be situated in the United States. This is a very important decision, though, of course, it will be the subject of appeal and of more judicial attention. While it may seem to justify and legalize measures of hardship, still there is in it the avoidance of the practice of men of wealth, taking money out of Canada and investing it in the United States or elsewhere to escape the succession duty, in addition to having escaped other forms of taxation during the life time of the owner.

MR. BRODEUR AND DR. REAUME

(Ottawa Free Press)

The Conservative press of Toronto continues to discuss the recent difference of opinion between Hon. L. P. Brodeur, the Federal Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Hon. J. O. Reaume, the Minister of Fisheries in the Ontario Cabinet in regard to the publication by the later of a draft copy of the suggested regulations for the governance of the fisheries in international waters.

The matter is one easy of comprehension to any one not entirely blinded by party spirit.

In the course of the negotiations between Dr. Starr Jordan, the representative of the United States on the joint commision, and Mr. S. T. Bastedo in the first instance and with Prof. E. E. Prince later on, the former submitted a draft set of what he thought would be suitable regulations. This draft was never accepted by the Canadian commissioners or the Canadian Government—in fact the regulations finally agreed upon differ most materially from those submitted by Dr. Starr Jordan. But Mr. Brodeur, with a commendable desire to keep the Provincial Governments, who are so vitally interested in the fisheries, posted as to the progress of the negotiations, forwarded to the fishery ministers of each of the provinces copies of this Jordan draft marked, "confidential, tentative and not to be published." Every provincial Government kept faith with this understanding except that of Ontario, which had the document reprinted by the official printers of the province, it differing in no visible way from any other document put forth by the Legislative Assembly, and distributed it broadcast without a word of explanation that it was a tentative draft and that it had not been accepted by Canada. The natural result was that there was a disposition on the part of certain Ontario fishermen to believe that their interests had been sacrificed, and there was a vigorous protest.

When the matter was brought to the attention of Mr. Brodeur, he at once explained that the draft regulations complained of were not those agreed upon and in self-defence was compelled to charge the Ontario Minister with bad faith in publishing what was a confidential document. Dr. Reaume comes back through the Mail and Empire, with the claim that he was perfectly justified in making the regulations public, because it was a means of notifying the people of Ontario of what was going on. If the draft regulations had been those agreed upon by the commisioners of the two countries there might have been some justification for the breach of faith; but when the Ontario Minister knew, as he has admitted, that the draft was only a preliminary one submitted by the American commissioner, it would seem that the better course would have been if he felt compelled to break confidence, to have at least stated that the document contained the tentative proposals only and that the final agreement had yet to be reached.

The course of Mr. Brodueur throughout the controversy has been one of dignity and that of a man animated by the full sense of his responsibility. When he accused Dr Reaume of bad faith in publishing so confidential a document he is justified by the facts and it is folly for the Mail and Empire to say

"If Dr. Reaume really gave out, as Minister Brodeur says he did, the proposals of the fishery commissioners, with respect to our affairs, all honour to him for so doing. Our people are entitled to know what is being done with their property, and they should know it before it is too late."

This might be a good argument if the draft regulations had been accepted or even proposed to be accepted by the Canadian Government; but under the circumstances it is one of the most picayune ever put forward by a party newspaper in Canada.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 27.—Erie and Wabash were the features of the market during the forenoon, each advancing a point, and causing a sluggish recovery in the entire market. The decline in wheat had a favourable effect on stock prices also, and quotations rose slowly but steadily until noon. The equipment stocks were well bought on the news that the Penna. R. R. would place an order for 23,000 cars at once and some manipulation in the tractions attracted a little attention that way. After noon the market grew intensely dull and prices started to sag off again.

Grain News

Chicago, May 27.—Wheat opened with May ⅜ higher and the deferred options unchanged. Corn and oats were under steady selling and lost a cent.

FOOTBALL NEWS FROM WARSAW

Warsaw, May 25th.—The opening game in District III, Midland Football League held on the club's grounds here yesterday, in which the representatives of Lakefield and the locals competed was of a superior quality and as the score of one each way would intimate was exciting all the way along.

The eleven from Cementville are certainly a husky bunch of pig skin pushers, though what they gained in weight, the locals counterbalanced in speed and they ran rings around the heavy ones..

The players were sportsmenlike their actions and very little roughing it was indulged in. The attendance was large, there being a good turnout of the fair sex, who kept their favourites encouraged by their work of praise and cheering.

Mr. aJck Sullivan, of Peterborough, refereed the game.

For the visitors, Capt. Stapler, and Charlton did excellent work, and one "lofty" one, Meddler by name, who held the position of centre half-back, certainly gave evidence of a correct cognomen by meddling in several little combinations of the locals forward line. In regard to the locals it would be hard to specialize, though perhaps Darling, Bell and Dodds gave more evidence of team work.

The line-up was as follows:

In the junior section of the Midland Football League, the aHvelock team went down to defeat before the local eleven by a score of 2-0, in a game played here on the afternoon of Victoria Day.

The line-up was as follows:

Havelock. — Quinlan, Bennett, Brooks, Bryans, Ryan, Kitchen, Curry, Curry, Marks, Barlow, Frost.

Warsaw. — Darling, Darling, Ogston, Darling, Watts, Payne, Lonsberry, Dodds, Matthews, aDlton, Clifford.

Cotton waste had been heaped around the pipe opening. The other end of the string of tapers was burning.

DEBATE ON FLEET.

Mr. Asquith Refuses to Be Drawn on Two-Power Standard.

London, May 27.—The House of Commons last night concluded the general debate on the budget resolutions, which were adopted after an unusually prolonged and heated discussion.

David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, thereupon introduced the finance bill, dealing with his financial proposals.

Earlier in the evening acrimonious discussion arose over opposition to attempts to compel Premier Asquith to define anew whether in estimating the number of ships necessary to Great Britain to maintain a fleet 10 per cent. more powerful than the combined fleets of any other two powers, the Government had in mind any specific powers, or if the plan was purely European, the intention being to effect a statement as to whether the United States was included in the estimates.

Mr. Asquith declined to commit himself, beyond saying that everything would depend on geographical conditions. He said he could not treat powers thousands of miles distant the same as powers only hundreds of miles distant.

A. J. Balfour and others of the Unionist members expressed their dissatisfaction over Mr. Asquith's reply, but the House by a large majority adopted a motion of confidence in the Premier's statement.

HAIR SLAUGHTER; KILLED BY NEGLIGENCE

Hair must have nourishment or die. If it does not have proper nourishment it will lose its vitality, grow weak and become an easy prey to the ravages of the vicious and destructive germs of dandruff.

Parisian Sage is a hair nourisher; it is the result of sincere study and experiment by one of the world's leading scientists.

It should be used regularly as a hair dressing by everyone with healthy hair, because it never fails to prevent dandruff, falling hair, or any scalp disease.

But Parisian Sage is not only a preventive it is a certain cure for dandruff; it stops itching of the scalp instantly; it makes hair grow thick and luxuriant. It is especially in demand by ladies, because it makes the hair beautiful, soft and fluffy. Wm. Madill, the druggist, sells it under a positive guarantee to do all that is claimed for it, or money back. 50 cents for a large bottle.

The Age of the Earth.

London, May 27.—The geologists figured some time ago that the age of the earth is at least 230,000,000 years, while mathematical psycicists have computed that the sun itself has not existed more than 115,000,000. Now R. J. Strutt, an eminent scientist, announces as the result of a recent experiment with a chunk of thorianite, containing helium, that the latter could not have accumulated in less than 240,000,000 years.

Protest May Be Made.

Ottawa, May 27.—The fact that the American gunboat Nashville, passing up to the great lakes, making eight cruisers in those waters, may result in a formal protest to the United States authorities.

One Cabinet Minister has expressed the opinion that the United States have exceeded the terms of arrangement. There is really no treaty, but a sort of understanding, based on an exchange of letters in 1817, terminable upon six months' notice by either party, whereby the naval force on the lakes was to be limited on Lake Ontario to one vessel not exceeding 100 tons burden, with one 18-lb gun; on the upper lakes to two vessels of light burden, armed lightly, and on Lake Champlain to one.

PRESENTATION TO MR. J. B. McWILLIAMS

At Yesterday's Meeting of Grand Orange Lodge by Orangemen of West Peterborough.

One of the most pleasing features of yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge in the County Council Chambers was the presentation of a beautiful Orange collar to Mr. J. B. McWilliams by the Orangemen of the County of West Peterborough. Mr. McWilliams has long been connected with the Orange Order, practically all his life. The presentation was made by the Grand Treasurer, Mr. W. J. Parkhill, of Midland. An address was read, expressing appreciation of Mr. McWilliam's valuable services to the Order. He had been forty years with the Association. He had done much to promote its interests and his services were always given freely.

Mr. McWilliams made a suitable reply, thanking his fellow members for their thoughtfulness and assuring them of the pleasure the work in the Orange Order gave him.

FORTY DOLLARS FOR STRIKING POLICEMAN

Young Man Under Influence of Liquor Assaulted P. C. Adams.

It costs money to blacken a policeman's eye as a young man discovered this morning when he pleaded guilty to having been drunk and disorderly on the holiday. This in itself is contrary to the satute, but it seldom runs up a police court bill to five dollars. This young man was in a fighting mood when P. C. Adams crossed his trail, and in resesting arrest he landed on P. C. Adams right eye. This morning a fine of $40 to be paid in ten days was imposed and the young man will thing twice the next time before he opposes a policeman.

MUSICAL CURIOSITY FROM THE WILDS OF AFRICA

A musical curiosity in the window of the Peterborough Music Co., George street, is attracting much attention. It represents one of the cruedest attempts of savage ingenuity in the eftempts of savage ingenuity in the diatonic scale. Briefly, is aspires to be a piano, built by a native African, and is played with two drumsticks beaten on strips of wood, each connected with a pasabar tone-cup producing musical sounds of varied tones. The curiosity is the property of a lady in the city, who values it as one of the rarest musical instruments known Greatest European Authority on Skin Diseases, Says It's a Germ.

The old idea that dandruff is scales of skin thrown off, through a feverish condition of the scalp is exploded. Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a germ disease. The germ burrows the scalp, throwing up little scales of cuticle, and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Not only cures dandruff, but stops falling hair and permits a luxuriant growth. Delightful hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Ald. Morrow Wants Power Co. To Give Citizens A Flat Rate Instead Of The Meter System

Emphasizes to Mr. J. H. Larmonth That Citizens are Complaining About Heavy Charges—Company Should Make Some Concessions in Return for Franchise.

THE COMPANY'S SIDE.

The Peterborough Light and Power Co. are asking for an extension of thirty years for their franchise of the streets, which enables them to distribute electric power to their customers. Mr. J. H. Larmonth, representing the Company, appeared before the Manufacturers' Committee last night in this regard and stated that the Company was considerably indebted to the Quaker Oats Co., and they wished to consolidate their indebtedness under a bond issue. They understood that they had a pereptual franchise, but have learned that they may be ordered to take down the poles at the end of five years. They did not want the exclusive right to do business in the city, and they did not believe the Council would inconvenience a large number of the citizens by preventing the company from distributing power to them.

Alderman Morrow wanted some concessions for the extension of the franchise, and he particularly held out for a flat rate to be charged by the Company, stating that many complaints had been made to him of the meter system.

There were present Ald. Gillespie, in the chair, Ald. Morow, and Ald. Metheral and Mayor Rush.

Mr. Larmonth wanted to know the city's demands in return for the franchise. Ald. Metheral said that they should guarantee to agree to any system which might be evolved to do away with the poles on the business section of George street.

House Lighting Rates.

Ald. Morrow thought it time for the determining of a flat rate for house lighting. It should be a fair one and he suggested $1.00 a lamp for the first ten lamps, 75 cents for the next ten, and 50 cents for the third ten. The merchants have been complaining of heavy rates, the result of the meter system. Every citizen would appreciate an agreement that would lead to a fair flat rate charge. When we use the lights most, the factories are closed down, except for a short period, prior to Christmas, when the nights are long.

Ald. Morrow also advocated having the commercial lighting rate correspondingly reduced and that an arrangement be made in reference to using the poles of the Light and Power Co. for another company's line.

Mr. Larmonth: "The season is not three weeks, it is four months, as may be shown by the meters on our different circuits. This is a daily record and has been kept for the past three years. We have as cheap power as any other city in the Province. Hamilton, for instance, charges $3.00 per annum on an 8 candle power basis, while our rate is $3.00 a year on a 16 c. p. basis, or just one half."

Ald. Gillespie asked if the Company would reserve to the city the right to run another line on their poles.

Mr. Larmonth was agreeable. One line would have to be ten feet higher than the other. In regard to the talked-of conduit system, he believed Peterborough to be getting beyond its depth. It was too expensive and hardly a city in Canada had it.

The Meter System.

The reason for complaints about the meter system was because the people had not learned its benefits. When they knew how to use it they were satisfied and there were many who would not return to the flat rate. The latter leads to extravagance in the use of the power. One hundred per cent. more current was used in a house than by the meter system.

Ald. Morrow stated that his feelings were strong in favour of the flat rate. The many complains against meters had led him to believe that the citizens wanted a fair, fixed flat rate. With Peterboroubh's power facilities, electric lighting should be cheap. It was a fine thing to see the houses lit up, it was moreover a good advertisement. If it was extravagant, it was a good extravagance. The houses were lighted when the factories were not using the power.

Mr. Larmonth stated that the cost of developing and distributing power for manufacturing exceeded the receipts, and the difference was made up in the house service.

Ald. Metheral considered that the Company should be prepared to grant some concessions.

Mr. Larmonth said the meter system was cheaper than that of the flat rate. In the first place the people soon learned to economize the power and reduced the cost, and lamps could be secured in the stores which were saving on the current, and thereby assisted in reducing the cost.

The Committee decided to secure the figures showing the rates from outside towns in order that the situation would be thoroughly known.

ST. KITTS NEWSPAPER MAN'S IMPRESSIONS OF THIS CITY

The St. Catharines Star-Journal says of the trip to Peterborough:

The Electric City girls made first choice the boys of the St. Catharines Regiment, and during leisure hours a 19th uniform and a latest style hat were to be seen together.

A wide-awake Peterborough hardware merchant made a specially attractive window display, the "eye-catcher" of which consisted of two big Union Jacks crossed, stacked Lee-Enfield rifles on right and left with a pile of tins of paint between and underneath the legend, "These colours never run."

Peterborough City Council voted a big sum for decorating expenses and the streets blazed with the National colours, and welcoming mottoes. Incandescent lights strung in profusion in the various parks had a brilliant effect, and the business houses and private houses were gaily bedecked.

Mr. Chas. O'Donnell of this city, accompanied the 19th Band on the trip, and sang "God Bless the Prince of Wales" at the concert given in Victoria Park, by the band on Sunday evening. His solo was splendidly rendered and the vast audience listened to it in spell-bound silence. An enthusiastic encore brought him to the stand again and the crowd demanded a third appearance. A music dealer informed a Star-Journal reporter that he had received orders for 800 copies of the song on Monday forenoon. And there are several simlar firms in town.

A St. Catharines visitor made the assertion that he and a friend walked the banks of the Otonabee River for eight hours on Sunday and nearly perished for thirst. "The aridity of the town on Sunday was positively parching," he said.

It was worth the trip without a wink of sleep to see Frank Dixon defend the Lincolns' flags during the lacrosse match. There were no "bingles" nor blunders there, and the one score made against him was well-earned. Frank, this season, will more than maintain his Olympic reputation.

The Band of the 19th will present the musicians of the 57th with complete scores of Auber's "Masaniello," "Russian Airs," by Tosky, and "Nearer My God to Thee"—adaptation by George Robinson, 13th Regiment Band—as a mark of esteem in which the Peterborough Band is held by the donors.

Bandmaster Peel was the hero of the hour with the music-loving people of Peterborough. The big crowd—fully 4,000 strong—that heard the sacred concert given by the 19th Band in Victoria Park on Sunday evening had evidently anticipated with pleasure the event and the applause that followed the programme must have been gratifying to Bandmaster and men. Bandmaster Gliddon, of the 57th, showed his appreciation of the 19th Band by requesting Mr. Peel to furnish an orchestra of ten men to play at Hon. J. R. Stratton's complimentary dinner to the visiting officers in the Oriental Hotel, and one of six men to play at the rink during the progress of the evening sports there. The request was acceded to and the boys gave every satisfaction.

Col. H. C. Rogers Honoured On His Departure From The City

Presented With an Address and Gold Watch, Chain and Locket at a Representative Meeting of the Ladies and Gentlemen of the City---Many Expressions of Regret and Wishes for a Happy Future.

A representative assembly of the ladies and gentlemen of this city met in the Council Chambers last night to bid farewell to Col. H. C. Rogers, who has resigned his position as Post Master, and his leaving Peterborough in a short time for a trip to Europe, after which he will rejoin his wife in Victoria, B.C. He was presented with an address and a handsome gold watch, chain and locket. He is one of the older citizens, having seen forty years' service in the local post office, and as shown by last night's splendid testimonial that his friends number a host. Many were the regrets expressed at his departure, and it is felt that the city is losing a gentleman of the highest type, who will be greatly missed in the social, military and religious circles of the city.

Mr. Peter Campbell proposed Dr. Halliday as chairman for the occasion. The latter accepted the honour and stated that the object of the meeting was to present Col. Rogers with a keepsake from the citizens of Peterborough. An opportunity was afforded to everybody to give towards the fund, and the committee was overwhelmed with offers. It was a slight token to the esteem and regard in which Col. Rogers was held by the citizens. We are losing not only a good citizen, Dr. Halliday remarked, but an honourable gentleman, who has been an example to all of us. He has always stood for everything that is good and pure and true. We consider that we are losing a warm, personal friend. I will now ask Mayor Rush to read the address on behalf of the citizens of Peterborough.

The Address.

To Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of a number of citizens of Peterborough, I desire to express to you their sincere regret that you are about to remove from the city of which you have for so many years been a most highly and esteemed citizen. Your long service as postmaster extending over nearly forty years, has led to an intimate and pleasant acquaintanceship between the people of the city and neighbouring district and yourself, and by all your courtesy has been highly appreciated and the sturdy integrity with which you have performed the duties of that important office has been recognized and admired.

The services you have given to the militia of this district have been most useful as they have assisted materially to foster the true spirit of patriotic service and to build up the militia of the district in accordance with the best ideals. Your deep interest in all that pertains to the welfare of the city and county has also been shown by the work you have accomplished as the chief officer of the Peterborough Historical Society, and the Peterborough Horticultural Society and in many other ways you have proved yourself to be of that type of citizen who is public-spirited and who assists to advance the interests and elevate the ideals of the community. You will leave in Peterborough very many warm friends and on behalf of the citizens I ask you to accept the accompanying gift, which is given as an evidence of the warm feelings and the high esteem by which you are held by them.

We most heartily wish you very many years of happiness after you have retired from the public service wherever you make your future home.

Signed on behalf of the citizens,
H. RUSH,
Mayor of Peterborough.

Mr. Peter Campbell stepped forward and presented Col. Rogers with a beautiful gold watch and chain, and Mr. F. D. Kerr presented the locket.

Col. Rogers' Reply.

Although surprised upon receiving the handsome remembrance and showing the trace of the feelings which the sentiment of the address had stirred up, Col. Rogers made an appropriate reply: "I have lived among you all my life, in this town. I have seen my contemporaries retire and younger men come to the fore, but I did not realize that I had so many friends. I am going to join my beloved wife, who could not live in the east, owing to her health, but it is a hard task to say good-bye to the people I have lived among and loved. You will excuse me from making a lengthy address on this occasion. Your gift will always remind me of my friends in Peterborough, and I assure you my heart will always be in Peterborough, where I have spent fifty years. I feel flattered by your kindness, and I do not feel worthy of such commendation. I thank you from the bottom of my heart and I will carry the remembrance of this presentation to my latest days."

Letter of Regret

The following letter was read by Mr. Peter Campbell:

Dear Mr. Campbell:—

Will you kindly convey to the citizens in charge of the proceedings, my regret at not being atble to be with them at the presentation to Colonel H. C. Rogers, this evening.

I join with my fellow citizens in Peterborough, in expressing my regrets at the departure from Peterborough of Colonel H. C. Rogers, who has been, in a sense, public property for a great mnay years.

In regretting his leaving Peterborough after a public service for forty years, and citizenship of a longer period, I desire to join with other fellow citizens in hoping that the balnce of his days may be pleasantly spent in a ilimate that is more genial, and in family associations from which, owing to circumstances, he has been debarred for so long a time.

Yours very sincerely,
J. R. Stratton.

The Remembrance

The gift to Col. Rogers was a beautiful 1k4. gold watch, chain and locket. The watch has a very high-grade movement and was purchased from Warne Bros., jewellers. The inside of the back of the case is inscribed: To Col. H. C. Rogers, from the Citizens of Peterborough, May 6th, 1909.

The address was decidedly artistic in its entirety. The writing was done by Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine and is an excellent example of his finished cheirography.

Felicitous Remarks.

Mr. D. W. Dumble deemed it a privilege to be permitted to join with the citizens in bidding farewell to Col. H. C. Rogers. A man who lives in a community as long as he has and on an occasion such as this elicits such expressions of good will, is surely a valued citizen. His open manner and geniality have endeared him to all, and his loss will be felt now by those with whom he has been dearly associated. However, he is going to a lovely climate and will also be returned to his family, and I wish him God speed and many years of future happiness until he is called to the great King.

Rev. Canon Davidson said: We are only a portion of the people of this city who regret the loss of Col. Rogers. It is when we lose a man of his character that we realize how great his influence has been. The people of the Church of England appreciate his interests in its welfare, and his efforts in the upbuilding of religion in Peterborough. He has stood for the better citizen and the higher type of manhood. It will be some satisfaction to him that we do appreciate, and have always realized his value, and he goes away bearing the warmest feelings of the citizens who will watch him in the future.

Sheriff Hall remarked that he was one of Col. Rogers' oldest friends, having known him from boyhood, and he could not express his regret upon having his old friend depart from the city.

Mr. A. P. Poussette had been in the city thirty-seven years, and Col. Rogers was one of his first acquaintances. It was a pleasure to have met a man of his type. He had been an example to the young men. He had encouraged the military spirit, which, it has been said recently, is not to be despised. Mr. Poussette very much regretted his departure.

Mr. G. W. Hatton had known Col. Rogers from boyhood. It was with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure that he had heard of his departure. Mr. Hatton had been his Chief Executive Officer when Col. Rogers was Commodore of the Canadian Canoeists' Association, and he had spent many pleasant hours in social intercourse with him.

Mr. Robert Fair also recalled some of his first meetings with Col. Rogers years ago. He had proved a sincere friend and his departure was regretted on every side.

I have always found Col. Rogers a straightforward honourable gentleman, Mr. D. Hughes Charles stated, and I always found him the one way. Peterborough is losing a citizen who will be much missed. No one on the streets presents a finer figure and his military bearing was not only observed in the ranks.

Dr. Morrison stated that Col. Rogers was one of the first men he met after coming to Peterborough. He regretted his departure, but extended to him every wish for a happy future.

Mr. G. E. Bradburn: We all regret the departure of Col. Rogers. He has been an example to us and on this account will be greatly missed. I have always found him the same wherever I have met him.

Mr. R. E. Wood said: I can only re-iterate the sentiments already expressed. As he has been an example in military matters to the volunteers of the east I am sure he will not be able to keep out of military life in the west. His absence will be felt in Peterborough. He takes away with him the best wishes of his host of friends.

Mr. F. D. Kerr was the last speaker. He spoke briefly, but feelingly. To Col. Rogers he said: "In every capacity of life you have done your duty, and in every sense of the word you have been the perfect gentleman.

Mayor Rush brought the meeting to a close by leading in three cheers and a tiger for Col. Rogers. The old council room resounded with the hearty demonstration of the feelings of his friends towards him.

"EXPERIENCE" CRITICIZES ELECTRIC WIRING

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Being interested in electric work I was somewhat surprised to see something undesirable in a fine new house being built. The electrician, if he is one, cannot be capable of doing his work, or does not care, and I would judge that the owner does not know what an electric job means, as they have wired the house with weather-proof wire, concealed work. This wire has never been allowed by fire underwriters at any time, and is not allowed to be used for any electric work in any building. It is time such work was stopped, as it is dangerous. It is time our City Fathers and Insurance Companies should make up and pass a law not to allow any electric workman to perform such inferior work.

Mayor Rush Satisfied That City Is Amply Protected By By-law

In Favour of the Purity Ware Ltd. —Figures Showing What the Loan Will Add to Assessments—Will be Conducted by Solid Men —Precautions Have Been Taken

HAVE DEPOSITED CHEQUE

At the Board of Trade meeting on Tuesday night, Mayor Rush was present and spoke in favor of the by-law. He had prepared figures in connection with the finances, which he also detailed.

Are the Auburn Woolen Mills a benefit to Peterborough? The public answer yes.

Not many years ago Hon. Senator Cox and others bought that estate, so reports say, at 5c. on the dollar, but under Mr. Kendry's management what is it to-day? and if the worst comes to the worst, in the case of the Purity Ware Limited, another Mr Kendry will turn up.

We want manufacturies here, and in granting concessions to induce them to locate here it is the duty of the council to see that the safety of the city is properly guarded, which I feel sure in this case it is. When a New York firm is going to put up $100,000 in the concern, rest assured they will strongly oppose its being run or managed by "men of straw" as was spoken of at the last meeting. I would much rather have one strong firm interest themselves and invest, say $100,000 in this factory, than have the stock sold in small lots, as before they invest one dollar they will know who is going to manage the concern, and I understand the Montreal firm has said, "Pass the by-law first before we announce ourselves." I can readily understand this. If the by-law is not carried their name is not known, but if it is, as I sincerely hope it will be, then they will take the matter up. The council took this precaution before announcing themselves to the public. They insisted that a marked cheque for $250 should be deposited with the city clerk to cover the expenses of passing the by-law, and this cheque has been deposited with the city clerk, so if these people fail to fulfill their part of the transaction, the ratepayers are not out of pocket. I think any person who will take the precaution to read the by-law carefully, will see that the city is amply protected.

His worship then gave the following figures:

Interest on $3000 at 4½ per cent $127.50; sinking fund 3½ per cent. basis, 20 years $106.08; total $283 58.

A little less than 3 cents on each $1,000 of assessment.

Interest on $50,000 at 4½ per cent. $2,125; sinking fund 3½ basis, 20 years $1,768.05, total $3,893.05.

46 cents on each $1,000 of assessment for 20 years.

Taking the two items together, $3,000 and $50,000 equals $53,000, the interest and sinking fund would be $4,126.63 a year equal to 49 cents on each $1,000 of assessment, for 20 years.

The city is now receiving from the land as taxes $29 a year. The school taxes cannot be remitted, $35,000 would be considered a low assessment. The revenue to the city would be $312 a year from the school taxes alone, deducting $29 a year from that, which the city is now receiving, would leave a balance of $283. Deducting what the land would cost $233, would leave a net gain to the ratepayers of $50 a year

WHAT WAS MOTIVE OF THE SHOOTING?

Hon. Philippe Roy Shoots Himself in the Foot.

IS ARRAIGNED IN COURT

Apparent Attempt at Suicide of ex-Banker May Be Attempted Suicide or Effort to Delay Verdict—Prisoner Declares That His Mind Is Giving Away Under Stress of Trial — Addresses To-day.

Montreal, May 27.—There are conflicting theories in Montreal and St. John's yesterday as to the motive which impelled the Hon. P. H. Roy, ex-Speaker of the Legislative Assembly and ex-president of the St. John's Bank, now being tried on a charge of wrecking that institution, to apparently attempting suicide early yesterday. There are those who say that Roy really advised and that the attempt was only a ruse to delay the finding of the jury. As it was, he shot himself in the foot while in bed. When the attempt was reported, constables were placed in charge of the Roy household, where the accused has been living all along, and when he came into court Justice Monet ordered that he be kept in till the end of the trial.

"If the act you perpetrated this morning was an attempt at suicide, you committed a crime against law and society," said the judge. "If it was not an attempt at suicide, it was the most criminal farce ever perpetrated in this part of the country and you deserve punishment."

Roy replied: "I beg the court to excuse me for what I have done or for what has happened to me. My case is a very critical and difficult one. I did not have the necessary time to give my attorney all the information that I would like to give him. You know that my faculties, both mental and physical, are becoming very weak on account of the disease I am suffering from. My memory is very bad at the very moment when I need it so much.

"A few days ago I was full of courage, but for five or six days my strength has been failing, and the sessions of the court are killing me. Believe me, I am not able to sustain them any longer, especially now that I am suffering so much. It would be impossible for me to advise my attorney any longer.

"If I were strong enough I would enter the witness box and give my own evidence. I would like so much to prove that I did not act with any intention of fraud."

The defence was concluded during the afternoon session. Mr. Girard simply alleged that the report sent in to Ottawa was an exact copy of the bank's stocks, and that it was not th business of the officials to throw doubt on the solvency of any of the bank's customers. The addresses to the jury will take place to-day.

The convention has cost about $100,000.

Montreal, May 27.—W. B. DERBY WAS WON BY KING'S HORSE

Minoru Captures the Derby After a Great Race.

CROWD WILD WITH DELIGHT

For First Time In History of Notable Sporting Event the Sovereign Carries Off Great English Trophy—Enthusiastic Spectators Nearly Mob His Majesty When the Results Were Made Known.

Epsom, May 27.—King Edward's brown colt, Minoru, yesterday justified his name, which is Japanese for "Success," by winning the Derby, which will be remembered always in the annals of Epsom as one of the finest races ever run on that historic track. W. Raphael's Louviere, with France's star jockey, Stern, on his back, came under the wire so close an attendant upon Minoru that the spectators were undecided which led until the King's number was displayed on the blackboard. The Derby stake of $32,500 are for three-year-olds and fillies, over a mile and a half course.

On Minoru the betting was 7 to 2; on Louviere 9 to 1, and on William the Fourth, which finished third, 20 to 1.

A heavy downpour of rain, which commenced early yesterday morning and continued until noon, with threats of showers during the afternoon, kept thousands of the casual racegoers from journeying to the downs. King Edward and Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and other members of the royal family came down by train. Upon arriving at Epsom they were driven to the royal enclosure in semi-state carriages, accompanied by outriders.

To Englishmen the King's success was inspiring as a victory in a great international contest, and compensated for a rain which drove across the field, making a wallow of mud under foot. On every side it had been asked whether, if he won, His Majesty would consider it compatible with his exalted position to lead his horse from the track, as the winning owners have done for more than a century. There was no precedent for this, because no king before had ever won the Derby. King Edward, however, with the Prince of Wales following him, lived up to the custom, and in the minds of Englishmen clinched his claim to the title of a thoroughbred sportsman.

The scene when His Majesty's victory was certain was unprecedented in the enthusiasm aroused, and the round after round of lusty British cheering.

The crowd, wild with excitement, broke through the police cordon and almost mobbed King Edward as, following the time-honored custom, His Majesty, as owner of Minoru, led the champion into the paddock.

Reports from all sections tell of enthusiastic scenes when the news of His Majesty's good luck was received.

While it is the first time that a King of England has owned the Derby winner, His Majesty Edward VII. twice, while Prince of Wales, enjoyed the distinction, in 1896 with Persimmon and in 1900 with Diamond Jubilee.

Richard Croker, who wandered about the paddock alone, with his hands in his pockets and bowler cap drawn over his eyes, must have contrasted the tumult yesterday with the silence that fell over the stands when he led in Orby II. the winner in 1907.

Minoru is a bay colt by Cyllene, out of Mother Siegel, and is consequently a high-class animal in the thoroughbred list. Cyllene is sire of Cicero, who won the 1906 Derby for Lord Rosebery.

As a two-year-old Minoru was not much of a success on account of some eye trouble, but he made a few good attempts, showing that he possessed speed and stamina. His work as a three-year-old continued to show improvement.

The King entertained 60 members of the jockey club at the annual dinner at Buckingham Palace last night.

The only persons present at the dinner not members of the Jockey Club were the lords and gentlemen-in-waiting on the King, the Prince of Wales and Prince Christian. There were also half a dozen foreigners who are honorary members of the English Jockey Club, including Prince Auguste Arenberg, from Paris. After the dinner the King and his guests adjourned to the house of Lord Farquhar, in Grosvenor Square, where Lady Farquhar gave a large ball for the debut of Prince Alexandra, eldest daughter of the Princess Royal and the Duke of Fife.

WHITNEY VISITS HIS OLD HOME TOWN

Sir James Is Given Big Reception in Morrisburg.

CRITICIZES NAVAL POLICY

Premier of Ontario Declares That Canada Should at Least Have Offered One or Two Dreadnoughts —Dominion Wants to Bear Her Share of the Imperial Burden —Prime Minister Will Rest.

Morrisburg, May 27.—The Music Hall was filled last night at a reception given to Sir James Whitney. It was the Premier's first visit since receiving his knighthood, and men of both parties joined in the reception.

Sir James avoided provincial issues in his address, and turned from party topics to Imperial affairs, forecasting a scheme of Imperial federation within the visible future.

The Premier was supported on the platform by leading citizens of Dundas County, including Adam Harkness, Hugh Ross, ex-M.P., Irwin Hilliard, Andrew Broder, M.P., T. W. Ault, Dr. Reddick, James Irvin, Frank McCloaky and James Collinson. Fred H. Brody presided. Messrs. Ross and Broder spoke a few words.

Sir James, who was received with tremendous applause, said that when he was asked to meet the club he stipulated that his visit should be non-political in significance. We often had too much party prejudice. Both political parties desired the good of the country, no doubt, but as they were composed of mortals they go astray sometimes.

The Premier did not consider there was any possibility of war between the United States and Great Britain, and the Monroe doctrine of the United States assured Canada protection in the event of European hostilities.

He was glad that Parliament had put itself on record that Canada would go to the aid of the Mother Country in time of need. He was also glad to see those sentiments acted upon unanimously by the other colonies.

"But in my humble opinion," said Sir James, "better results would have followed if the Government at Ottawa had cabled that we are prepared to recommend to the House to appropriate the price of a Dreadnought or perhaps two Dreadnoughts. If they had done that, I am not sure it would ever have been necessary to send the Dreadnoughts, but all the crowned heads of Europe who have looked askance at the prosperity and majesty of the British Empire, would have seen that all around the world the whelps of the lion are glad and ready at all times to stand by the Mother Country."

"Canada's only contribution for the benefit of British institutions was the $50,000 paid to the Governor-General annually, but he was glad that Canada was sending two Cabinet representatives to England for the Imperial conference.

"We are anxious," the Premier went on, "to stand together and discuss this question of Imperial reorganization, and the Imperial burdens which will have to be borne by each component part of the Empire. Canada will be proud of the day when we will stand side by side with our brethren of the antipodes in the great Imperial procession, and when we will cheerfully bear our share of the Imperial burden."

In conclusion, Sir James spoke feelingly to his constituents, from whose midst circumstances had kept him. He was grateful for their confidence and would so order his engagements in the future as to be with them more frequently. He assured them he would be at home this summer and would spend some time among them.

A Plucky Girl.

Prescott, May 27.—A party of Prescott young ladies went for a drive with a livery rig. The horse going too fast jolted out the driver, Miss Allen. She was being dragged along by the reins when Miss Stitt climbed over the dashboard and walked up the shaft far enough to grasp the reins and bring the horse to a standstill.

Man Who Captured John Brown.

Mitchell, S.D., May 27.—Major Israel C. Greene, aged 85, the man who captured John Brown of Osawatoomie at Harper's Ferry, is dead on his farm near here, where he had lived for 36 years. Greene was a close friend of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

"WOMEN!"
" Are You Nervous?"

The results of modern civilization are evidenced in an increase of nervous disorders. It could not be otherwise with the way we eat, drink, lose sleep, and keep up a continual round of excitement. The work, the worry, the excitement, all tell upon the nerves till they cry out in revolt, and will not be placated till a remedy such as come along with their nerve-strengthening and energizing properties, and restore them to their normal condition.

MILBURN'S

Mrs. Wm. Levi, Markdale, Ont., writes: "I had for several years been troubled with nervousness, and, like many others, spent lots of money on medicine that did me no good. I was so bad that the least noise would make me jump and my heart would thump so you could hear it plainly and I could not lie on my left side at night. I saw a few testimonials of others and decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and to my great joy and surprise they completely cured me and it only took six boxes to do it. I have a neighbor, Mrs. Rickett, and I induced her to try them and they effected a cure. I can endorse their use for anyone afflicted as I was."

Sunshine Furnace has four triangular grate bars, each having three distinct sides. In the single-piece and two-piece grate no such-like provision is made for expansion or contraction, and a waste of coal always follows a shaking.

On the left- and right-hand sides are cotter pins, which when loosened permit the grates to slide out. These four grate bars are made of heavy cast iron, and are finished up with bulldog teeth. The teeth will grind up the toughest clinker; and because the grates are made in sections, not only can nothing but dust and ashes pass through, but after each shaking a different side can be presented to the fire. Also, with the Sunshine grate there is no back-breaking movements attached to the shaking. By gently rocking the lever, first on the left and then on the right, the ashes are released on both sides, and fall through into the pan.

HOAGLAND FAILED TO REGAIN LAP ON BROWN

Champion Cut Out a Terrific Clip, But the Boy Walker Hooked on to the Veteran and Refused to Allow Him to Break Away---A Thrilling Duel Between the Two Cracks---Incidents of the Big Race---Harrison Lost Ground Last Night.

Geo. Brown, Auburn, N. Y., 51 miles, 1 lap.
W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N. Y., 51 miles.
Lew West, New York, N. Y., 50 miles.
Jim Harrison, Peterborough, 49 miles, 2 laps.
J. E. Blake, Syracuse, N. Y., 48 miles, 6 laps.
W. Spenceley, Peterborough, 46 miles.
Ray Fenton, Auburn, N. Y., 44 miles, 6 laps.
Jim Graham, Buffalo, N. Y., 43 miles, 9 laps.
Dave Hartley, Peterborough, 42 miles, 2 laps.
John Blatchford, Peterborough, 38 miles, 11 laps.

The most sensational walking duel ever seen in Peterborough, or perhaps on a track any where was the battle between Champion W. A. Hoagland and George Brown, the boy ped from Auburn, N.Y., which was the feature of last night's portion of the six-day grind. Nothing like it has ever been seen here and it was no wonder that the spectators jumped to their feet and cheered like Indians as the pair sped around the track. The night before Brown had gained a lap on Hoagland and the champion set out from the beginning last night with the evident intention of snatching back the lead. He failed to do so after a most spectacular attempt.

Soon after the walkers were started for the night, Hoagland let loose at a remarkable rate, but Brown hung on and the two quickly lapped the field time after time, West dropping behind with the rest, although not so far. Hoagland was plainly determined to shake the youngster from across the line, and the pace he set and maintained was remarkable. Just twenty-four minutes after the start he started a long-sustained sprint with Brown sticking to him like a leech, and the two left West, who had been hanging on. In six minutes they had lapped the New Yorker, and five minutes afterwards gained still another on him, which gives some idea of the speed at which they were travelling. Lap after lap and mile after mile the two still kept up the pace, covering exactly seven miles in the first hour, and then going on with seven miles, four laps, in the second. Hoagland kept up the same tremendous gait and Brown would drop behind a few paces only to sprint again and regain what he had lost.

Finally, at 9.45 Hoagland began to draw away and quickly regained half of the lap he had lost the previous night. It looked as if he would soon be on even terms with the boy, but the latter, spurred on by the cheers of the crowd who urged him to go after the champion, set sail after Hoagland in a grand sprint that within a few laps had him back at the crack's heels. The way the little fellow circled the track during the spurt was remarkable and the crowd cheered wildly as the half-lap was quickly snatched back from Hoagland. There was more excitement a few minutes afterwards as Brown, after taking Hoagland's pace for half a mile, suddenly was away with another sprint. Hoagland tried to hold him, and then let him go. Brown setting up a lead of an eighth of a lap, Hoagland soon reduced the lead again to one lap, but he was content to stay where he was for the night, and with both men going strong although not at the same mad pace as in the first two hours, the race was finished for the night.

The night's duel between the two was the tit-bit of the contest so far and no wonder the crowd forgot all the other walkers except the lanky veteran and the slim boy who was threatening his laurels so seriously. Brown proved himself capable not only of cutting out a tremendous sprint, but of keeping it up, and is by far the most serious opponent that Hoagland has ever been called to face in Peterborough. When it is figured out that the pair did seventeen miles and five laps in two hours and one-half you have a line on Brown's calibre.

Jim Harrison dropped back rapidly last night. The Peterborough man was troubled with cramps at the start and, after attempting to remain with the leaders as he did the other two nights, had to let them go after the first few laps, and as a result lost lap after lap, finishing up two miles behind the leading pair, and nine laps behind West, losing eight to the latter during the evening. It was hard luck for the local walker, who has been putting up a great race. He stuck to his task gamely and held fourth position, although Blake gained two laps during the night.

The walkers who did better last night than on Tuesday were, Brown, who went six laps further; Hoagland, who covered seven laps more than on Tuesday, and Blatchford, who had four laps more to his credit than on the night before; a splendid achievement considering his age. All the others failed to do as good as on Tuesday. Harrison went 14 laps less; West, six less; Blake, seven less; Spenceley, eight less; Fenton, three less; Graham, one less; and Hartley, two less.

Distance covered sat lnight:
Brown 17 miles, 5 laps.
Hoagland, 17 iles, 5 laps.
West 16 miles, 5 laps.
Harrison 15 miles, 8 laps.
Blake 15 miles, 10 laps.
Spenceley 15 miles, 2 laps.
Fenton 14 miles, 5 laps.
Graham 14 miles, 7 laps.
Hartley 14 miles, 1 lap.
Blatchford 13 miles.

BRINTONS BEAT Y.M.C.A. 4 TO 1
BRITISHERS HAD BETTER OF PLAY

The Winners Promise to Give the Bethany Team a Hard Run on Saturday---Fastest and Cleanest Soccer Game of the Season.

The Brinton Football Team defeated the Y.M.C.A. eleven in a Midland League fixture at Riverside Park last night by four goals to one after the cleanest and best game both from a player's and a spectator's standpoint that has been seen here this season. Referee Sherin of the Bethany team had the game well in hand and gave every satisfaction. Three of the Y.M.C.A. men failed to put in an appearance and Parrott, Evans and Brumwell were given places on the lineup to fill up. The game started at 7.20 o'clock and for the first fifteen minutes it looked like another of those familiar tie games until the Brintons got the combination working and began scoring.

Four goals in a row were scored by Davis, Moule and Ashton, but the Y.M.C.A. were not daunted and Dr. MacPherson made the prettiest rush of the game and beat Giles with a nice shot. The "Y" finished strong and kept the Brintons in check during the last stages of the game, although they never had a chance to win out.

If the Brintons can take the same combination to Bethany on Saturday they should make the farmer boys step right along even on their own field. Referee Sherin had a good opinion of the Brintons and states that there will be a large crowd to greet at 4.30 on the 29th.

The teams were as follows:

Brintons.—A. Giles, Goal; A. Rew, A. Bishop, Backs; C. Downes, W. Price, P. Webb, Half Backs; T. Monk, T. Moule, R. Wing; F. Williams, A. Ashton, L. Wing; H. Davis, Centre.

WEDDING BELLS

CAMERON—RIDDELL.

A quiet wedding was celebrated on Wednesday evening, May 19th, at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Morrison, 633 Aylmer street, when Miss Bertha Elizabeth Riddell, daughter of the late Mr. Walter Riddell was united in marriage to Mr. Andrew Nelson Cameron. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, and the bridal couple were unattended. Afterwards a dainty wedding supper was served in the dining room which was tastefully decorated. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will reside on Homewood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron received many happy returns of the day" from their friends. The ceremony was performed in the drawing room, which was beautifully adorned for the occasion.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. John Riddell. She carried a beautiful bouquet of carnations and roses, and her bridal veil was caught up with orange blossoms. The tables in the dining room were tastefully decorated with flowers, the colour scheme being white and green.

KILLINGBECK-KYLIE

A pretty, but quiet May wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's rectory at four o'clock yesterday afernoon, when Miss Annie Kylie, eldest daughter of Mr. John Kylie, 139 Hunter St., was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Killingbeck, son of Mr. James Killingbeck, city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McFadden in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. Miss Beatrice Crowley, cousin of the bride acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by the bride's brother, Mr. John J. Kylie. Mr. and Mrs. Killingbeck left on the 4.48 C.P.R. train on a wedding trip to Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls, and on returning will take up their residence on Stewart street. The many presents received from local acquaintances and friends in Chicago, Rochester and other places testified to the popularity of the young couple whose many friends will wish them every success.

Council And Citizens Unite To Commend Purity Ware By-law

The Aldermen Set Forth a Plain Statement, Showing That Aid Must Depend Upon Strict Compliance With City's Terms---Conditions of By-law Must Be Rigidly Complied With, To Eliminate Every Element of Risk---A Good Industry For The City---Leading Business Men Endorse It.

We, the undersigned, Aldermen of Peterborough, do hereby commend for the approval of the citizens the By-law now before the people, to grant aid to the Purity Ware Limited.

1. It is proposed to give said Company ten acres of land, costing $3,000, on their erection of buildings, and completing and equipping the shops, at a cost of about $150,000 to $200,000, and on their undertaking to employ not less than 100 hands the first year.

2. To lend said Company $50,000, at four per cent. interest, to be repaid to the city in ten equal annual payments.

3. The repayment to be secured by mortgage on the land, buildings, and fixed machinery.

4. The people who are putting up the most of the capital are a well-known manufacturing firm of New York, who have been fifty years in business and are rated very high—this is a guarantee for business methods and success. Every precaution is being taken to secure the repayment of the loan.

5. If we let this opportunity pass it will be hopeless to attempt to build up the city and new manufactures, as this promises to be a large concern, and already other municipalities are after it.

6. The factory will be in the city limits and is well located for the purpose. We must take factories subject to the proprietors' selections, they must be somewhere, and the proprietors place them to suit their requirements—the general benefit of the city is the same.

We personally intend to vote for the By-Law.

ORANGE GRAND LODGE VOTE DOWN PROPOSED POLITICAL PLATFORM

Concluded Its Session This Morning at 2 o'clock---Last Year's Grand Officers All Re-elected---Next Meeting of Lodge Will be Held at Brantford---Other Business.

The Grand Lodge of Orangemen of British America went into their final session at half past seven last evening and concluded this morning at two o'clock. The motion to restore the Blue and Purple degrees was carried.

At the afternoon session a resolution was passed protesting against an article on the Orange Order appearing in the London Times' edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

No Political Platform

After a discussion that waxed warm and kept the Grand Master's gavel going frequently, the proposal that an Orange platform should be drawn up for submission to political candidates was snowed under.

Deputy Grand Master Lieut-Col. J. H. Scott moved that a committee consisting of the Grand Master, himself; Controller Hocken, Toronto; J. Whiteley, Grand Organizer of British Columbia; W. G. Weblock, Grand Master, Alberta, and J. H. Delamere, Supreme Grand Auditor, should be appointed to draw up the platform for consideration at the next meeting of the Lodge.

Col. Sam. Hughes, M.P., opposed the proposal strenuously. Political candidates should be dealt with, he contended, on the record. Personally, he objected to having any platform thrust upon him.

A delegate pointed out that in the case of Col. Hughes and Dr. Sproule they had established records, but it was desirable to bind down new men to some principle.

The discussion wandered somewhat from the point, and a delegate attacked the Ontario Government for allowing too many Roman Catholics to hold office in one department. In the department referred to nearly every employee was a Roman Catholic, while there should only be one to each seven Protestants.

The Grand Master advised the Grand Lodge to reject the motion. It would be impossible to frame a platform which would meet all the diversified political opinions prevailing in the different Provinces. They would, he thought by adopting a platform, be placing a fever in the hands of their enemies.

This statement brought up the Duty of the Hour, and some strong remarks were made with regard to the use of that famous pamphlet in the last general election. It was pointed out by several that the Roman Catholics made no bones about approaching candidates and endeavouring to bind them down. Finally the motion was rejected by an overwhelming majority.

As a result of a resolution adopted to-night any one engaging in the liquor business after joining the Order will be expelled. The resolution was submitted by the Grand Lodge of British Columbia, and, contrary to expectations, was carried by two-thirds majority.

Next Meeting at Brantford

It was unanimously decided to hold the next gathering of the Grand Lodge in the City of Brantford. The constitution calls for the meeting to be held during the week of May 24th each year.

Election of Officers

The Grand Lodge Officers of last year were all re-elected, there being no contest for the Grand Mastership. Dr. Sproule again holds this important office.

The officers are as follows:

Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., G.M., Markdale, Ont.; Lt.-Col. J. H. Scott, K.C., D.G.M., Walkerton, Ont.; Rev. Wm. Walsh, Grand Chaplain, Brampton, Ont.; William Lee, Grand Secretary, Toronto, Ont.; W. J. Parkhill, Grand Treasurer, Midland, Ont.; Jas. F. Harper, Grand Lecturer, Hamilton, Ont.; Rev. C. E. Perry, D. G. Chaplain, Toronto, Ont.; H. C. Hocken, D.G., Treasurer, Toronto, Ont.; A. A. Gray, D.G. Lecturer, Deloraine, Man.; R. Birmingham, P.G. Secretary, Toronto, Ont.; W. H. Code, PG.D. of C., Smith's Falls, Ont.

Mr. W. H. Parkhill was elected representative to the "Triennial Council" to be held in Liverpool, Eng., this summer.

Most of the delegates returned to their homes this morning.

PRINCE RUPERT.

Prince Rupert, the Pacific terminus of the Transcontinental Railway, represents the romance of progress and development. Three years ago the site of the present potential city was a terra incognita, not even a name till the name of the dashing cavalier was selected as the title of the future westernmost city of the Dominion. Today Prince Rupert is thronged with prospective citizens and business men. At the auction sale of city lots which opened on Tuesday morning there was a rush of buyers present from all parts of the country. Austria even being represented. Up to noon of the second day the sales totalled half a million dollars, and some exceptional prices were paid for land that a few years ago could not be sold for a dollar a square mile. One corner lot in the business section, 60 x 100 feet, brought $16,500, or at the rate of $275 per running foot. In a few years Prince Rupert will be a great city, through whose gates will pour the commerce of the last west with the eastern nations and our sister commonwealths, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and the East Indies. It will be the seaward gateway of the shortest route from Europe to the distant Orient.

STATESMANSHIP.

Lord Milner is an enthusiastic imperialist, aiming at the same goal by a different way and means, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Lord Milner defines statesmanship in these words: "I am all for a long look ahead, without which you may indeed have politicians ,but you cannot have statesmen." A statesman is thus somewhat of a prophet, or a man with far-future outlook, and in this regard Sir Wilfrid has shown himself to be a true statesman. He has dipt into the future of Canada, has seen and recognized its possibilities, and, with large faith, has laid deep and strong plans for a realization of its future. In the face of opposition, in the face of natural difficulties, he has laid firm foundations, for the future of the Dominion. His declared policy is to complete the Transcontinental Railway. In the House last session the Conservatives, while professing friendship, in reality, interposed every possible obstacle to the early completion of the undertaking. After decrying the character of the line, and incidentally injuring the credit of the country as much as possible, after practically opposing the ten million loan, they confessed the weakness of their opposition by neglecting to challenge its soundness by demanding a division. All possible opposition will not divert Sir Wilfrid and his government from fulfilling the obligation which rests upon them of completing a scheme which is in the interests of the West directly, and incidentally in the interests of all Canada. The Grand Trunk is the plan of a statesman, who foresees how tremendous an influence it will exert in building up the Dominion.

A CONTRAST.

In contrast to Mr. Lloyd George's statesmanlike way of raising revenue to carry on the government of the United Kingdom is Senator Aldrich's tariff bill, which will, if it passes, retain a duty on hides, for the benefit of the Beef Trust, a tariff on iron ore for the benefit of the Stel Trust, and a retaliatory tariff on Russian oil for the benefit of the Standard Oil Trust. Mr. Lloyd George is determined that the well-to-do shall contribute a fairer share than formerly to the nation's service ,while Senator Aldrich and his henchmen are determined that no frost shall nip the priviliged classes and that the cost of living shall not be reduced. Mr. W. L. Douglas, former Democratic Governor of Massachusetts, has said, as a manufacturer of shoes that he would gladly swap any doubtful benefit from the duty on shoes for the certain benefits of free hides and leather. He foretells as one of the results of the tariff on hides a gigantic trust controlling all the beef-packing, leather and tanning shoe manufacturing industries of the country. But what does Senator Aldrich care so long as poverty continues to be taxed and wealth continues to be privileged.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The latest scientific guess at the age of the world is 240 million years.

Winnipeg will now crow more than ever over being the centre and pivot of the Dominion, since that city has been made the headquarters of the General Manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

King Edward is diplomatic as well as prophetic in his nomenclature. He named his Derby entry "Minoru," the Japanese word for "success," the brown colt was a winner, and the King the first British monarch to win the Derby.

The Montreal Witness says Montreal's growing residential quarters is a boundless contiguity of shacks, on lots 25 x 100 feet, and pertinently asks why the people cannot have a little land. There is the same tendency in Peterborough to jam houses close together to the exclusion of light and the free play of air.

Professor Prince, Canadian representative on the International Fisheries Commission, is going to Washington to meet the United States representative agree upon the final fisheries regulations, respecting bound ary fisheries. Yet, the Mail and Empire and Dr. Reaume, insist that the latter, in breach of trust, published the genuine regulations months ago.

The Labour Government of Australia has been defeated. It seems that the only lasting political elements are straight Liberal and Tory. The third party, under whatever name it exists, does not seem to have the character of permanency of the old parties, whose platform, representing progress and reform and cautious advance, respectively, are broad enough to include all schools of political thought.

In 1878 Sir John Macdonald moved a resolution which declared that a national policy (of high taxation) would eventually tend to procure for Canada a reciprocity of trade with the United States. We all know how it failed after eighteen years of close trial. The virtual revenue tariff of the Liberal Government in operation for thirteen years, has done more to bring the United States to sue for reciprocity than did the policy of high taxation.

It is announced that Mr. W. F. McLean, of the World, Toronto, has cabled that he cannot attend the Imperial Press Conference in London. The reasons are not known, but it is probably because he can't get a two-cent rate. Messrs. J. A. McDonald, of the Globe, and J. E. Atkinson, of the Star, the other Canadian delegates appointed with Mr. McLean, will have to bear the responsibility of representing Canada at the Press Conference.

Peterborough has additional reason to be proud and satisfied with the splendid new armouries since they have aroused the jealousy of two other cities, which complain of being less satisfactorily equipped. Brantford is no longer proud of her armouries since she has seen those of Peterborough, and the Ottawa Journal voices the plaint of the capital that its "drill hall is unfit for habitation"—do they use it for sleeping quarters?—"by the men of one of the most efficient, etc."

The Mail and Empire is still giving the Government large cargoes of advice as to appointing a Minister of Labour, but no matter who is appointed the Mail is bound to consider him the wrong man. The organ demands that a "workingman" should be appionted, and names the late Mr. E. F. Clarke as the type of man that should get the portfolio. Yet, as the Globe points out, Mr Clarke, the first workingman to be elected to the Mayor's chair in Toronto, was bitterly opposed by the Mail and Empire. The chief Conservative organ hasn't much reputation left.

FAIR PLAY.

The Hamilton Spectator, a Conservative Journal that one time was badly infected with party rabies, shows a growing tendency to independence and the treatment of public questions more on their merits than as a vehicle for exploitation of party interests. In a recent issue it has the following public-spirited appeal to the principle of fair play

> A Berlin dispatch publishes the rumour that Joseph Seagram, ex-M.P., may oppose Wm MacKenzie King, when he appears in a bye-election made necessary by his appointment to the cabinet. It is to be hoped that the rumour is without foundation. The Spectator can see no advantage to anyone in the defeating of this young man, whose ability has brought him to the top in Canadian public life so rapidly. Let MacKenzie King have his opportunity. If he is the man he seems to be it will be well for Canada that he is in public life. If he becomes a mere apologist for Laurierism he will go down with the Government when the people get their opportunity.

This is fair speaking and in striking contrast with the partizanship of the Mail and Empire, which, with never a thought of a care for, the interests of labour, is demanding the appointment, as Minister of Labour of "a workingman." The Examiner does not know whom Sir Wilfrid will select as one of his colleagues to man the newly-created Department of Labour, but it is rather a safe forecast that Mr. Mackenzie King will be the man chosen. His services and his ability indicate him as a good man, if not, the man, for the position, and the Spectator's plea for fair play is in the line of giving to the public service of the Dominion a man who at an early age and with extra-ministerial opportunities only, has certainly "made good."

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS

Orders for immediate delivery are coming fast. The Clergy and Laymen are taking advantage of the J. M. Greene Music Co.'s big Clearance Sale.

From Campbellford came in special request from the Rev. W. C. Sage to ship at once one of those beautiful Ennis Vertical Grands, also another 'phone order from Campbellford to ship one of the celebrated New Scale Williams productions, a beautiful mahogany style Krydner, and many others. Miss A. Miller of Young's Point, after visiting the other music houses of Peterborough called on the J. M. Greene Music Co., to see the special bargains, with the result that Miss Miller was so delighted when she heard the beautiful tone and saw the artistic design of the New Scale Williams, style 49, San-Domingo Mahogany Grand, she at once decided, and to-day Miss Miller is happy enjoying one of Canada's finest and most artistic piano productions.

If any intending purchasers wish for further evidence of the superior quality of those splendid high-grade pianos now being offered at Clearance Prices by the J. M. Greene Music Co., Mr. Greene would be willing to give the addresses of a hundred or more in Peterborough and vicinity who have bought already and have nothing but the highest praises to sing now. Some say it is not all gold that glitters, but suffice it to say here, that these pianos are not gold, but worth more than their weight in gold.

Note the Address.

CLAIMS $1000 FROM FARMER FOR SLANDER

Mr F. D. Kerr, acting in behalf of Mr John R. Payne of Dummer, has issued a writ against Wm. Dunsford for slander. The plaintiff claims $1,000 damages. The case will be heard at the next session of the high court.

SUDDEN DEATH AT HAVELOCK

After an absence of three years, during which time his family knew nothing of his whereabouts, Mr. Robt. John Graham, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Graham of town, came home—to die. The young man came to Havelock on the midnight express yesterday morning in a state of collapse. He spent some hours in the station waiting room before he was recognized and carried to his home, where he succumbed from the effects of paresis about 6.30 a.m. The funeral takes place to-day at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to the Pine Grove Cemetery. The sympathy of all goes to the bereaved family in this, their hour of affliction. Mr. Rollie Graham, of the local staff of the Prudential Insurance Co., is a brother of the deceased.—Havelock Standard.

UNKNOWN MAN UNDER ARREST

Nameless, apparently harmless and helpless, a man was sent in from Dummer to the County gaol yesterday to be tried as a vagrant before Magistrate Edmison. In the letter from Mr. Alex. Watts, J.P., he was sent up for trial on the charge of vagrancy.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane visited him at the gaol and from what is known of him he is supposedly insane. His name is known of course but it could not be learned this morning. The stranger had been aimlessly wandering around in Dummer causing the women some alarm.

His case is yet to be disposed of.

MORMONS NOT GENTILES.

Violent Scene is Enacted In Alberta Settlement.

Lethbridge, Alta., May 28.—A crowd of thirty or forty Mormons on Wednesday mobbed, threatened to hang, and severely handled two men and a woman at Magrath, a Mormon settlement about 28 miles southeast of here. The matter arose from the marriage a year or more ago of a Mormon girl to a "Gentile," as the Mormons call all non-members of their church.

H. Barclay and his wife, the couple concerned, after their marriage lived in Calgary. Mrs. Barclay about five months ago returned to her mother's home at Magrath and intended to return to her own home in the course of a week or two. Once back in Magrath, however, her parents and the church determined to keep her and in spite of her husband's entreaties she refused to return to him. Barclay, accompanied by his sister of this city, and a friend named Harrison, went to Magrath to urge his wife once again to come back to him. She refused. He finally declared that he would have his child, which he did. A mob got together and Barclay was shackled by a man who called himself "sheriff." He, his sister, and Harrison were hauled before a Mormon magistrate who gave orders that the child was to be returned to its mother and that the three "Gentiles" leave the place on the first train. The three were taken, handcuffed, to the depot by the sheriff who meanwhile had sworn in deputy "sheriffs." They had been in the waiting-room some time when the mob appeared.

"We will hang you," called out some of the mob. "Get a rope." The mob rushed the three "Gentiles," knocked them down, kicked and beat them, "soaked" them with eggs and threw Harrison through a window. The top of one of his fingers was severed.

Taft Progressive.

New York, May 28.—"President Taft will voice into our laws what Roosevelt voiced into the nation's heart. Those, therefore, who are so mistaken as to suppose that President Roosevelt's policies and moral principles may become a dead letter in this administration will be undeceived. They will discover that President Taft is not a reactionary, but progressive."

This prediction was made by Henry Clews, the New York banker, last night in an address at the service dedication of the Roosevelt memorial window of the Metropolitan Temple, in this city. The service began last Sunday and has been continued throughout the week, with different prominent speakers each night.

Safe Blown Open.

North Bay, Ont., May 28.—The post-office at Cache Bay was burglarized Wednesday night, the safe being blown open and $20 in cash and stamps stolen. Money order forms were not molested. The job was evidently the work of expert cracksmen, who have been working along the C.P.R. line for some time.

DRYDOCK FOR MONTREAL.

English Company Will Build One at Cost of $2,500,000.

Montreal, May 28.—A 25,000-ton floating drydock for the port of Montreal in two years was the important announcement made yesterday by Major Stephens, chairman of the harbor board. An English company will build the dock, and other commercial enterprises, at an expenditure of $2,500,000, provided the Government will create a good site for the floating dock near Longue Point. This the Government will do at a cost in two years of $1,500,000, and rent the site to the company for a term of years.

Negotiations were opened up, and carried on continuously from October to May, with various large shipbuilding establishments. This has resulted in a business proposition being made whereby drydock facilities will be provided in conjunction with large industrial developments. The firm that has made the proposition is one of the largest and strongest in England.

Before submitting any proposal they sent a commission of six expert engineers, master mechanics and shipbuilders to Canada, and investigated the opportunities for the investment of capital, and studied the navigation conditions of the River St. Lawrence from Montreal to Rimouski.

With an undertaker he started for the place. At Lansdowne he found his son alive and well. The telephone message had been misunderstood.

MOTOR BOAT CLUB?

The formation of a Motor Boat Club is an idea that has been entertained to some extent by some of the boat owners on the Otonabee, and there has been much said in favour of the idea. Peterborough with its splendid stretch of water both up and down the Otonabee and with the beautiful string of lakes near at hand, has seen the boating spirit grow wonderfully of late years and there are at present many speed and pleasure launches with the number continually growing.

Everything which goes to assure the success of a boat club are to be found here. The only thing needed now is an active spirit who appreciates the benefit of a Motor Boat Club to fan the flame in favour of organization and stir up the others until the matter is carried out. The Examiner speaking to a prominent boat owner who finds great delight every summer in sailing on the Otonabee gained this information and learned that the matter may be taken up in the near future. There is a possibility that it may be combined with canoe owners in order to increase its strength and make the Club an active and successful affair. It has been learned that in other towns a Club of this nature has generally proven a success and that it remains with the owners themselves whether they will take the necessary interest to insure its becoming a flourishing organization.

SINGING EVANGELIST CURED BY ZAM-BUK

WIFE ALSO REAPS BENEFIT.

Mrs. Birdie Ellis Johnston, of 168 Christina Street, Sarnia, Ont., gives the following testimony of what Zam-Buk has done for herself and her husband:—

"Some time ago my husband was touring through Michigan on the car, "Herald of Hope," as a singing evangelist. The minister in the car had a son, who in some manner contracted a serious skin disease and my husband, unaware of it, caught this from him. He was all broken out in sores, which gave great pain, and he tried first one remedy and then another, but none of them did him any good.

"When all else had failed, we finally decided to try Zam-Buk, and see if this balm would succeed in stopping the itching and irritation. I am pleased to say that a few applications of Zam-Buck made a marked improvement, and perseverance for a short time with Zam-Buck effected a complete cure.

"About the same time sores also broke out all over by back, and spread rapidly, until my back seemed one big sore! This was very painful, and as Zam-Buk had proved so beneficial for my husband, I determined to give it another trial. My nurse rubbed my back well with Zam-Buk. We continued with this treatment, and in a remarkably short time, considering the seriousness of the case, my back was quite cleared of the awful sores.

"On still another occasion I had need to use Zam-Buk. While cooking something on the stove, I happened to burn my finger very badly. I applied Zam-Buk, and bound up the finger. In the morning the pain had ceased and the burn healed nicely."

For skin diseases, eczema, ringworm, blood-poisoning, and all kinds of eruptions, Zam-Buk is absolutely without equal. It also cures cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, scratches, ulcers, piles, salt rheum, prairie itch, etc. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c a box, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Street Preacher Goes to Jail.

Vancouver, B.C., May 28.—A. S. Veale, a street preacher, took a 30 days' sentence yesterday morning in the Police Court rather than pay a $35 fine. When asked by the magistrate if he wished to be sworn to give his statement of incidents which led up to his arrest, he declined with the declaration that the Bible forbids men to swear.

Postal Clerk Charged.

Ottawa, May 28.—Another young man employed in the Ottawa postoffice was arrested last night for stealing a registered letter. The third offender to be caught is Claude Walters, aged 22, of respectable family. He was caught under the new scheme of screened watching. The others caught were given long prison terms.

WHY AM I ILL?

HOW TO TELL.

Does every cold affect your back, and cause a feeling of chilliness, followed by disturbance of the kidney action.

Does the use of spirits, tea or beer excite the kidneys? Are you easily worried and annoyed over trifles? Are the feet and hands cold? Circulation bad? Do the feet and legs swell? Is there puffiness under the eyes? Do you have rheumatism, poor eyesight, headaches and backaches? Is there gravel or any unnatural action of the kidneys?

If you have any of the above symptoms your kidneys are either weak or diseased, and these symptoms are warnings of more serious troubles to follow; Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy.

Whatever you do, whatever you think your disease is, look well to your kidneys at the first sign of anything wrong. Give them just the aid they require in Doan's Kidney Pills, the Great Quaker Kidney Medicine, and see how well and fit you feel after even a few doses.

Mrs. O. Warren, Radisson, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with very severe pains in my back for years. I tried everything I could think of but they did me no good. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking two boxes, I have not been troubled since."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

WILL GIVE THEIR STAFF A HALF HOLIDAY SATURDAYS

Messrs. T. Kinnear & Co., Wholesale Grocers, are Setting a Commendable Example to Other Business Firms---A Letter to Trade.

The Local Home of T. Kinnear & Co., Who Will Give Their Staff Weekly Half Holidays During the Summre Months.

The half-holiday system seems to be growing in favour with local business men, and the wholesale grocers, Messrs. T. Kinnear & Company, have set a commendable example in providing their staff with a half-holiday on Saturday afternoons during the summer months. The Company have issued the following circular to the trade:

During the months of June, July, and August, we have decided to close our warehouse on Saturdays at one o'clock, so that our shipping staff may enjoy a half-holiday.

To facilitate the work, we would esteem it a favour if you will let us have your orders as early as possible on Saturday morning. Same will have our prompt and careful attention.—T. Kinnear & Company, per F. C. Moore.

THE INFLUENCE OF PRESS IS STRIKINGLY ILLUSTRATED

The action of the Dominion Government in deciding to send a commission of Canadian farmers to Ireland and Denmark to study the swine industry in those countries is a result of the efforts of Farm and Dairy, the agricultural paper now published in Peterborough.

Last December Farm and Dairy pointed out that unless something was done to stop the decline in Canadian exports for bacon, this country would soon lose its export bacon trade.

Farm and Dairy suggested that the Dominion Government should appoint a commission to visit Denmark and Ireland to study the methods of farmers in those countries. This suggestion was indorsed by the members of the Dominion Swine Breeders' Association last January as well as by many readers of Farm and Dairy, with the result that the Dominion Government has voted $10,000 to defray the expenses of sending such a commission to Denmark and Ireland.

The articles published in Farm and Dairy a year ago on the question of free rural mail delivery and that were secured by a member of the editorial staff of the paper who visited the United States to look into the matter are generally believed to have have had a good deal to do with the Dominion Government introducing this system into Canada.

Captain R. W. Carson In Charge Of The New Government Patrol Boat

The placing of the steam yacht Navarach on the Bay of Quinte—Rideau game district route has released the Naiad, which will be brought up to do duty upon the Midland district chain of lakes, in order to keep a closer vision upon these growingly popular waters. The course of the Naiad, which will be in control of Capt. R. W Carson, will extend through seven townships and illustrates the wealth of water routes in Central Ontario. The boat will start in Couchiching Lake, go down into Lake Simcoe, out by the Trent Valley Canal into Balsam Lake and on through Sturgeon, Chemong, Stony Lake and Rice Lakes. Lake Scugog will be visited during the duck season. The counties through which the Naiad will pass in her long winding course are Simcoe, Ontario, York, Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland.—Toronto News.

Grand Lodge Restore Purple And Blue Degrees Of The Order

When the Grand Orange Lodge resumed its session yesterday afternoon, the matter of the Scarlet Chapter was brought up and discussed. A request was made by one of the Montreal members that the practice of giving this degree in a special chapter be discontinued. This degree is separate from the others coming after the Royal Arch. It was pointed out that it only tended to complicate the workings of the Order. The Scarlet Order, it was felt, should be retained but it should be worked in connection with one of the regular chapters.

Another question of degree work considered this afternoon was the restoration of the Purple and Blue degrees. In the past there have been the four regular degrees, the Orange, Blue, Purple and Royal Arch. Two years ago the Blue and the Purple were struck out, but now an effort is being made to have them put back as part of the regular ritual of the Order.

As was the case with the Scarlet Order, the movement to retain the degrees is being made by the older members. At the time the two were struck out it was made clear that all the work which they included should not be dropped. The object in abolishing the degrees was rather to secure a greater uniformity in the Order than to curtail the amount of work to be done by the members.

In the United States, in England and Ireland, there are no Blue and Purple degrees, and it was felt members moving to or from Canada and Newfoundland would be put to less disadvantage were they dropped here. The question is being keenly fought.

Made Honorary Member

One of the pleasant features of yesterday afternoon's meeting was the making of Mr. Thomas A. Duff of Toronto, the General Insurance Agent for the Order, an honorary member of the Association. Mr. James Mayor of Toronto referred to Mr. Duff's long and faithful services and it was in recognition of these, that the honour was bestowed upon him yesterday. The resolution was moved by Mr. Duncan Munroe of Cornwall, Past Grand Master for Eastern Ontario. In doing so he referred in eulogistic terms to Mr. Duff's untiring zeal in the interests of the Orange Order.

Mr. Duff has been associated with the Orange Society for the past ten years. He replied thanking the Grand Lodge for the honour they had shown him.

GEORGE MORRICE ROGER ELEVATED TO THE BENCH

Becomes First District Court Judge of Thunder Bay and Rainy River District—Four Appointments Have Been Made by the Dominion Government.

A despatch from Ottawa gives information of the appointment of four judges. Among the names is that of a prominent barrister of Peterborough, Mr. G. M. Roger, who has been appointed to the new district Court Judgeship, for Thunder Bay and Rainy River. Three of the Judgeships were created by an act of the Ontario Legislature last session.

His Honour Judge Roger, is to be very heartily congratulated upon the recognition of his legal abilities, and his character, as a safe, steady, and reliable member of the profession, as implied in his elevation to the dignity and responsibility of the bench. He will maintain the one and faithfully and efficiently discharge the other. Mr. Roger is a native of Peterborough and in all the years of his life in the town and city, both as a professional gentleman and citizen, he has earned and enjoyed to a high degree, the unvarying respect of the community. He has been actively and creditably identified with the promotion of the interests of the city, and while the position of a judge is one of honour, it is one that will be adorned and dignified by Mr. Roger's assumption of its duties and responsibilities.

FORMER PETERBOROUGH BOY DROWNED NEAR LATCHFORD HERMAN SAGER'S SAD DEATH

Cobalt, May 27.—Herman Sager, aged 23, son of Mr. S. Sager, Buffalo, was drowned this morning in Montreal River, a mile below Latchford. Young Sager and Captain Haskell were coming up to Latchford from Last Chance Mine. Both were expert canoemen, and Sager a fine swimmer. It seems they got into rough water, upsetting the canoe. Sager was hanging on to the upturned canoe, but evidently took a cramp and sank. Haskell reached shore with the canoe.

Herman Sager was well known in Peterborough and the news of his sad death will be learned with profoundest regret by his host of friends. He resided here for a number of years, leaving thecity about four years ago, when his parents removed to Buffalo, N.Y., where they are at present residing.

Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family, who, shortly before leaving the city about four years ago, ing accidents in their midst. It will be remembered that their son, Walter, fell through a skylight in the roof of the house, so badly cutting himself that he died a few hours after being removed to the hospital. Then, again, during their residence here another son of Mr. Sager lost the sight of both eyes while playing with a loaded revolver, the firearm discharging its contents in his eyes.

SAMPLE OF OATS FROM THE WEST WHICH GREW 4 INCHES IN 8 DAYS

The magic touch that hastens growth in Western Canada making Eastern conditions appear interminably slow has been brought home to Dr. R. F. Morrow, dentist, in a letter from his brother, Mr. James Morrow of Ethelton, Saskatchewan. Enclosed in the envelope were several young shoots of oats about four or five inches long.

The grain was sown on May 12th, and the samples were pulled up on the 22nd, the time allowed for their growth being eight complete days. Ethelton is in North Saskatchewan, where the soil is of wonderful fertility. Perhaps it is because of the fact that the ground has not been under cultivation many years and is yielding up its best riches. At any rate the grain has been known to have sprouted 19 inches in a week. Dr. Morrow's brother has been farming in the West about five years. Three years ago the nearest railway was 56 miles, now there is one within twelve miles, and there are steps being taken to secure a line close to Ethelton. Mr. Morrow has five hundred acres of oats planted and many acres of wheat. He is increasing his acreage every year and this Spring has a fine showing. The conditions are the most promising he has yet experienced and the prospects are pointing to an excellent harvest.

Four inches of growth in eight days is wonderful when compared with Nature's work in Ontario and yet it is vouched for by practically everyone who goes to the West.

Two Youths Found By Policeman Sleeping In Barn Late Last Night

Two youths, one fifteen years of age, and the other twelve, were found sleeping in a barn on Queen St., early this morning by a policeman. They were kept at the Police Station until this morning when they appeared before the Magistrate, charged with being vagrants. Neither one of them have been attending school and are boys who have on precious occasions been in court.

His Worship did not care to proceed with the case until the parents of the boys were present and he accordingly enlarged the case until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. He allowed the boys to go until then, on their promise to appear. They were crying bitterly when they left the courtroom.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 23.—Steel common was the predominating feature of an active and strong stock market today. It made a new high record price of 63¾ before noon, on tremendous transactions, buying orders pouring in from both here and abroad in a large volume. The general list showed smart advances with notable gains in Eries, B. R. T., Gould stocks and the minor steel issues. London was a heavy buyer all around the room, taking large amounts of Steel common, the purchase in all the international issues for foreign account being estimated at 50,000 shares. Some profit-taking before the holiday caused some hesitancy in Reading, Union Pacific and other rails.

Chicago, May 28.—Bear selling and lower Liverpool cables caused a break of nearly a cent in wheat around the opening. The bull leader came to the support of the market, however, at the lower level, and rallied prices nearly two cents, the bear party retreating in disorder. Corn and oats were weak at the opening, but turned strong later and went above last night's prices.

CONTINUAL RUSH TO NEW ONTARIO

Some of the Prospectors Loose Their Outfits by Canoes Upsetting.

That the rush of prospectors into New Ontario continues undiminished is evidenced in a letter received from Mr. Frank O'Connor who is now in Latchford. They are passing through this town in a seemingly endless line with no prospects of any cessation at least for the present. Of the great number who are canoeing there have been reported not a few accidents in which upsets happened and the unfortunate new comers loose practically everything. This is but one of the hardships or trials which must be expected and which help to destroy fancied pictures of big strikes and paying claims.

MR. SAMUEL ARMSTRONG RETURNS FROM COBALT

Mr. Samuel Armstrong of Otonabee, a member of the Casey Mountain Mining Company, with headquarters in Peterborough has returned from a few days visit to the Company's mine, Cobalt, where development operations are in active progress. He brings with him samples of ore, whose high assay quality promises rich returns when the stage of systematic mining is reached.

Mining operations are very active in Cobalt district, especially in the matter of milling, the O'Brien people and others operating or erecting ten concentration plants, employed or to be employed in reducing crude ore to the smelting stage.

Work is in progress upon a hydraulic system. Thirteen miles of piping are being used to convey compressed air—compressed by water power at Montreal river, for use in various mining operations. Mr. Armstrong returns with confirmed faith in the great mining future of the entire Cobalt district.

WHEN THE BLOOM COMES

At the edge of the woods and by the wayside fence the wild cherry raises its masses of white against the delicate green of the young leaves of the maple. Here and there the dark shades of the spruce are illuminated by brilliant splashes of pink where the peach gives promise of the luscious fruit that will come with the autumn. In larger groups, formed by the plum and cherry orchards, the air is heavy with the perfume from the snowy canopy in which bees are storing nectar against winter needs. A few days more, and from ten thousand hillsides the apple orchards will stand out like great snow-capped mountains, reflecting the glory of the morning sun, while from every branch will come the joy-songs of gorgeously plumed birds rejoicing in the return of glad spring time.

Rev. E. Harris' Charge Against Prof. Matthews Fails.

M'MASTER FOR FREEDOM

Senate of University Decides That the Accused is a Strong and Inspiring Teacher and a Fine Influence Among the Students — University Takes Stand For Freedom of Thought In Religion.

Toronto, May 27.—After a session lasting for six and a half hours the Senate of McMaster University last night found Prof. I. G. Matthews, who occupies the chair of Old Testament exegesis in the college, not guilty of the charges of heretical teaching brought against him by Rev. Elmore Harris at the senate meeting on May 11.

The finding of the Senate not only exonerates Prof. Matthews, but also outlines the general attitude towards critical enquiry in the realms of theology. "McMaster University," it states plainly, "stands for freedom, for progress, for investigation. It must welcome truth from whatever quarter and never be guilty of binding the spirit of free enquiry."

The senate met at 3 p.m. and continued in session until 6.30, when an adjournment was made till 8 o'clock. It was 11 o'clock before their deliberations were brought to a close, when the chancellor handed out the following authorized statement to the press:

The senate, after careful consideration, finds the charges against the teaching of Prof. Matthews not proved.

The senate is assured that Prof. Matthews is regarded by his students as a strong and inspiring teacher, that he is a man of humble and devout spirit, sound on all the fundamentals of the Baptist faith, and that he is highly respected as a Christian and a gentleman by all those who know him best. In matters of Biblical criticism he is conservative, though accepting many of the results of modern critical scholarship, he holds firmly to the inspiration and supernatural character of the Old and New Testaments, accepting the definition of inspiration given by Dr. A. H. Strong in his work on Systematic Theology as essentially representing his own view: "Inspiration is that influence of the Spirit of God upon the minds of the Scripture writers, which made their writings the record of a progressive divine revelation, sufficient, when taken together and interpreted by the same Spirit who inspired them, to lead every honest enquirer to Christ and to salvation."

The chair of Old Testament exegesis is, in the opinion of the senate, one of the most difficult in the whole university to fill, because of the critical problems that are necessarily raised in dealing with the religion and literature of the Semitic peoples. There are different ways of facing these problems. One method is to ignore them altogether; another is to recognize them, but to seek to deal with each individually as it arises in the mind of the student, and a third is to state the problems frankly, face them, and then seek to find some solution that will stand the severest strain that may be put upon it. Prof. Matthews adopts the last of these methods, believing that it is better for the students to face the problems in the privacy of the classroom, under the sympathetic guidance of their teacher, than to meet and solve them alone and unaided, as they are bound to do in after years in the course of their ministry. And in this Prof. Matthews has the endorsement of the Senate.

McMaster University stands for freedom, for progress, for investigation. It must welcome truth from whatever quarter and never be guilty of binding the spirit of free enquiry. As a Christian school of learning under Baptist auspices, it stands for the fullest and freest investigation, not only in the scientific realm, but also in the realm of Biblical scholarship. Holding fast their historic position on the personal freedom and responsibility of the individual, refusing to bind or to be bound by any human creed, rejecting the authority of tradition and taking their stand on the Word of God alone as the supreme and all-sufficient rule of faith and practice, the Baptists have ever been ready to accord to all students of the sacred Scriptures the largest possible measure of freedom consistent with loyalty to the fundamentals of the Christian faith.

HON. P. H. ROY WAS CONVICTED

Ex-Banker Guilty of Sending False Statements to Ottawa.

SENTENCE IS POSTPONED

After Twenty Minutes In Deliberation French-Canadian Farmer Jury Finds ex-Speaker of Quebec Guilty of Wrecking Banque St. Jean — Armand Lavergne In Court With the Prisoner.

Montreal, May 28.—Hon. P. H. Roy was yesterday afternoon found guilty by a jury composed of French-Canadian farmers of the better class of having sent false statements to the Finance Minister concerning the Bank of St. John, of which he was president and general manager, resulting in the fall of that institution and utter ruin to very many people in the district.

Justice Demers delivered a dispassionate charge, all the inference being against the accused. His honor told the jury they must do their whole duty irrespective of social considerations, and at the end of twenty minutes, the twelve men came into court and said they found the accused guilty. Mr. Roy appeared dazed and was evidently deserted by every one except his son-in-law, Armand Lavergne, M.P.P., and his son, L. P. Roy, a clever student at St. Mary's College, both of whom were in court. Both went over and shook the unfortunate man's hand at the end of the trial.

Mr. Girard, counsel for defence, asked for delay as he intended to move for a reserve case and the court adjourned till to-day.

The maximum term is five years. When the late W. H. Weir, president of the ill-fated Ville Marie Bank was found guilty of about the same offence, he was given 23 months.

The judge in discharging the members of the jury, intimated to them that they had done their duty to society.

Murphy Minister of Justice.

Ottawa, May 28.—Hon. A. B. Aylesworth and J. S. Ewart, K.C., left yesterday for England, where they will prepare, in conjunction with the Newfoundland representative and Sir Robert Finlay, the case to be presented to The Hague tribunal regarding the fisheries dispute with the United States.

Hon. Charles Murphy will act as Minister of Justice in the absence of Mr. Aylesworth, who is not expected to return to Canada until late autumn. He will undergo further aural treatment at Vienna.

Unique Masonic.

Washington, May 28.—President Taft was informed yesterday that the English grand lodge of Masons had granted a dispensation most unusual in the history of masonry for the organization of a blue lodge of masons at London to be composed entirely of Americans.

The dispensation was granted by the Duke of Connaught, grand master of the Grand Lodge of England. The duke and President Taft will be made the first honorary members of the lodge, which will be instituted June 3.

Extradited to Russia.

Ottawa, May 28.—Jan Buchgolz was yesterday before Judge McTavish on application of the Russian Government for extradition. He is charged with conspiracy to murder one of his neighbors in a northern province of his home land. On the sworn depositions of the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs being presented the application was granted and a Dominion police officer will take him to Russia. Buchgolz was arrested at Winnipeg.

Murderer to Distribute Charity.

London, May 28.—The Times' Constantinople correspondent says that much apprehension has been caused among the Young Turks and Armenians by the news that the new Vali of Adana, who is described as a somewhat fanatical Kurd, has entrusted the important task of the distribution of the Government relief fund to Bagdadh, a Turkish land owner, who was the first to lead a band of armed men into the bazaar at Adana and begin the slaughter of Armenians.

Preston's Triumphal Progress.

London, May 28.—According to Japanese newspapers W. T. R. Preston is getting receptions and banquets everywhere, with arches, flags and banners in evidence. The reporters of all the principal newspapers are in the train of the procession, and Mr. Preston's speeches are telegraphed all over Japan for publication.

Found Drowned.

Ottawa, May 28.—George Purcell, an elevator man in the Government employ, missing since Saturday last, was found drowned in the canal basin yesterday morning. He had been drinking.

Tot Drowns.

Brockville, May 28.—The children of an English immigrant, Jas. Swineburn, went playing on the bank of a creek near their home. The youngest, a lad of three, fell in and was drowned.

ARE TO BUILD STEEL PLANT

Machinery Ordered For Mills to Be Erected at Soo.

WILL EQUAL ANY IN U. S.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Is to Be the Site of New Manufactory for Which Algoma Company Has Ordered Half a Million Dollars of Machinery—Will Compete With the Northwestern States.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 28.—Another move toward centering the iron and steel industry of the United States on the borders of the Great Lakes was made yesterday, when a contract was closed by the Algoma Steel Co. for $500,000 worth of heavy steel machinery to be delivered at Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, as quickly as possible. It is the intention of the Philadelphians and the Londoners back of this plant to have two immense steel mills in Canada turning out bars and other steel products by Nov. 1 next. The nature of the machinery ordered shows that the mills to be erected will be rivals worthy of even the biggest and best Pittsburg mills. The mills will be by far the largest in Canada.

After six years' study those concerned in this project at the head of the Great Lakes have decided that it would be cheaper to carry the coal to the iron ore than bring the ores to the coal, as has been the custom for years. It is the intention to go after the Canadian trade and the trade of the Northwest States, a specialty being made of the steel entering into the making of farming machinery.

Announcement of placing this order caused some interest in Pittsburg last night as Pittsburg steel barons have looked on this northwest territory as their own, even though the Algoma concern has had a rail mill there and ore mines for some time. There is little doubt now that the most formidable rival the Pittsburg steel mills have encountered in years in the northwest is now securing a better hold, as local concerns will hardly be able to compete with a freight of over 1,500 miles added to their cost of manufacture at Pittsburg.

Royal Society Officers.

Ottawa, May 28.—The Royal Society closed its sessions here last night with a dinner, at which were the delegates from associat' societies. The officers elected yesterday were:

President, Rev. Dr. George Bryce, Winnipeg; vice-president, Rev. Dr. R. Ramsay Wright, Toronto; hon. secretary, Dr. W. D. Lesueur, Ottawa; hon. treasurer, Lawrence M. Lambe, Ottawa.

The society decided to send a memorial to the Dominion and Provincial Governments notifying them that cities and towns are allowed to dump their sewage and refuse into rivers and streams, and pointing out the danger thereby to public health.

Fishing Schooner Ashore.

North Sydney, N.S., May 28.—The French fishing schooner P. F. 42, was driven ashore at White Point in the gale which has just swept the coast, and is a total loss. The captain and crew remained on board until their lives were endangered, when they launched the dories and started for the shore. Two of the dories were upset in the heavy seas and only the prompt action of the fisherfolk saved them from being dashed to death on the rocks.

Had Permission to Pass.

Ottawa, May 28.—There is no foundation for the report that the United States is attempting to send the training ship Nashville through the Canadian canals to the great lakes without permission of the Dominion. The Canadian Government made an order over a year ago allowing the Nashville without armament to pass through the Canadian canals.

Mistakes Wife for Burglar.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—Mistaking her for a burglar, George W. Thompson shot and killed his wife. Thompson went to bed early, leaving his wife downstairs sewing. Later she entered the room, carrying a lighted match. Thompson said he awoke, thought the light was from a burglar's lantern, took a revolver from under his pillow and fired twice.

Skin Diseases.

A diseased or disfigured skin will always leave its stamp on the mind of the individual. Many people suffering from disfiguring skin diseases avoid society and lose all pride in their personal appearance. When the skin breaks out in eruptions and sores it is due entirely to an impure condition of the blood.

In all such cases Burdock Blood Bitters will quickly purify the blood and drive all the impurities out of the system.

ITCHING RASH CURED.

Mrs. J. J. Magee, Jr., Kinmount, Ont., writes: "In the spring of 1906 I was troubled with a Rash that broke out all over me. It was the worst on my face and head, had a dry, scaly top, and when I would get warm it would become very itchy. I tried the doctor's medicine but it did me no good, so I then got one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and before it was all used the Rash was entirely gone."

SORES ON FACE.

Mrs. Harvey Barkhouse, Gold River, N.S., writes: "I was greatly troubled with Sores on my face and finally became so bad I had to go to the doctor about it, but he could do nothing to help me.

"I thought about Burdock Blood Bitters and decided to try a bottle. I cannot recommend B.B.B. enough, as I had not taken all the bottle before my face was cured."

NO CHANGE IN THE STANDING OF WALKERS IN THE BIG RACE

Brown Still Maintains His One Lap Lead on Hoagland---Harrison Stuck to the Leaders Last Night and Gained One Lap on West---Several of the "Grinders" Did Not Do as Well as on the Night Before.

Geo. Brown, Auburn, N.Y., 67 miles, 11 laps.
W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N.Y., 67 miles, 10 laps.
Lew West, New York, N.Y., 66 miles, 9 laps.
Jim Harrison, Peterborough, 65 miles, 12 laps.
J. E. Blake, Syracuse, N.Y., 64 miles, 4 laps.
W. Spenceley, Peterborough, 60 miles, 3 laps.
Ray Fenton, Auburn, N.Y., 59 miles, 3 laps.
Jim Graham, Buffalo, N.Y., 59 miles, 3 laps.
Dave Hartley, Peterborough, 56 miles, 2 laps.
John Blatchford, Peterborough, 51 miles, 1 lap.

Ten hours or half of the time for the Six Day Walk is gone, and Geo. Brown, the youngster from Auburn, N.Y., is still one lap ahead of Champion Hoagland. The two and one half hour's going last night did not produce any change in the standing although some of the men made material gains on the walkers in front of them. Hoagland failed to get back his lap from Brown being content to hold the latter and the two stuck together like twin brothers. Jim Harrison glued right on to the leaders and remained with them for the night giving a grand exhibition of determined pluck. Several times they opened a swath between the local man and themselves, but Harrison stayed doggedly at it and closed up the gap with the result that the three were on even terms as far as last night's walking was concerned. Harrison was in far better form than on Wednesday night, and covered sixteen laps more, gaining back one from West who was off the track for a short time and was not able to snatch back the circuit from Harrison on his return.

The duel between Hoagland and Brown, while not as spectacular or as productive of record breaking walking, was nevertheless an intensely interesting one. The two hung together, first one and then the other taking the lead. The thrilling moment of the night came shortly after the beginning of the second hour. The band swung off into the familiar "Yankee Doodle" and Brown suddenly shot to the front like a bullet from a gun speeding away from Hoagland amid loud cheers. The big fellow was not long in gaining up steam and starting in pursuit. Within a lap he had closed up Brown again. West and Harrison were shaken off by the sensational sprint but they plugged away and caught up with the leaders again. There was more excitement a little later on when Brown and Hoagland again went out with West following them. Harrison dropped back until he was nearly half a lap behind, but the local man was game and kept on with his speedy, steady gait and as a result West came back to him after a long chase and the two again caught the leading pair.

West made another effort in the last few minutes to steal another lap from Harrison but the latter refused to let him go and finished the night with a gain of one lap to his credit. Harrison is but ten laps back of West and will surely shake the latter up on Saturday, as the longer hours will suit him down to the ground while West does not look as if he wanted much more than two and one half hours at a stretch.

Blake did one lap better than on the previous night although the coloured boy had a long argument with Referee Mark Spenceley over his gait in the sprints. The referee called him down several times for running and Blake did not like it and grew sulky. His style when he is going fast is to say the least, peculiar and from the side it looked as if the official was right in warning him although it might have been better to have set him back a lap, than to have wrangled so long over the point. "You are down on me because I am the only black sheep in the flock," remarked Blake during the vocal duel that was kept up for nearly half a mile. Jimmy Graham kept the interest in the argument going by throwing in more remarks about ham bones and other things as he passed around.

Spenceley did not do as well as on Wednesday night, and both Fenton and Graham gained on him. The local boy has developed a number of blisters on his feet and the sore spots did not help help him any last night. Dave Hartley kept up his usual gait. The veteran has been covering within a lap or so of the same distance for the four nights and has been going a little better than five and three fifths miles an hour, a splendid showing. He had a stitch last night for nearly an hour, but gamely stayed it out.

John Blatchford is another game one. The old fellow has not the speed of the others but he has remained bravely at his task and has been moving along at a clip that is better than five miles an hour four ten hours. It would keep a whole lot of the spectators busy doing five miles an hour for very long and John deserves recognition for his pluck. He is the oldest man in the walk and is the only one of the field who has had no experience in the racing game.

The distance covered last night were as follows:

Brown 16 miles, 10 laps.
Hoagland 16 miles, 10 laps.
Harrison 16 miles, 10 laps.
West 16 miles, 9 laps.
Blake 15 miles, 11 laps.
Spenceley 14 miles, 3 laps.
Fenton 14 miles, 10 laps.
Graham 14 miles, 11 laps.
Hartley 14 miles, 0 laps.
Blatchford 12 miles, 2 laps.

Compared with the night before, Harrison did fifteen, West four, Blake one, Fenton five and Graham four laps more, while Hoagland and Brown covered eight, Spenceley twelve, Hartley one, and Blatchford eleven. less.

To-morrow, Fred Simpson, the local Indian runner, is participating in one of the most important races of his career, when he will start in the $10,000 Marathon Derby in Chicago. Seven Canadians will face the starter, the six in addition to Simpson being Tom Longboat, Tom Coley, John D. Marsh, Paul Acoose, the Western Indian, Fred Meadows, and Abbie Wood. There are some 14,000 acres of waste land in the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, and the United Counties' Council is becoming aroused on the question of reforesting this land. GLIMPSES OF LIFE AND CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND

Conservatives in Their Attack on the Government Closely Approach a Certain Section of Canadian Politicians--- The Poverty of Liverpool--The Englishman Still Fond of Sport.

Formby, Liverpool, May 13, '09

After an excellent passage, across a sea, over which, without exaggeration, one could have paddled a canoe, we reached Liverpool on Tuesday morning, May 10th. The voyage had been a delightful one, but, notwithstanding their happy state of affairs, all were glad when the steamer was snubbed up at the dock, and the time for disembarkation arrived. For many it was the first time that they set foot on English soil. Some had come from Australia and New Zealnad, others from British Columbia, and the eagerness with which they cast their eyes towards the shores of the mother of nations was delightful to witness.

Although we arrived in May, I was irresistibly reminded of that beautiful poem of Browning's, beginning:

"Oh, to be in England,
Now that April's there"—

for the weather was delicious, and when the big city's smoke and bustle and roar had been left far behind, and I was treading the quiet lanes of this village, it was not hard to realize how great is the charm that rural England exercises over the soul of the returned wanderer. To be once again in England! From how many thousands of throats has this cry issued! On the aird wastes of the African veldt; in the Australian hinterlands, in the broad domains of Canada, and the islands of the sea; wherever Englishmen roam or rally, this is the central idea on which all their actions are based, to return some day and be once again enfolded in her welcoming arms. For, it is good to be in England to note the old familiar scenes, to hear the birds singing as only the birds of England can sing, to see the smiling hedge-rows, and the primroses lifting their heads amongst the shaded grasses; the thatched roofs of the cottages; the beautifully-kept lawns; the trim flower-beds, ablaze with colour and redolent of perfume; but, above all and beyond all, to be greeted with the handclasp of those from whom one has been parted by many years of severance.

It is too early yet to make any comments on public questions. One needs a few days reading and enquiry in order to get in touch with current topics. It is funny, however, to notice with what strength of language and vigorous metaphor the Conservatives belabour the present administration. They are really nearly as proficient in the art of abuse as a certain section of politicians in Canada. Lloyd-George and Winston Churchill are the two who seem to be the most cordially disliked, the preference in vituperation being perhaps accorded to the latter.

We have been accustomed to laugh in a more or less good-natured way at the amount of red-tapeism noticeable in English officialdom, at the formalities of social life, and at the lack of taste discernible in the costume of English ladies. There may be a considerable amount of truth in regard to red-tapeism, but there is no more formality in social life than is consistent with quiet gentility, and one has but to take a casual survey along a station platform or a street to feel that the ladies of England in the matter of dress, have been most undeservedly maligned. It is painful to witness the abject poverty that exists in certain quarters in Liverpool. It is a condition inseparable from all large cities. To-day I took a stroll through several of the humble thoroughfares. Ale-houses abounded, so did pawn-shops. As one passed along the streets, wretched, ill-starred women, their faces swollen and inflamed with drink, jostled past one with dirt-begrimed infants huddled up in their shawls. Evil-looking men reclined against door-ways, or lamp-posts; flower and match-girls pestered one with their wares; there was not one smiling face, not one cheery voice to be seen or heard in all that lengthy promenade. But there was one other thing noticeable. In every saloon window appeared a printed notice stating that if the present proposal of the Government in regard to the liquor question becomes law the price of BEER will inevitably have to be RAISED. With so many witnesses to the evils of drink passing and repassing at every moment one could not but feel that there were more noble interests in the world than the liquor traffic.

The Englishman is as much addicted to sport as ever. Cricket and golf are in full swing everywhere. An amusing instance of how great importance attaches to sport in this country, is seen in the following: A Liverpool steamer, bound on a voyage down the Mediterranean, was passing Gibraltar. The passengers had been at sea for some time, and longed for news. The ship, therefore, signalled to the garrison for the most important intelligence, and the answer came back: "English Cup final: Manchester United beaten by Bristol City." After all, it takes an Englishman to think imperially of sport.

A PLEA FOR WALKING AS FIRST-CLASS EXERCISE

Sporting Editor The Examiner.

Sir,—The writer has been a student of physical culture right along from boyhood, and although not a record-breaker in any form of sport, still has taken his place in the field during the summer, and in the gym. in winter, when opportunity presented itself.

One thing to be noted is that walking, which is an accomplishment that the majority of human beings possess, is strongly endorsed by all the prominent leaders of physical prowess in both this country and the Old Land. The one convincing argument in its favour is that it is a form of exercise within each and all.

Let us put it that motoring, yatching or horse-back riding was the best form of exercise, then this would come only within the reach of the financially blessed, a condition quite contradictory to the conception we have of the Maker of these "tenements of clay," who gave the means whereby both rich and poor may keep their bodies fit and well. So then, don't sigh for a canoe, an automobile, a good horse, a yacht, and so on, but just develop the exercise you learnt years ago as you "chanced it" from chair to chair, and you'll find that simple pleasure still holds good, and that the Almighty Dollar cannot supply everything, as yet.

Talk On Olympic Games Was Greatly Enjoyed

The lecture given by Mr. W. Tait, of Toronto in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Thursday night on the Olympic games of 1908, was a most delightful treat, although unfortunately, there was but a small audience present. Mr. Tait was a spectator throughout the games, and as he is an acknowledged authority on Athletics, his remarks were most instructive as well as being entertaining. His descriptions of the different events were intensely interesting and the effect was added to by the display of many excellent views of the participating athletes and the running of some of the races. Throughout the games Mr. Tait stated that there was a splendid feeling of good sportsmanship displayed and the speaker gave several instances in which this was brought out.

A "FLAT RATE" STORY.

Mr. J. H. Larmouth told the following typical story of conditions which the Company experiences under the flate rate system of charges. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith are next door neighbours. They both have electric lighting paid for on a flat rate. They have heard about the new electric iron and buy one on equal shares. The Company's inspector on his trip finds Mrs. Smith with the iron and demands the extra fee for the power it uses. She states that Mrs. Jones owns the iron and finally it is learned that the two women purchased it on shares.

This is an actula case, Mrs. Smith ironed on Tuesday and her neighbour on Wednesday and they were delighted with the service and the satisfaction. Mr. Larmouth's point was that under the flat rate the electric power is used extravagantly.

GLIMPSES OF LIFE AND CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND

Conservatives in Their Attack on the Government Closely Approach a Certain Section of Canadian Politicians--- The Poverty of Liverpool--The Englishman Still Fond of Sport.

Formby, Liverpool, May 13, '09

After an excellent passage, across a sea, over which, without exaggeration, one could have paddled a canoe, we reached Liverpool on Tuesday morning, May 10th. The voyage had been a delightful one, but, notwithstanding this happy state of affairs, all were glad when the steamer was snubbed up at the dock, and the time for disembarkation arrived. For many it was the first time that they set foot on English soil. Some had come from Australia and New Zealnad, others from British Columbia, and the eagerness with which they cast their eyes towards the shores of the mother of nations was delightful to witness.

Although we arrived in May, I was irresistibly reminded of that beautiful poem of Browning's, beginning:

"Oh, to be in England,
Now that April's there"—

for the weather was delicious, and when the big city's smoke and bustle and roar had been left far behind, and I was treading the quiet lanes of this village, it was not hard to realize how great is the charm that rural England exercises over the soul of the returned wanderer. To be once again in England! From how many thousands of throats has this cry issued. On the aird wastes of the African veldt; in the Australian hinterlands; in the broad domains of Canada, and the islands of the sea; wherever Englishmen roam or rally, this is the central idea on which all their actions are based, to return some day and be once again enfolded in her welcoming arms. For, it is good to be in England to note the old familiar scenes, to hear the birds singing as only the birds of England can sing, to see the smiling hedge-rows, and the primroses lifting their heads amongst the shaded grasses; the thatched roofs of the cottages; the beautifully-kept lawns; the trim flower-beds, ablaze with colour and redolent of perfume; but, above all and beyond all, to be greeted with the handclasp of those from whom one has been parted by many years of severance.

It is too early yet to make any comments on public questions. One needs a few days reading and enquiry in order to get in touch with current topics. It is funny, however, to notice with what strength of language and vigorous metaphor the Conservatives belabour the present administration. They are really nearly as proficient in the art of abuse as a certain section of politicians in Canada. Lloyd-George and Winston Churchill are the two who seem to be the most cordially disliked, the preference in vituperation being perhaps accorded to the latter.

We have been accustomed to laugh in a more or less good-natured way at the amount of red-tapeism noticeable in English officialdom, at the formalities of social life, and at the lack of taste discernible in the costume of English ladies. There may be a considerable amount of truth in regard to red-tapeism, but there is no more formality in social life than is consistent with quiet gentility, and one has but to take a casual survey along a station platform or a street to feel that the ladies of England in the matter of dress, have been most undeservedly maligned. It is painful to witness the abject poverty that exists in certai quarters in Liverpool. It is a condition inseparable from all large cities. To-day I took a stroll through several of the humble thoroughfares. Ale-houses abounded, so did pawn-shops. As one passed along the streets, wretched, ill-starred women, their faces swollen and inflamed with drink, jostled past one with dirt-begrimed infants huddled up in their shawls. Evil-looking men reclined against door-ways, or lamp-posts; flower and match-girls pestered one with their wares; there was not one smiling face, not one cheery voice to be seen or heard in all that lengthy promenade. But there was one other thing noticeable. In every saloon window appeared a printed notice stating that if the present proposal of the Government in regard to the liquor question becomes law the price of BEER will inevitably have to be RAISED. With so many witnesses to the evils of drink passing and repassing at every moment one could not but feel that there were more noble interests in the world than the liquor traffic.

The Englishman is as much addicted to sport as ever. Cricket and golf are in full swing everywhere. An amusing instance of how great importance attaches to sport in this country, is seen in the following: A Liverpool steamer, bound on a voyage down the Mediterranean, was passing Gibraltar. The passengers had been at sea for some time, and longed for news. The ship, therefore, signalled to the garrison for the most important intelligence, and the answer came back: "English Cup final: Manchester United beaten by Bristol City." After all, it takes an Englishman to think imperially of sport.

A PLEA FOR WALKING AS FIRST-CLASS EXERCISE

Sporting Editor The Examiner.

Sir,—The writer has been a student of physical culture right along from boyhood, and although not a record-breaker in any form of sport, still has taken his place in the field during the summer, and in the gym. in winter, when opportunity presented itself.

One thing to be noted is that walking, which is an accomplishment that the majority of human beings possess, is strongly endorsed by all the prominent leaders of physical prowess in both this country and the Old Land. The one convincing argument in its favour is that it is a form of exercise within each and all.

Let us put it that motoring, yatching or horse-back riding was the best form of exercise, then this would come only within the reach of the financially blessed, a condition quite contradictory to the conception we have of the Maker of these "tenements of clay," who gave the means whereby both rich and poor, may keep their bodies fit and well. So then, don't sigh for a canoe, an automobile, a good horse, a yacht, and so on, but just develop the exercise you learnt years ago as you "chanced it" from chair to chair, and you'll find that simple pleasure still holds good, and that the Almighty Dollar cannot supply everything, as yet.

Talk On Olympic Games Was Greatly Enjoyed

The lecture given by Mr. W. Tait, of Toronto in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Thursday night on the Olympic games of 1908, was a most delightful treat, although unfortunately, there was but a small audience present. Mr. Tait was a spectator throughout the games, and as he is an acknowledged authority on athletics, his remarks were most instructive as well as being entertaining. His descriptions of the different events were intensely interesting and the effect was added to by the display of many excellent views of the participating athletes and the running of some of the races. Throughout the games Mr. Tait stated that there was a splendid feeling of good sportsmanship displayed and the speaker gave several instances in which this was brought out.

A "FLAT RATE" STORY.

Mr. J. H. Larmouth told the following typical story of conditions which the Company experiences under the flate rate system of charges. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith are next door neighbours. They both have electric lighting paid for on a flat rate. They have heard about the new electric iron and buy one on equal shares. The Company's inspector on his trip finds Mrs. Smith with the iron and demands the extra fee for the power it uses. She states that Mrs. Jones owns the iron and finally it is learned that the two women purchased it on shares.

This is an actula case, Mrs. Smith ironed on Tuesday and her neighbour on Wednesday and they were delighted with the service and the satisfaction. Mr. Larmouth's point was that under the flat rate the electric power is used extravagantly.

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Copyright 1905, 1906, by A. Conan Doyle.

"True, brother, and yet between ourselves, we may admit that the heavier purse may weigh down the scales of Justice. When I have passed the old house and have seen that aged woman with her ruddled cheeks and her baleful eyes look the curses she dare not speak, I have many a time wished that we had other neighbors."

"That we can soon bring about, holy father. Indeed, it is of it that I wished to speak to you. Surely it is not hard for us to drive them from the country-side. There are thirty years' claims of escuage unsettled, and there is Sergeant Wilkins, the lawyer of Guildford, whom I will warrant to draw up such arrears of dues and rents and issues of hidage and fodder-corn that these folk, who are as beggarly as they are proud, will have to sell the roof-tree over them ere they can meet them. Within three days I will have them at our mercy."

"They are an ancient family and of good repute. I would not treat them too harshly, brother."

"Bethink you of the pike in the carp pond!"

The Abbot hardened his heart at the thought. "It was indeed a devil's deed when we had but newly stocked it with char and with carp. Well, well, the law is the law, and if you can use it to hurt, it is still lawful to do so. Have these claims been advanced?"

"Deacon the bailiff with his two varlets went down to the Hall yesternight on the matter of the escuage, and came screaming back with this young hothead raging at their heels. He is small and slight, yet he has the strength of many men in the hour of his wrath. The bailiff swears that he will go no more, save with half a score of archers to uphold him."

The Abbot was red with anger at this new offense. "I will teach him that the servants of Holy Church, even though we of the rule of Saint Bernard be the lowliest and humblest of her children, can still defend their own against the froward and the violent! Go, cite this man before the Abbey court. Let him appear in the chapter-house after tierce to-morrow."

But the wary sacrist shook his head. "Nay, holy father, the times are not yet ripe. Give me three days, I pray you, that my case against him may be complete. Bear in mind that the father and the grandfather of this unruly squire were both famous men of their day and the foremost knights in the King's own service, living in high honor and dying in their knightly duty. The Lady Ermyntrude Loring was first lady to the King's mother. Roger FitzAlan of Farnham and Sir Hugh Walcott of Guildford Castle were each old comrades-in-arms of Nigel's father, and sib to him on the distaff side. Already there has been talk that we have dealt harshly with them. Therefore, my rede is that we be wise and wary and wait until his cup be indeed full."

The Abbot had opened his mouth to reply, when the consultation was interrupted by a most unwonted buzz of excitement from among the monks in the cloister below. Questions and answers in excited voices sounded from one side of the ambulatory to the other. Sacrist and Abbot were gazing at each other in amazement at such a breach of the discipline and decorum of their well-trained flock, when there came a swift step upon the stair, and a white-faced brother flung open the door and rushed into the room.

"Father Abbot!" he cried. "Alas, alas! Brother John is dead, and the holy subprior is dead, and the Devil is loose in the five-virgate field!"

CHAPTER III.

In those simple times there was a great wonder and mystery in life. Man walked in fear and solemnity, with Heaven very close above his head and Hell below his very feet. God's visible hand was everywhere, in the rainbow and the comet, in the thunder and the wind. The Devil too raged openly upon the earth; he skulked behind the hedge-rows in the gloaming; he laughed loudly in the nighttime; he clawed the dying sinner, pounced on the unbaptized babe, and twisted the limbs of the epileptic. A foul fiend slunk ever by a man's side and whispered villainies in his ear, while above him there hovered an angel of grace who pointed to the steep and narrow track. How could one doubt these things, when Pope and priest and scholar and King were all united in believing them, with no single voice of question in the whole wide world?

Every book read, every picture seen, every tale heard from nurse or mother, all taught the same lesson. And as a man traveled through the world his faith would grow the firmer, for go where he would there were the endless shrines of the saints, each with its holy relic in the centre, and around it the tradition of incessant miracles, with stacks of deserted crutches and silver votive hearts to prove them. At every turn he was made to feel how thin was the veil, and how easily rent, which screened him from the awful denizens of the unseen world.

Hence the wild announcement of the frightened monk seemed terrible rather than incredible to those whom he addressed. The Abbot's ruddy face paled for a moment, it is true, but he plucked the crucifix from his desk and rose valiantly to his feet.

"Lead me to him!" said he. "Show me the foul fiend who dares to lay his grip upon brethren of the holy house of Saint Bernard! Run down to my chaplain, brother! Bid him bring the exorcist with him, and also the blessed box of relics, and the bones of Saint James from under the altar! With these and a contrite and humble heart we may show front to all the powers of darkness."

But the sacrist was of a more critical turn of mind. He clutched the monk's arm with a grip which left its five purple spots for many a day to come.

"Is this the way to enter the Abbots' own chamber, without knock or reverence, or so much as a 'Pax vobiscum'?" said he sternly. "You were wont to be our gentlest novice, of lowly carriage in chapter, devout in psalmody and strict in the cloister. Pull your wits together and answer me straightly. In what form has the foul fiend appeared, and how has he done this grievous scathe to our brethren? Have you seen him with your own eyes, or do you repeat from hearsay? Speak, man, or you stand on the penance-stool in the chapter-house this very hour!"

Thus adjured, the frightened monk grew calmer in his bearing, though his white lips and his startled eyes, with the gasping of his breath, told of his inward tremors.

"If it please you, holy father, and you, reverend sacrist, it came about in this way. James the subprior, and Brother John and I had spent our day from sext onward on Hankley, cutting bracken for the cow-houses. We were coming back over the five-virgate field, and the holy subprior was telling us a saintly tale from the life of Saint Gregory, when there came a sudden sound like a rushing torrent, and the foul fiend sprang over the high wall which skirts the water-meadow and rushed upon us with the speed of the wind. The lay brother he struck to the ground and trampled into the mire. Then, seizing the good subprior in his teeth, he rushed round the field, swinging him as though he were a fardel of old clothes.

"Amazed at such a sight, I stood without movement and had said a credo and three aves, when the Devil dropped the subprior and sprang upon me. With the help of Saint Bernard I clambered over the wall, but not before his teeth had found my leg, and he had torn away the whole back skirt of my gown." As he spoke he turned and gave corroboration to his story by the hanging ruins of his long trailing garment.

"In what shape then did Satan appear?" the Abbot demanded.

"As a great yellow horse, holy father—a monster horse, with eyes of fire and the teeth of a griffin."

"A yellow horse!" The sacrist glared at the scared monk. "You foolish brother; how will you behave when you have indeed to face the King of Terrors himself if you can be so frightened by the sight of a yellow horse? It is the horse of Franklin Aylward, my father, which has been distrained by us because he owes the Abbey fifty good shillings and can never hope to pay it. Such a horse, they say, is not to be found betwixt this and the King's stables at Windsor, for his sire was a Spanish destrer, and his dam an Arab mare of the very breed which Saladin, whose soul now reeks in Hell, kept for his own use, and even it has been said under the shelter of his own tent. I took him in discharge of the debt, and I ordered the varlets who had haltered him to leave him alone in the water-meadow, for I have heard that the beast has indeed a most evil spirit, and has killed more men than one."

"It was an ill day for Waverley that you [illegible]ht such a monster within its b[illegible]," said the Abbot. "If the subp[illegible] and Brother John be indeed dead, then it would seem that if the horse be not the Devil he is at least the Devil's instrument."

"Horse or Devil, holy father, I heard him shout with joy as he trampled upon Brother John, and had you seen him tossing the subprior as a dog shakes a rat you would perchance have felt as I did."

"Come then," cried the Abbot, "let us see with our own eyes what evil has been done."

And the three monks hurried down the stair which led to the cloisters.

They had no sooner descended than their more pressing fears were set at rest, for at that very moment, limping, disheveled and mud-stained, the two sufferers were being led in amid a crowd of sympathizing brethren. Shouts and cries from outside showed, however, that some further drama was in progress, and both Abbot and sacrist hastened onward as fast as the dignity of their office would permit, until they had passed the gates and gained the wall of the meadow. Looking over it, a remarkable sight presented itself to their eyes.

Fetlock deep in the lush grass there stood a magnificent horse, such a horse as a sculptor or a soldier might thrill to see. His color was a light chestnut, with mane and tail of a more tawny tint. Seventeen hands high, with a barrel and haunches which bespoke tremendous strength, he fined down to the most delicate lines of dainty breed in neck and crest and shoulder. He was indeed a glorious sight as he stood there, his beautiful body leaning back from his wide-spread and propped fore legs, his head craned high, his ears erect, his mane bristling, his red nostrils opening and shutting with wrath, and his flashing eyes turning from side to side in haughty menace and defiance.

Scattered round in a respectful circle, six of the Abbey lay servants and foresters, each holding a halter, were creeping toward him. Every now and then, with a beautiful toss and swerve and plunge, the great creature would turn upon one of his would-be captors, and with outstretched head, flying mane and flashing teeth, would chase him screaming to the safety of the wall, while the others would close swiftly in behind and cast their ropes in the hope of catching neck or leg, but only in their turn to be chased to the nearest refuge.

Had two of these ropes settled upon the horse, and had their throwers found some purchase of stump or bowlder by which they could hold them, then the man's brain might have won its wonted victory over swiftness and strength. But the brains were themselves at fault which imagined that one such rope would serve any purpose save to endanger the thrower.

Yet so it was, and what might have been foreseen occurred at the very moment of the arrival of the monks. The horse, having chased one of his enemies to the wall, remained so long snorting his contempt over the coping that the others were able to creep upon him from behind. Several ropes were flung, and one noose settled over the proud crest and lost itself in the waving mane. In an instant the creature had turned and the men were flying for their lives; but he who had cast the rope lingered, uncertain what use to make of his own success. That moment of doubt was fatal. With a yell of dismay, the man saw the great creature rear above him. Then with a crash the fore feet fell upon him and dashed him to the ground. He rose screaming, was hurled over once more, and lay a quivering, bleeding heap, while the savage horse, the most cruel and terrible in its anger of all creatures on earth, bit and shook and trampled the writhing body.

A loud wail of horror rose from the lines of tonsured heads which skirted the high wall—a wail which suddenly died away into a long hushed silence, broken at last by a rapturous cry of thanksgiving and of joy.

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Temperance and Moral Reform League of this City, who have arranged for it Publication.

THE BAR ROOM BEING ROUTED.

Those people in Peterborough who contend that while local option may be practical in small places like Stirling and Norwood, it is not feasible in a city like Peterborough, can have no idea of the vast areas that are under prohibition in various States of the Union. In many cities and towns there, some of which are much larger than Peterborough, it has proved just as decided a success as in the smaller places. The campaign against the bar is world wide.

A writer in the American Monthly for May, under the caption "Another Year of Defeat for the American Saloon," gives the following information:

Finland abolished intoxicants by a vote of its parliament.

Iceland adopted national prohibition in September last.

The Duma of Russia ordered the removal of the royal eagle from the vodka bottle, and the substitution of the skull and crossbones, the symbols of death, and the word "poison" written in large letters beneath them as a warning to the people.

The temperance revolution in the United States continues with unabated energy. Eleven thousand saloons were put out of business during the year 1908, and at the rate of decrease it would require but twenty years to abolish all the saloons of the country.

About eighteen of the twenty millions of the people of the Southern States have already outlawed the saloon. In New York city alone there are 1000 more saloons than in all the fourteen Southern States.

On May 6, 1908, North Carolina followed her sister States of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi in the adoption of state prohibition by a popular vote.

The fight for prohibition in 1909 was begun by Tennessee, following the example of her old mother state, North Carolina, passing a bill prohibiting the sale of intoxicants by a vote of 24 to 13 in the Senate, and 62 to 36 in the House. This bill will go into effect the first day of next July, at which time every saloon in the state will close its doors.

In South Carolina each county having a dispensary will vote on the question of option between the county dispensary and prohibition in August of this year.

Thirty-six of the forty-six counties in Florida, including 525,000 of the 650,000 of population, have abolished the saloon.

Louisianna has more than 32,000 square miles of "dry" territory.

Fifty-nine out of the seventy-nine counties of Arkansas are dry, and 1,612,000 of the 1,750,000 of the people in the state are living in the territory where the drink traffic is forbidden.

During the past year 800 saloons were driven out of Texas, and fifteen new counties voted no license. Of the 243 counties 150 are "dry," 66 are wet, and 25 license the saloon. Two hundred thousand of the 267,000 square miles of the state is "dry" territory, contining a population of 3,000,000 people.

In Virginia during the past year 400 liquor places were put out of business. Seventy-one of the 100 counties in the state have not a licensed saloon.

Illinois, the third state in the union in wealth, population and importance, never gave its people the benefit of a local option law until last year, when the people voted in 1,300 towns, 1000 of which went "dry."

In Indiana of the 36,300 square miles of territory 26,170 are dry, and 1,600,000 of a poulation of 2,600,000 are living in "dry" territory. Sixty-three of the ninety-two counties have abolished saloons.

In Ohio, of the eighty-three counties in the state, sixty-three have gone "dry" and none have gone "wet."

One year ago there was but one county entirely "dry" in the State of Michigan. Early last month, after one of the fiercest fights in the history of the state, local option elections were held in twenty-seven counties, twenty of which went "dry," closing at one stroke 600 saloons and ten breweries.

After a tremendous struggle, the Nebraska Legislature passed at its last session the Daylight Sale bill, permitting the sale of liquor only between the hours of 7 a.m. and 8 p.m.

A local option bill for cities as a whole is pending before the New York State Legislature. Now, the law only applies to townships and of these 330 are dry, 330 wet, and the rest part wet and part dry.

Massachusetts has gained ten municipalities in the dry column.

During 1908, 429 saloons were driven out of Rhode Island.

For several years the temperance people have undertaken to secure an amendment to the Interstate Commerce Act, forbidding the importation of intoxicating liquors into territory made dry by state legislation, and have failed. This year a bill was passed which does three things: Prohibits C. O. D. shipments; prohibits delivery of fictitious consignees, and requires that all packages of liquor for interstate shipment shall be plainly marked, designing the contents and consignee.

A recent editorial in Bonfort's Wine and Spirit League, expresses the opinion of many liquor dealers upon the present temperance revolution. It says:

"The anti-saloon league is backed by able men and plenty of money. In the last eighteen months the business we represent has been outlawed in the states of Oklahom, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Tennessee, and it is now facing destruction in West Virginia, Texas, Kentucky, Arkansas, Utah, and Idaho. The saloon is fighting for its life in practically every state of the union."

A FEARFUL STRUGGLE.

In an address delivered in Winnipeg a few weeks ago, Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D.D., General Secretary of the Presbyterian Assembly's Committee on evangelical work in the United States, gave some incidents from his experience, of the terrible fight some men have to make against the legalized temptations to strong drink, which are everywhere established. He said:

One of the dearest friends I have, gives the following experience, which, to me, is most pathetic. I know him to be such a noble man, one of brilliant intellect, and in the old days before rum marked him as its victim, one of the most brilliant attorneys in the United States. He was saved, but gives the following experience concerning temptation after his salvation:

"One night in a New England train, and very ill, I met a stranger who pitied me, and gave me a quick powerful drug out of a small vial, and my pain was gone in a minute or two, but—alcohol was licking up my very blood with tongues of flame. I should have gotten drunk that night if I could. I thought of everything—of my two years of clean life; of the meeting I was going to, vouched for by my friend and brother, D. L. Moody; of the bright little home in New York; of Mary and the boys. I tried to pray and my lips framed oaths. I reached up for God, and He was gone; and the fiercest fiend of hell had me by the throat, and shouted, 'Drink, drink, drink!'

"It was yet not daylight Sunday morning, when I stood on the platform at Pawtucket, Rhode Island, alone. I flew from saloon to saloon; they were shut up; so were the drug stores; and all that day, locked in my room at the hotel, I fought my fight, and won it in the evening by the grace of God. But the people of Pawtucket never knew that the man who spoke to them that night had been in hell all day.

"Several years ago at another time, after a long lecture tour in the West, I telegraphed to my wife in Boston, 'I will arrive home to-night at eleven.' The train was late, and long after midnight I came under her window. The light was burning, and I knew that she was waiting for me. I let myself in; there were two flights of stairs, but twenty would have been nothing to me. She stood in the middle of our room as pale and cold and motionless as a woman of snow, and I knew at a glance that the sweet brave life was in torture. 'What is it?' I cried. 'What is the matter?' And in my arms she sobbed out the everlasting tragedy of her wedded life: 'Nothing—at any rate, nothing ought to be the matter. I do believe in you; I knew you would come home; but I have listened for you so many years that I seem to be just one great ear when you are away beyond your time; I seem to have lost all sense but that of hearing, when you are absent unexplained, and every sound on the street startles me, and every step on the stairs is a threat and a pain, and the stillness chokes me, and the darkness smothers me. And all the old unhappy home-comings troop through my mind; without omitting one detail; and to-night I heard the children sighing in their sleep, and I thought I should die when I thought of you having to walk this midnight through Kneeland street alone.'"

"I am against the rum traffic because it has broken the hearts of women." Said a woman to me in Philadelphia, recently, "Do all you can against this awful curse. It has robbed me of my husband, taken from my children their father. He was once noble, kind and pure, but he is to-day a hopeless and a helpless wreck. And as for myself," she said, "I am an aged woman before my time; life has lost all its attractions for me." And when there could come from a woman's heart such a cry as this, I would be less than a man, certainly much less than a Christian, did I not in every way fight this awful evil."

Russell

You who have looked at all the low-priced four-cylinder cars and are still undecided

Please Consider This:- A low-priced car may be made under a name plate which means only low price.

The Russell $2000 Model L Car is made by a company which attaches to it the identical name plate that goes into its other cars costing up to $4,500.

In the name of good business, which company is most likely to protect its name plate?

The latter, of course, because no makers of really high-grade cars can afford to have their name associated with anything else.

You get a car in as strictly high-grade Russell Model L at $2.000 as in our famous Russell "fifty" at $4,500 models.

You won't get as large a car, you won't get as heavy a car, or as powerful a motor.

BUT THE QUALITY IS THERE and if a medium weight, twenty-four horse power, five-passenger touring car meets your requirements Model L is the best car of this type you can buy, anywhere at any price.

But this statement is too general. Let us take the car point by point and compare it with other cars on the market. Let us PROVE to your satisfaction why it is a better car, let us show the differences in material and construction and the bearing they have on a car's real value.

The most important things about an automobile cannot be judged from the outside. May we give you inside information?

Do not buy a Russell or any other car merely because it is low-priced.

Buy the Russell Model L because it is both low-priced and high-grade. And let us prove it.

WOULD YOU CONVICT — ON CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE? ONE AGAINST A TRUE STORY

FREDERICK B. HOUSE, a New York city Magistrate, formerly a member of the firm of Levy, Friend & House, one of the best known lawyers of the country, who was of counsel for A. T. Patrick and who acted in many famous murder trials, says:—

"If the facts could be known absolutely I believe it would be found that for every innocent person convicted on circumstantial evidence twelve have been convicted on incorrect or perjured direct evidence.

"There is no need of any alarm over circumstantial evidence. It holds no danger for any innocent man. There can be no conviction unless the collection of circumstances, taken separately and taken together, will admit of no possible construction but that of guilt. In this respect circumstantial evidence appeals to me not so much as a chain in which every link must be perfect nor as a rope in which every strand must be sound, but as a mortised joint, which must fit with mathematical exactness.

"In my experience as City Magistrate I have had terrible proofs of the prevalence of perjury. The extent of it is appalling. Not a day passes that does not present some tissue of lies as a warning against the weakness of direct evidence."

"TAX Master Truxall, the Tax Collector. They say he has been foully murdered in discharge of his duties."

The words ran from tongue to tongue about the swirling verge of the excited crowd of townsfolk that pressed toward the barn at the end of the enclosure. At the centre a knot of the stronger and more curious stoutly held their places against those beyond. The constable, attracted by the uproar, fought his way with elbow and shoulder and broke into the interior group.

"Air! Give him air, men!" he shouted, the only formula for such occasions of the kind as had yet fallen within his experience in supporting the dignity of the law in the rural village.

"Ay, air," said the baker. "'Tis like he'll want little air now. He's drawn his last breath an hour gone, poor man! Master Manning, here is a dark affair and murder done."

The constable bent above the body of a man stretched in the barnyard litter, thrusting a hand under his coat. It was evident that they could do nothing for Joseph Truxall, as the baker had indicated. His breast was stained on either side, and on opening the shirt Manning disclosed two deep wounds, small and round. He studied these for a moment.

"Was there a pitchfork found hereabouts?" he asked sharply.

He widened the circle away from the body and glanced keenly from face to face.

"Let any man now here who knows aught of the matter step forward, under the penalty of himself suffering the suspicion of it. Speak out, and instantly. There's a hanging due from this and the guilty one gains by every second."

A farmhand in the front rank, John Hutch, advanced and held a slender handled hay fork toward the constable.

"I found this lying by the side of him when I came through the close from the side road yonder as a short cut," said Hutch. "There was no one in sight—just him, straight and quiet as you see him this minute. Likely the murder was done with this very fork."

Manning seized the implement.

"Ay, so it is, for here are stains still upon the prongs. I call you to note it well, neighbors, for your testimony may be desired. And you will further see that the space between these wounds in his breast is exactly compassed by that between the two points of the fork."

Prongs Fitted the Wound.

He lowered the shining steel toward the body and showed that in fact the prongs fitted as he had indicated. The murmur of the crowd took up the news and it was passed about that the very instrument used by the murderer had been found. Sweeping back toward the centre came the query from a dozen throats:—

"Whose is the fork? What is the mark upon it?"

It was a custom almost universally followed in the agricultural community where each man tilled the soil, whatever occupation he might engage in, for every farmer to brand his own tools with his initials or private mark upon the handle. The constable caught the value of the suggestion as soon as it was voiced and examined the top of the shaft. Neatly burned in small characters appeared the signature, "J. M."

"J. M.!" he cried, from side to side. "Who is J. M.? Does any one here know what man they stand for?"

"Why, constable, they are your own initials, if I make no mistake," said the baker, with some hesitation. Manning turned a sudden red.

"Why, so they are, so they are. But yet it is not my fork, nor is it like that I am the murderer. Who else can you bring to mind that would answer to the letters? There surely is some one in the neighborhood."

"Now I think upon it, there is John Mills," answered the baker, "and the fork may very well be his."

The constable deputed six of the nearest men to attend to the removal of the body and moved off through the crowd, urging it to disperse. Once in the street he headed rapidly for the home of John Mills, a prosperous dealer in grains and fodder. He learned from Mistress Mills that her husband was not there and started out to make a thorough search of the town.

MANNING WAS ON HIM IN A FLASH, TWISTING THE WEAPON FROM HIM WITH PRACTISED GRIP.

In the meantime the snap decision of the popular mind had gone from doorstep to doorstep that John Mills was a fugitive from justice and was wanted for murder. Almost the entire population had swarmed out upon the search and the mob rage had settled upon the groups of men and women who marched here and there, sweeping through gardens and houses. As Manning strode along, forced now to right, now to left by the vengeful fury of the aimless pursuit, he came suddenly, at a turning, upon a seething crowd of the townsfolk who, with menacing gestures and cries of anger, were closing in about a man whom Manning recognized for Mills.

The Man Accused.

The grain dealer, pale but defiant, with a streaming cut upon his temple where a jagged stone had struck him, was set firmly with his back to a wall and held back the more eager of the farmers with a stout cudgel which he swung above his head with a will. The constable broke through to his side in the second when the captors, sure of their prey, hung back for the first blow. The strong man caught the situation at the turn and thrust it back.

"Let no man lay a hand upon him, in the name of the law!" His voice rang without a quaver, though he felt the tension that stayed in wait for a false move.

"We hold him, we hold him, the murderer," exulted a stocky fellow who had armed himself with a long iron bar and stood directly facing Manning and Mills. "He thought to creep away, but Simon Ring and me, we saw him dodging behind the hedges toward the bridge and the highway. I'll warrant he'd have gone where none could find him if he'd got to cover beyond, the blackguard!"

He lifted his bar, glaring at the grain dealer, but Manning was on him in a flash, twisting the weapon from him with practised grip.

"Stand back, all of you! I'll have no violence here. Take shame to yourselves."

With authoritative gesture Manning drove the threatening neighbors who but an hour before would have had little but friendship and respect for John Mills. Feeling was high and the constable saw that it would be necessary to take determined measures to guard the person of his prisoner. By name he called upon several of the stoutest men present, pressing them into service, as he had the right to do. Sullenly and with reluctance they obeyed him and came to his side.

"Keep aloof, you others," he warned. "This matter is for other hands than yours. Master Mills, come with me."

But Mills was not so willing. The grain dealer faced the constable with the same cool assurance with which he had braved the threat of the crowd.

"I yield myself, but I demand to know why you stop a free man in the highway," he said.

"I arrest you for the murder of John Truxall, whose body was found but now in the Widow Morton's close," answered Manning sternly. "Let that suffice until the magistrate gives you a hearing."

In the breath the prisoner lost his bold front as if a disguising coat had been whipped from him. At the words he had melted from a combative figure, strung to face a cowardly attack, to a limp bundle shaking with fear and cowering behind his protectors, who marked and spurned him for an evil thing. In a measure his collapse served to ward a further attempt to do him bodily harm. The crowd was quick to note the change in him, and threats changed to jeers as he bid among Manning's deputies.

Story Told in Court.

With some difficulty and by dint of pushing back those who opposed with no gentle hand the constable finally brought Mills free of the townsfolk and hurried him before the nearest magistrate. Such individuals as could satisfy Manning of the importance of their connection with the case were admitted and the preliminary examination of the prisoner was opened.

Hutch, whose declarations on this and subsequent occasions were repeated without variation at the trial, described the manner in which he had found the body. It was lying close to the Widow Morton's barn, he said, with the pitchfork only a few feet away. He was headed for the market place at the time and had come that way without design other than to shorten his journey. He had not delayed in spreading the alarm after satisfying himself by a hasty examination that the tax collector was dead.

Manning related the discovery of the pitchfork and produced it, pointing out the initials on the handle.

"The letters 'J. M.' may possibly stand for John Mills," observed the magistrate. "But the supposition is weak, standing as it is without corroborative testimony. What other men in the parish have these initials?"

"They are also mine, Your Honor," said the constable, "but here is my fork, as many can swear. You will see that the letters are burned with a wider iron and in a different style." He handed over the implement, which he had caused to be brought from his home, anticipating inquiry in this direction. "There are no others known in these parts who would answer to the initials," he added.

The magistrate turned to Mills.

"What can you say to remove this suspicion from you? How came this fork by the body, if you will admit it to be yours?"

"I was in the Widow Morton's close this morning on business," answered the prisoner, who had recovered some command of himself. "It is my fork. I am willing to allow. On leaving the close I forgot to take it, and left it standing against the barn. I know nothing of how Truxall came by his death. I have not seen him to-day."

At this point Ferguson, the baker, stepped forward.

"If it please Your Honor," he said, bowing low, "I know somewhat of the matter toward which may be of help in fixing of the crime upon the murderer. I was standing in the door of my shop this morning while my loaves were baking, as is my habit, taking and giving a fair word with all who passed.

"While I was there came John Mills, with his fork in his hand. As he went by I noted, with an idle mind, but in such a way as a trifle will take hold of the sight, that he had on a grayish suit of clothes, which he was used to wear at the church last year. I remember thinking that here was another best set of garments turned to workaday, although without pausing long upon it.

"If it please Your Honor, the prisoner is now wearing, as all may see, a serviceable but worn suit of blue. It appears to me that there may be some explanation of this change, taking place some time within the last two hours, that Your Honor should know."

Search of the House.

The magistrate agreed that the circumstance would bear looking into, the more so in that he observed Mills to lose countenance at the baker's speech. Indeed, as the prisoner was being led into close confinement he had to be supported by his guards. The hearing meanwhile was suspended while Manning hurried to the Mills home to conduct a search of the premises.

The constable ransacked the place from top to bottom, pausing longest in the bedroom used by the grain dealer, under the gabled roof. For two hours his utmost care was profitless in clews. At the end of that time he made a discovery which served to settle his conviction that something would come of his efforts yet if he might but lay his hand upon the secret. This spur to his efforts was a splashed blood stain upon the wall part way up the second flight of stairs. It was recent and was of such a form and character as might easily have resulted from the brushing of a soaked sleeve or pocket flap in passage.

No further stains were to be found in any part of the house. After covering all possible hiding places elsewhere Manning returned at last to the bedroom, sure that here it must have been that Mills effected the change of clothing. He went over the floors and walls an inch at a time. Having assured himself that there were no hidden secrets or loosened boards, he recalled suddenly that he had not examined the bed.

Removing the covering he prodded the mattress. He noticed that one end appeared to bulge unnaturally, as if uneven stuffing had been used. With his knife the investigator ripped the ticking along the edge and felt about inside. The next second he had drawn out the suit of grayish clothes, bearing ample justification of the baker's suspicions. Both coat and breeches were amply besmeared with blood which had not yet dried.

On his return before the magistrate Manning spread out this weighty evidence with a brief explanation of the manner in which it had been found. John Mills was committed immediately to stand upon his trial at the next assizes.

Constable Manning was a man of no great mentality, but was well equipped for the post he filled in the community. He was intensely serious in his attitude toward his duties and was filled with an almost exaggerated feeling for the majesty of the law. The fact that he was profoundly impressed with his responsibilities and the importance of his office compensated in part for his lack of detailed training in the intricate business of crime detection. He possessed a native shrewdness and a knowledge of the folk among whom he had been born and raised. For the rest, through all his four years as local police official, he had never before been called to a case of violence resulting in death. The affair acted, therefore, as a strong stimulant to such powers as he could summon. In his handling of the case he proved himself as valuable an aid to the ends of justice as many a veteran expert detective could have been.

While the matters of the pitchfork and the hidden clothing in themselves would have satisfied a wiser and more experienced man, James Manning determined that he would have no share in the taking of any life until by every method he could devise he should have ferreted out each separate incident surrounding the death of the Tax Collector.

The Case of John Mills.

John Mills had been, in general, well regarded by his customers and neighbors. If a fault could be brought against him it was that he was a thought too sharp in seeking and pressing an advantage and a thought too prone to harshness in upholding his side of any question. He had been known to strike first in several quarrels, but these instances had not been upheld against him. Life in the village ran close in a somewhat primitive groove and a blow was not a thing to affect any man's standing. In the struggle for life from the soil farmers were not trained to niceties of speech or action. Still, Mills had come in for widespread rebuke on more than one occasion for his part in certain differences.

The character of the prisoner was known to Manning, but in order to render that knowledge available for the purposes of the prosecution he instituted a careful inquiry among the neighbors and formed a list of eight or ten who could go upon the stand and swear to incidents showing hot temper on the part of the prisoner. It was in the course of this preliminary buttressing of his case that he was able to take the next step toward perfecting the structure of his evidence.

He learned that on the day before the murder Truxall had called upon Mills for the collection of a tax. Mills had held himself defrauded in the assessment placed against him and there had been a dispute. Truxall was rather inclined to be acrid and exacting and was not minded to endure a controversy as to the amount due from any one. It was his custom to demand that he be promptly paid without question. Words had ranged high on both sides, and the upshot was that the collector had left the home of Mills without his money, threatening official action.

Following up this clew the constable sought to map the movements of both Truxall and Mills on the morning of the crime. He questioned the Widow Morton and learned that the tax collector had visited her about a quarter to ten o'clock. She had paid the bill he had presented without argument and had returned to her house, leaving him counting over the money and standing in the enclosure. She had seen various neighbors passing in the street while their transaction was in progress, but none of them had stopped. She could not recall having seen Mills. The prisoner's statement that he had business pending with her she could affirm. He was to have purchased some grain stored in her barn and she had expected a visit from him at any hour of the day.

The baker, for his part, was sure that it was close to ten o'clock when he saw Mills pass, clad in the gray suit. The grain dealer was walking leisurely in the direction of the Widow Morton's.

Assembling these parts of testimony into significance the constable constructed a reasonable hypothesis. A moment after the widow had paid Truxall and before the collector had left the close Mills had appeared to inspect the grain. He had caught sight of Truxall and had followed him toward the barn. The dispute between them had been renewed and in the quarrel the fatal blow had been struck. The two would not have been in sight from the street, standing on the spot where the body was found, since the Morton cottage intervened. After committing the murder Mills must have returned to his home by unfrequented lanes and over fences, his first impulse having been to remove his clothing. The discovery of the crime had occurred about half-past ten o'clock.

According to the statement volunteered by the prisoner before the magistrate, he admitted having come to the enclosure, so his actual presence there would not be disputed. Mills had gone on to declare that he had left his fork standing against the barn and had departed without seeing Truxall. In the light of ascertainable facts this did not seem to be a tenable position. If the baker was right as to the time when he saw Mills, the grain dealer would have arrived at the Morton cottage just after the tax collector had been paid by the widow.

All this was quite aside from the overwhelming circumstances of the stained and hidden clothing and the marked fork, and was traced by the constable in pursuance of his conscientious resolve to cover the ground thoroughly.

There remained but one possible loophole for the prisoner's case, as Manning saw it. Hutch had been the first to find the body, and, to remove a shadow of suspicion from him, the constable inquired carefully into the farm hand's actions and his relations with the murdered man. He found that Hutch did not even pay taxes and that the men scarcely had known each other by sight. There was no basis for supposing a quarrel to have existed between them. When it was added that Hutch was a man who babbled what he knew in his cups and that he had related his finding of the body twenty times since, there apparently remained no vestige of a substance to a defence, try as the earnest constable might to erect one.

The trial of John Mills was short and satisfactory to the prosecuting authorities. The circumstances collected by Manning seemed absolutely perfect, and when the case was in there remained not the slightest doubt among those who crowded the courtroom as to what the verdict would be.

The prisoner's side was cleverly presented and surprised no one so much as the constable. It began with a general denial of his guilt and the clear proof that he had borne the reputation of an upright man. The new matter in it was an explanation of the stained clothing.

He admitted at the opening that he had deliberately lied during the preliminary hearing before the magistrate, driven into the false move, as he said, by an understanding of the grave danger with which he was threatened. He had been in the close and he had seen Truxall, in spite of his unwise denials. He now declared, however, that when he came in view of the tax collector the man was lying wounded near the barn, breathing his last.

"It was my intention to visit the barn before bargaining with the Widow Morton," said Mills, taking the stand in his own defence. "I walked behind the cottage and was shocked at hearing a groan. Looking in that direction I saw Truxall prostrate and feebly trying to rise. I rushed to his side and passed an arm under him, supporting him against my breast and speaking words of cheer.

"He seemed sensible of my efforts. I then urged him to reveal the name of his assailant before it was too late. He summoned his remaining strength and had started to reply when the death rattle sounded in his throat and he fell back upon me dead. When I arose I was covered with his blood and a sudden panic seized me. I had had a dispute with the man over an injustice he had done me and I feared to be seen by his body. I ran through back ways to my home, forgetting my fork in my agitation. I then changed my clothing and concealed the stained suit in the mattress. This is the whole truth. My misfortune has been that I had not the strength of mind to tell all I knew when first questioned, that I still attempted to avoid the appearances which were so plainly against me."

In summing up the presiding Judge commented upon this story as most ingenious, but pointed out that it was unsupported, whereas the prosecution had cemented each course of evidence with ample testimony. The jury then retired.

Fifteen minutes, half an hour passed, and still no verdict had been returned. The wait lengthened to an hour. There were many expressions of surprise over the delay. Those who had been present at many trials and were skilled in forecasting the result from the attitude of the twelve good men and true could offer no explanation. They had predicted instant conviction. After four hours had been consumed the Judge ordered the court room cleared and directed that the jury be locked up over night. The community went to bed completely mystified.

The next morning and the next afternoon passed with no decision. The Judge was just about to leave the court again when the jury sent word by an attendant that they were ready to report to him, and a moment later they filed into their places. The foreman, William Glenning, arose to deliver the verdict. In response to the question he said:

"We find the prisoner not guilty, Your Honor."

The few spectators who were still in the room could not believe they had heard aright. The thing seemed impossible. Mills, standing in the dock with his eyes fixed upon Glenning as the words were uttered, fell to his knees and lifted his hands in prayer. A few moments later he walked from the place a free man.

The trial and its result made a deep impression upon the presiding Judge. While allowing no personal opinion of his own to intrude upon the case, he privately had come to a full belief that Mills was guilty and that he should suffer the penalty. He felt that the end of justice had been frustrated. To his mind there was no escape from the conclusion, and at once on foot a quiet inquiry of his own to discover what had passed during the deliberations of the jury.

Solving the Mystery.

This was not a difficult matter. Most of the jurymen had given an account of their session, and the Judge was soon in possession of the facts. On the first ballot the vote had stood eleven for conviction and one for acquittal. Through the night and until the next morning there had been little discussion, but another ballot having shown that the obstinate individual had not changed his mind the issue had been joined in debate.

It had developed that the foreman, William Glenning, was the one against a verdict of guilty. Each of his associates in turn had gone over the evidence with him, arguing, showing the strength of the case, the feebleness of the defence. He had remained deaf to all urging. Finally, driven by the indignant outcry against him, he had spoken briefly but decidedly. It was his positive knowledge, he had declared, that Mills was absolutely innocent.

"You all know me," he had said. "I am a law abiding man. There is no one of you who can tell of a wrong I have ever done or of a time when I was unjust or unreasonable. I take pride in my good standing before you. I now declare to you, on my most solemn oath, that the prisoner is innocent. I know it as I know this is my right hand."

"How do you know it?" "Who, then?" had been the queries of the others.

"I cannot tell you," Glenning had answered. "It is not necessary that you should know. I tell you the man is guiltless, and I will stay here until my dying day before I will change my vote."

In the end his earnestness and the pressure of confinement had brought them one by one to his side, and finally the twelve votes for acquittal had ended the trial.

The Judge's curiosity was keenly aroused over this circumstance. He found that Glenning, a well to do farmer, was held in high esteem by every one, including the Sheriff and the clergyman, and that there had never been a suggestion of a criminal nature breathed against him. Observing that there was no other way to clear the mystery he sent word to Glenning that he would like to see him privately.

The farmer came willingly and showed no surprise when the Judge unfolded the purpose of his summons.

"I am under no obligation to reveal this matter to you, Your Honor, but I will do so, confident that you will hold me without reproach when you know the facts.

"Mills was not the only man who was on ill terms with Truxall, the tax collector. I myself had a dispute pending with him, the outgrowth of a grave wrong he had done me. I was one of those who passed in the street while the Widow Morton was paying Truxall. I turned back and entered into argument with him as soon as the widow had returned to her house. Intent upon our differences we walked through the enclosure to the barn, where we stood some minutes, our quarrel waxing hot. Truxall was the aggressor in our conversation and said some hard things. Finally he raised the fork which he was carrying and struck at me. Here are the wounds he made upon my arm, not yet healed.

"I closed with him, attempting to wrest the fork from him. In the struggle we lost our footing and we fell against the fork, receiving the fatal hurt. Seeing that he could not live and overcome with fear and horror, I escaped from the enclosure over a rear hedge, just as Mills, by his own account, was coming in from the street. Without definite purpose I carried with me Truxall's fork. This is the truth.

"I consulted attorneys and learned that if I could prove the facts as I have told them before you I could not be held as a party to the death. But I was without witnesses and I distrusted the result if I should yield myself. In the end I would have done so, rather than allow Mills to suffer, but a way out presented through jury service, to which, fortunately, I was called."

Bass' Barley Wine

Makes An Ideal Tonic

Anyone who has used most of the so-called malt extracts knows how insipid and tasteless they are.

A decoction of sugar, water and bitters has about the same flavor as some of these preparations,—and about the same value.

This is because they are made from the refuse of the malt and hops after the brewing has taken place.

The result is they are lacking in body, insipid to the taste, and almost devoid of nutritive principles.

Anyone who has used them will verify these statements.

Bass' Barley Wine is a genuine extract of malt.

It is made by Bass & Co. from pure barley malt and hops, not from by-products.

To prevent any possibility of fermentation taking place, Bass' Barley Wine is matured for three years in casks.

It is then bottled and when opened contains nothing but the purest extract of barley malt and hops.

While this wine is not generally known in Canada, it is recognized in England as being the highest class preparation that Bass & Co. manufacture.

As a tonic in cases of dyspepsia, recovery from illness, a run down condition of the system, nervousness, insomnia, etc., it has no equal.

It can be readily assimilated by the most delicate stomach as it is partly digested and its taste and flavor are most agreeable.

Bass' Barley Wine costs 30 cts. a bottle

FOSTER EXPECTS A SEVERE STORM AROUND JUNE 4th
THREE GREAT WAVES COMING

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 27 to 31, warm wave 26 to 30, cool wave 29 to June 2. The principal feature of this disturbance now expected to be a great rise in temperature, warm weather, thundering and severe weather with probability of severe storms.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about June 2, cross Pacific slope by close of 3, great central valleys 4 to 6, eastern states 7. Warm wave will cross Pacific Slope about June 2, great central valleys 4, eastern states 6. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about 5, great central valleys 7, eastern states 9. The most severe storms of June and probably the most severe storms of the month will be central about June 4, 5 or 6 and the month will be deficient except in the great central valleys west of the Mississippi river, but as these storm centres move eastward from 600 to 700 miles a day the exact location where the dangerous storms will break cannot now be known.

Temperatures will go very high before this storm centre passes and very low following it. Very cool weather will drift eastward June 5 to 10 crossing meridian 90 about 7 or 8, then fall in temperature will cause storms as the high barometer comes in.

Three great storm waves will cross the continent during the five days of which June 4, 17 and July 1 will be central days. Very little harm can result by so arranging affairs as to be on the safe side during the passage of these severe storms, while much good may result. Future bulletins will give details.

I expect temperatures of June to average about normal, but they will have great extremes as the storm centres cross the continent. Rainfall which June 4, 17 and the month will be deficient except in the cotton states east of the Mississippi river.

The Comet.

The great comet that is coming next year will not only cause general interest and some alarm, but will cause general discussion of the nature of these occasional visitors, and when that discussion is over, the public, the common readers, will know more about the machinery of the wonderful solar system.

Scientific men are not all agreed about these matters and they, too, may learn by discussion. As our weather changes, and the effects of these forces that move the machinery of the universe—and who will dare say that weather changes come by chance?—my thirty years' study of these problems has led me to some conclusions as to the causes that lie between the first great cause and the effects or results that lie closer to us, and during the coming of Halley's comet, the greatest ever known, I propose to give through these bulletins the theories I have formed as to the mechanical features of the universe.

I am of opinion that our moon is the remains of a comet that struck our earth in prehistoric times. The evidences of this are so numerous that a book of considerable size would be necessary in which to record them.

Scientists are dividing as to whether our earth has gradually grown from an atom to its present dimensions and consequently will grow on forever, becoming one of the great suns of the universe; the other side asserting that it is now cooling from a molten mass and when cold, will become dead and lifeless. I hold to the first proposition.

One scientific class says that the comets are youthful moons or planets that they have grown up in remote space and are drawn into our solar system when the latter always moving into new space, approaches and attracts them. I hold to that idea. The other class says that the comets are remnants of exploded planets.

These questions I will discuss in these weekly bulletins while the monster comet is paying its visit to our little planet and our solar system next year.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Suggestive questins on the Sunday School lessons by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

May 30, 1909

Believing and Doing—James ii:14-26.

Golden Text—Faith without works is dead—James ii:20.

Verse 14—What does James mean by "faith"?

Can a man have true faith, if he is not filled with love for his fellows and doing all he can to help them?

If a man says he hath faith," what is the test of whether he is telling the truth?

Are there those to-day, who say, and probably think they have faith, but lacking loving hearts, and the fruits of love, are deceiving themselves?

What is a Christian's proof to himself that he is not a deceived man in claiming to be in favour of God?

Verses 15, 16—How do you class those who see people in need of food, and clothing, and do not do all they can to supply the need?

Which person more clearly resembles Jesus, the one who talks very piously, and prays with the needy, but giving them no help, or the one who generously supplies the need without any religious pretensions?

If a man helps the needy to supply their own needs, is that as well or better, than supplying the needs direct?

Is it possible for a church to be doing full Christian service which is not helping the needy, either in its own, or some other community?

Verses 17, 18—Is it possible to show faith without works?

Have all those who, with loving hearts, are engaged in good works, also got saving faith, whether they profess to have it or not, and whether they are members of the church or not, and whether or not they are even orthodox in their views?

Have any, who attend church regularly and profess to be religious, but are harsh with the poor, give nothing to charity, and care nothing for the needy, got saving faith?

Have those got saving faith who pray for the poor and needy, and for the sick and suffering, and yet do nothing to feed the poor or comfort the sick?

Verses 19, 20—Is there any moral merit in mere orthodoxy, or is there any essential moral blame in mere heterodoxy?

Granted a man with the spirit of Jesus, engaged in good works, what does he lose by being heterodox, and what does he gain by being orthodox?

Verses 21 to 26—When God told Abraham to leave his own country and to start for another that God would show him, was there any other way that he could have faith in God, but by actually starting on the journey?

What is the meaning of, "and Abraham believed God and it was imputed unto him for righteousness"?

Love is an essential part of faith, and love implies action, or good works, hence is it at all possible for a person to have faith who is not engaged in good works? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

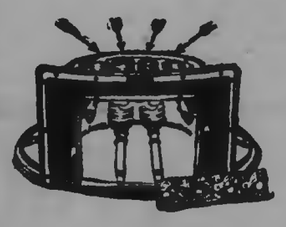
The Hecla Furnace

These Grate Bars Clean Your Fire Without A Poker



Because each of these four Grate Bars can be shaken separately. When the outer edge of a fire is dead, shake only the outer grate bars. When the outer edge needs a hard shaking, and the center only a few twists, you can clean each part of the fire of all the ashes and clinkers, without turning good coal down into the ash pan. This saves the fire—saves coal—saves sifting ashes—and, of course, one grate is much easier to turn than four geared together.

"Hecla" Individual Grate Bar is only one of a score of improvements possessed by this furnace alone.

The "Hecla" Fused Joints, for instance, insure the Furnace being dust, smoke and gas proof. The joints are fused, making them solid and absolutely airtight.

Our catalogue will tell you more of these and other exclusive features, which make the "Hecla" the safest and most sanitary warm air furnace on the market. Write today for free copy. 80

A reactionary storm priod is central on the 3rd, 4th, and 5th. The moon is full, at a total eclipse node, on the 3rd, and at greatest declination south on the 5th. High temperature, low barometer and thunderstorms will be the order at this time. Storm conditions will develop and move in regular order from west to east, but local thunder showers in June are more sporadic, being liable to break out simultaneously in widely scattered localities. Beginning at this period, we enter a marked seismic cycle that will last up to the 20th of June. The Full Moon on the 3rd, being at an eclipse node, and causing an eclipse of the Moon, will not depart from that node until after the 17th, being at New Moon and causing an eclipse of the Sun on that date. Under these conditions, as scientific leaders should long ago have seen and confessed, there is a prolonged strain from one eclipse to the other, exciting a maximum tendency to earthquake and volcanic perturbations. From June 1st to 6th, central on the 3rd, will be the first decided seismic period, the probable effects being heaviest south of the equator.

A regular storm period is central on the 10th, lasting from the 8th to 13th. We enter the June solstice period at this time. Magnetic and electrical manifestations, out of the ordinary, will be noted in most parts of the earth within three days of the 11th. From Thursday, the 10th, to Sunday, the 13th, many vicious thunder storms will be natural. These dates also constitute another possible seismic period, the effects falling most forcibly on and near the equator. Earth currents and volcanic unrest will be noted at this time, none of which must necessarily be dangerous or fatal. Higher barometer and fair, cooler weather will follow for several days after the storms of this period.

A reactionary storm period has its centre on the 16th, 17th, and 18th, with new moon and sun's eclipse on the 17th. But for the June solstice and new moon at solar eclipse node, storm-producing causes are at a minimum at this period. But many scattering, highly electrical thunder storms will visit most parts on and touching the 17th. The culmination of a prolonged seismic strain will come within three to four days of noon on the 17th. During this seismic strain the moon works from full moon at extreme declination south, over the celestial equator and up to new moon at extreme declination north. As intimated above, these seismic perturbations, we predict, will be heaviest first in the southern hemisphere. Next, along the equatorial belt, and lastly in volcanic and earthquake regions lying in the northern hemisphere. Let us see if seismic and volcanic reports do not come in from extremes of the earth.

A regular storm period is central on the 21st, covering the 19th to the 23rd. The culmination of the June solstice falls precisely in this period. In all probability the preceding period will be prolonged into this period, by daily thunder storms each afternoon and evening. Great fluctuations of the barometer, with high temperature, great humidity, and startling electrical displays are to be expected at this prolonged period—especially from about Sunday, the 20th, to Thursday, the 24th. High winds with possible tornadoes will probably attend some of these storms. Overflowing streams and rivers will be most natural as a consequence of the June solstice storms. High waters will reach the central rivers before the end of June, but we do not believe that the most destructive or maximum floods need be feared at this time, or even during this year.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 26th, 27th, and 28th. Look for low barometer promptly on the 26th, attended by sudden and severe thunder gusts. These storms will pass eastwardly over the country during the 26th, 27th and 28th, being characterized by the peculiar local phenomena common to June solstice storms. All of the storms in June, especially from the middle to the close of the month, will bring many local surprises by sudden turns in their courses and deluging picnickers from unlooked for directions. There is cause for this in earth's solstice, or turning point in its orbit. We do not think this June will bring the average of general rainfall. June is the month of maximum rains, as is well-known to most people; but it does not always come up to the highest standard, although it may have more rains than other months in the year. The outlook to our mind is that the present summer will not be up to the average of general rainfall. We will not omit our usual warning of danger from taking shelter under green trees during June thunder storms. Such risks should never be taken. Much June lightning is startling, but harmless, the dangerous and the harmless being clearly defined. The difference — thunderbolts and sheet-lightning.

EXAMINER TO INTRODUCE NEW FEATURE NEXT WEEK PASTOR RUSSELL'S SERMONS

The Examiner will a week from today introduce to its readers a new feature in the shape of a series of sermons by Pastor Russell, the well-known United States preacher and pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

They are strictly unsectarian, and are not intended to build up any one denomination at the expense of another. As Beecher and Talmage, of the same "City of Churches," were independent preachers who gave their time and strength to the moulding of public thought "with charity toward all and malice toward none," so with Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Pastor Russell's only fault (if fault it be) is his extreme orthodoxy—his close adherence to the Bible as the inspired word of God. But after all, if the Bible be not man's only chart and compass as respects God and the future, what have we? And if this be so, perhaps it is impossible to give too earnest heed to its teachings. On one point Pastor Russell is quite emphatic, viz., he inists that it is inconsistent with reason to believe that all mankind, with the exception of the merest handful of "saints," were predestined by God to eternal torment in fire, because of ignorance or unbelief. Ninety-nine of us out of every hundred reached that conclusion years ago, and it shook our faith in the Bible considerably. Pastor Russell, however, holds to the Bible tenaciously, and claims to prove that in this point it has been misunderstood by many of its friends as well as its foes. He has shown a few faulty translations and offered preferable interpretations for some parables; and altogether he has thrown a new light on the scriptures. His presentation of the Bible teachings have certainly rescued many from disbelief.

Mr. C. T. Smith, deceased, who was one of the editors of the Atlanta Constitution, gave Pastor Russell a most pronounced compliment along this line in the following terms: "It is impossible to read his writings without loving the writer, and pondering his wonderful solution of the great mysteries that have troubled us all our lives. There is hardly a family to be found that has not lost some loved one who died outside the church—outside the plan of salvation—and, if Calvinism be true, outside of all hope, and inside of eternal torment and despair. He makes no assertions that are not well sustained by the Scriptures; his arguments are built up stone by stone, and upon every stone is a text; and it becomes a pyramid of God's love and mercy and wisdom. There is nothing in the Bible that the author denies or doubts, but there are many texts upon which he throws a flood of meaning."

Pastor Russell's sermons were recently adopted as their sole sermon feature by the American Press Association; and more than one hundred and thirty American papers are now publishing them weekly. He preaches weekly to the largest congregation on earth—over 5,000,000 people—and his Bible helps have the largest circulation of any work outside the Bible—about 5,000,000 volumes.

TO SEE THAT CHILDREN ATTEND SCHOOL

A woman was charged with neglecting to send her children to school at the police court yesterday morning. It appears that the accused has to work to support her family, and a little girl of seven has to be kept at home to look after a baby, who is not yet a year old. Another boy and a girl have also been very irregular in their attendance, especially the boy. Mr. Dumble told the boy that he must go to school every day and in case he didn't his mother was to report to the Magistrate.

The Oriental Hotel has made arrangements with the G. N. W. Telegraph Company for a complete bulletin service each night, covering the Eastern, American, and National League games. INJURED HIS WIFE

Otonabee Farmer Ill-treated Her and Appeared in the County Court—Allowed to Go on Suspended Sentence.

LITTLE CHILDREN RAN OUTSIDE

An Otonabee farmer was allowed to go on suspended sentence this morning on the charge of ill-treating his wife. He appeared before Magistrate Edmison and on the promise to do better he was given a chance to live up to his word. On Tuesday last he went home from town under the influence of liquor and proceeded to make things disagreeable for his wife and four children. It was stated that he is jealous of his wife and suspicious of her on grounds which exist only in his imagination. He beat his wife in a disgraceful manner and his children sought refuge out of doors. It is learned that his wife was severely ill-treated. He was reprimanded by Magistrate Edmison and was allowed to go on suspended sentence upon the wishes of all.

HAD TO GO TO GAOL

Has Been Drunk Since Victoria Day—Had No Money.

Wm. Norcotte, of Millbrook, came to Peterborough to spend Victoria Day. He was working for a farmer, but when he returned to work, his employer paid him up and discharged him. He then came back to the city, and, it is said, has spent most of his earnings on liquor. He was arrested last night and this morning pleaded guilty to being drunk. He was sent up on the hill for ten days. He didn't have the money to pay a fine.

She had the misfortune to fall on the sidewalk, near the bridge, and in doing so had her chin badly cut. Dr. McGrath was called and attended the injury. Several stitches were required to bind the gash.

RICE LAKE STEAMERS

RURAL ROBBERS GO THE EGG LIMIT ONLY

Yesterday in the absence of the family, the residence of J. J. McCrea, Smith, about half a mile West of Jackson Park, was broken into. The robber or robbers were moderate in their levy of spoil as only a few eggs were taken, nothing else being missing. Two men were seen in the neighborhood looking for work, who it is supposed in default of obtaining employment, worked the poultry department.

FIVE HUNDRED BARNARDO HOME CHILDREN ARRIVE FROM ENGLAND

One Hundred Girls Remain in Peterborough and Will be Distributed to Homes Next Week—Four Hundred Boys Go to Toronto—Came Over on Corsican.

LOOK HEALTHY AND HAPPY

One hundred Barnardo Home girls were received this morning at the Margaret Cox Home for Girls or as it was formerly known, the Barnardo Home. They arrived in the city on a special train at 8.45 o'clock and were conveyed in busses to the home.

On the train were 100 boys who were taken through to Toronto. There was also several coaches of emigrants, a number of whom were destined for Peterborough. There are homes for all the girls and next week they will be sent out to the places chosen for them.

The party was in charge of Mr. A. B. Owen of Toronto and Mr. Hynd-Smith of England. The customary trunks were filed in a long row at the station this morning, each one carefully ticketed with the owner's name. The children were healthy looking and appeared happy. The boys will be distributed from Toronto. The party made the ocean passage on the Corsican.

CONTENTMENT LEADS TO LENGTH OF YEARS

Mrs. Andrew Huyck, of Hastings, is visiting in the city. Mrs. Huyck is close to the ninety-year stage, and is still mentally and physically strong and active. She can hold her own in conversation at a tea party, and, what is more, talk sense, instead of colloquial chaff. A few weeks ago she pieced a "star" quilt, quilted it herself and sold it for $5, the funds going to a local charity. She did all the work herself, from the first "patch" to the last stitch. Rather good for a lady who has transgressed the Psalmist's limit of life by nearly a score of years. "By reason of strength" she has lived longer, but again, she "queers" the Psalmist's dictum; for her days are not "trouble and sorrow." She is cheerful and in robust health, and no doubt her longevity is largely due to her cheerfulness of disposition, to her looking on life with contented eyes, and remembering the silver lining to the darkest cloud. Her happiness seems to come from pratice of the poetical philosophy of Bobbie Burns—"contented wi' little and cantie wi' mair."

Big Excursion Will Visit Peterborough On June 17th

A monster excursion will be run to Peterborough on Thursday, June 7th, from Midland and intervening points. It is being run under the auspices of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of Coldwater. It will start from Midland and as this is an annual event, conducted by this Society, a large number will take it in from each place along the line.

They will arrive here on a special train and one of the pleasures that will, no doubt, be provided for the excursionists will be a trip over the Lift Lock.

Recital By Pupils Was Most Enjoyable Affair

Over one hundred parents and friends of the pupils of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, were present at an excellent piano recital given in the Knights of Pythias Hall on Thursday evening. The pupils most of which were quite young played exceedingly well reflecting great credit on the careful and painstaking teaching of Mrs. Greenslade. Some showed remarkable ability as pianists, their playing being the subject of much favourable comment.

The programme was as follows:

Piano Solo, Carnation, (Lichner).—Miss Fleda Law.

Miss Lily Cadwell Is Chosen To High Honour At Normal School

To Miss Lily Cadwell of Smith's Falls has been granted the honour of being the valedictorian of the first session of the Peterborough Normal School. The closing meeting of the Literary Society will be held on Friday evening, June 4th, in the Normal School Assembly Hall, when Miss Cadwell will read her valedictory. She has been chosen to this position by the other students having taken the highest standing in the teaching work. She also read the valedictory of the Model School class of her year at Athens, Ont.

This is a distinct honour and Miss Cadwell deserves the congratulations of her friends upon her unanimous choice. It is the feature event of the year and is probably the greatest distinction a student can win.

21,300 Barnardo Children Brought To Canada In The 201 Trips Since First In 1884

Mr. W. W. Hynd-Smith one of the members of the Council for Dr. Barnardos homes, is in the city today, registered at the Oriental, having crossed on the Corsican with the girls and boys, of whom mention is made in another column. To the Examiner he stated that the party which passed through the city this morning is the 201st to be brought to Canada from England, and brings the total number up to about 21,300. The first lot of Barnardo children were sent out to Canada in 1884, and the work has been continued with success until the present.

Mr. Hynd-Smith said: "These children represent the best that are found in Dr Barnardos homes. They are particularly selected in order to meet the requirements, and before being chosen they are examined about five times. You are getting the flower of our children, and the majority of them are from the country and not from cities like London and Liverpool. They come from Ireland, Wales and England, but not many from Ireland. We have found, since the society began sending some of their wards to Canada that with few exceptions they have grown up and are proving to be good men and women, and it is largely due to the careful selection that such is the case."

Mr. Hynd-Smith states that there is a great demand for the children, and no difficulty is experienced in securing homes for them.

SUDDENLY EXPIRED AT NOON TO-DAY WHILE SITTING ON SOFA

Sudden Death of Mrs. Wm. Mein at Her Residence, Sophia Street, East City—Demise Was Due to Heart Failure.

AN OLD RESIDENT.

Mrs. Wm. Mein, Sophia St., East City, suddenly expired about 10 o'clock to-day while sitting on the sofa. Her death was quite unexpected. Her daughter, Mrs. East, was in the house at the time with her mother. Mrs. Mein asked her daughter to give her a drink which she did. The woman drank it and then laid down. She became very white and Mrs. East very quickly called a nearby neighbour who immediately summoned a doctor, but Mrs. Mein only lived a few minutes. Dr. Scott soon arrived but not before she had passed away. He stated that death was due to heart failure.

The late Mrs. Mein was well known and a highly respected resident of Peterborough for upwards of thirty years. Her many friends will learn with deep regret of her demise. She was in her seventieth year. The late Mrs. Mein was born in Scotland where she was also married. Some years after her marriage, she with her husband and family came to Canada, settling in this city. Her husband predeceased her two years ago.

Four sons and two daughters are left to mourn her loss. The sons are Messrs. Harry of Toronto, Jack of Picton, Wm. and George of this city. The daughters are Mrs. R. Beach and Mrs. East of Peterborough.

Mr. Park Porter went to Oshawa this evening to visit friends over Sunday.

Mr. A. Caddy and Miss May Denmark, of Campbellford, were in the city yesterday on their way home from Cobourg.

Miss Jean Gillespie, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Dunlop, 711 Water street, returned to her home in Stayner this morning.

Miss Agnes McIntosh and Miss Edna Tripp have returned to Cobourg, after spending a pleasant holiday with Mrs. D. R. Fleming, 539 Gilmour street.

"DON'T CRITICIZE," SAYS MRS. ANNIS IN VAUDEVILLE, "ITS FOR MY BOYS"

Mrs. Annis, Photographed at the Piano, rehearsing with the Vaudeville Musical Team, for which she has been engaged as Pianist, at $800 a week.

New York, May 28th.—Mrs. Wm. E. Annis sat at the piano. Around her were grouped four young men. One played the flute, one the cello and two violins. The strains of the prison song from "Trovator" floated out the door.

The selection ended, the widow of Capt. Hains' victim left the stool and was replaced by a girl in green. The concert went on, and Mrs. Annis watched the girl attentively. Again there was a pause, and the girl turned laughingly to the tall woman in black.

"Oh!" said Mrs. Annis. "I wish I could memorize as you do. It would make it so much easier."

"Now," said Wm. L. Lykens, vaudeville booking agent, "a photographer wants to take your picture, Mrs. Annis, so we will excuse the rest of the musicians for a minute." It was Lykens who obtained Mrs. Annis signature to a contract for vaudeville, at a reported salary of $800 a week.

The photographer held his flashlight "gun" aloft.

"Do you mind the flash?" he asked.

"Oh, no," she answered. "I've faced it before."

Bang! Room full of smoke. Windows open. "Now, please take off your hat, Mrs. Annis."

"Oh, I don't like to. I didn't take any too much trouble with my hair this morning."

But the hat comes off, revealing a profusion of auburn hair done in a high pompadour and a huge Psyche knot.

After the picture-taking was over, Mrs. Annis talked of the venture, and of her reasons for taking the step she has.

"I am doing this for my two boys," she said. "It is not an agreeable thing for me to do, but I have got to support them and myself.

"I know people will criticise me, but I only wish some of them might be in my place, that we might see what they would do I am getting the highest market price for my musical ability, that is all. I have got to make good, too. This girl whose place I am taking in the quintet is a fine pianist, and I have got to work hard daily, at my practicing to fill her shoes.

"Both my boys are at Military school, and there is no home to suffer by my absence on the road. No, the boys do not know yet of my plans. They are just the finest little boys in the world. One of them is 9 and the other 7.

Nature has done well by Mrs. Annis, in case she should ever desire to become an actress. She is unusually tall for a woman, with a splendid figure and regular features of undeniable charm.

CHICKENS ARE DEAR.

Selling at From 50 Cents to One Dollar Each on the Market.

Market features to-day were high prices along several lines. Butter was 24 and 25 cents; eggs 17 and 18 cents, potatoes are still $1.25 and chickens from 50 cents to $1.00 each. There was a large supply of cabbage and tomato plants at reasonable prices, but otherwise the market was quiet.

AN OPEN LETTER

Results so Surprising That They Seem Marvelous Are Common to Mi-o-na the One Dependable Stomach Remedy.

Mrs. J. A. Pillow, of North street, Gananoque, Ont., says: "Mi-o-na is worth its weight in gold for quickly and permanently curing dyspepsia. I become so weak that I could not leave my bed. There was a constant burning in my stomach, I would belch up gas every few minutes and could eat but very little, as the food would quickly ferment and make gas that caused a serious depression of the heart. Perspiration would break out all over my body, I would become so weak that I could not stir and would often fall on the floor in a helpless state. The pains in my stomach were terrible. I could find no position in which to sit or lie without suffering, and I was so nervous that the least noise affected me. Headaches were constant. I would become dizzy and spots would appear before my eyes. I had no ambition to get around and everything seemed to tire me. The first box of Mi-o-na gave me more relief than anything I had previously tried. The second box of Mi-o-na cured me. I am well and strong and I have not had an hour's suffering since. I will always feel grateful to Mi-o-na for the cure given me and glad to recommend."

In the face of such evidence it is easy to understand why Wm. Madill feels assured in saying to you, money back if Mi-o-na fails to relieve either trivial or serious stomach trouble.

CATTLE IN THE LAKE

Party Had an Exciting Experience Crossing Rice Lake—Scow Was Almost Swamped, Throwing Cows Overboard.

THE PEOPLE HAD A BATH.

Keene, May 29.—A number of farmers who set out to take cattle across from Ashburns Point to Sugar Island for pasture for the summer had an exciting experience on Wednesday. They were only about one hundred yards from shore when the cattle commenced crowding causing the scow to dip water and sink so that the deck was several feet below the water. The cattle swam to shore but the men who had been on the scow with them had to stand holding on to the posts up to their waists in the water until help came to take them off. Fortunately no one was any worse for their ducking and the cattle all reached shore safely.

A GRAND INSTRUMENT

A New Euphonium for Mr. Ed. Cronk is Now on Exhibition.

One of the finest and fanciest musical instruments seen in Peterborough is on exhibition in W. E. Talbot's window, George street. It is a Buescher "True Tone" 5 valve double bell euphonium, purchased by Mr. Ed. Cronk, euphonium soloist of the 57th Regimental Band. By the use of the fifth valve a trombone effect is introduced on the small bell. In the hands of Mr. Cronk the instrument's best tones should be brought out. It is satin silver, finished with gold plating lining the bells. It is the only instrument of the kind in the city, and was ordered through the J. M. Greene Music Co. Limited, agents for the Buescher "True Tone" instruments. From the pearl-tipped valves to the gold plating, the instrument is a beautiful piece of work, and Mr. Cronk's host of admirers will await with pleasure his first appearance with the new combination instrument which, by the way, cost $123.00.

GIVEN OVER TO THE SOCIETY

Boy Found Sleeping in Barn on Thursday Night Will be Looked After by Children's Aid—Magistrate Dumble Makes the Order

WAS IN COURT TO-DAY

One of the youths found sleeping in a barn on Thursday night last, was given over to the care of the Children's Aid Society this morning, the order being made by Magistrate Dumble, at the police court. The other was allowed to go home with his mother. He promised to be a better boy in the future.

The first one has appeared in court twice before, and once on a charge of the theft of $15, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The boy's father would not consent to the Society taking his son, but admitted that he was incorrigible and beyond his control.

His Worship said that he would take the responsibility upon himself to give the boy to the Society. The young fellow sobbed hard when he learned he had to go to the shelter. Mr. Henry was present and took him with him.

THE PURITY WARE, LIMITED, BY-LAW.

If Peterborough is to continue its progress and grow, it must be by virtue of the acquisition of new industries. We regard that as so important that the city is considering the acquirement of more power, so that in the event of new industries coming to use up the available supply we may be in a position to extend the inducement of cheap power to other industries. No one will dispute that if the city is to grow; if the price of real estate is to be improved, and not deteriorate, we must have more industries.

By the passing of the Purity, Ware, Limited, by-law the people have an opportunity of bringing an important new industry to the city. In the matter of this by-law and what it involves, the risk is all on the part of the promoters. Not a foot of land for site, not a dollar of the loan to be authorized by the by-law, will be turned over or advanced to the Company till the conditions exacted by the by-law are complied with. The site is not to be conveyed to the Company till the buildings are erected and equipped, at a cost of $150,000, or $200,000. And not a cent of the $50,000 loan will be paid over till these buildings are completed and equipped and the Company binds itself to employ 100 hands at least the first year, and not till the Company can show a working capital, over and above cost of buildings and equipment, of $100,000, as a guarantee of ability of permanent operation.

Some criticism is made on the head of the fact that the names of the financiers behind the proposal are not made known. It is to be noted that all the opposition comes from sources working in the interests of a Toronto concern, which opposes Purity, Ware, Limited, because it will engage in the manufacture of the same articles and thus deprive the Toronto concern of the virtual monopoly it now enjoys. After all, it does not matter a particle who furnishes the money to successfully underwrite the stock of the company—whether it is a Rothschilds or some farmer who mortgages his property to raise the funds. What the City of Peterborough is interested in is the successful financing of the undertaking. If this is done and the by-law passed we get the industry, if not we do not get the works here; we do not incur a cent of responsibility.

The way the matter stands, the by-law is submitted months in advance in order to assist in financing the undertaking. Those behind the enterprise will pay for the submission of the by-law to this end, to have the expense of submission recouped, when, if the by-law is passed, and its conditions are met, the Company gets into successful operation. If the people pass the by-law there is little doubt that its conditions will be met, and we shall have a promising industry established; and no land grants or loan will be advanced till every condition of the by-law is fulfilled to the letter. The city has the matter in its own hands. If the Company wants the land and the money—to get it they must fulfil every condition. The Montreal men financially behind the proposal, will, if the by-law is passed, have no objection to disclose their identity; if the by-law does not pass they naturally do not wish their identity known. It does not make a button difference to Peterborough who these men are, whether they beg, borrow, or steal the money to be advanced in the process of underwriting. We do our share in passing the by-law, if the money men do not do their share if every condition of the by-law is not met, the by-law will have no effect. Its importance lies in its being a means to an end, and that end the establishment of an important new industry.

That the end justifies the means is the opinion of the City Council, which has given the matter close attention and submits the by-law in the belief and certainty that the city takes no risk—does not advance a cent till the drastic conditions of the by-law are complied with. It is the opinion of our leading business and professional men, who are in favour of, and will support the by-law. They are among our largest taxpayers, and, being successful and shrewd in the management of their own business, would not favour an unsound proposal.

The ratepayers are urged to think broadly of this matter. We must have new industries, or, otherwise, we shall stand still, or what is worse, go back. It is to be borne in mind that there is no risk involved in the by-law—the city gives nothing without its terms are met in full, and it has good security for any advance it may make, for the city dictates its own security. If the by-law passes there in every probability, that, with the rigid terms of the by-law complied with, we shall have an important new industry; and if the terms are not complied with no harm is done except the city missing an important industry.

HASTENING GENTLY.

Speaking at Morrisburg the other day on the occasion of a non-political home-coming demonstration in his honour, Sir James Whitney, confined his remarks to imperial questions. He spoke of Dreadnoughts — Sir James' ore rotundo style of oratory admits of nothing smaller—and he suggested that Canada would have done well to offer one or two to Great Britain; not that we might ever be called upon to build them, but they would have been a showy evidence of good faith and a hypothetical tribute to Canadian loyalty. Sir James is not the only one that has the Dreadnoughts bee in his bonnet. There are some journalists that are fond of making free with other people's money, speaking of our contributing thirty million dollars for a couple of Dreadnoughts, as fluently as they would advocate the expenditure of thirty cents. And now the greatest of British naval authorities makes their proposals, to employ the vernacular metaphor, "look like thirty cents." We have Sir Charles Beresford, "Condor Charlie," one of the most capable and dashing of British admirals and one of the most outspoken critics of British naval administration, throwing cold water upon and swamping the colonial sentimental Dreadnoughts. Speaking at the Australian banquet in London, Sir Charles said that the building of Dreadnoughts by the colonies "would not really help." The only way, he said, the colonies could help the Mother Country was by protecting their own trade routes. If the Dominions would begin with cruisers, they would eventually go in for larger growth. That is precisely the attitude taken by the Parliament of Canada in unanimously adopting a resolution in favour of the creation of a Canadian naval defence force, which would, of course, be, in case of need, auxiliary to the Imperial navy. Parliament was not stampeded by the scare that obsessed the neurasthenic class of Britishers, but took matters in deliberation. While parliament was unanimous, regardless of party, in adopting the principle of naval preparation, the selfish element has been removed from the proposal by the Government, taking steps to find out how best to serve the naval interests of the Empire in the premises. Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, and Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine, are to take part in an Imperial defence conference in London, at which the self-governing Dominions and the Mother Country will be represented. It will be decided at this Conference, what the most effective form of colonial co-operation may be; and it will be found that whatever the decision may be, whatever form of working together is adopted, the Dominions will be found ready to bear their part, and, in cooperation with the Mother Country, will justify Sir Charles Beresford's opinion that "if the nations of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Britain were cemented together for defence, they could laugh at the rest of the world." Hastening gently is generally a good policy where such momentous interests are involved.

BEAUTIFY THE CITY.

The Kingston Standard in loyally praising the beauty of the Limestone City as revealed to Victoria Day visitors, regrets that the latter had cause to criticize the city in respect of absence of shade trees in some quarters of the city. It states that there are sections in which there is a bare deficiency of trees and calls upon the city to undertake the work of planting street trees. Properly considered this should be the work of the street authorities or park commissioners, where the advance of civilization has provided these officials. In Peterborough we have been more lucky; the citizens, animated by good taste, public spirit, and outlook to the future, have planted our streets with splendid lines of shade trees, pretty generally distributed. There is not only an aesthetic value in street trees, but a money value. A vacant building lot, with well-grown, street trees, will sell from one to five dollars per foot more than one entirely bare of trees, which would cost only a dollar or two in money, and a little attention to provide. Trees need care and cultivation, and to secure the best general effect on streets should be systematically planted. Trees on streets should be looked after and properly pruned from time to time. This should also be done according to some sort of system and by competent persons. Sending a street labourer out of a trench, armed with a buck saw to prune trees is fitting the round man to the square hole. If we have the city beautified to the fullest extent we must have systematic co-operation of the street auhorities and citizens, which, with the exercise of a little common sense and diplomacy, should not be difficult. That co-operation does not now exist. The citizens do their part, but the city practically undoes the work of the citizen. At this time of the year, under the Spring tidying, the lawns are beautiful, laid with the velvet pile of verdue of a rich greeness not to be expected again this season. But the streets in front of them are shamefully untidy. Not only has the city not cleaned them this year—in come cases last year's leaves and rubbish blocking the gutters—but additional filth is added. In one street the other day after citizens had cleared the street, city workmen came along and cleared out the sewer manholes, and left the removed filth in heaps that have remained without removal three or four days, which may easily stretch into weeks.

We shall never have satisfactory street work, never get half value for the money spent, till something like system is adopted.

TAKING CHANCES.

A young man in the Ottawa post office has been charged—caught in the act—with stealing money from registered letters. Why do foolish people do this sort of thing? The thefts are morally certain of being detected and the perpetrator severely punished. Criminals will not ,it seems, learn from experience. Nine-tenths of the crime committed is detected and the perpetrators punished, in spite of the fact that the chances of escaping punishment are only one in a thousand. In many things we never learn. A boy may be lectured and tutored by a father upon the proper thing to do and the things to avoid to stave off failure or worse; yet advice and example are wasted. The boy ,and even the man developed from the boy, will learn nothing or at least will pay no attention to the lessons of the experience o fothers. It is only by bitter personal experience that he can be brought to an appreciation of the wisdom of the advice of parents and elders. We are all built pretty well alike; we take the long chances—we break the laws of health, trusting to luck to escape the penalties; we break the laws of God, trusting to some indefinite exercise of mercy in the end; we break the laws of the land, trusting to chance that we shall not be found out. In all these varied forms of transgressions we are on a parity with the criminals, who as a class, commit their crimes under the delusion that they will escape detection and punishment.

He says: "I recently treated a case of sycosis (similar to 'barber's itch') of the lower lip, with Newbro's Herpicide. There was an extensive loss of beard with inflammation extending well down on the chin. The result of the application of Herpicide was most gratifying. The loss of beard ceased and a new growth of hair is now taking place over the once inflamed area.

LANCASTER, ONT. CARRIED BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

These Wonderful Fruit Juice Tablets Are Winning Friends on Every Side.

Lancaster, Ont., Sept. 16, 1908.

I was a martyr for many years to that distressing complaint, chronic Constipation. I tried many kinds of pills and medicines without benefit and consulted physicians, but nothing did me any real good. Then I began to take "Fruit-a-tives," and these wonderful little fruit tablets entirely cured me.

At first, I took five tablets a day, but now I take only one tablet every two days. I am now entirely well, and thanks to "Fruit-a-tives," I give you permission to publish this testimonial.

This is only one more link in the chain of proof that "Fruit-a-tives" never fail to cure Constipation or non-action of the bowels. 50c a box, or 6 for $2.50, or trial box 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Council And Citizens Unite To Commend Purity Ware By-law

The Aldermen Set Forth a Plain Statement, Showing That Aid Must Depend Upon Strict Compliance With City's Terms---Conditions of By-law Must Be Rigidly Complied With, To Eliminate Every Element of Risk---A Good Industry For The City---Leading Business Men Endorse It.

We, the undersigned, Aldermen of Peterborough, do hereby commend for the approval of the citizens the By-law now before the people, to grant aid to the Purity Ware Limited.

1. It is proposed to give said Company ten acres of land, costing $3,000, on their erection of buildings, and completing and equipping the shops, at a cost of about $150,000 to $200,000, and on their undertaking to employ not less than 100 hands the first year.

2. To lend said Company $50,000, at four per cent. interest, to be repaid to the city in ten equal annual payments.

3. The repayment to be secured by mortgage on the land, buildings, and fixed machinery.

4. The people who are putting up the most of the capital are a well-known manufacturing firm of New York, who have been fifty years in business and are rated very high—this is a guarantee for business methods and success. Every precaution is being taken to secure the repayment of the loan.

5. If we let this opportunity pass it will be hopeless to attempt to build up the city and new manufactures, as this promises to be a large concern, and already other municipalities are after it.

6. The factory will be in the city limits and is well located for the purpose. We must take factories subject to the proprietors' selections, they must be somewhere, and the proprietors place them to suit their requirements—the general benefit of the city is the same.

We personally intend to vote for the By-Law.

FORTIFIED AT FIFTY.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Bring Health and Strength to Women at a Critical Time.

Few women reach the age of fifty without enduring much suffering and anxiety. Between the years of forty-five and fifty health becomes fickle, and acute weaknesses arise with rheumatic attacks, pain in the back and sides, frequent headaches, nervous ailments and depression of spirits.

The secret of good health between forty-five and fifty depends upon the blood supply. If it is kept rich, red and pure, good health will be the result, and women will pass this critical stage in safety. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help women of mature years as no other medicine can, for they make the rich, red blood that means good health, and brings relief from suffering. Mrs. C. Donavon, Newcastle, N. B., says: "About two years ago I was greatly run down and very miserable. I did not know what was wrong with me. I was hardly able to drag myself about, had severe headaches and no appetite. I felt so wretched that I hardly cared whether I lived or not. I had often read of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for others and I decided to try them, and I can now truthfully say I found them all they are recommended to be. Under their use my health gradually came back; I could eat better, sleep better, and felt stronger in every way, and before long I was enjoying as good health as ever I had done."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the trouble in the blood. They actually make new blood. That is why they cure such troubles as rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion, kidney troubles, headaches, sideaches and backaches, and the ailments of growing girls and women of mature years. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Fish Story.

Galt, May 29.—A carp weighing 10 pounds 3 ounces was caught in Grant river yesterday by J. W. Weldon, and is the biggest fish ever taken here. It may be one of the stock placed in a pond at Doon 20 years ago.

Gas In Alberta.

Calgary, Alta., May 29.—The first flow of gas of a commercial value was discovered Thursday at the well in East Calgary, where a flow of 100,000,000 cubic feet per twenty-four hours was struck.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Mr. Newell Bate, one of the leading business men of Ottawa, is dead.

The steamer Glenmount has been loaded with steel rails at Sydney for Fort William.

Miss Mary Parrett was found dead in her house at Guelph by neighbors, who had not seen her about for some time.

The books of the United Copper Co., wanted in connection with the trial of F. Augustus Heinze, has disappeared.

The secretary of the London Temperance League condemns the Old Boy celebrations, and says it takes some time for the moral tone of the city to be restored after such gatherings.

Captain Checks Mutiny.

Victoria, B.C., May 29.—Attacked by six of his crew at once, Captain Wagner of the German ship Eliza Lihn from Antofagasta for Puget Sound, succeeded in beating off his opponents with his fists and quelling a mutiny, which bid fair to develop into larger proportions, and which resulted in the death of one man.

On April 10 the crew tapped a barrel of wine aboard and rapidly becoming intoxicated attacked Wagner and the boatswain in an effort to make the former a prisoner and to throw the boatswain overboard. Wagner fought off his opponents, stretching them one after another on the deck.

The boatswain was carried as far as the rail by the infuriated men, but managed to escape, and going to the assistance of Captain Wagner, helped to bring about order. One of the crew fell in the hold and was killed.

Large Bequests to Charity.

Halifax, May 29.—The will of the late Hon. Wm. Chisholm, member of the Legislative Council, will be probated Saturday. The estate is worth about $140,000. The residue of the estate is to be divided into 20 parts and is disposed of as follows. The agreement was signed yesterday on behalf of the city, with a new company, known as the Western Drydock & Shipbuilding Co., Limited, composed principally of Cleveland capitalists, and including Mr. A. F. Bowman of Southampton, who is representing them in the negotiations here. A by-law will now be submitted to the people.

Shooting on Sunday.

New York, May 29.—Four best cases against proprietors of minor Coney Island shows who were charged with violating the Sunday laws were dismissed yesterday by Magistrate Tighe. The real test was in the case of Thomas Decers, proprietor of a shooting gallery. The magistrate sustained the contention of the defendant and counsel that the use of the gallery on Sunday did not constitute a crime.

Jumps From Bridge.

Toronto, May 29.—Elizabeth Ranshaw, 46 years of age, a nurse employed by Strachan Johnston, 118 Isabella street, committed suicide at 8.30 yesterday morning by throwing herself over the Glen road bridge into the second Rosedale Ravine, a drop of 115 feet.

Despondency induced by ill health was the probable reason given by her relatives for her act.

Calgary Grain Exchange.

Ottawa, May 29.—The incorporation of the Calgary Grain Exchange with a capital of $100,000, with all the powers usually granted to a grain exchange, indicates the development of Southern Alberta as a wheat-growing centre. It has also a bearing on the movement to ship grain from the new provinces to Europe via Pacific ports.

MRS. MARY MEYER.

MRS. MARY MEYER, Thomson Avenue, near Shell Road, Winfield, L. I., N. Y., writes:

"I have been annoyed with a cough for years. Often it was so bad that I could not sleep half the night. Many people thought I had consumption.

Consumption Was Feared.

"A woman recommended Peruna to me two years ago. I began to take Peruna, and now I am perfectly free from a cough. I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely.

"I take Peruna occasionally, when I do not feel well, and I also give it to my children.

"Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me."

Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. No. 6, Inka, Ill., writes as follows of the efficacy of Peruna:

"Last November I had catarrh and felt so miserable I thought that I would go into consumption.

"I tried so many doctors and medicines but nothing did me any good, only Peruna.

"After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way. My head did not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright and am gaining in flesh and strength.

"I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy."

Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decreases the expectoration, strengthens the patient, increases the appetite and in many cases procures sound, refreshing sleep.

MISS BEULAH B. BROOME.

Miss Beulah B. Broome, 409 12th St., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have suffered from weak lungs and catarrhal troubles for four years, brought on by many neglected colds, but on the recommendation of a friend I gave Peruna an honest trial and I am pleased to state that it restored me to perfect health. There is not the slightest trace of catarrh in my system and my lungs are perfectly sound.

Weak Lungs For Years.

"I unhesitatingly give this testimonial."

Mrs. William Hohmann, 569 N. Paulina St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child. After a while it got so bad I had to cough both winter and summer. Finally, I burst a blood vessel in my throat from the strain of coughing, next a blood vessel in my stomach, so I kept getting worse and doctoring, and even then could get no relief. I thought, and everybody else, that I had consumption.

"Reading the papers about Peruna I decided to try it, without the least bit of hope that it would do me any good. But after taking three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on, never got discouraged.

"Finally I seemed not to cough so much, and the pains in my chest got better. I am well now. I cannot tell you how grateful I am, and I cannot thank Peruna enough. It has cured where doctors have failed. People who think they have consumption better give it a trial."

MISS JOSIE SCHAETZEL.

Miss Josie Schaetzel, General Delivery, Appleton, Wisconsin, writes:

"I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs in very short order, and it was not long until it developed into a serious case of catarrh. Every morning I would raise a lot of phlegm, which was very disagreeable. My digestion was poor and my lungs sore.

"After a few doses of Peruna I began to mend, and felt that if I kept on taking it it would not be long until I would be well. I was right, for in four weeks I was well again.

Consumption Prevented.

"I think Peruna is a grand medicine, and wish to add my testimony to the many others you have."

The fight against consumption is becoming a national problem.

Everywhere we hear of sanitariums established at the expense of the state for the treatment of the vast army of consumptives.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague.

The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

History Repeating.

Montreal, May 29.—La Presse says: "About the year 1879 a political party was formed in the Province of Quebec, which imposed upon each one of its candidates the obligation of being Roman Catholic, before everything else. Of course it came to nothing, but now we have the other side of the medal in British Columbia, a proposition to impose upon all candidates an anti-Catholic profession of faith, and one must be Protestant before all. * * * * The true Conservative party is in duty bound to protest against this false situation."

At War Over an Island.

Vancouver, B.C., May 29.—The city yesterday afternoon took possession of Deadman's Island, despite the protests of Theo Ludgate's commissionaires, who intend building a big amusement park there. Two police officers accompanied city workmen to the island. The workmen had been busy but a short time when Ludgate's men ordered them off. It started to rain just then and both sides declared a truce.

Death of Sir John Colomb.

London, May 29.—Sir John Read Colomb died last night. He was born in 1838. Sir John Colomb entered the Royal Marine Artillery in 1854 and retired as captain in 1869. He was variously employed with the navy, army, militia and volunteers. He sat in the House of Commons for the Bow and Bromley division in 1886-'92 and for Great Yarmouth in 1895-'06.

Major's Hill Park Site Granted.

Ottawa, May 29.—An order-in-council was passed at yesterday afternoon's Cabinet meeting, finally ratifying the agreement for the transfer of the southwest corner of Major's Hill Park to the Grand Trunk Railway Co. as a site for its new million-dollar hotel. After over a year's delay the company has at last started work on the hotel.

Acknowledgment From the King.

Toronto, May 29.—Lonnie Rees, A.T.C.M., composer of the music for the song Canada, Our Homeland, has received the following acknowledgment from King Edward:

Buckingham Palace.—The private secretary is commanded by the King to acknowledge the receipt of Mr. Lonnie Rees' letter of the 15th ulto., with a copy of his song, "Canada, Our Homeland," which he has kindly presented to His Majesty. May 3, 1909."

Practical Work Done By Household Science And Manual Training Classes

Inspector Mowat Arranged for an Exhibition Yesterday and Hundreds Saw the Public School and Collegiate Boys and Girls in Ordinary Class Work.

FINE PROGRESS MADE.

The advanced ideas prominent in the present day school curriculum were impressed upon a large number of the parents of the pupils of the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute by the exhibitions of Art, household science and manual training in the old Collegiate building yesterday afternoon and last evening. It might have been truly remarked by those who are now heads of families: "It was not like this in the Olden Days," for the innovations, if they may be so termed, are real surprises. They are, moreover, strikingly practical and one almost wishes that, modern school methods had been introduced a few decades ago when the training was apparently less comprehensive and probably less attractive. These courses were instituted in January last and the respective instructors have achieved splendid results in the few months which have been at their disposal. Inspector Mowat planned an open day in order to enable the parents to see for themselves their children at work and it may be said that everyone of those who thronged the building yesterday were delighted with the evidences of the progress that has been made and of the possibilities which the new subjects present.

A Transformation

The South-east room on the ground floor where formerly mathematics, latin, history, etc., were taught has been turned into a workshop with twenty benches where Mr. A. M. Scarrow conducts classes in Manual Training to the boys of the fourth book of the Queen Alexandra, Central, South Central and East City Public schools, and of the three divisions of the first form in the Collegiate Institute. The floor was found strewn with shavings, which the boys made in using their planes and chisels and the sounds of saw and hammer complete the realism of a workshop. The boys, many in shirt sleeves, wore aprons and pursued their work with an interest that was shared in by the visitors who quietly looked on.

Up-stairs, the old third form has completely disappeared. Where it used to be there is a complete equipment for a class in domestic science, and here under Miss E. M. Steinhoff's direction, the girls of the forms mentioned above are being instructed in the elements of plain cooking, and are being taught practical methods of how to conduct an ordinary kitchen such as may be found in the ordinary household. Everything is complete. Coal range, gas range, gas stoves, refrigerator, kitchen and china cabinets, utensils, sink and the materials with which to work.

There are even several racks on which the girls hang the dish-cloths to dry, and throughout cleanliness and neatness are the outstanding features. Yesterday the members of the Board of Education were among the visitors. They watched a class from the Collegiate Institute, mix flour and other ingredients into a dough and after a short time delicious tea biscuits done to an inviting brown were taken from the oven. They were served with tea and it was noticed that the chairman, L. M. Hayes, Mr. W. H. Hill and the other members ate with relish the dainty biscuits. Mr. Dumble who has been one of the strongest advocates of household science was deeply interested in the proceedings and likewise expressed his pleasure at the progress the class has made.

Aims of the Work

After the class had completed its work and put away the utensils to the last spoon leaving everything in splendid order, Miss Steinhoff explained to the Examiner that to the present at least only plain cooking was being taught. A little more than one half of her time is given to the Normal School pupils according to the arrangements between the two institutions.

"My aim is at first to teach plain cooking in a manner which is thoroughly practical," Miss Steinhoff stated. The girls learn to be neater and more accurate and this training has a good effect on their other studies. The main purpose is of course to help them to be of assistance in their homes, and I hope the mothers will allow the girls to practise what they are learning here. As they advance they will be taught how to prepare a complete meal and also fancy dishes. In fact I hope to conduct an entire day's work, cooking the three meals, but that will not be reached during the present term. Economy is a point I emphasize and we work with only the utensils and materials found in the average household.

Marketing and how to buy will be taken up later."

Miss Steinhoff stated that all the girls were interested in the work and were learning rapidly.

Fortunate, indeed, should be the husbands of the next generation if these classes continue.

At the beginning of the term the girls were taught how to use the simplest utensils, to manage a gas stove, etc. Boiling was first taken up and its principles explained. The girls boiled cabbage to begin with and other vegetables followed. But the course of training is too detailed to explain in this article and only those who have seen the classes at work have an adequate ieda of the practical methods employed and of the order, cleanliness and neatness which is insisted upon. Sloth is likewise not on the calendar and while there is nothing hurried there is a despatch and spirit in the work that will be surely but slowly acquired probably never to be forgotten.

With The Boys.

Mr. Scarrow had the fourth book class from the Central School in his manual training.

The boys are first instructed in how to prepare designs and plans, how to read them and how to work according to them. This is considered a very important acquirement, and is apparently quickly learned, that is in the primary stages. They also learn the use of the carpenter's ordinary tools, and then they begin to make articles out of wood, gradually becoming more and more proficient. Each bench is completely equipped. One of the boys, Claire Arnott, named over his tools for the reporter, as follows: A guage, cutting knife, three chisels, saw, square, plane, rule, mallet and vice. The boys were making a combined coat and trousers hanger, and at each of the twenty benches a youngster was industriously working. They had their plans to follow, and it was amusing to see how scrupupously they made their measurements, even to the one-sixteenth of an inch.

Mr. Scarrow explained that the subject was not purposed to teach the boys carpentering. It taught them how to be practical and precise. It developed their mental powers and at the same time better fitted them for their other studies. It also gave them the opportunity of showing their originality, and as has been demonstrated is an important branch of study.

Art Work.

Two rooms were given over to displays of drawings, with colours, etc., done by the pupils of the Collegiate Institute and of the public schools. Miss Bauer is the instructor in the former institution, and Miss McCrea supervises the work in the public schools. The ability of the pupils was demonstrated in practically all the work, and many excellent ideas were found in the exhibition. This study is closely allied to the subjects mentioned above and has its place in the complete development of the child which is claimed to be the chief end of education.

Mr. H. B. Collier Advocates The Combination System Of Charging For Electric Lights

To the Editor:—

The renewal of the franchise in connection with the pole line of the Peterborough Light & Power Co., Limited, has brought up the question of the rate charged for electric current. The question is one which interests the writer both as a citizen and through business relations, and having made a study of the subject over the whole Province can offer some suggestions which may prove worthy of consideration.

The consumer of electricity naturally wants a "Flat Rate," as thereby his expense for lighting is limited, while he may be as extravagant as he cares, regardless of the waste. From the standpoint of the consumer the fixed charge is ideal. He may have say 20 lights in his house, and as he likes to see his home well lighted he naturally allows the majority of the lamps to burn, whether needed or not, for the cost is the same.

But is this flat rate fair to the Company? Some companies prefer it. With plenty of power unused it makes but little difference whether or no the surplus is consumed one way or another so long as the resulting revenue produces dividends on the investment. But the flat rate is quite impossible to the power company with business on a proper basis.

If consumers generally would treat their lights with ordinary economy when on the flat rate, the companies would find it advantageous to hold to that basis exclusively, as the cost of meters and their upkeep is a considerable item. But unfortunately the meters seem necessary.

The Peterborough meter rate is very fair indeed when compared with a number of the larger cities in Ontario, viz 7½ cents net per 1,000 watt-hours, or kilowatt-hour, whereas Toronto asks 8 cents and Montreal 12 cents net. Coming nearer home we find Lindsay operated entirely through meter and charging but 5 cents.

While the comparison of these rates may be very interesting, we desire for Peterborough the lowest possible rate which will give the power company the margin of profit necessary to operate the business successfully and pay dividends on actual money invested, irrespictive of the rates charged in other places under perhaps totally different conditions.

The basis of charge which seems most feasable from all standpoints is a combination of the flat rate and the meter system. Every house in the city is now listed at the city offices as a house of so many rooms. It may be an eight-room or a ten-room house. These are living rooms and do not include halls, pantry, cellar or woodhouse. Now take this rating of each house as a basis and let a flat rate of ten cents per room per month be levied irrespective of the number of lights in each room or that may be placed in other parts of the house. In addition to this let a charge of two and one half cents per kilowatt hour be levied for all the current consumed.

Let us see how such a system would work out. (The reader will be able to figure readily for his own house by taking his average light bill now under the meter system). As the majority of houses in the city would average about eight rooms, take such a house for example. The flat rate on this system would be 80 cents per month. For the lighting purposes only and observing strict economy would consume say 16 kilowatt hours in the month and at two and one half cents per hour would thus pay 40 cents more or a total of $1.20. At the present meter rate of 7½ cents the 16 kilowatt hours would cost exactly the same $1.20.

Now suppose a consumer wants to light his house from cellar to garret brilliantly, and to use the modern conveniences, the electric iron, toaster, radiator and other electric apparatus, he would pay only 2½ cents per kilowatt for all current he woud use over that required for economical lighting.

This dual system works to the advantage of the company and the consumer. With the extra current so very cheap it induces the consumer to have his house better lighted, and to take comfort in using the current for cooking, and other purposes. It is better for the company as they would receive a fair revenue for the additional current.

The flat rate system as used now has many objectional features. Many take undue advantage of it by using current carelessly and needlessly, and then not show their house well lighted. With a charge of $1.00 or $1.50 per lamp they will do without a lamp in the pantry or hall or in the most desirable place of all, for the good of the city, on the front porch. But to my mind the most objectionable feature of the flat rate only is that the company using such feels compelled to require "spotters" to go the rounds of the houses and count the lamps in use, for many people will add one or two more lamps without the trouble of notifying the company, or possibly exchange for the 16 c.p. lamps on the contract for a few 32 c.p. ones.

The dual system of charging undoubtedly presents most desirable features and would in every way prove advantageous. Trusting that the suggestion may be of assistance to the city council in dealing with the franchise, I remain,

Yours very truly,
HERB. B. COLLIER.

NORTH HARVEY MAN HAS EXCITING EXPERIENCE WITH 200 POUND BLACK BEAR

The following story of a North Harvey man's experience with a big 200-pound bear is told as an actual fact, without the furnishings of a "story":

It was under The Ledge, on John Laplante's old place now owned by Philip Boucher, and it was last week. Early in the spring Mr. Bush-a as it is pronounced, for Phil, as he is more commonly called, is a French Canadian, had the misfortune to have one of his fine mares die, and he drew the body out into the woods. A few weeks ago while in the neighbourhood of the carcase he came upon three bears, a huge she-bear and her two yearlings cubs. Phil had his old Bollard rifle with him, but he hesitated to tackle the three at once, at this time of the year, when they are particularly active, and have an appetite sharpened by a winter's fast. So he observed caution, and said nothing. Philip knew of a large strong bear trap, and getting it he set it near the dead horse, attaching to the chain of the trap a long balsam pole, which he had trimmed, leaving the limbs like short spikes so that they would catch on the underbrush and act like an anchor.

Next evening Phil took his old Ballard, and his good wife Marie carried another gun, and they went out to the trap. There was the big bear sure enough, and it had fully an acre of ground torn and ploughed with the balsam drag. It was raging when Phil appeared, and drawing his rifle to his shoulder, Phil carefully took aim at the shoulder of the bear, and fired. Down he dropped dead, and Phil had gone away a little distance towards home when he thought he would take another look at the bear. He was up again and alive, so Phil took the other gun and killed him some more. It was too late to do anything with him that evening, and Phil waited till morning and went out with the mare and the stone-boat and his rifle.

To Phil's surprise the bear was alive again, very much alive, and the mare she scare and tear all over the woods, like one crazy. When Phil got the mare quiet, he took the gun, and got up on a big rock. The bear just roar and tore and clum up the rock within ten feet of Phil, when he planted a bullet fair between the eyes, and the animal rolled back dead for sure. It would weigh 200 lbs. gaunt as it was, and the pelt was in prime condition, long black, thick hair, shiny like silk. Phil may get the other two cubs and if he does will make pretty well the price of the lost mare.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Meter Is Fair Enough But The Charges Are Too High

Peterborough, May 28, 1909.
Editor Examiner.

Sir,—Permit me to offer a suggestion in regard to the matter of the Power Company's charges for house lighting, as published in yesterday's Examiner. I agree with the position of Ald. Morrow and Council, that substantial concessions should be made by the Company in return for any extension of their franchise granted. But I differ with Ald. Morrow as to equity or desirability of a flat rate. The meter system is the fair equitable charge for the amount of power delivered. By the use of meters, waste is very emphatically discouraged. This should profit both producer and consumer. Someone must lose by waste of anything.

But the present meter charge of 10c per 1000 watts less 25 per cent., and the annual minimum limit of $12.00 as now enforced by the Company, are too high by half. Cut that meter charge in two and reduce the limit to, say $8.00 or $10.00, and give no flat rates at all. We then can have reasonable lighting at a cost we can afford to pay. At the present charge by meter, amounting, as it does, to about one-half cent per hour per 16 c. p. lamp, the cost of reasonably lighting a house is too great. There seems no justification for such a meter rate as is now in force, when we see whole lines of street lamps burn all day and night, which, if supplied through a meter, at present charges, would cost the owners ten times what they now pay in flat rates.

Cut off the waste and give the citizens their share in the economy so effected. It is certainly the duty of the Council to stand between us and the Company to secure fair rates.

According to Mr. Larmonth, as quoted yesterday, house service is overcharged to make up for the small charge to manufacturers. Surely this is pleasant information. For wealthy manufacturers we pay the taxes, and the tariff by which they overcharge us for their finished product. We pay for sites, etc., and now we find we are paying even a share of their little bills for power. What next? Have a think about it, citizens.

South Ingonish, Cape Breton, May 29th, (Special). How easily and quickly Dodd's Kidney Pills banish Rheumatism and other symptoms of Kidney Disease is well known in the case of Michael C. Williams, a fisherman living in this place.

"My kidney disease started from a strain," Mr. Williams says, "and I suffered from it for about three months. I had backache, stiffness in the joints and Rheumatism. When I got up in the morning I had a bad taste in my mouth; I perspired freely with the least exertion, and I was always tired and nervous.

"One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me and I believe they will cure others who are suffering from Kidney Disease."

If you have any two of the symptoms mentioned by Mr. Williams you may be sure of two things. One is that your kidneys are sick, and the other that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure you.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved in thousands of cases all over Canada that they never fail to cure Kidney Disease of any kind or stage.

GROWTH OF WHEAT PLEASES WESTERNERS

Crop Reports From West Are Full of Optimism.

WEATHER HAS BEEN FINE

Excellent Conditions Will Amply Make Up For Late Seeding, Say the Experts and Plenty of Sunshine and Timely Showers Give Promise of a Big Crop—Disputes Over Acreage Now Sown.

Winnipeg, May 29.—"Timely showers and warm weather" is the summary of the weather conditions throughout the past week in the Canadian prairie west.

In other words, conditions have been ideal, and everywhere the spring wheat is making a brave showing above the ground. Farmers have been busy without a check, getting in coarse grains and roots, and such progress has been made in this respect during the past ten days that the situation is more forward than in any average year.

This is not to say that spring wheat was gotten in as early as last year, for it was quite ten days later, but conditions since have been so perfect that farmers have already caught up all leeway and many of them have already set to work on summer fallow for lack of something more insistent to do.

So far, then, everything has been favorable to the spring crop of this country. While wheat has been earlier, it has never been in under more favorable conditions, and provided that decent weather conditions obtain through the vernal season, there is no reason at the present time to expect anything less than a bumper crop.

Opinions are divided regarding the increase in acreage, and this cannot be determined until official reports are received from each of the three prairie provinces, but with the high prices obtaining for the prime cereal, it seems hardly doubtful that an increase of from ten to twenty per cent. in wheat seeding has been made.

Reports of fall wheat in Southern Alberta are so far all to the good, and though the acreage is comparatively small, it is clearly demonstrated that a great future lies before that country along this line, most of its production being destined for westward shipment via Pacific ports.

Undesirable Detectives.

Montreal, May 29.—Before the royal commission yesterday Detective Dan McLaughlin testified that Quartermaster Holland had asked him for $100 on his promotion, and, although he had refused to give it, his promotion came all the same.

A similar story was told by Detective Laberg, after which Holland took the stand and emphatically denied asking for money. He admitted, however, that he had told McLaughlin that his promotion would be worth $100 a year to him.

Chief Detective Silas Carpenter complained that his authority as chief of the detective force had been interfered with. Several men had been appointed to the force against his wishes, thus destroying the esprit de corps, which was so essential.

Comes Home to Die.

Peterboro, May 29.—Robert John Graham, son of R. J. Graham of Havelock, left home three years ago, and his parents heard nothing of him in the meantime.

On Thursday morning, at an early hour, a young man was found sitting in the C P R station at Havelock in a state of collapse. He turned out to be the missing son. He was taken home and died of paralysis a few hours later.

Will Pay for Amusement.

Montreal, May 29.—A French comedy company will hold the boards at the Academy of Music for three months next season, with the Sparrow Co. special grand opera venture, taking the rest of the time. Fifty thousand dollars is to be subscribed by the French citizens, and the company will subscribe a similar amount; $35,000 has already been subscribed by the citizens.

ROY SMILED ON BEING SENTENCED

Ex-Manager of Banque de Jean Gets Five Years.

HE BLAMES HIS EMPLOYES

Judge Monet Imposes Heavy Penalty on Former Speaker of Quebec Legislature for Falsifying Statements of the Bank — Prisoner Accuses Rival Concern of Interference In His Case.

St. Johns, Que., May 29.—With tears in his eyes Justice Monet condemned his former Parliamentary colleague, P. H. Roy, to five years' imprisonment in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary at 11.30 yesterday morning, after having listened for over an hour to the statements of the prisoner.

"I want to render the sentence in so very few words," said the judge, "that all bankers who could be tempted to act the way you did, can learn it by heart and always remember it. You will have time during your detention to think of the clients of the bank you have ruined. Some of them are dead from the sorrow suffered by your crime, and some of them have lost their mind. The verdict rendered against you was just and impartial."

Before sentence had been passed Mr. Roy asked the court to suspend his sentence till the mouth of October, when the regular term of the Criminal Court will open here. He said that he would suffer unfairly if he were condemned when he is to go before the Court of Appeals to have his verdict quashed. On the other hand he pretended that he felt confident he could help the liquidator of the bank in his work and save many thousands of dollars to the depositors of the defunct bank.

Mr. Roy, with anger, bitterly protested against what he called the interference of a rival institution in this case. "I would like to spend a few minutes in the books of this bank," he said, "and I promise to throw light on very interesting facts."

Another point Mr. Roy insisted up on was the fact that he never defrauded anybody and that he was himself misled by his employes. "One of them," said Roy, "was even criminal enough to compel clients of the bank to pay proscribed papers."

Then the prisoner declared that he is still confident that the financial situation of the bank was not desperate when it was put into liquidation. There was only 50 per cent. paid on the capital subscribed, and another appeal of 20 per cent. would have prevented the crisis.

He was very severe on his former political friends. He said he had done more for them in work and money than they ever did for him. He had subscribed money generously for the higher lights of the party, and he did not understand why it was that the Government had been so anxious to have him condemned when he was not the guilty party.

He was only one of three accused, and he always felt that he could not obtain impartiality in St. Johns. The other accused were more guilty than he, as he had but signed the reports to the Government after they had been confirmed by others. There were twelve or thirteen other accusations. Why had they not proceeded in these at the same time? All his worldly goods had been swallowed up by the failure of the Banque de Jean. One thing only was left him, and this was his honor. He had done everything possible to sustain his bank. It was not his fault, but his misfortune.

Roy said he had to thank his lawyers because they refused pay for their services, but he protested against the way they conducted the case, laying their defence more on points of law than on the evidence and the facts.

He received his sentence with a smile.

Toronto Sculptor Successful.

Brantford, May 29. Nine models for the monument, which will cost $25,000, were submitted. The judges were Byron E. Walker, Toronto; Geo. C. Gibbons, London, and George A. Davis, New York.

G. W. Hill, Montreal, and A. E. Pausch, Buffalo, were second and third in the competition.

Drowning at Cobalt.

Haileybury, May 29.—Hubert Sager, son of the managing director of the Last Chance Mine, of Cobalt, was drowned at the first rapids in the Montreal river about a half a mile below Latchford.

In company with a companion he was paddling to Latchford and was pulling up the rapids when the canoe upset.

Disrupts Federation.

Paris, May 29.—The prestige of the general federation of labor has gone to pieces since the collapse of the general strike. M. Neil, the secretary, has resigned, and the more powerful unions have withdrawn with the intention of forming a new confederation that shall be without the revolutionary characteristics of the old one.

May Settle Boyle Suits.

Windsor, May 29.—It is likely the suits of Joseph W. Boyle of Woodstock against Fred T. Moran, et al, of Detroit, and the Canadian Klondike Mining Co., will be settled out of court. When the case of Boyle v. Moran was called yesterday both sides asked for an adjournment until June 10.

Cruiser Is Speedy.

Portsmouth, Eng., May 29.—The battleship cruiser Invincible has made a remarkable full speed run on her way from Queen's Ferry. She averaged more than 28 knots an hour, and at one time attained a speed of nearly 29 knots.

Arrested at Quebec.

Quebec, May 29.—Lindsay Girard, aged 65 years, a second-class passenger on board the steamer Corsican, was arrested by High Constable Gale on a charge of embezzlement, on the arrival of the steamer yesterday afternoon. The accused was a commission broker, doing business at London, Eng., and took passage under his own name at Liverpool. High Constable Gale was cabled to hold him until an officer from Scotland Yard, with legal papers for his apprehension and return to England, would arrive in Canada. The accused was booked for Toronto.

Charged With Wrecking.

St. John, N.B., May 29.—U. Bald Michaud and his son, Paul Michaud, of Baker Brook, Victoria County, were arrested recently on the charge of placing obstructions on the Temiscouata Railway track, near Baker Brook. They fled to the United States, but on Thursday were arrested in Maine, and have been brought back to Edmunston to await trial. On eight different occasions between April 7 and May 1 trainmen found obstructions on the track, usually a spike driven between the rails or a horse shoe spring over the track.

Mrs. Harrison of Halifax Choked by Drunken Man.

CRIES "HE'S CHOKING ME"

Last Words of Woman Are An Accusation — Percy Wallidge Is In Jail Waiting Till Doctors Decide Whether Woman Died From Attack or From Weak Heart—Charge of Murder May Be Laid.

Halifax, May 29. Lying dead at the rooms of the undertaker to the body of Mrs. Johanna Harrison, while in the police station Percy Wallidge is under detention, and may face a charge of murder in connection with the affair. At present there is a mystery as to whether the woman was choked to death by Wallidge, or died from fright and a weak heart. Several physicians who made a superficial examination of the body incline to the latter theory.

Late last night Mr. Harrison, in company with her sister, Miss Comfort, left the Argyle street entrance of the Nova Scotia Furnishing Co.'s building, where they had been working. As they came out of the door Wallidge staggered along the street under the influence of liquor and fell in the doorway. Miss Comfort went across the street to get some person to remove him, leaving her sister on the sidewalk. With three young men she came back in a moment or so, and found her sister in the door in the grasp of Wallidge. They dragged him off. "He's choking me," exclaimed the prostrate woman, and then sank back. Those were the last words she spoke. Wallidge was at once arrested, but made no statement. There were marks on the side of the woman's neck, and her face was cut, the latter injury being received by falling.

Compared Deakin to Judas.

Melbourne, Australia, May 29.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—In the Commonwealth House Representative Fisher said he did not desire to proceed with business, and the House proceedings were marked by personal altercations of unprecedented acrimony.

Sir W. Lyne, who refused to enter the Deakin coalition, was called to order for repeating the epithet "Judas," which he addressed to Deakin Thursday.

Attorney-General Hughes censured this, declaring it was unfair to Judas, who, at least had hanged himself.

The Speaker repeatedly rebuked the member for transgressing the rules of debate.

Tried to Blow Up Town.

Pittsburg, May 29.—The model town of Marianna, where more than 100 miners lost their lives seven months ago, escaped destruction when an insane miner planned to blow it from the face of the earth with dynamite.

Because a friend had been sent to jail and another friend had been killed by a fall of slate, Martin Richiliski, a giant miner, became temporarily deranged, and placing dynamite at different points connected it by wire with the intention of exploding it all at once and destroying the town. Something went wrong with the wiring and there were only two small explosions. The police captured Kichiliski, after a hard fight.

Had the wires not failed, great loss of life would have ensued.

Suspended by His Belt.

Windsor, May 29.—Jos. Pero, an employe of the Windsor lighting plant, had a close call yesterday morning in the vicinity of Pitt and Goyeau streets. Pero and another workman were stretching wires across the trolley wires of the W.E. & L.S. Electric Railway, when the feed wire of the railway company came in contact with one Pero held in his hands. The shock which he received threw him from his position on the cement pole, but his belt fastened to the pole, held him suspended in mid-air more than ten minutes before he could be rescued. His hands and arms were badly burned. He was removed home, and will recover. The feed wires of the railway campany carry 6,500 volts.

John Maloney Caught.

London, Ont., May 29.—John Maloney, wanted in this city on three charges of raising postal notes and thereby swindling local merchants, was arrested at Kenora Thursday. Rocco Broconia, who purchased the notes in the first place at St. Ignace, was also arrested. Maloney, it will be remembered, operated in the city on Saturday night two weeks, after the postoffice was closed. He called on Wray & Co., jewellers, and presented a $35 money order, and bought a $15 watch. At the city hotel he had a $25 order cashed, and at Rowland Hill's shoe store he also presented a $35 postal note in payment for a $5 pair of shoes, and received $31 in change.

Slew His Daughter.

Paris, May 29.—Devid Henderson, believed to be of New York, aged 51, last night shot his daughter dead in a cafe here and then committed suicide. The dead woman's name was Martha. She was 22 years old. With Mr. Henderson in the restaurant were his wife and three daughters and a governess. All had supper together, and the party was most cheerful. At the end of the meal Mr. Henderson rose from the table and fired four shots at random, one of which killed his daughter, Martha. Henderson then turned the weapon upon himself.

Fatally Gored by Bull.

St. Thomas, May 29.—Wm. Boughner, a farmer, aged 56, residing three miles west of Tillsonburg, was attacked yesterday by a vicious young bull in the barnyard. Mr. Boughner defended himself for a time with a pitchfork, but the animal finally got him down and gored him. He will die.

A Miner Killed.

Springhill, N.S., May 29.—Tillman White, a miner, was killed yesterday afternoon in No. 2 slope of the collieries. He was working at the bottom of the chute and stepped out on the level, when the trip caught him, badly mangling his body.

They've Lost Their Jobs.

Paris, May 29.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday, by a vote of 338 to 147, rejected a motion for the reinstatement of the postal employes who were discharged from their positions because of their connection with recent strikes.

Hoping to hear from you at an early date; needless to say I should want Spring suitings.—I remain, dear Sirs, yours truly. (Signed) J. A. BERRY.

A WEDGWOOD ROOM.

This Shade Will Be Pretty In Spring Redecoration.

There is just a certain wedgwood blue that is exquisite with a putty colored wall. It is not well to use this combination in a north light, which needs the warmer colonial yellow, but it may be held in reserve for the room having a southern or western exposure, with its softer light.

The putty color is colder and less yellow than the colonial shades—as if a touch of gray had been dashed in—but there is still enough of the creamy tone left to blend with the wedgwood blue of the hangings.

These curtain goods may be found in such inexpensive materials as gnlatea, cotton poplin and Japanese crape, all of which are more recent arrivals on the decorator's counter than denim and burlap.

Several pieces of old mahogany, a peacock screen and a bowl of polished brass are the needed touches in this chaste little room.

GREAT BOWLERS ARE TIED FOR INDIVIDUAL HONOURS

New York, May 29.—Bowling sharks are excited over the wonderful race for the individual championship of New York city now being waged. Johny Voohels and Jimmy Smith, probably the greatest individual bowlers in the world, are tied for first place. They have rolled in sensational form throughout the tourney, and lead their competitors by a wide margin.

EDMONTON TEAM GOOD TO FANS

Harry Burridge, Writing to The Examiner, Says That Jerry Edmunds is Making a Big Hit With Winnipeg.

The sporting editor of the Examiner has received a letter from Harry Burridge, catcher of the Edmonton Western League team, in which the former Peterborough backstop says in part: "Met 'Whitty' and Crowley and a dozen or more Peterborough boys and also some Toronto boys I knew. This is a pretty nice country, but we are getting some very bad baseball weather, principally cold and rain. It has been raining since Thursday night. We are due to play two games to-morrow, the 24th, but I think we will be lucky if we can play one game, as the grounds are very muddy just now, and it will take a lot of sun to put them in any kind of shape. Our team looks pretty to the fans out here, but we need a good pitcher and a couple of good-hitting outfielders. Jerry Edmunds is going awfully good for Winnipeg.

THE DEAL BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND CHICAGO IS TOPIC AMONG BALL FANS

Managers Comiskey and Cantillon of the Chicago and Washington American league clubs, respectively, have different ideas of values.

For instance, Comiskey wanted a reliable southpaw pitcher. He cast his eyes on Wm. Burns, the sensational Washington jerformer. He tried to glance in other directions, but his optics were always drawn back to Burns.

Cantillon had in Burns a white elephant. Since the day the pitcher and Capt. Bob Ganley mussed each other last fall, during which melee a couple of Burn's lattices were bent, trouble has been smouldering like the first fire in the furnace.

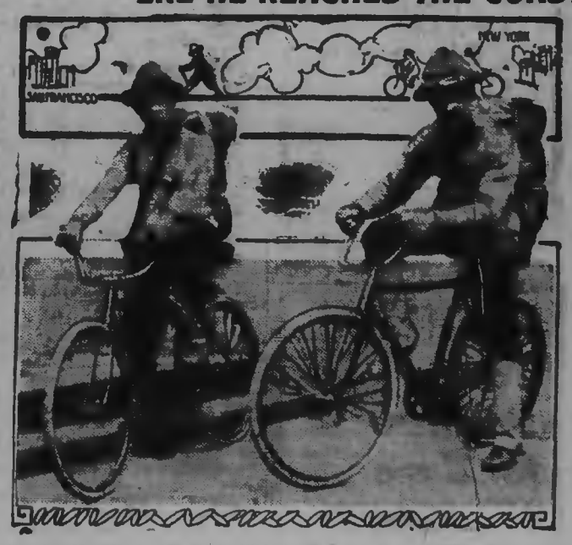
Burns had not displayed the brilliance he was wont to in the olden time. But Comiskey does not doubt his ability to do so. He thinks a change of climate will be a fine thing for the pitcher.

Incidentally Comiskey has a lot of dead wood, he thinks, in the shape of Nick Altrock, left handed pitcher; Louis Cravath, occasional hard hitting outfielder, and Jiggs Donohue, one peerless first baseman, so they are to be shunted off to Washington in trade for Burns.

The question is: Who is the goat? Will three men, regarded as ready for the boneyard, by as shrewd a manager as Comiskey, be payment for a young pitcher who is looked upon as the best left hander in the American League?

Nine out of ten would reply in the negative. But Cantillon apparently thinks the contrary, for the deal has gone through.

BIKERS HOPE TO CATCH WESTON ERE HE REACHES THE COAST



Leaving New York, May 15th, Walter Wylie and E. Higgins are pedaling their way westward, spurred on by desire to overtake Edward Payson Weston, now walking through Colorado.

The aged pedestrian has covered half of his long walk to San Francisco and his average of 46 miles a day promises to take him to his destination within the specified time of 100 days.

PREPARING JEFF TO MEET "MR. JOHNSING" BIG FELLOW PLAYS BALL TO MAKE WEIGHT

He's at Home When Facing a Pitcher.

The Big Fellow Isn't Carrying An Alderman Now.

Chicago, May 29.—As part of the preliminary work which he calculates will bring his weight down to the point where he can begin actual training for his fight with Jack Johnson, Jim Jeffries spends considerable time each day playing ball with the White Sox.

Although weighing about 240, the retired champion is not fat. When he began to practice with the Sox he tried to get into a base ball uniform, but the club could not find one large enough, so Jim practises in trousers and sweater.

A glance at the profile picture shows the absence of paunch, characteristic in big men who lead the simple life after years of athletic pursuits.

Jeff intends to meet Johnson all right. He says so himself with a contraction of the eyebrows which lends to his usually pleasant countenance an expression of ferocity not at all full of pink tea promises for Johnson.

For a man of his bulk, Jeffries is very light upon his feet. He shows unexpected speed when he dons a glove and lines up with the fielders, getting around after the ball in a manner creditable to a lightweight.

When he concludes his vaudeville engagements and is ready to begin hard work, 'Jeff' will have conditioned himself to meet the demands of training, by slow, easy stages, as he was ordered to do by a specialist he consulted to find out if he could again get into shape for a gruelling fight.

Parker, The Hiawatha Runner, Will Do Five Miles On Thursday

One of the principal events of the Turf Club's matinee on Thursday next will be a road race, which, instead of being held over the city streets will be run around the Driving Park track. The main purpose of this is to secure a distance which is known. Parker, the Indian from Hiawatha, who won the event on Monday last, pulled off a very creditable performance, and there are many who think that he is some class. His time was 25 minutes for a supposed five-miles, but it is believed that the course was under that. However, the Indian created a good impression and there are many who believe him to be a neater runner than Simpson. That has been remarked by many who saw him running and they believe that he is a good possibility. He will run in Thursday's race which will be watched with interest. Parker has been out with Simpson lately trailing along at his heels at distances from ten to fifteen miles, and from all accounts he may be a runner.

Brown Starts Last Session of The Grind To-day With Lead of One Lap Over Champion W. A. Hoagland

Geo. W. Brown, Auburn, N.Y.,	85 miles,	5 laps.
W A. Hoagland, Auburn, N.Y.,	85 miles,	4 laps.
Lew West, New York, N.Y.,	83 miles,	10 laps.
Jim Harrison, Peterborough,	82 miles,	7 laps.
J. E. Blake, Syracuse, N.Y.,	80 miles,	3 laps.
W. Spenceley, Peterborough,	75 miles,	7 laps.
Ray Fenton, Auburn, N.Y.,	74 miles,	6 laps.
Jim Graham, Buffalo, N.Y.,	72 miles,	6 laps.
Dave Hartley, Peterborough,	70 miles,	8 laps.
John Blatchford, Peterborough,	63 miles,	8 laps.

Last night's session of the Six Day Walking Match brought little change in the situation and Geo. Brown started on the last seven and one half hours this afternoon with a lead of one lap on Champion Hoagland. The youngster annexed his lead on Tuesday night when Hoagland had to leave the track for a moment and has held his advantage during the past three nights, despite efforts on the part of the veteran to regain what he had lost. Last night the pace set by Hoagland throughout the evening was terrific, but Brown refused to be shaken off and honours were even when the walkers finished for the night. Hoagland did the pacing most of the time but near the finish Brown went away with one of his sensational sprints. Hoagland hooked on and away they went for ten minutes of about the fastest walking of the week. Hoagland refusing to allow his younger opponent to gain any advantage on him.

Outside of this sensational spurt at the finish there was not the usual amount of excitement, the walkers cutting out a steady pace with only a few spectacular sprints. The honours of the evening fell to Ray Fenton, the young walker from Auburn, N.Y., who after dropping a number of laps in the early part of the evening to Spenceley set out after the local boy in the last half hour and by grand sprinting gained five laps on the man in front of him. Cheer after cheer went up as the game youngster from across the line tore around the track, in one sprint passing Hoagland and Brown and setting up a good lead on them.

The two veterans, Hartley and Blatchford made a fine showing during the night. Hartley walked better than he has done at any period during the race, covering fourteen and one half miles last night and doing seven laps better than he did on the previous night. Blatchford also did six laps more and is well over the sixty mile mark.

During the night West increassed his lead on Harrison. When they started in last night, Harrison was eleven laps back of West and holding Hoagland and Brown when they went out at the start, the Peterborough man reduced the lead by one. He weakened however, and West came on and not only won back his lap, but also added five more to his lead during the night. It will be a great battle between the two to-day in the seven and a half hours' grind.

The duel between Hoagland and Brown has aroused a high pitch of excitement. Many of the spectators who have seen Brown hold the champion for the past three nights are pulling for him, but the majority seem to be of the opinion that the veteran will win out thisafternoon or to-night. One thing is certain, Brown will give him a gerat battle for the honours and will hold him as long as he can. The following table shows how far the men travelled last night.

UPPER FORM WON ITS GAME

Contest in the Collegiate Inter-Form League was An Interesting One.

Form 4 of the Collegiate Institute defeated the team representing Form 2b and 3c by 13 runs to 8. in an Interform League game at Riverside Park. The game was an interesting one, although the result was never in doubt. The younger players made a rally in the eighth and scored three runs with 2 out and scored another in the ninth, thus closing up the gap considerably between the two teams. Hickey pitched good ball for the winners and was well supported. Mr. F. J. Petit of the Collegiate staff, umpired satisfactorily. The teams were as follows:

ECLIPSE OF MOON

Will be Visible in Peterborough on Thursday Night.

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, president of the Peterborough Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society, stated to the Examiner this morning that there will be a partial eclipse of the moon on Thursday evening of this week which should prove a very interesting sight if the sky is clear. The moon will rist about eight o'clock, partially eclipsed and the eclipse will continue for over an hour. It will be easily visible to the naked eye.

Four youths were arraigned before the magistrate this morning, charged with being disorderly on Thursday evening last, at the corner of Rogers and Dixon streets. They pleaded not guilty. Mr. A. McCarthy, the complainant in the matter, was called. He stated that he was moving a house and these boys were a great annoyance to him, running around the building and making all kinds of impertment remarks to him.

Three witnesses were called but failed to corroborate Mr. McCarthy's evidence. His Worship dismissed the case, stating that it had not been proven that the boys were disorderly.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Quick Work on Part of Motorman Averted an Accident Saturday.

Prompt action by Motorman Louis Legrandre, of the Radial Railway Company, averted what might have proved a serious accident on Saturday afternoon. Just as Legrandre's car was approaching the crossing at Simcoe street, southward, at a speedy gait, a man, who was apparently under the influence of liquor, attempted to cross in front, and then stopped in the middle of the track, bewildered by the on-coming car. The motorman was on the alert however, and quickly stopped his car slowing it up so much that it struck the man as gentle as possible, the fender sweeping him off his feet and picking him up unhurt. He escaped with nothing but a bad scare.

WHY CHILDREN'S AID SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

The Children's Aid Society is sending out printed matter, giving five reasons why citizens should support it. The reasons quoted are given as follows:

Because the sorrows of a little child must touch your heart.

Because you would not allow a child of your own to be ill-treated.

Because the society is a legally constituted organization for the protection of children.

Because thousands of children have been benefitted in the past—and a still greater preventive work is possible.

Because the society's aim is to educate parents to love and appreciate their children; to find homes for the homeless, and to befriend and uplift young people who have fallen into evil ways.

GRAND TRUNK NEW OFFICES.

The Grand Trunk Railway System with their new organization in Europe, have opened a fine suite of offices at 17-19 Cockspur Street, London—one of the best locations in the city. It is just opposite Pall Mall, and the majority of the traffic from Westminster and the west end of London passes through this thoroughfare to Piccadilly, Oxford street, and the commercial section of the metropolis. Canadians who visit London will find these offices complete in every way, and the Company are desirous of having all visitors from the Colonies make their headquarters in London, their rendezvous, where they can have their mail addressed, make appointments and do their correspondence. This is an innovation of the transportation lines of the colonies, and no doubt will be taken advantage of by many overseas visitors to the Mother Country. 1dlw

AN APPEAL TO ALL CITIZENS WHO WANT TO SEE THE CITY GROW

The Fate of Purity Ware By-law Will Decide Whether We Adopt A Live and Advance Policy or a Dead and Backward Policy---Peterborough Must Grow, Stand Still or Go Backward. Shall it Be?

VOTE IN FAVOUR OF THE PURITY WARE BY-LAW, TO-MORROW

Everyone who does not vote is against it. The Alderman have spent a lot of time in looking into this project, and they are satisfied that it is in the interest of the City that the by-law should be carried.

If all the conditions of the by-law are not complied with that will be the end of it, and the City will not have to bear the expense, as the City Clerk holds a marked cheque for $250 to pay the cost of submitting the by-law.

We must have new manufacturers; this is a good proposition and if the ratepayers turn it down the Council will understand that the people do not wish them to try to get other factories here.

Support this by-law and trust to the City Solicitor and the Aldermen to see that the interests of the City are safely protected. It behoves every citizen to see to it, that this by-law is carried.

The small town of Strathroy granted $20,000 to the Royal Furniture Co. on Friday last, by a majority of 84 over the required two-thirds vote.

SOD TURNED FOR NEW FACTORY OF THE COLONIAL WEAVING CO.

Messrs. Langford & Sheehy Begin the Work This Morning—Building is on Rink Street, Within Stone's Throw of the C. G. E. Works.

DIMENSIONS OF FACTORY.

The ground for the new Colonial Weaving factory was broken this morning and the work will be rushed ahead. The lot is facing Rink street, and is between Rubidge street and the C.P.R. line, into the C.G.E. works. The contractors are Messrs. Langford and Sheehy. They were present this morning when the horses and scoops began the work of digging out a cellar for the foundation. The building will be 200 feet 9 inches by 50 feet 9 inches. It will be two stories high and will have several extensions. The work will be pushed through the summer, but no statement has been given out as to when it will be completed. The location is practically east of the C.G.E. works and adds another building to a locality which is a veritable manufacturing centre.

The preliminary work was begun with a large number of horses and men, and the activities attracted a number of others.

House And Effects Of Former Local Citizens Destroyed By Fire

Word has been received in the city of the great loss by fire to the house and contents of William, Charles, and Watson Butcher, the three sons of Mr. M. T. Butcher, of this city, who left here early in the Spring for the Northwest. They had taken up land about one hundred and twenty-five miles from Moosejaw.

It appears that the young men left their farms to go to Moosejaw, to bring to their newlymade home, the wife and family of Mr. Wm. Butcher, and some goods that had been left at Moosejaw. While away the prairie fire made a clean sweep of their possessions. The house, household goods, provisions, and clothing were all destroyed. Fortunately, no lives were lost, but the financial losses will be heavy. Their many friends here will be sorry to hear of their misfortune.

Study Of Agriculture To Be Taken Up In Norwood High School

As a result of the deputation from the County Council that waited upon the Ontario Legislature last winter in regard to having agriculture taught in the High School at Norwood, the Deputy Minister of Education gave notice this morning that the request would be complied with and that an appropriation of $1,200 a year had been set apart for the purpose of paying the expense incurred.

The Farmers' Institute, of East Peterborough, and the Board of Education, of Norwood, at the last session of the County Council urged upon the necessity of having agriculture taught in the High School, of Norwood, and it is a matter of great satisfaction to these bodies to know that their request has been granted.

The teaching of the subject will likely be inaugurated at the opening of the fall term, September 1st.

ANOTHER LETTER RE-CENTRAL PAR

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Permit a word anen Central Park. Why do not the authoities take steps to close up or in some way stop people cutting up the par by paths everywhere. I thought pa babily when the new earth was spread over so much fit that it would stop people using the path cutting through the middle of the southeast quarter of the park, but no. Neither mud no dust seem any determent to some people. see ladies picking their way in the mud or training their skirts through the dry, soft, new earth with the idea, I suppose, of saving a few steps in distance. I am sure, counting the turns in the way they have to go in making the trip they can't save more than two or three steps at the outside, and I think we all ought to be willing to take a few extra steps for the sake of keeping the park the best it can be. I have no great capital interest in Peterborough, but if only expected to spend one season in the city I would like to see all the velocity grass and all the flowers possible everywhere. Students at the Collegiate institute don't go there to play they go to work, or should and the cultivation of aesthetic taste and love of the beautiful in nature are more to the character than kicking a football. This age is sport crazy. Children need a place to play and have their innocent games, and there is a fairly good space at the back of the school, but keep the park proper the nicest possible.

Yours truly,
For Beautifying the City.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR

The Review is not classed as a comic newspaper, but sometimes it is really funny or rather grotesque, without apparently knowing it. On Saturday it devoted a half column of its valuable space to slangwanging the Examiner on the head of nothing particular. It accuses this journal of being indifferent to the interests of the city in neglecting to declare itself in favour of the Purity Ware, Limited, by-law. The article which appeared in Saturday's Examiner is answer enough to that. The Examiner, as it has always done, takes its stand upon the principle of building up Peterborough. It is not inclined to fall in with monopolistic interests, and follow their lead in opposing the establishment of an important new industry in Peterborough, simply because it would come into competition with the monopolistic control of the Canadian market in the line of manufacture proposed to be manufactured by Purity Ware, Limited.

That seems to be the only basis of opposition to the by-lay, and that in itself is a very strong point in its favour. If the proposal was, as the Toronto interests and their Peterborough fellowworkers contend, foredoomed to failure, the cheapest way would be to let the failure develop and then the monopoly would have its opposition kill itself. The by-law covers a sound proposal or the opposition to it would not be so strong, especially since the opposition is dictated by interested motives. Does any one presume to say that the opposition is influenced by pure and unalloyed interest in the city? Is any one asked to believe that if the new company proposed to manufacture cereals or cotton or anything else than woollens or stamped ware, that we should have heard anything of the opposition as it has now developed? There is the situation in a nutshell; and any ratepayer whose field of vision extends beyond his nose can see it.

Our evening contemporary's attack on the Examiner, seems to be a part of the same tactics. It seeks to fasten a quarrel upon the Examiner at a time when there should be united action in pushing forward the interests of Peterborough with a view of supplying an important element in what the city needs and must have if it is to continue to grow and prosper—additional factories. The commanding officer, who would upon the eve of battle seek to settle a private feud, with another high officer, would be regarded as playing into the hands of the enemy, by dividing councils in the ranks of the army he is supposed to lead. The newspaper which, at a time when every interest should be centered upon advancing that of the city, seeks to foment a petty quarrel, to distract attention from a vital issue, to create division and dissension, is simply playing into the hands of the enemy. But the Examiner refuses to be the other party to the quarrel. It recognizes that the present is the time of crisis—the parting of the ways, so to speak. This is the first time in the history of Peterborough that an outside monopoly has taken so deep an interest in preventing Peterborough from entering into what its selfish interest choses to call a bad bargain. What does an outside concern care if Peterborough bankrupts itself in aiding industries? What this concern—everybody knows what is meant—fears most, is that the Purity Ware, Limited, enterprise will be a success. When the abuse of an applicant for a public office comes wholly from a rival who is seeking the place himself, the public have little trouble in putting two and two together. It is the first time in the history of the city that we find Peterborough citizens joining hands with the Toronto enemy to prevent the building up of the city by new industries. If such tactics are to prevail, whether the opposition is dictated by "personal" friendship or other ties of interest, the influence is the same. If we allow such influences to prevail and to dominate the acquirement of industrial establishments for the city, then good-bye to the growth and prosperity of Peterborough.

So much for the opposition to the city's best interest. Now a few words in the city's interests. Peterborough proposes through the routine of the Purity Ware, Limited, by-law, to assist the establishment of a large industry. The by-law proposes a hard and fast bargain. The city holds the whip hand. The company is to be aided; but aided in the city's own way. Not a foot of site is to be conveyed, not a dollar of loan advanced till every condition of the by-law is met. There must be buildings to the value of $150,000 or $200,000, erected and equipped, before the company establishes the slightest claim upon the assistance, provided by the by-law. More than that, the company must give satisfactory assurance of its ability, to continue and employ—the first year—one hundred hands at least—and it must in addition show a deposit receipt for $100,000 of working capital as a guarantee of permanency of operation.

There is no risk beyond the ordinary business risk. A merchant who puts $50,000 into a business takes a risk and a big risk; but if he and others had not the courage to take such risks this would be a very dead world. And the merchant has no first mortgage on a $200,000 property as security for his investment.

What de we want with more power from Campbellford or Burleigh Falls, if we are going to adopt the policy, at outside dictation of "turning down" such a proposal as that now being offered us—if we employ a Toronto horse doctor to look the gift horse in the mouth and count and comment on every tooth? If we are to reject new industries, at the dictation of outsiders, who are fighting the by-law, not in Peterborough's interest but in the interest of their monopoly, we might as well apply for incorporation as a village.

Here seems to be the matter in a word. Would any sane body of men put up money to erect $200,000 worth of buildings as a means of getting away with fifty thousand dollars?

If we reject the Purity Ware, Limited, industry by rejecting the by-law we shall lead a nice quiet life — we shall not be disturbed in our slumbers by industries, seeking homes in live cities, knocking at our doors.

ROD AND GUN FOR JUNE

The winter campaign against the wolves in Northern Ontario, suggestions for thinning out these pests in the Algonquin National Park and the need for some further action in that portion of the Province bordering on Manitoba, are prominent features of the June number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont. Sportsmen everywhere are deeply interested in this wolf campaign because it is felt that the future of our big game depends to a considerable extent upon keeping down the numbers of their relentless and ever vigorous foes. What has been done and what is proposed applies to a much wider field than Ontario and the lessons learned will no doubt be put to use in several of the other Provinces. Even where the wolf is not a pest and a trouble sportsmen will read with sympathetic interest of the good work done and of the proposals for renewing it with increased zest next winter. Fishing, including a fine illustrated paper showing how anglers may, with much pleasure and profit to themmens, occupies the next place, seven stories being given up to topics of selves, mount the best of their speci- which the fisherman is never weary. As a change, one paper descriptive of, fishing in the West Indies, will show Canadians that they have no need to envy their fellows elsewhere. A fine dog article by Mr. R. Clapham. "Dogs as Companions at Home and Afield," a paper on "Grouse in Alberta," a description of a new British Columbia Canoe trip, a couple of big game hunting stories, fish and game protective topics, a summary of the report on the Canadian National Park, and a paper on Physical Culture, are representative of the wealth of other good things appearing in the number. Indeed sportsmen, whatever may be the special line they favour, will find something in this issue appealing to them with particular force, while the whole of the contents will be found of general interest to all concerned in the sporting advantages of the Dominion.

WONDERS OF THE HUMAN BODY

Why Many People Never Need a Doctor.

You have a natural laxative in your body. Why, then, should you use a false purgative to move the bowels?

Bile is nature's laxative. It is bile—and bile alone—which moves the bowels as they should be moved. The liver is the store-house for the bile. The liver pours forth the bile into the bowels, which stimulates them to move, and thus causes the waste matter to pass from the body.

Constipation is a disease, OF the bowels, but CAUSED by the liver. When the bowels do not move regularly and naturally, it is because the liver is not giving up enough bile. And the only possible way to cure Constipation, is to cure the liver.

Calomel, cascara, salts, senna, common pills and sweet lozengers and all the other purgatives do not act on the liver at all. They merely irritate and inflame the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Constipation because they act on the liver. The fruit principles stimulate the liver to secrete and give up enough bile to move the bowels, while the tonics and antiseptics tone up and invigorate the muscles. "Fruit-a-tives" are the only medicine ever discovered that will cure Constipation, Biliousness and all other troubles due to a Torpid or Disordered Liver. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

NEW GRAND STAND FOR OTTAWA FAIR

Some Special Attractions for the Central Canada Exhibition.

The new grand stand and the attractions to be provided in front of it will be the big feature at this year's Central Canada Fair in Ottawa. Contracts have just been let and the work is now underway, the contractors being the General Contracting Company, of Toronto. The cost will be about $80,000 and a condition of the contract is that the structure will be completed in time for the fair. It will be one of the finest grand stands in the Dominion, having a seating capacity for twelve thousand people. It will be absolutely fireproof. Steel and reinforced concrete will be alone employed in the construction and the total length will be 470 feet and the depth 103 feet. The Exhibition Association is this year reverting to the old and popular custom of a spectacular performance each night of the fair and the Siege of Sebastopol will be put on with all the realism of military display and pyrotechnical effects. In the afternoons before the grandstand there will be horse racing and a long list of special attractions, introducing many of the best and most thrilling acts available. Contracts for these have already been closed. Howick Hall, which, in the last three seasons has been utilized mainly as an auditorium for vaudeville performances, is being turned into a process building, where machinery will be installed and many firms will exhibit products in the process of manufacture from the raw to the finished article. The new grand stand replaces the large wooden structure burned a year and a half ago and the temporary one used last fall, has been removed.

MORE IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE ON SATURDAY

Three Hundred Pass Through the City for Western Points.

A train load of immigrants passed through the city on Saturday evening about seven o'clock. They were off the steamer Corsican which has crossed the Atlantic with a large number of men, women and children for Canada. There were about 300 people on the train and only a few got off at Peterborough. There were not for this city, having to wait until this morning to get a train for Lindsay. One hundred and ninety-one of the immigrants were for Toronto, and the rest went on through to the West. Another party of Barnardo children will be brought out in six weeks.

LARGE GROUP PICTURE FOR NORMAL SCHOOL

The Roy Studio has just completed a group picture which is undoubtedly the largest ever attempted in Peterborough, and is arranged in an artistic and pleasing manner. It is the members of the first session of the Peterborough Normal School, including the principal and all the members of the staff. The students are taken in ovals, 159 in number, and the staff 10 in number, are larger square pictures in the centre. Mr. Walker's photo is given the central position and there is a large reproduction of the Normal School in a prominent position. The names of all the students and staff are under the pictures and there is a scroll work which is so well done that more than a casual glance is required to tell it from a steel engraving.

This picture will be hung in the Normal School and contains a record of the teachers and class of the first year, 1908-09.

MR. J. J. GILMAN SAYS HE SAW A BEAVER

Mr. J. J. Gillman, of Jubilee, was up from the summer resort on Saturday, and states that on Friday he saw a beaver in the marsh in front of the hotel. It was on the east side and as Jack was returning through the channel at the lighthouse the animal swam out of the marsh and started up the river. Jack was not near enough to make sure that it was a beaver, but from the manner in which it beat the water with its tail he formed that opinion and now believes that it was a beaver indeed.

To Be Dyspeptic Is To Be Miserable.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, faintness, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weak dyspeptic. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the system to full health and vigor, and thereby cures dyspepsia and all its tributary diseases.

Mr. Amos Sawler, Gold River, N.S., writes:—"I was greatly troubled with dyspepsia, and after trying several doctors to no effect, I commenced taking Burdock Blood Bitters and I think it is the best medicine there is for that complaint."

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

Mr. Kendry Is Convinced That "Purity Ware" Is Sound

Is Satisfied That Sound Financial Men, Montreal and New York, are Behind the Enterprise---Public Statement to That Effect.

The following letter has been handed the Examiner for publication:

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—At a Board of Trade meeting at which the by-law to aid the Purity Ware, Limited, was discussed, I gave my views frankly on the situation and said that if I was shown that the New York concerns were behind it or was given names of satisfactory Montreal men interested in it, I would be satisfied. This morning I was shown letters from Montreal and New York which are satisfactory, as they show that both substantial and financial men are interested in it.

Yours turly,

JAS. KENDRY.

Local Manager Bank of Montreal Has Been Transferred To Brantford

Mr. A. Montizambert, Manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, has received notice of his appointment to the management of the Bank of Montreal at Brantford. Mr. Montizambert informed the Examiner that he did not know when his duties here would terminate. He hadn't received any instructions as to when he would assume the management of the Brantford Bank. Mr. Montizambert has a wide circle of friends in Peterborough who will be sorry to learn that he is leaving here.

He will be succeeded by Mr. Robt. W. Travers, now manager of the Brockville Branch of the Bank of Montreal.

24th Field Battery Will Route March To Cobourg

In another column will be found the orders issued for the 24th F. B. C. A. The local battery in going into camp at Cobourg next month will route march to the Lakeshore town, leaving Peterborough early on the morning of June 21st. This should prove a very interesting event, as well as a method that will be of immense value in a training sense. It will be remembered that two years ago the regulars route marched from Toronto to Petawawa, passing through Peterborough, en route. In that trip they had the credit of making the longest one-day journey ever made by a Canadian battery, going fro Port Hope to Peterborough. A battery is supposed to make about four miles an hour, including stoppages.

The 24th will go into camp this year about seventy-five strong, the establishment having been reduced by twenty-five per cent., by the recent militia orders.

The Late Robert Shannon Was Former Resident Of This City

The Campbellford Despatch says:

Great was their surprise and equally great their sorrow when the citizens of Campbellford and people of the surrounding district learned of the sudden death of Mr. Robert S. Shannon on Thursday night, May 13. He was ill only a few days with that dreaded disease, pneumonia, but despite all that medical aid could do he passed away.

Mr. Shannon carried on a large grocery and crockery business here for many years and was most successful. He had a genial disposition and made many warm friends in social as well as business life. He was 53 years of age. He was married ten years ago to Miss Crossen, daughter of Mr. Stewart Crossen, Havelock, who, with her little daughter, Florence, aged 7 years, is left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband and father.

Mr Shannon was foremost in assisting any enterprise which would tend to the betterment of the town. He was a member of the Board of Education and the Board of Health, and belonged to the Independent Order of Oddfellows and the Woodmen of the World, being a charter member of the latter. In religion he was a Presbyterian and in politics a Conservative.

The funeral was held on Saturday morning when a large number accompanied the remains to the G. T. R. station. The body was taken to Peterborough on the early train for interment, accompanied by Messrs. Wm. Dunstan, Robert Hall and M. Fischer, representing the Oddfellows, and Messrs. Nathan Grills, R. N. Simpson and Ed. Webber, representing the Woodmen.

Many beautiful wreaths were received from friends and relatives, as well as from the Woodmen and Oddfellows.

The deceased was a former resident of Peterborough, and was well known here, having received his education in this city. Mrs. Jas. Davidson and Mrs. Geo. Ogilvie of Lakefield, were sisters of the deceased.

A SECOND LIFE

"If I only had another chance!"

How often are these despairing words uttered when a man feels his strength ebbing, his vital forces depressed, his health undermined—often as the result of his own errors or follies—and he realizes the infinite possibilities which might lie in his grasp, could he indeed receive in Shakespeare's phrase, "a second life."

Happily for the world, this other chance, this "second life" is to be had for the asking by means of that which has been aply described by a famous physician as "the last word science has spoken" on the subject of such remedial agents, and to which by virtue of its health-giving properties, the name of Vitol—meaning life "health-producer"—has been given.

So potent is its force that it will not only restore the health and vigour which have been lost, but, if persevered in, will in addition impart the highest measure of nervous and physical vigour of which the individual is capable; for there is a maximum capacity of health for everyone, though he may not hitherto have had the fact impressed upon him. Doctors endorse this and daily prescribe Vitol in increasing quantities. The constituents which give this power are known to every physician, and one has testified to the supreme merits of Vitol as

after wasting illness and as a restorer of health, not only in nervous diseases (with their innumerable symptoms of discomfort and distress, including loss of memory, insomnia, irresolution, weakness of the will, &c.), but also in anæmia, digestive disturbances and consumption.

"PURITY WARE LIMITED," WHAT COMPANY MUST DO

They are to erect buildings and equip them with machinery to cost at least, $150,000.

They must show a working capital of $100,000.

They must employ 150 hands.

They must do all this before the city is called upon to implement, the loan.

WHAT THE CITY IS TO DO

The City is to loan the Company $50,000 at 4 per cent. interest, repayable in ten payments of $5,000 each, commencing after the 10th year. The Company reserve the option of paying off the mortgage at any time after ten years. This loan is payable as follows:

$25,000 when the Company have erected their buildings, to cost $50,000, and have $100,000 working capital in cash. The balance, $25,000, when the machinery has been installed at a cost of at least $100,000, the factory running and employing 150 hands. The City will have the first mortgage on the buildings and fixed machinery.

The cost per year to the average tax payer with an assessment of $1,000 would be less than 3c. per year. The Company will pay at least $300 school taxes, which in ten years will aggregate more than the cost of the site above the taxes now received on the land.

The class of goods which the Company intend to manufacture is largely in demand and last year, according to the Government report, $6,000,000 worth of these goods were imported into Canada. Surely there is room for this industry with a home trade amounting to so much, to say nothing of the possibilities of the export trade.

You will add to the prosperity of Peterborough by voting for the by-law on Tuesday, June 1st.

Don't defeat the by-law by apathy. A two-thirds vote is required. See that your vote is polled.

A Sunday School rally was held at the Murray St. Baptist Church at the morning service yesterday and was interestingly carried out. The musical part of the service was conducted by Mr. Finch Miller, and Miss Bessie Elcome, of the Conservatory of Music staff. The morning prayer was taken by Dr. Browett and Master Ray Scott read the lesson. The pastor, Rev. J. R. ADDRESSED ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS ON "THE IDEAL MAN"

Court Stanley A. O. F. Held Annual Church Parade to the George Street Methodist Church Last Evening—Able Sermon by Rev. E. A. Pearson.

125 IN ATTENDANCE.

The "Ideal Man" was the subject of an able sermon delivered last evening to the members of Court Stanley, Ancient Order of Foresters at the George St. Methodist Church. It was the occasion of their annual church parade and it was largely attended, almost every member being in attendance. The society occupied the centre aisle and joined heartily in the service. The music was especially good. The choir sang splendidly the anthem "Pardon" by Maunder, with solos by Miss C. Reesor and Mr. Fred. Myles. Mr. Leadbetter sang "Fear Ye O Israel," in excellent voice, and a mixed quartette sang "Hark, Hark, My Soul." At the conclusion of the sermon Miss Reesor sang sweetly "The Ninety and Nine."

The Sermon

Choosing his text from the second verse of the thirty-first chapter of the Book of Isaiah, "and a man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and a cover from the tempest, as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." Rev. Mr. Pearson pointed out the Prophet Isaiah as an Ideal Man. Before commencing his remarks he formally welcomed the members of Court Stanley. He referred to the Order of the Ancient Foresters as being a very strong one. In August it would reach the seventy-fifth anniversary of its organization. It stood for all that was highest, morally and socially.

Continuing his sermon, the speaker believed that the text was not without some appropriateness at such a time. The Israelitish National life seemed to be in peril, and the question as to how they were to maintain their national strength confronted them. The answer then, was the same as it was to-day, to strengthen her bulwarks, to enter into an alliance with other nations. But Isaiah protested that the strength of the nation was not in its alliance with other countries nor in its strong bulwarks, but in its manhood. "Put your emphasis not on things material but on manhood," said the preacher. Character of the true kind was what was required. Rev. Mr. Pearson believed that the warning of the inspired Prophet should not go unheeded to-day. It was men of the right sort that would make Canada a great country.

The reverend gentleman went on to speak of the qualities of the Ideal Man. The men that made a country were persons of true honour, and of sympathy. Men who helped their brother in the time of trouble and were in the words of the text, "a hiding place from the wind and a covert from the tempest," were Ideal Men. The influence that will make the Ideal Man is to be found in the church.

The society on returning to their hall passed votes of thanks to the pastor for his interesting discourse, the choir for the music and the officials of the church for the privilege of attending.

Another Letter On The Meter

Question By An Indignant User

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In connection with the meter question, which is now being talked of, I would like to call attention to a point which I do not consider is fair treatment at the hands of the company. When I first had my house wired I entered on a contract at a flat rate, with one of the Power Companies. It was a fair price and at the time many people secured the same. My contract will soon be concluded now, and I understand that the Company will put on a meter rate or greatly increase the flat rate. I may say that like other people I know I have not taken undue advantage of the flat rate system, and have lived up to the terms of the contract. That was no more than I was expected to do. The point which I do not like is that the company should thus take advantage of me as they have of other honest customers I know, who appreciated the flat rate and the price at which it was secured. I do not think that cost of finishing the power has increased during the last three years yet the flat rate must go up. This, to my mind, is mean treatment, and the Company deserves to lose customers, who were obtained by a fair contract and who lived up to it. I do not know but what I will turn over to the other Company. There is small choice between the two, I understand, but the action of the one company is not deserving a customer's continued patronage. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, and trusting that Ald. Morrow's efforts will be fruitful.

Yours, etc.,

—FLAT RATE.

Steamer Naiad Arrives in The City For Duty on The Otonabee

The steamer "Naiad" arrived in the city today and will be given a dip in the Otonabee in a short time, to begin its work in protecting the fish of the Trent waters. The new boat is from the Bay of Quinte district, and has been commissioned to these waters by the Ontario Government. Its patrolling district is from Rice Lake to Lake Simcoe, with headquarters at Peterborough. Mr. Robt. Carson has been appointed captain of the new vessel. It came by way of Belleville and presents a good appearance on the car. It it reported to be speedy and will add to the already large fleet that is found on the Otonabee.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE JUBILEE RESORT

Mr. J. J. Gillman's Hotel Will Please Patrons This Summer.

The changes made at Jubilee Point for this summer will be appreciated by those who prefer Rice Lake to any others of the neighbouring waters. The verandahs have been repaired and improved, and everything around the grounds is now looking its best. Proprietor Gillman states that he expects a good summer and has already received notification from regular annual boarders that they will be here this year from Rochester, Buffalo, and other places. Rice Lake will always appeal to a certain people more than any of the other lakes in the county, although the number who prefer it is not large. Already this summer there have been not a few yatching parties upon the point on Sundays and Saturday afternoons. The run is just lengthy enough for a morning trip with the afternoon on the lake and an early return in the evening.

The Corset is Fashion's bulwark and woman's duty—where would Dame Fashion be if it were not for her able ally—the Corset? The Corset is the foundation of the garment.

FAVORITES OF THE CORSET WORLD

And a big world it is too. The corset trade to-day is considered and catered to as one of the most important departments in the dry goods business. Fashionable dressers are unanimous in their opinion regarding this article of dress—they simply must have correct corsets, for the corset makes the gown—is the very foundation of the graceful lines of the new garment. Fashion says, "Hip must be suppressed," and the woman who wishes to be well gowned will follow these lines in her corseting.

"American Lady" Corsets

The American Corset Manufacturers have risen high in the world of Artistic Corset Making and are pronounced by authorities to be on a par with the French makers. They have followed out Dame Fashion's dictates and are largely responsible for the exceedingly graceful lines that are prominent in the 1909 gown. Especially good are the "American Lady" Corsets—the corset that appeals to the most discriminate dressers and are favourites with the fashionably gowned women of America. Rev. W. C. Riddiford Preaches To Societies At Park Street Church

Sons of England and Orangemen Attended in a Body Yesterday Morning—An Inspiring Sermon —Dwells on Importance of Courage in Everday Life.

FAITH IS GREATLY NEEDED

The members of the Sons of England and the local Orange lodges, over two hundred strong, attended Park St. Baptist Church yesterday morning in a body. They met in their respective lodge rooms and assembled in one body on George street, marching in imposing array to the fine new Baptist edifice in the south ward. The visiting societies occupied the central aisles of the church which doubtless created a very favourable impression upon those to whom this was their first visit. The choir, under the direction of Mr. J. C. Miller rendered special music befitting the occasion.

The pastor, Rev. W. C. Riddiford preached a forceful sermon from the text, Corinthians 1:16. 13 and 14. "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit ye like men, be strong. Let all yours things be done with charity." He first extended, on behalf of the church, a cordial welcome to the two societies and hopes that their meeting together in divine worship would be of mutual benefit.

Watchfulness

There were four distinct injunctions in the text: 1. Watch ye. 2. Stand fast in the faith. 3. Quit ye like men. 4. Let all your things be done in a spirit of love. It was the duty of every citizen to follow closely the movements of the government of his country and to exercise his rights of citizenship. The man who is indifferent or negligent, who does not vote when the occasion is presented is not worthy of a place in the country, for he is not interested enough to do his duty. Every movement which has to do with the upbuilding of Canada should be followed closely. Mr. Riddiford counselled the members of the two societies to watch and safeguard the sacred principles of liberty, of conscience and religious freedom, two of the foundation stones of England's greatness. There should be complete separation of church and state. No church should receive aid from the government. "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, but unto God the things which are God's." Let every man worship as he sees fit, but as a nation we need our children raised together. "We want consolidation not separation."

The faith which we must stand fast in, is that which saves through Jesus Christ. It is not a faith, it is the faith. It underlies all life and is the basis of all knowledge. Rev. Mr. Riddiford pointed out emphatically that national, public, social and home life are all strengthened by faith. The farmers casts his grain to the four winds every spring because he has faith in nature and it is that same faith in the nation, in our fellowmen and in the Bible itself, that is needed to-day. The members of the Sons of England and of the Orange Order, and of every fraternal society, yes, and of the great brotherhood of man, must have faith in his neighbour. It is the duty of the individual not to carry any story that he may hear, but to go to the person of whom the words have been spoken and in a Christian manner to inform him in the endeavour to assist him to protect himself.

Courage Needed

Men must quit themselves like men. They must be pure, steadfast and recognize a responsibility, the fundamentals of character. Rev. Mr. Riddiford particularly spoke upon the need of purity in everyday life. In regard to responsibility, he stated that it is wonderful how men wanted to do things when a crowd is around. They were filled with a desire to do things and to show their courages but when alone and facing others their courage suddenly failed them. There were men who would point the finger of scorn at another because he was a professed Christian. It was in the workshop that men were given a chance to show their courage and in every walk of life opportunities were presented which called into action his strength as a Christian.

Mr. Riddiford concluded his sermon by reminding that everything should be done in a spirit of love. If a man is in the wrong he should be lovingly set right. Fraternal societies were actuated by love and this principle he hoped would always be uppermost in the Sons of England and the Orange Order.

MINISTER HAD THE BETTER OF A WARM VOCAL ARGUMENT

Rev. W. A. Cameron, Who Opened the Park Street Baptist Church Here a Few Weeks Ago, is in the Limelight in an Interesting Incident in Toronto.

Peterborough people who heard Rev. W. A. Cameron in the Park St. Baptist Church on the occasion of the opening a few weeks ago, will be interested in the following reference to him, which is taken from the Toronto Star of Saturday:

"Come, men, gather around quickly, for the sky-pilot will soon be here, and even the devil himself can't beat that fellow."

The speaker was a quack medicine man, who was plying his vocation on one of the side streets near the Massey-Harris works. The "sky-pilot" referred to was Rev. W. A. Cameron, the pastor of Bloor Street Baptist Church, who has been making a practice of conducting an open-air evangelistic service every Friday at noon for the benefit of the employes of the big implement factory.

Thursday is payday at the Massey-Harris works, and on Friday two or three quacks hold forth on the virtues of their cure-alls on the side streets in the vicinity. They have resented the appearance of the preacher on the scene, since he has, on the past two Fridays, drawn their crowds away from them, even though he took up his position on a street at some distance from their accustomed stands.

Waiting to Give Battle.

Yesterday, it was quite evident that one of them, not the speaker referred to above, was going to do his best to annoy Mr. Cameron, and when the latter arrived at his usual place on Massey street, he found a loud-mouthed spieler wearing a big Indian headdress in possession of the place he had always held forth from.

Being a man of peace, Mr. Cameron was about to move over to the street which the fakir had vacated, but his admirers among the mechanics would not hear of it.

"The men won't respect you if you give up your place to that fellow," they told him, and accordingly, he mounted his deal table, and gave out a familiar hymn:

"I love to tell the story of unseen things above."

Fakir Accompanied Song.

As the voices of the men who had at the dispenser of pills and strange nostrums to listen to the Gospel message rose in the strains of the well-known song, of a sudden, a strange noise was heard. The quack had joined in, and was accompanying the singing on his guitar, at the same time whistling the tune shrilly, like a canary bird. A few in the crowd laughed at the unexpected addition to the music, but the sympathy of the majority was evidently with the young evangelist.

But it was when Mr. Cameron began his sermon that the fun really started. No sooner had he announced the subject of his talk, "God's Appeal to Reasonable Man," than he of the Indian headdress, who was not more than twenty-feet away commenced to proclaim in the loudest tones at his command the wonderful virtues of his compounds. The young parson is blessed with a good pair of lungs, and he had no difficulty in making the five hundred men hear him distinctly, no matter how loud the medicine man bellowed.

Got Out His Wooden Doll.

Desperation succeeded failure on the part of the quack, and he commenced to sing a soulful ditty which had often worked before, but somehow it did not attract this time. Then he got out his little wooden doll, and commenced his ventriloquial conversation with "Tommy." "Tommy failed draw. All the while the preacher across the roadway was telling the men the way of life, and they were listening eagerly, for Mr. Cameron is an eloquent speaker and has a splendid command over an audience of men.

Just before he stopped his little sermon the preacher expressed his regret at the unfortunate conflict which had taken place, and said it had been suggested to him that in order to avoid such unpleasant occurrences in the future it would be well to choose another day of the week.

Thursday After This.

"How would you like if I came on Thursday at noon after this?" he asked.

Almost every hand in the crowd was raised, and even the fakir, who was still storming away, inwardly gave his approval. Thursday it will therefore be.

As Mr. Cameron stepped down from the table the men pressed around him and fully a hundred shook hands with him to show that their sympathy was with him, and that they appreciated his coming to talk to them.

Indian's Parting Volley.

The Indian took a parting shot, shaking his fist in the direction of the departing preacher. The men were on the move back to the shops for the hour was up.

"I was doing God's work just as much as any old Baptist preacher in this town," he growled. "The cure of the soul. I am just as good as he is," and he pulled off the head-dress to display his classic countenance, and convince his hearers.

But they did not want any pills. They had heard something that had set them thinking.

Rev. Mr. Cameron's meetings are being held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

DECLINE CHARITY AS WAS OFFERED

Presbyterian Conference Voted Against Scheme For Superannuation.

Denver, Colo., May 29.—Presbyterian preachers do not want charity. They made this clear in the General Assembly yesterday, when, by an almost unanimous vote, the commissioners defeated a resolution prepared by Dr. J. Gray Bolton, of Philadelphia, providing for a graded pension scheme for superannuated preachers. The trouble over the pensions has been one of long standing, causing friction between the board of ministerial relief and the board for ministerial sustentation. Dr. Bolton's resolution carried with it a motion to refer the joint action of these boards to special committee.

Dr. Bolton made frequent use of the words "charity" and "humiliation," and to these terms the commissioners as a whole took exception.

STRATHROY VOTES $20,000 LOAN FOR FURNITURE FACTORY

Strathroy, Ont., May 28—Strathroy ratepayers to-day carried the by-law granting a loan of $20,000 to the Royal Furniture Company by a majority of 84 over the required two-thirds vote. The new company will build a fine large factory here this summer and employ fifty hands. Strathroy citizens are happy to-night, as it is expected to make a new industrial era in the history of the town.—Montreal Gazette, Saturday, May 29.

Surely, if Strathroy, a town of 3,200, has the enterprise to risk a loan of $20,000, Peterboro, which needs new industries to maintain her prosperity, can be enterprising enough to help the establishment of a new industry on safe conditions of advance and security.

HAD TO PAY HIS FINE

Matthew Edwards paid two dollars at the police court this morning for the privilege of being drunk on Saturday. He was arrested Saturday night and appeared before the magistrate to-day. He pleaded guilty and was fined two dollars to be paid forthwith or ten days in gaol. He had the two dollars so was able to go free.

Over two hundred lots were sold on the opening day, the highest price paid being $2,750 for one of the corner lots, and the lowest price paid $525 for an inside lot. ANGLERS TO HOLD AN EXCURSION

Will Run to Jubilee for a Saturday Afternoon's Pic-nic.

In Saturday's issue there was announced a picnic to be held under the auspices of the C.G.E. Mutual Benefit Association. The picnic is rather the annual outing of the C.G.E. Angling Club. It will be held on Saturday afternoon, June 12th to Jubilee Point. The steamer Stoney Lake has been chartered and the tickets will be sold at an unusually low price. The excursion will be one of the first of the year, and the trim Stoney Lake should please the people by making a fast run down and a return home. Further particulars will be given later. The Anglers intend to make everything agreeable to those who make the trip, and their preliminary arrangements savour of a good time.

BONNYCASTLE DALE SOLVES MYSTERY

Fate of H. M. Sloop of War Condor Is Known at Last.

WRECKAGE IS DISCOVERED

Bonnycastle Dale, the Western Naturalist, Comes Across Hulk and Spars on West Coast of Vancouver Island —Vessel Went Down With Crew of 40 Men in December, 1901— Admiralty Will Investigate.

Vancouver, B.C., May 31.—The wreck of the ill-fated Condor, the British sloop of war, lost in December, 1901, has, it is believed, been located off Long Beach, 14 miles south of Clayoquet, on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

A heavy spar, evidently attached to other wreckage, over which the heavy surf was breaking, was observed floating for several days, and on its breaking away and floating ashore, it was recognized as a navy spar, stamped with the Admiralty mark, and patched with copper in navy style. Near her, previously, a jib-boom, stamped with the name "Condora" and several rocket cases, marked similarly, came ashore.

An obstruction, which looks like the hull of a submerged vessel, is visible from the shore at low tide, about a mile and a half from land.

The Condor left Esquimalt for Honolulu, Dec. 3, 1901, with 140 men. She was to engage in gun-laying off the straits for several days, but from the time of her departure, nothing has been heard, but some little wreckage has floated ashore.

It is believed that the vessel, with high bulwarks, was pooped by a heavy sea in the gale which raged for several days, and before the water had a chance to run off, another sea struck her, and she foundered.

The news of the discovery of the long missing sloop of war was brought from the coast by Bonnycastle Dale, a naturalist and journalist, who has communicated his discovery to the British Admiralty. He regards the evidence of identity as incontrovertible, and it is expected that immediate investigations will be made by the Admiralty upon his report.

TORNADO'S FATAL WORK IN THE SOUTH

Texas and Oklahoma Are Scene of Terrible Devastation.

NORTH DAKOTA IS VISITED

Brownwood, Texas, and Key West and Depew, Okla., Are Stricken and More Than Forty Lose Their Lives —Eight Deaths Are Also Reported From Prairie State— Houses Are Carried Away.

Brownwood, Texas, May 31.—A tornado wrecked Zephyr, a village in Brown County, early yesterday, killing more than thirty persons, seriously wounding fifty and hurting a score of others. Extreme darkness made the catastrophe awful.

The known dead: C. A. Cabler and wife; County Clerk Thad Cabler, wife and two children; C. M. Charter, wife and child; Gertrude Houston, Oscar Ware, wife and three children; M. G. Simmons, wife and three children; Mrs. W. A. Ramsay and child; B. F. Brown and wife; Mrs. Tom Hart and child; Gibson Clois.

Among the seriously injured are: Robert Campbell, wife and four children; Dr. Wren and wife; Prof. Cloyes and family, and Capt. Collier and wife.

The storm formed half a mile southwest of Zephyr and swept down on the village, cutting a wide swath directly through the residence and business quarters.

Nearly fifty houses were demolished. Lightning struck a lumber yard and started a fire which destroyed an entire business block. No effort was made to fight the flames as the cure of the dead and wounded demanded all attention.

A section hand pumped a handcar to Brownwood and spread the alarm. In two hours the Santa Fe Railroad was speeding a special train to Zephyr with nine surgeons and a score of Brownwood citizens.

Hundreds of persons in the country around Zephyr saved themselves by taking refuge in storm cellars.

The big stone school building and two churches at Zephyr were razed. Daylight found sixteen surgeons working on the wounded. Brownwood hurried her second relief train at noon yesterday, loaded with provisions, clothing and necessaries and forty nurses.

Two children were found dead yesterday two miles from Zephyr, having been blown that distance.

While the tornado's path was 300 yards wide, the twister swept the earth for a distance of only about eight miles. Its fury was more terrific than any previous tornado experienced in this region.

When the first relief party reached Zephyr, a desolate scene awaited. The hillsides were covered with debris of all kinds intermingled with bodies of animals and human beings. The ruins were dimly lighted by burning buildings and the cries of the wounded, rising above the screeching of the dying storm, directed the rescuers in their work.

Human bodies were found twisted about trees and distorted in inconceivable shapes. Survivors, mad with grief and terror, walked the streets almost naked, crying for relatives.

Ruin In Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, May 31.—Several persons were killed Saturday night in a tornado which devastated the Oklahoma towns of Key West and Depew. Forty or more are injured.

At least ten negroes were killed in Key West. Five are dead at Depew. The tornado swept over a wide stretch of farming country.

Following the wind came a deluge of rain. Floods then added their terrors to the situation. The wreckage of Key West soon was overwhelmed by the rising waters. Practically nothing was left of the town of 200 inhabitants. Rescuers hastened to the place, but could not cross Salt Creek, which had become a raging torrent.

Depew was destroyed by a double-twister that formed from that striking Key West and which traveled northwest and another coming from the east.

Eight Die In North Dakota.

St. Paul, Minn., May 31.—Special despatches received here state that seven persons are known to be dead, many are dying and over a score are seriously injured as a result of tornado which swept over northwestern Dakota last Saturday. The storm was especially severe at Langdon where the residence section of the city was practically wiped out, four people killed and twenty injured.

The tornado swept up the James river from Ypsilanti to Jamestown, demolishing farmhouses and destroying much valuable property. The farmhouse of George Graves, near Ypsilanti was blown into the James river and Mrs Graves and her two young daughters were instantly killed. Two other members of the family were injured.

Three Babies' Bodies In Dump Heap.

Palmerston, Ont., May 31.—The bodies of three infants, one of them that of a fully developed babe, were discovered Thursday on the farm of Charles Cosens, just outside the town limits, where they had been dumped with the refuse collected by the scavenging cart.

Danger to Alliance.

Rome, May 31—The German Kaiser, realizing the importance thereof to the stability of the triple alliance, has attempted to arrange a return visit to Rome by the Emperor Francis Joseph or the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of King Humbert's official visit to Vienna in 1881. The opposition of the Vatican could not be overcome, but the idea was to get the Emperor to write to the King of Italy that old age prevented his making the long journey to Rome, thus giving the Italian King an opportunity for offering to receive him in some other city. The scheme failed as the Emperor would not consent, basing his refusal on the ground that it was his duty as a Catholic sovereign not oppose the wishes of the Pope.

Officers No Linguists.

London, May 31.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Reginald McKenna, stated that of the 4,716 officers in the British navy, 12 are qualified to be interpreters of German.

The Morning Post points out that on the occasion of the visit of the Mediterranean fleet to one of the chief Italian seaports, when the city entertained the officers, none of the thousand odd, from the admiral to the lowest midshipman, was able to speak Italian.

Bush Fire at Kakabeka.

Fort William, Ont., May 31.—Fire, which raged all Saturday in the vicinity of Kakabeka, did an immense amount of damage to surrounding country, destroying many beautiful parts of the country.

HEAVY COLDS
During the census year in United States there were nearly seventy-seven thousand deaths due to pneumonia, and although consumption leads this by 62,000, pneumonia is responsible for more deaths than diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox, and cancer combined. The trouble is that people are too careless about colds—let them run on—grow bigger every day—finally old pneumonia steps in.
The very best thing to keep handy in every household is Nerviline, which you can depend on for curing colds. It affords certain relief and a quick cure. It has more potency, greater penetrating and curative power than any other liniment.
Nerviline Not Only Prevents, It Quickly Cures

When a cold is starting, give the chest and throat a vigorous hand rubbing with Nerviline, gargle the throat with Nerviline, and take a good stiff dose in hot water, you'll be surprised how fast the cold will disappear. Of course the chest should be protected by a Nerviline Porous Plaster, which will absorb all congestion and inflammation. You won't need to fear pneumonia, Grippe, Bronchitis, or cold of any kind if you keep Nerviline handy.

GEO. BROWN WON SIX DAY WALK AFFAIR A FINANCIAL FIZZLE

Hoagland Quit at Ten O'clock Giving First Place to The Boy Walker From Auburn---West Was Second---No Money For The Walkers But The Tail Enders Took up a Collection.

George Brown, the boy walker of Auburn, N.Y., had the honour of leading the field in the six-day walking match, which finished at Brock St. rink on Saturday night, but outside of the honour and satisfaction he got little else. Financially, the affair was not what could be termed a brilliant success, and the walkers have little to show for their week's grind on the saw dust, save an occasional blister, and the record of the miles and laps they put behind them. Champion Hoagland promoted the affair, and before the race started the contestants signed an agreement to the effect that the first five hundred dollars taken in was to be set aside for expenses, and the money taken in afterwards was to be divided, so much to the promoter and the balance among the walkers. The gate receipts amounted to a little over $440, so it isn't a great strain on the mental system to figure out just how much there was to be divided among the competitors.

An unusual feature was that the tailenders got more than the leaders. On Saturday night Dave Hartley and Jimmy Graham withdrew from the grind and passed a hat among the spectators, with the result that they became capitalists to the extent of $18 which they divided with Ray Fenton and John Blatchford, giving them about $4.50 for their week's work. Brown, who won the event; West, who was second; Harrison, fourth; Blake, fifth, and Spencely, sixth; received just nothing at all. The difference between the expenses and the amount taken went to Hoagland, as the promoter of the event.

The largest crowd of the week was present on Saturday night, about $180 being taken in. Throughout the week the attendance was only fair, the gates failing to come anywhere near the last year's figures. The mistake was made of figuring on the basis that the receipts would approach those received in the walk here last season, which was phenomenally successful.

As far as the actual race went it was a splendid affair. Brown and Hoagland had a grand battle all through the week and had not Hoagland been forced to leave the track on Tuesday night it is altogether likely that the two would have finished on practically even terms. As it was it was the tightest kind of a race between the two. Brown showed himself a magnificent walker, and made a fine showing throughout.

After getting the lead on Tuesday night he exhibited gameness and good judgment in staying with the Champion for the rest of the week, and had the credit of beating him out. The veteran stated that he was not in the best of shape during the greater part of the week and that he was handicapped on that account, but in any event Brown showed himself a dangerous adversary.

On Saturday afternoon try as he might Hoagland could not shake him off and they ended the afternoon session at 5 o'clock, with no change in the situation. Half an hour was cut off the time by actual consent, off the time by mutual consent, the walkers going only three hours. The standing, when they finished for the afternoon, was as follows:

Brown 105 miles, 0 laps.
Hoagland 104 miles, 12 laps.
West 101 miles, 12 laps.
Harrison 100 miles, 7 laps.
Blake 97 miles, 5 laps.
Spenceley 91 miles, 11 laps.
Fenton 89 miles, 0 laps.
Hartley 87 miles, 0 laps.
Graham 85 miles, 11 laps.
Blatchford 77 miles, 1 lap.

The feature of the afternoon was the work of the veteran, Hartley, who by steady plugging, overhauled and passed Graham, going ahead of the Buffalo old-timer by nearly a mile and one half.

In the evening there was a good crowd on hand, and Hoagland and Brown had many supporters. Hoagland set a furious clip at the start, but Brown hung on and the veteran could not lose him. Shortly after ten o'clock Hoagland gave up the attempt and left the track, returning after West had gone ahead of him to beat Harrison out, for the third position. As already stated Hartley and Graham gave up the grind earlier for something more profitable, which accounts for their low score. John Blatchford, who showed remarkable gameness, did his best to reach the 100 mile mark, but the fact that the tie was shortened, both in the afternoon and evening, prevented the oldest man on the track from accomplishing his century.

Following is the official score for the week:

Brown—127 miles.
West—123 miles, 2 laps.
Hoagland—123 miles.
Harrison—122 miles, 5 laps.
Blake—116 miles.
Spencley—107 miles.
Fenton—104 miles, 5 laps.
Hartley—100 miles.
Graham—98 miles.
Blatchford—93 miles.

A feature of Saturday night was the singing of the "Tail-enders" Quartette, composed of Messrs. Hartley, Graham, Fenton, and Blatchford, who were heard to great advantage in that favourite old song: "Well, a Little Bit is a Whole Lot Better Than Nothing, Nothing At All."

"How does the walk stand now?" was a question asked on George street on Saturday night, and the answer was, "There is no change in the situation." He was right. There wasn't.

There is one good thing about an expert walker. You always know how to get home.

This was one race in which the also rans landed in the money.

A few of the men who finished on Saturday night were on their last legs and it looks as if the walking game was about in the same condition.

THE SENIOR LEAGUE A CERTAINTY FIRST GAME ON SATURDAY

The Senior City Baseball League is now an assured fact, and the first game will in all probability be played at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon. There will be a meeting tonight at the Examiner office for the purpose of completing the organization and drawing up the schedule. The League will likely consist of three teams: the Strathconas, T.A.S. and Park St. Athletic Club, although another team may be taken in. The West End team, of the Intermediate League is clamouring for a franchise in the new organization but, it is not expected that they will be admitted. The West Ends have been bucking some of the senior teams in their efforts to get into the Intermediate League and now that a Senior League has been formed, the clubs are hardly likely to fall over themselves to welcome the team that was practically responsible for them being shut out of the Intermediate.

Just what will become of the latter organization in view of the new League is uncertain, but it should be able to go ahead with the teams that are left. It is possible that the T. A. S. will still keep a team in the Intermediate League, in which case there will be the West Ends, Park Nines, T. A. S., Rovers and Y. M. C. A. left to fight out the championship.

The Senior League will allow any resident of Peterborough to play, no matter in what League he may have figured prior to this season, and in this way some fast ball should be provided for the fans.

It is likely that the T. A. S. and Strathconas will play the first game on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park.

Marathons Bring Runners To An Early Grave, Says Professor

Kingston, May 30.—Dr. Jas. Third, a professor of Queen's Medical College, in an address on "Hygiene of the Mind" last night, referred to exercise and the ambition of thousands to "break the record." In their reckless effort they are turning the first sods of an early grave. Such is our present Marathon craze. He condemned high pressure and the use of stimulants. These lead to the deterioration of the mental status of the nation.

"This rush," he declared, "this swirl are keys that unlock the gates to nervous ruin, that swing wide open the asylum doors."

He startled his hearers by declaring that one in every three hundred of our Canadian population is to be found in our asylums and thousands more are tottering at the gate. He charged that nervous prostration—misdirected nervous energy he called it—was due to bad methods of education, improper home training during childhood and the so-called strenuous life in after years. His remedy began at the cradle, with actual study of the child. Mothers did not now consider it respectable to care for children, they preferred afternoon bridge at so much a corner to watching and developing "the wonderful unfolding of mind in her child." He called for better educational methods not physical but mental. "Train the future mothers of the country," he said, "in the simple elements of mental hygiene and the nation will be enormously the gainer, public education, not premature legislation is the best way to fight any wrong or any widspread disease."

SVANBERG HAD EASY VICTORY IN SATURDAY'S "CHI" MARATHON

Chicago, May 29.—John Svanberg, the Swedish champion, won the international Marathon Derby to-day against a field of the world's best long-distance runners. The champion's time was 2 hours, 48 minutes and 11 1-5 seconds, more than eight minutes slower than Henri St. Yves' time in the New York Marathon. St. Yves led until the fifteenth mile was passed, when he was forced to drop out because of a blistered foot. He was 50 seconds ahead of Svanberg. The Swede passed him in a sprint, and St. Yves fell. It looked as though Svanberg had tripped the Frenchman, but St. Yves explained after he had limped off the track that he could not have run any farther, anyway.

Johnny Hayes finished second in 2.52.57 2-5. Fred Appleby, the Englishman, finished third in 3.01 07 2-5. After the accident to St. Yves, Svanberg kept the lead until the end. Tom Longboat, the Canadian Indian, dropped out of the race after the fourteenth mile. He explained that he felt the effects of an old sunstroke, and did not dare run any more. The others who finished in order were: Matt Maloney, fourth; Simpson, the Ojibway Indian, fifth, and Alex. Thibeau, the Chicago amateur, who turned professional for this race, last.

The day was perfect for an outdoor race. There was a big crowd. The race started at 3.09 o'clock, when Jas. J. Jeffries fired the pistol. The track was eight laps to the mile.

Appleby took the lead at the start, but St. Yves passed him after the first lap. His time for the first mile was 5.04 3-5. Longboat kept second place until the eighth mile. At the fifth mile St. Yves led Svanberg by two laps, with Appleby third. In the sixth mile St. Yves' time was 33.42 3-5, eight seconds faster than his New York record. He increased this lead until he was three laps ahead of the Swede. Longboat sprinted after the eighth mile, passing St. Yves and Svanberg. Hayes forged up to third place. There was little change until the fourteenth mile was passed. Svanberg was 50 seconds behind. The crowd went wild with excitement when St. Yves dropped out, cheering him as he tied a big cloth to his foot and limped away. After this there was little change in the positions of the runners. At the nineteenth mile Hayes sprinted on the soft ground and gained a lap, but he could not keep up the pace. Svanberg evidently had no doubt of winning after the twenty-second mile. At the twenty-fifth mile Hayes was three laps behind, and the finish was seen by all.

The runners all ran the distance—26 miles 385 yards—and each will get a share of the money.

LOCAL BASEBALL

The Strathconas Senior City League team will practise to-night at six o'clock at Nicholls' Oval. A full turnout of players is expected, as it is likely that the Stratha will play their first game in the League on Saturday, and the team is expected to get all the practice possible in the meantime.

Was Troubled With Weak Back For Years.

Could Not Perform Household Duties. Doctors Attended Without Avail.

Mrs. Arch. Schnare, Black Point, N.B., writes: "For years I was troubled with weak back. Oftentimes I have lain in bed for days, being scarcely able to turn myself, and I have also been a great sufferer while trying to perform my household duties. I had doctors attending me without avail and tried liniments and plasters, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was about to give up in despair when my husband induced me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after using two boxes I am now well and able to do my work. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all that you claim for them, and I would advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, realizing quick, permanent relief, without any after ill effects. A medicine that will absolutely cure Backache and all forms of Kidney and Bladder Disease.

A medicine that strengthens the kidneys so that they are enabled to extract the poisonous uric acid from the blood and prevent the chief cause of Rheumatism.

QUEEN GETS LOCKJAW IN A STRANGE WAY

Dyed Her Hair to Become Blonde and Trouble Follows.

Rome, June 1.—Both former Queen Margherita and the Duke of Aosta are seriously ill here. The fromer queen has been ill for over a month with spasmodic contractions of the muscles of the face and neck, with symptoms of obscure artificial tetanus. Every effort has been made to hide the real nature of the disease, especially its cause, which is said to have been a poisonous hair dye which was freely used by the former queen who prided herself on the light colour of her hair, which is naturally dark. It is now turning white. The king visits her daily. Several times he and Queen Helena have been summoned at night, but the ex-queen's recovery is now not despaired of, though it is feared she will be a lifelong invalid.

The Duke of Aosta is suffering from bronchial pneumonia. His condition was so serious that his wife, who was not on speaking terms with him, came on the king's orders to be reconciled to him. His condition, however improved, and the duchess returned to Naples.

FELL FROM ENGINE OF C.P.R. LOCAL AND SERIOUSLY HURT

Fireman W. Reid Met With Accident a Short Distance Out of Myrtle Last Night—Fell From Moving Train—Was Brought to Nicholls Hospital.

RESIDES IN WINDSOR.

Falling from the engine of the moving C.P.R. local at Myrtle, that is due here at 7-33, Fireman W. Reid, of Windsor, Ont., was seriously injured last night and this morning was still in an unconscious condition. Dr. Gray, the C.P.R. physician is attending the young man, who is badly cut about the face and head. His body is also bruised in several places.

Train Was Moving

The local had just left Myrtle station when the unfortunate accident occurred. How it happened no one can tell, Fireman Reid not being in a condition to speak of the affair. However, he fell from the train, unnoticed by anyone. The engineer was not aware that his fireman was missing until he had run about two miles down the track. He found that Reid was not with him and immediately stopped the train. He backed up and a short distance out of Myrtle he found Reid lying unconscious on the side of the track.

The injured man was picked up, placed on the train and brought to Peterborough. The Dan Spence ambulance was called and on the arrival of the local took Fireman Reid to Nicholls Hospital. Dr. Gray dressed his injuries which consisted of cuts about the face and a number of bruises. Mr. Reid was resting easier this morning but was still in an unconscious state.

TWO WOMEN SUICIDE WERE TIRED OF LIFE

Hanged Herself in Shed

Engineer Stuck To Throttle In Cloud Of Scalding Steam

Examiner Special.

Smith's Falls, Ont., May 31.—But for the bravery of Engineer Thomas Bennett, of the C. P. R. express, eastbound, an accident similar to the one which recently occurred at Windsor station, Montreal, might have happened near here this morning. A tube in the locomotive burst, and though there were volumes of escaping steam Bennett stuck to his post until the train was brought to a standstill. Fireman Martin Riley was blown out of the pit, and onto the tender and escaped with slight injuries.

Engineer Bennett was badly scalded about the face and arms. A physician was on the train and attended to his injuries until he was brought to the hospital here. The accident occurred four miles from here, and the train was delayed in its arrival here an hour and a half. The passengers were uninjured. Had the engineer not stuck to his post and brought his train to a stop there would probably be a very different story to relate.

Formerly Resident Of This City Passes Away In Toronto

Toronto, June 1.—One of the old residents of Ontario passed away yesterday afternoon in the person of Mr. Thomas Thomson, at 892 Dundas St. Mr. Thomson was born in Scarborough Township, nearly 83 years ago, and was a descendant of one of the oldest families in that place, his grandfather having settled there in 1796. His father was said to have been the first white male child born in Scarborough.

The late Mr. Thomson had been twice married, and he is survived by his second wife. He has five children surviving from his first wife and two from his second. He used to have the Victoria Flour Mills at Victoria Road, afterwards going into business in Peterborough, coming to Toronto in 1898 to live. Besides his widow, he is survived by William T. and A. C. of Toronto, Albert W. of Portage la Prairie, Wm. George, of Winnipeg, Jas. Edward, of Hespeler, Ont., and two daughters, Mrs. Baker, of Portage la Prairie, and Mrs. Richard Thomson of Bedford.

A CASTLE OF SLEEP IS ESTABLISHED IN FRANCE

Examiner Special.

London, May 31.—A Castle of Sleep which has been established by Dr. Lemesle of Loches, in Touraine, is described by the British Medical Journal. The doctor uses physical agents such as fixation of the eyes on a bright object and the monotonous ticking of a clock to lull the senses of his patients. Should these fail he uses blue light which has been found to produce a tiring effect.

Dr. Lemesle keeps his patients in a blue atmosphere; the glass in the windows is blue, and all the decoration and furniture of the room is of the same hue. At night the electric light shines through blue globes.

The other "cure" is by high-frequency currents. The facts are supplied by Dr. W. F. Somerville, medical electrician at the Western Infirmary, Glasgow. In his opinion the value of high-frequency currents in the treatment of various functional and other diseases is not sufficiently recognised by the profession.

Lunatic Plays Havoc With A Cemetery Near Berlin

Examiner Special.

Berlin, May 31.—A scene of devastation met the eyes of the custodian of the town cemetery at Weissensee, on the outskirts of Berlin, the other day.

Twenty-five gravestones had been overturned, monuments hurled from thei base, trees hacked, and the flowers on hundreds of graves uprooted.

This havoc appeared to have been the work of one man—probably a lunatic—as single footsteps were traced to the boundary wall, but the police hounds, who followed the track for some distance gave up in consequence of the heavy rain.

A large reward has been offered by the police for the apprehension of the perpetrator.

Fined $25 For A Breach Of The Liquor License Act

J. A. Lawless, proprietor of the Lakefield House, was fined twenty-five dollars and costs, in the county police court yesterday afternoon, for keeping intoxicating liquor for sale. A week ago last Saturday Inspector Stewart and Inspector Williams, of East Peterborough, paid a visit to the hotel and found liquors in the house which were afterwards analyzed in Toronto.

Yesterday, Mr. Lawless pleaded guilty and the above fine was imposed by Magistrate Edmison.

"SOLDIER" WAS AN IMPOSTOR

Young Man Worked a Smart Game on London People.

Examiner Special.

London, May 31.—A smart looking man in military uniform, and with a number of official looking blue envelopes in his keeping, engaged a taxicab at the Marble-arch, and, representing that he was on military duty, ordered the driver to proceed to Portsmouth.

On the way he entered various police stations and asked the officer on duty to take charge of a sealed envelope addressed to an officer who would call in a day or two.

At Portmouth the "soldier" discovered that he had run short of money and borrowed 4s., from the driver, whom he then directed to wait for him at a certain place; but the man "on His Majesty's service," never returned.

The sum of 5s. is due for the ride, besides the loan of 4s. The documents left at the police stations contain only miscellaneous bills.

CHILDREN'S PLAY GROUND

Mr. Austin E. Griffiths, the president of the Seattle Playground Association, very truthfully says: Parks, boulevards and speedways are luxuries, but playgrounds are necessities." Playgrounds are needed for the children of all classes, especially the poor and middle classes. What is urged as a need for cities of considerable size is not a ground here and there, but a system, not necessarily large, but systematic and well-disposed. The poorer districts where juvenile delinquents originate should receive special attention. Peterborough has not yet reached that stage of population congestion, where there can exist slum centres, but the city is growing and it is the point of wisdom to look ahead. The land available for such purposes as playgrounds is daily becoming more difficult to obtain. We have shut out the ball players from Central Park and youngsters, to be healthy and happy, and as little as possible of a nuisance must have play. They are now compelled to use the streets to the inconvenience of the public and to very little benefit or real pleasure to themselves. The principle of public play grounds is being adopted by many United States cities. In Hamilton a number of the best people have formed themselves into a playground association. What is Peterborough going to do?

THE NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Isolation Hospital undertaking is a fine example of how not to do it; and the New Public Library proposal seems to be rapidly falling into the same class. The site has been purchased, and something like five thousand dollars paid for it in money borrowed from the bank at the interest banks charge but do not pay. The plans have been prepared and adopted, the $25,000 to come from Mr. Carnegie is ready to be paid over and there is still delay without any apparent cause. Beginning now it will be some time before the new library building is ready for use. Meanwhile the delay is causing injury to the present public library. The uncertainty is making patrons hesitate to renew their tickets. They argue that we may have a free Public Library any time, and that it is not worth while to renew tickets. The position of uncertainty, of flux between the existing library and the possible new one, creates a lack of interest in the library; threatens to lessen the popular interest in reading and in every way militates against the prosperity of the present library, which, if the city's procedure in the matter of the Isolation Hospital is followed, may have to serve the public for many years yet. In the matter of the New Public Library, there is no excuse from lack of funds; the site is bought and paid for, and it is to be assumed that the Carnegie donation of $25,000 now subject to the city's call, can be used for building purposes. Then why postpone the construction of the new building? Will some of the aldermen tell us?

THE FAIR WAY.

Hansard reports Mr. Sexmith, M. P., East Peterborough, as speaking in opposition to making municipalities pay even a small proportion of the cost of protecting level crossings. An appeal to anything that will help us escape the tax collector is always popular and sometimes even demagogic. There is such a thing as principle, and such a principle as equity in the matter. The railways should bear a large share, for they are the chief beneficiaries from the existence of level crossings; but they should not in justice be made to pay the whole cost of protection. While they derive benefits they certainly confer great benefits. The railways could not exist without the municipalities, and the latter could not exist under civilised conditions and with advantages they now possess without the railways. Therefore it seems but just that municipalities should be asked to pay a small proportion of the cost of their own protection, as it is also very largely due to public carelessness or lack of caution, that accidents happen at level crossings. The Dominion Government, which gives existence to railway companies, should come in for a share and even provincial governments, which aid railways by subventions might justly also bear a share. Mr. Sexsmith's argument that municipalities are taxed highly enough now, has little force. All taxation represents some benefits conferred. If municipalities tax themselves to build roads, etc., because it pays to do so, they are simply paying for the advantages they thus provide. Good highways add to the value of farm property, and the chief fault is that municipalities do not tax themselves heavily enough to provide good roads. Railways also largely increase the value of farm property. If one should remove all the railways from Ontario, the value of farm property would immensely deteriorate; all the conditions of life would be seriously impaired, and civilisation would take a backward step. If railways thus add to the value of property of municipalities and provide them conditions without which life would hardly be worth living, certainly, in equity, the municipalities should not object to paying a small proportion of the cost of protecting themselves from the dangers incident to the existence and operation of railways. The whole cost of protecting level crossings might ,of conrse, be thrown upon the railways. This would be no hardship to the railways if they adopted the remedy of imposing increased passenger and freight rates. This would strike the municipalities as hard, if not harder, than their proportion of the cost of protecting level crossings divided between the railways, the Dominion, the provinces, and the municipalities. In the long run the fair way, the honest way, is the better way. Mr. Sexsmith shows himself more of a politician than a statesman caring more for passing popularity than the fair way.

RETURN OF U. S. PROSPERITY

By Reginald Burton

New York, May 29.—Evidences of the long sought prosperity made their appearances in the financial world during the week past. One of the most notable signs was the absorption of the Associated Merchants' Company by the United Dry Goods Companies, a new Delaware Corporation with a combined capital of $41,000,000. The assets of the new corporation are the leading dry goods houses of New York city, Minneapolis, Buffalo, Baltimore and Louisville. Other indications that prosperity is returning is the manner in which the various bond issues are being taken; notably the issues of Swift & Co., Armour's and the $40,000,000 of New York City 4s.

In the stock market Steel made a new high record, selling at 61. Steel has now become a market leader both in activity and strength—the Harriman issue are no longer looked upon as guides for speculative movements. One reason for this is that both Union Pacific and Southern Pacific are selling at too high a price to be attractive mediums to the small speculator. The professionals are shaping their operations largely by the course of Steel, although they confess they are puzzled by the market outlook and would be more inclined to sell short than to buy; but the shorts have been so severely punished recently that they have become very wary in their operations.

The indifference of Wall Street to developments in the wheat market is one of the anomalies in the present situation. According to the reports from fifteen states made to the National Millers' Federation, the wheat crop of 1909 will exceed that of 1908 by 18 per cent., and the wheat reserve will be less by 5 per cent. Wall Street, however, ignores everything of a disquieting character and leading financiers are outspoken in their optimism, in the face of the uncertainty as to the crop outlook, the fact that the surplus of idle cars is increasing and nearly every big corporation is issuing new securities. Bankers do not anticipate any very serious reaction while money continues as abundant as it is now. One fact that does not increase confidence is that our bankers, in the fact of easy money here, are heavy borrowers in Europe.

Conditions in the cotton trade in its wildest aspects are still in the transitional state. The crop outlook, the commercial distribution of the crop, the mill takings as well as the yarn market and the textile trade are among the factors which bear upon the question of cotton prices. Specialists in the market are not always clear in their own minds as to the direction along which the existing situation is likely to work itself out. The storm which appears to be passing eastward over the Mississippi Valley has not yet spent its force. It is fully recognized that a continuance of existing conditions in the Mississippi Valley and tributaries would work great injury to the growing crop, and the situation is regarded as highly critical.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, June 1, 1909.

Dear Sir,—I have endeavoured to understand your arguments of Saturday in favour of the Purity Ware Limited, by-law. To me it is all incomprehensible. Industries built by by-laws will never make a city worthy of the name. That's not the way in England.

Yours truly,

W. A. BAILEY.

POLICE ON WRONG TRACK IN THE KINRADE CASE?

C. Montrose Wright, Florence Kinrade's Fiance, Says---Talks of the Famous Mystery---Not With Kinrades.

Hamilton, May 31. — C. Montrose Wright arrived in town this morning and had an interview at the Waldorf hotel with T. L. Kinrade. Mr. Wright was seen, but was very reticent in regard to the movements of Mrs. and Florence Kinrade. He was pressed to explain what they were going to do in the future, but would give nothing definite.

He remarked that the two women were anxious to avoid any further publicity and were going to live quietly away from the scene of the tragedy.

Mr. Wright said that he knew of no solution to the tragedy, and held that the police had been on the wrong track from the beginning. "They have made one or two grave mistakes in the conduct of the case. To begin with, they should have searched the house at once."

He was asked why the house should have been searched at once, and what for, but would add nothing to make his contention plainer.

"They started with a wrong idea and evolved theory after theory and deduction after deduction on this false beginning. Practically everything they did was to continue to cover up their tracks," he said.

Mr. Wright was asked what he meant by "covering up their tracks," but refused to add anything to his statement.

"Is there any truth in the statement that you are to continue your divinity studies in Glasgow?" Mr. Wright was asked.

"None whatever," he replied. "I wonder what ingenious newspaper man thought that out."

"Is there any truth in the statement that you have married Florence, Mr. Wright?" he was next asked.

"That's another dream," replied the divinity student, laughing heartily. "Who originated that?"

"Will a regular announcement be made when the wedding is to take place?" he was next asked.

"I am sure I don't know," said Mr. Wright. "I haven't heard anything about a wedding. Of course, if a wedding takes place, I'll invite you all; but you had better not bank too much upon an invitation, as you may be disappointed."

Beyond this, Mr. Wright refused to discuss this matter, remarking that he hoped the newspapers would let the Kinrade family and himself alone.

After their conference, Mr. Kinrade and Mr. Wright went to Toronto.

The attorney-general's department in Toronto has not dropped the case by any means, and is trying its hardest to locate "Miss Elliott," who, however, has so far eluded all attempts to trace her.

YOUNG ROBBER CAUGHT.

Chicago Policeman Is Wounded and Death of Detective Is Planned.

Chicago, June 1.—The blood and thunder doings of two youths were disclosed by the arrest of Ernest Halverson, 22 years old, and Peter Dument, 19 years old, who confessed to wounding a policeman and committing two robberies Saturday night, three robberies on May 22, and Halverson confessed that he had arranged to shoot Detective O'Keefe, who had arrested him twice before.

While driving on the north side, they held up two men with revolvers and robbed them. One started to run and Halverson fired at him and jumped back into the rig, and they drove on until a policeman tried to stop them. Halverson fired four shots at him and the wounded policeman returned the shots. Another policeman tried to stop them and Halverson lashed him with a whip. They saw an automobile load of policemen coming after them and they thugs jumped out and ran home, where they were arrested.

More New Mills.

Port Arthur, June 1.—The C.P.R. will probably induce some industries of considerable magnitude to locate on their lands in Port Arthur, in order to procure a renewal of exemption from taxation.

Ten years ago an agreement was made fixing the yearly assessment at $50,000. This has now expired and the property is assessable at one million dollars, and as they now face $20,000 yearly taxation, it is expected they will bring some independent company, most likely flour mills, here, to distribute wages sufficient to get exemption again.

William Whyte and Solicitor Aitkins had an interview with the City Council yesterday and said as much, though they will not make any definite proposition until they return from Montreal, for which place they left last night.

And This Is In New York.

New York, June 1.—Because of the recent determination of Mayor McClellan to strictly enforce the Sunday laws as they were in vogue years ago, the Memorial Day parade Sunday of 3,500 veterans to decorate the graves of dead comrades, was without music. Bands marched with their instruments, but the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner," "Marching Through Georgia," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," and other inspiring melodies which have inspired the aging veterans, were missing until the cemetery was reached.

Wright Denies Marriage.

Hamilton, June 1.—C. Montrose Wright and T. L. Kinrade had a conference yesterday at the Waldorf Hotel, after which they left for Toronto. Mr. Wright would give no information as to the movements of Mrs. and Miss Florence Kinrade, saying that they wished to avoid publicity, and would live quietly away from the scene of the murder. He denied that he was going to finish his divinity course in Glasgow, and said that the report that he was married to Miss Kinrade was a dream.

Canadian Invents Explosive.

London, June 1. (C.A.P. Cable.)—A Canadian inventor is stopping at a London hotel and being closely guarded by secret service men, day and night, on behalf of the Admiralty, with whom he is endeavoring to negotiate a deal for a powerful explosive.

It is understood that the inventor has already received a fat check from the Admiralty by way of option.

Germany is said to be also anxious to secure this new explosive.

A Serious Charge.

Whitby, June 1.—In the Police Court last night, a preliminary hearing was given in the case of rape charged against John Delong of Brooklin by Mrs. George Hayes of that village. The affair occurred yesterday morning while the woman's husband, who is a baker, was away at his work. Chief Jameson made the arrest in the afternoon. The prisoner was remanded to jail for a week.

On Trial for Murdering Brother.

Regina, Sask., June 1.—Ernest Morris is on trial here for alleged murder of his brother, Charles, near Milestone, on April 5. Charles came from Bethany, Miss., and built a shack. He was last seen alive about a mile from the shack. The crown claim he was first shot, then hit on the head with an axe, and the body saturated with coal oil and set on fire.

A Large Entry.

Orangeville, June 1.—The following were nominated yesterday for the bye-election for reeve: Thomas J. Henderson, William Martin, Dr. James Henry, John L. Island, John R. Gillespie, Dr. W. H. Riddell, C. R. McKeown, J. N. Fish, Dr. T. H. Henry, W. T. Bailey and Thomas Hewson

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 31.—(Special.)—A feature of the live stock export trade of late is that American exporters have been operating very freely in the Western Canadian markets, on account of the high prices ruling in the Chicago market for export cattle, and the bulk of what they are buying in Toronto are going out by way of American ports, in order to fill their freight engagements; consequently there is no demand for ocean freight space here at present. Business in consequence is dull, with Liverpool space offering for June at 27s 6d; London at 25s; Glasgow at 30s, and Manchester at 27s 6d, but the impression is that these rates would be cut, in order to do business. The exports of cattle for the past week were 5791 head, making a total for the month of 14,179, as compared with 8221 for May, last year.

At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market, the receipts of live stock for last week were 2700 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 2300 hogs and 1900 calves, while the offerings for local consumption this morning consisted of 1000 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 1200 hogs and 150 calves. Prices were firmly maintained, owing to smaller offerings than a week ago. Cables from Liverpool noted a further decline of ½c to ⅝c per lb. since this day week, on account of increased supplies and bad weather conditions, but there was some demand here for export stock. Sales of extra choice steers were made at 6¼c; choice at 6c to 6¼c; good at 5½c to 5¾c; fair at 5c to 5¼c; medium at 4½c to 4¾c; fat cows at 4½c to 5¼c; bulls at 4¼c to 5¼c, and common cattle at 3½c to 4¼c per lb. A weak feeling prevailed in the market for hogs, and prices scored a decline of 25c to 40c per 100 lbs. since this day week. This is due to the fact that during the excitement in the market packers in some cases contracted in the country for some large lots at high prices, which have arrived within the past two or three days, and these, in addition to the 1200 head offered on the market to-day, had a depressing influence, but sales of selected lots were made at $8.60 to $8.65, weighed off cars. Owing to more liberal supplies of sheep of late, and the prospects of a steady increase in the receipts from now on, the market is weaker and prices have declined fully 1c per lb. The demand was fair, and sales of yearlings were made at 5½c to 6c per lb. Spring lambs were somewhat scarce and prices ruled steady at from $4.50 to $8 each, as to size. There continues to be a fairly good demand for calves, of which supplies are ample to fill all requirements, at prices ranging from $3 to $10 each, as to quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 31.—Cattle—Receipts, 3400 head; slow and steady to 15c lower; prime steers, $6.75 to $7.25; shipping, $6.25 to $6.75; butchers', $5.50 to $6.75; heifers, $4.50 to $5.50; cows, $3.50 to $5.00; bulls, $3.50 to $5.00; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5.25; stock heifers, $3.75 to $4.25; fresh cows and springers, slow and $3 to $5 lower, $22 to $60.

Veals—Receipts, 1200 head; active and steady, $6 to $8.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,600 head; fairly active and 10c to 15c lower; heavy, $7.50 to $7.60; mixed, $7.40 to $7.55; yorkers, $7 to $7.40; pigs, $6.75 to $6.90; roughs, $6.25 to $6.50; stags, $5 to $5.75; dairies, $7 to $7.40.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 7200 head; active and 25c to 50c lower; lambs, $4.50 to $8; yearlings, $5.50 to $6.75; wethers, $6.25 to $6.50; ewes, $5.50 to $5.75; sheep, mixed, $2 to $6.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Cattle—Receipts, 20,000, estimated; market steady to 10c lower; beeves, $5.15 to $7.20; Texas steers, $4.75 to $6.30; western steers, $4.75 to $6.30; stockers and feeders, $3.60 to $5.60; cows and heifers, $3.00 to $6.45; calves, $5.25 to $8.25.

Chief is Stolen White Boy.

Galveston, Texas, June 1.—Tah Braidy, a well-known Apache chief, has proven his identity as Thomas Springfield, a native Texan, born of a prominent family, 44 years ago in McMullen County, who at the age of four years was kidnapped by a band of Apaches, who on a raid massacred the boy's mother, father and young brother. A sister, presumed to have been slain, survived, and is still alive.

Chinese Revenge.

New York, June 1.—Ten minutes after a Chinaman, whom the police are now trying to find, came out of a laundry in East 32nd street and warned the children in the neighborhood to move away from the place, a heavy explosion occurred and the entire front and rear of the building were blown out into the street.

Going Blind, Drowns Himself.

Deseronto, June 1.—James Crawford, aged 60, hostler at the Arlington Hotel, committed suicide yesterday by jumping into the lake. Some time ago he became almost blind, and the town prepared papers and were about to send him to the Home for the Aged in Belleville. He has a wealthy brother in New York.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS

Come to Many Peterboro' People

These are days of dizziness, spells of drowsiness, headache, sideache, backache.

Sometimes rheumatic pain after urinary trouble.

You are plainly told that the Kidneys are sick.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney ills.

Mrs. A. Graham, 547 Water street, Peterborough, Ont., says: "My back was so weak and tender that I could not turn in my bed. A heavy dull pain had settled across the small of it and caused me almost constant suffering. I became weak and languid, was run down generally and had little ambition to move around. Headaches were frequent and often accompanied by spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes and I would be unable to see. I had tried numerous remedies without getting results. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy. I tried them and soon found relief. The kidneys were quickly regulated, and each and every symptom of kidney trouble was quickly cured. I am glad to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills, as I believe them to be the best and most reliable of all kidney remedies." Sold by dealers. Price, 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Limited, Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian Agents.

A Positive Cure for Deafness

A large proportion of all cases of impaired hearing and deafness is due to disease of the middle ear and Eustachian tubes, caused either by acute inflammation or chronic catarrh.

Nearly all these cases can be cured, or the progress of the disease arrested, by inflation of the ears through the nose and Eustachian tubes with medicated air.

A very safe and efficient means of accomplishing this end can be had by the use of Catarrhozone, a positive cure for catarrh in the most chronic form.

It is sure death to the microbic life which maintains the inflamed condition, and also through its healing properties restores the diseased organs to a healthy, normal condition.

It is not mere theory. The result of actual experience proves that ninety-nine cases in one hundred can be cured, and stay cured, of impaired hearing by the use of Catarrhozone.

Catarrhozone Cures

Catarrhozone is a new scientific remedy for all diseases of the nasal and respiratory passages caused by microbic life, and if you are affected with catarrh, asthma, or bronchitis, it is well deserving of your attention.

It never fails to cure any of these affections, because it is sure to reach the seat of the disease. That is why Catarrhozone is so far in advance of treatment by snuffs, washes, douches, etc., which are absolutely useless, because they cannot reach the root of the trouble.

You simply breathe the medicated air, it does the rest—nothing could be simpler. Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' treatment, price $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

When your stomach goes out of business eat for ten mornings—then keep on eating it. It keeps the stomach sweet and clean and the bowels healthy and active.

SIX EXTRA GIRLS WANTED TO HELP TO SELL

Presentation To Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong By Foremen Of C. G. E.

Address Read by Mr. Geo. Tovey Last Night After Six O'clock—Mr. P. Milloy Presents Gold Watch and Chain Suitably Engraved.

MR. ARMSTRONG REPLIES

The foremen of the C. G. E. works assembled at the gate house last night after six o'clock to bid farewell to Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong, who departed for the West this morning to commence his duties as Organizer for the Grand Lodge in Saskatchewan. He has been the foreman of the Dipping and Buffing department of the C. G. E. since the establishment came to Peterborough, and in that position has gained the friendship and esteem of his fellow foremen and the employees with whom he came in contact. During the past few weeks he has received many testimonials of the regard in which he has been held by his fellow citizens, but probably none was more cordial than that from the foremen of the C. G. E.

Mr. Geo. Tovey read the following address:

Dear Friend,—Having heard of your decision to sever your connections with the Canadian General Electric Company, which you have served so long, having been one of the men who came with the old Company from Sherbrooke, Que., this making you one of the oldest foremen in the Company's employ.

We, having found you always straightforward in all your dealings with your fellow workmen, upholding with considerable energy what you considered right and ready to condemn the wrong, helping any one who was in need, feel it a very fitting thing to present to you a small remembrance of your friends at the C. G. E.

Please accept this watch and chain and looking into its face we hope it will often remind you of us. We expect and believe that you will press to the front in your new calling and we all wish you God speed.

Signed, Geo. Tovey, R. Anson, J. F. Morrison, W. C. Common, T. Nokes, C. H. Thornton, N. Munroe, R. J. Martin, W. A. Brundrette, W. Cottrell W. Robinson, H. McCusker, R. E. Harding, J. McKenzie, J. Wilson, R. W. Carson, P. Milloy, A. E. Prest; R. Morrison, B. Watts, J. O'Brien, A. W. Patterson, H Cotton, P Wright, S. Taylor, R. Wagner, F. Derrick, A. Metherall, E. Hurtubise, N. A. Moore, R. E. Layfield, A. E. Wilson, F. A. Shannon, E. M. Somerville, E. E. Lord, G. Wiskins, J. F. G. Goullett, M. Breckenridge.

Mr. Peter Milloy, on behalf of the men, presented Mr. Armstrong with a handsome gold watch and chain.

In acknowledging this remembrance he expressed his appreciation of the beautiful gift. Words failed him, he said, to convey his feelings. He was deeply grateful for this kind token of esteem, and he would always look upon the gift as one of his most treasured belongings. Mr. Armstrong referred to the goodwill and friendly assistance which his fellow foremen had always shown towards him, and he wished them to feel that mere words could not express his gratitude to them.

The watch and chain were puchased at Warne's. On the interior of the back of the case there is the following inscription: "Presented to Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong by his friends of the C. G. E., May 31st, 1909.

Old Days Of Clergy Reserves Are Recalled By Old Paper

Facts Pertaining to Peterborough —Interesting Incidents That are Found in Old Copy of "The Church"—Happened in Early Part of the Century.

WEEKS FOR NEWS TO TRAVEL

Examiner Special.

Toronto, May 31.—The days of Clergy Reserves are vividly recalled by perusal of an old volume of the Anglican weekly called "The Church," which was discovered this week while the workmen were tearing down the old St. James Parish Church at the corner of Church and Adelaide streets.

The issues run from May, 1837 to June, 1838. On July 8th, of the first-named year, the list of sales announced includes: Peterborough, Newcastle District, on the 11th of July, 8th August, 12th September, 10th October and 7th November. Reference may be made, it is set forth, to Alex. M'Donell, Esq., residing at Peterborough, for further information.

Of much interest is the notice bordered in black, appearing in The Church for Saturday, July 29th:

"It is our painful duty to announce to our readers, the mournful intelligence of the death of our beloved monarch,

King William, the Fourth.

"This most melancholy event took place at Windsor Castle on the 20th of June, at ten minutes to three o'clock. As the packet ship which brought the afflicting intelligence sailed from London on the day of the demise of His Majesty, we are unable in this number to give further particulars of that distressing event."

Five weeks for the news to travel to Upper Canada! In 1909 it would be a matter of seconds.

John Strachan, then Archdeacon of York, writes a letter to Hon. William Morris, replying to a statement the former appears to have made that "Scots inhabitants" met with great obstacles in getting land from the Government for church purposes. In support of his denial he points out some applications that were successful, including:

Peterborough—Granted on July 22d, 1838, 200 acres besides lot F fronting on Brock street, and lots 12 and 13 north of Brock street, town of Peterborough. Patents issued.

A list of the clergy of the Church of England in Upper Canada includes: Rev. C. T. Wade, Peterborough, who was also travelling missionary for Newcastle District; Rev. S. S. Strong, "Bytown," and Rev. Jonathan Shortt, Port Hope.

Rev. A. N. Bethune, Cobourg, was editor, the paper being published in that town. The following composed the Committee of Management: The Hon. and Ven., The Archdeacon of York; the Rev. Dr. Harris, Principal of the U. C. College; the Rev. A. N. Bethune, rector of Cobourg; the Rev. H. I. Grassett, Assistant Minister of St. James's Church, Toronto.

Revs. J. Thompson and S. Armour appear to have looked after the spiritual welfare of Cavan. The lady and family of the Rev. C. T. Wade arrived in Cobourg on Monday morning last, from England, says the issue of September 16th, 1837. In April, 1838, appears this marriage notice:

At Cavan, on the 22nd inst. by the Rev. S. Armour, Mr. Thomas Armstrong to Miss Sarah Kells. On the 23rd inst. by the same, Mr. Thos. Fair to Miss Eliza Stewart, all of the township of Cavan.

The proclamation of the young Queen Victoria, urging piety and condemning vice, is given prominence, also the proclamation of a day of thanksgiving for "delivery from the unnatural calamities of the rebellion with which we have been afflicted."

Spring Number Of Canadian Grocer Credit To Its Editor

The annual spring number of The Canadian Grocer has just been published and has been received by the many Peterborough customers of this poular trade journal. From the cover through to the last pages this number is entertaining to the average reader and particularly profitable to the grocers for whom it is intended. The cover design has been chosen with taste and is very effective. It reflects much credit upon the person who made the choice. The articles in the spring number are nearly all of a special nature, and in most cases are stories of how grocers have made successes of their business, or of some particular lines of it. There are two stories of Peterborough men, Messrs. R. C. Braund, White and Gillespie. Peterborough grocers have expressed themselves as much pleased with the special number, and in this respect they have complimented the new editor, Mr. B. T. Huston, who resigned the city editor's chair on the Examiner to take charge of the Grocer. With his usual energy and ability he has applied himself industriously in his new work, and those who read the Grocer have admitted that he has put new life into it, and is making a success of his new position.

INTEREST IN TURF CLUB'S MATINEE PROMISES GOOD AFTERNOON'S SPORT

According to the members of the Turf Club, they are determined to make the Thursday matinees successful, and the first will be held on Thursday of this week, when the lovers of the game will be able to judge for themselves the quality of the races. There will be three horse races. There is a free-for-all, a 2:50 class, and a green race. From all accounts there will be some good going and it is going to be the endeavour of the officers of the club to present good racing. It will strengthen the club, develop the horses and promote the sport. The heats will be a mile in length, instead of half-mile as formerly. The five-mile running race is also attracting attention, and altogether the afternoon promises to be a good one. The street car company will be prepared to handle the crowd, as it is expected that a large number will take advantage of the matinee.

RAINFALL NOT AS HEAVY AS LAST MAY

Most people have been thinking that all records have been broken this month in the matter of rain, but this is not the case. The report of the rainfall for May, 1909, shows 3.61 inches, while the same month last year there was a fall of 4.74 inches. That at that it was considerably better than the average is shown by the fact that in May, 1907, there was only 2.53 inches of a rainfall.

The highest temperature recorded during the month was on the 30th instant, when the mercury stood at 84 degrees, while on the 4th, it went as low as 29 degrees.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A NEW COMPOSITION

"Down the Stream of Life," is the name of a new song by Walter H. Cluxton, formerly of Peterborough. It is a story of a life love. Those that have heard it appreciate not only the beauty of the words and the thought they express, but the music is appropriate and tuneful, proving a beautiful setting for the lyric. It is one of Mr. Cluxton's best efforts. The story it tells is in itself decidedly pretty and the piece should make a strong grasp in the music loving public's favour. Copies may be had at the J. M. Greene's Music Store, or at the Peterborough Music Store.

JOS. HOWARD, BANKRUPT.

Joseph E. Howard, known in the world of musical comedy as one of the most successful composers, is the latest to enter the bankruptcy court. His petaition shows that he owes over $12,000, and he claims there is due him $1,750, as royalty. His debts were all contracted at a time when he undertook to promote his own attractions. The names of Hough Adams and Howard are found on many pieces of music, and their hits from many musical productions are up in the big numbers. "The Time, The Place, and The Girl," "The Land of Nod," "The Honeymoon Trail," "A Stubborn Cinderella," and a dozen others have been presented to the American public, and not a few of them are still on the boards. "A Stubborn Cinderella" was presented in the Spring of 1908, in Chicago, as a summer show, but with Sallie Fisher and Jack Barrymore, in the leading parts. it ran through a long term in the western city, and hibernated in New York. It is now in the cities of the eastern states.

DISTRICT TENNIS GAMES

Extra players to act as substitutes, if necessary, will be Mr. Chas. Downes, Mr. M. Drysdale, and Mr. N. Greenhalgh.

The first games in connection with the District Association in which St. John's Club will participate, will be played on the oval to-morrow, Wednesday evening, June 2, beginning at 6:45 o'clock.

It was decided by St. John's Club that a ladies' tournament would be run off this year and the participants in the event were drawn as follows:

More bread and Better bread

—And the Reason for it

A STRONG FLOUR can only be made from strong wheat. Manitoba hard wheat is acknowledged the strongest in the world—and that is the kind used for Purity Flour.

But that's not all. Every grain of this wheat contains both high-grade and low-grade properties. In separating the high-grade parts from the low-grade the Western Canada Flour Mills put the hard wheat through a process so exacting that not a single low-grade part has the remotest chance of getting in with the high-grade.

Of course this special process is more expensive to operate but it means a lot to Purity flour users—that's why we use it.

It means that Purity Flour is made entirely of the highest-grade flour parts of the strongest wheat in the world.

It means a high-class, strong flour and therefore yields "more bread and better bread."

Purity may cost a little more than some flours, but results prove it the cheapest and most economical after all.

Mr. Sol. Walters, a traveller for Tuckett's tobaccos, Hamilton, was in the city in the interests of his firm, and, as usual, went away with a satisfactory order list for Marguerite cigars, T. and B. and the other popular varieties of Tuckett's weed. He is one of the best known travellers on the road, and is as entertaining as one would wish to find. Mr. Walters was formerly a member of Harry Lindley's show, when the old, favourite comedian was at his best. That was more than twenty-five years ago in the days when Jas. and Jos. Daly were the proprietors of the old Grand Central Hotel, then considered to be the best in the city. Interesting reminiscences of those days are stored in Mr. Walter's memory, and his list of friends in Peterborough include many outside those whom he meets in business.

During his visit here he has left with the leading tobacconists a handsome advertising card. It is a picture of a girl in a white summer dress with red sash, etc. It is very attractive and everywhere is receiving deserved compliments.

THE REAL CAUSE.

The Ancient Scalp-Fever Theory Exploded.

At one time dandruff was attributed to the result of a feverish condition of the scalp, which threw off the dried cuticle in scales.

Professor Una, Hamburg, Germany, noted authority on skin diseases, explodes this theory and says that dandruff is a germ disease.

This germ is really responsible for the dandruff and for so many bald heads. It can be cured if it is gone about in the right way. The right way of course, and the only way, is to kill the germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this, and permits the hair to grow luxuriantly, just as nature intended it should.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Sold by McDermid & Jury, Druggists, also Payne's Drug Store. One Dollar bottles guaranteed.

Lever Brothers, Toronto, will send you free a cake of their famous Plantol toilet soap, if you mention this paper.

CHARGE OF BEING DISORDERLY NOT PROVEN

Two young men were charged with creating a disturbance at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets on Friday evening last. They pleaded not guilty ,and three women who reside over Mr. Mervin's butcher shop were called, and stated that the conduct of several young men on the corner was very bad. One woman gave the name of a young man she saw there, but she did not see either of the accused. There was no evidence that they had committed a disturbance and they were allowed to go.

THE GUILD HAD FINE MEETING

Interesting Evening Spent by St. Paul's Young People Last Night.

Under the auspices of St. Paul's Guild a splendid gathering of young people was held last night.

It was a well attended and, more than that, it was a splendidly-addressed meeting. The basis for the evening's discussion was Rev. Henry F. Lyte's beautiful and inspiring hymn, "Abide With Me," and there was a wide scope for the speakers, all of whom took full advantage.

Miss Weir very ably and clearly gave a graphic description of the life of the author; a feature in the study of the hymn, which is necessary to get the inner meanings. Rev. Lyte, with the assistance of friends, courageously struggled against the straightened circumstances of an orphan, and ill-health thrown in. He took holy orders in Dublin, after a brilliant college career, but during his twenty-five years of ministry, in Devonshire, his delicate constitution continually asserted its influence in his work. At the age of fifty-four, he died on the continent while seeking health. A noteworthy coincidence in connection with his death was the attendance of Cardinal Newman, the author of that other grand hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light."

Following this basic address, Miss Merlie Hall, Miss Perry, Miss McIntosh, and Miss McCalla gave interesting and instructive two-minute talks, taking a stanza of the hymn as their theme. Each address showed deep reflection, and the auditors were given a good deal of excellent food for thought.

Sheriff Hall, in the short time allotted him, further enlightened the meeting in reference to the conditions under which the hymn was written. In concise yet explicit terms, he told how the author, after engaging in a communion service which had so overtaxed his naturally delicate body that he had to be assisted to his home, had, in such a state of physical weakness, yet spiritual strength, penned the gifted lines, which will be sung as long as voices are upraised in sacred song.

Miss Helen Davies very beautifully sang the hymn as a solo, as an opening number.

Next Monday evening Mr. F. G. Hassard, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will address the Guild on "The Denial of Peter." Mr. Kenneth Shook will sing.

THERE IS NO NEED FOR ANY WORRY

Ottawa is Unmoved by United States Tariff Revision.

REACTION IS COMING SOON

Authorities at the Capital Are Showing Little Concern Over the Changes in the Tariff in the Certainty That Washington Will Be Coming to Ottawa Soon to Ask Favors—Must Soon Buy More.

Ottawa, June 1.—The Canadian Government is not at present worrying much about the fate of the Payne tariff bill, now being revised upwards in the U. S. Senate. In respect to the commodities mentioned in yesterday's despatch from Washington—barley, hops, potatoes and oysters—which are now given even higher protection than under the Dingley tariff, the exports from Canada to the States are comparatively so insignificant that a still higher tariff will make but little difference to the country as a whole. In fact on most of the items affected by the Payne tariff the protective duty either under the new or the old tariff is so high as to prove almost an absolute prohibition of trade.

In the case of coal, lumber and wheat, however, Canada is vitally interested. The question of reciprocity in coal, raised by the Payne tariff, will undoubtedly be one of the main tariff issues to be discussed at the next session of Parliament. In respect to lumber and wheat, it is felt here that it is only a question of time before the United States will be compelled to come to Canada more and more for its supplies. Western American millers are already seeking an admixture of the best grade of Canadian wheat to produce their flour, and this demand must steadily increase. All Canada need do is to wait until the time when the inevitable reaction sets in across the line, and, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier has frequently expressed it, tariff favors are sought from Ottawa, and not from Washington. Meanwhile, pending the final action of the United States Senate and Congress on the tariff bill, the Government here does not propose to interfere either by threat of retaliation or otherwise. Canada is pursuing her own tariff policy independently of the United States, and is looking to continued steady development of the markets in the Motherland and with the sister overseas dominions after finding trade with her neighbor to the south practically barred by a prohibitive tariff on most of the items in which a mutual trade might be profitably developed.

Former Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks were received in audience by the Emperor and Empress of Japan yesterday.

Negro Race Interior.

New York, June 1.—A national conference in the interest of the American negro was opened in the United Charities building in this city yesterday by Prof. Burt G. Wilder of Cornell University, and Profs. Livingston Farrand, E. R. A. Seligman and John Dewey of Columbia University. Prof. Wilder, after exhibiting several brains, including those of an orang outang, an unscrupulous politician, an illiterate colored janitor, and an eminent mathematician, made some interesting deductions to the conference.

The brain of the average American negro, he said, seems to be about two ounces lighter than that of the average white man, and probably there occurs more frequently than in the white man less development of the prefontal lobes. These two conditions render it likely that the whites will remain the dominant race. But there are individual exceptions to the above general conditions of born kinds and among both races.

Winnipeg Railway Finding.

Winnipeg, June 1.— The finding of the board of conciliation affecting the Winnipeg Street Railway was handed out yesterday. The union is recognized fully. Seniority is to govern for selection of runs. Wages are to be paid semi-monthly; the scale to be twenty-one cents per hour for the first six months; twenty-three cents for the second six months; twenty-four for the second year; twenty-six and a half the third year, and twenty-seven thereafter. Men have the privilege of either working nine or ten hours, and Sunday work is to be paid at the rate of ten hours pay for eight and a half hours work.

On the whole, the men appear to be well satisfied with finding of the board.

Dog Saves Child.

Ottawa, June 1.—To the instinct and strength of a large collie dog a little Ottawa girl owes her escape from death by drowning. While some children were playing near the St. Louis Dam on the Rideau Canal one of them fell off the dock into the water. The others set up a scream of terror, which attracted the attention of an automobile party on the driveway and also of some men in the locality. Meanwhile, however, a large collie dog, which happened to be on the dock, leaped into the water, grabbed the little girl by the dress and kept her up till one of the men pulled her out.

Think They've Been Swindled.

Galt, June 1.—The firm of Biehl & Wagner report a case of supposed swindling. Harry Passmore, representing himself as about to locate in Galt, bought furniture from them on Friday, giving a Bank of Hamilton check for $85, and receiving $3 change. The check was made out in favor of Passmore, and signed "B. Marshall, for the Shippers Supply Co., Toronto." Passmore has disappeared. The Shippers' Supply Co state that Marshall has an office in the same building, but has no authority to sign the firm's checks.

Had Lucky Escape.

Lockport, N.Y., June 1.—A three-car International Traction Co. trolley train jumped the rails on the steep grade of Gooding street yesterday. Ten Buffalo people were hurt, none fatally. The forward car of the train, after leaving the rails, ran twenty feet along the edge of a 30-foot embankment, turned completely around and was torn from its trucks. The second car left the rails also, but aside from smashed vestibule was not damaged.

THE TRIP ENDS IN A DISASTER

Zeppelin's Record Trip Finishes With a Bad Wreck.

AIRSHIP CATCHES IN TREE

After Going 850 Miles In 37 Hours, German Aeronaut's Huge Dirigible Collides With a Tree and Is Now In a Dangerous Position, Half on the Ground and Half In the Branches of the Tree.

Copenhagen, June 1.—After covering a distance of about 850 miles in 37 hours, Count Zeppelin's new airship, on its return trip from Bitterfeld to Friedrichshaven, came to grief in an open field near here yesterday.

In manoeuvring for a landing the airship came in contact with a tree, and its position to-day is very dangerous.

The propeller was broken and a considerable time must elapse before the journey can be continued.

The position is unfavorable, the ground being very hilly. The bow rests on the ground, while the stern is about 65 feet in the air.

A strong breeze sprang up last evening, causing no little anxiety for the safety of the airship, which it was feared would be wrecked should a storm come up during the night.

After considerable labor and the assistance of those who had gathered at the scene of the accident, Count Zeppelin was able to shift the position of his airship a little and thus give better protection from the wind.

That the collision was a heavy one is indicated by the broken and bent strips of aluminum lying about the ground and the half-split branches dangling from the tree trunk.

That the collision was a heavy one is indicated by the broken and bent strips of aluminum lying about the ground, and the half-split branches dangling from the tree trunk. Enormous crowds soon assembled and it became almost impossible for vehicles to pass along the public highway.

Ex-Banker Breaking Stones.

St. Vincent de Paul, June 1.—Hon. P. H. Roy, former Speaker of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, and ex-president of the Bank of St. Johns, is now breaking stone in the penitentiary yard.

Governor Beauchamp was well-known to Roy, who started to talk to him like an ordinary friend, but the governor immediately ordered the guards to put Roy in a prisoner's garb. Fifteen minutes later Roy, registered as No. 5,204, dressed in the prisoners' uniform and with his hair and beard cleut, was given a hammer and sent to break stone with other convicts.

Big Reward for Bandits.

Toronto, June 1.—Ontario chiefs of police has received notification of a reward of $10,000 offered for the arrest of each of six men who a few days ago held up and robbed a Great Northern train at Morse Siding, four miles from Hillyard, Wash., when the registered mail containing many thousands of dollars, was stolen. It is thought that the men may have come to Canada.

Must Admit Children.

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—The Illinois Legislature passed a bill declaring void apartment leases which prohibit children in apartment houses. The governor has announced his intention of signing the bill.

MANY DON'T KNOW HEART AFFECTED.

More People than Aware of It Have Heart Disease.

"If examinations were made of everyone, people would be surprised at the number of persons walking about suffering from heart disease."

This startling statement was made by a doctor at a recent inquest. "I should not like to say that heart disease is as common as this would imply," said the expert, "but I am sure that the number of persons going about with weak hearts must be very large."

"Hundreds of people go about their daily work on the verge of death, and yet do not know it. It is only when the shock comes that kills them that the unsuspected weakness of the heart is made apparent."

"But undoubtedly heart weakness, not disease, is more prevalent nowadays. I should think that the stress of living, the wear and rush of modern business life, have a lot to do with heart trouble."

There is no doubt but that this is correct, and we would strongly advise any one suffering in any way from heart trouble to try a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

I procured a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they helped me so much I got another box and it has made a final cure. I cannot speak too highly of them. Another Sunshine Feature

The Gas Ring

This is an entirely new idea, and will especially interest people who reside in natural gas districts. The gas ring takes the place of the lower Sunshine fire-pot, thus making it possible to burn gas in your furnace without inconvenience. Such is not possible in a furnace where the ordinary gas log is inserted; for, should the gas give out, a coal or wood fire could not be started until the gas pipes were disconnected.

To provide against sweating in the summer time, Sunshine Furnace is equipped with a nickelled steel radiator and dome. All bolts and rivets are nickelled, all rods copper-plated. This special treatment, besides meaning quicker and greater radiation from the radiator and dome than cold chill iron could possibly give, acts as protection for the bolts, rivets and rods from inroads of gas. When cast iron comes in contact with our nickelled steel it is coated with our special Anti-Rust treatment, which prevents the slightest possibility of rust commencing anywhere in Sunshine Furnace.

Four Teams In The Senior League Will Provide Good Ball At Riverside Park

Constitution and Schedule Arranged Last Night---Ball Fans Will Have Chance to See a Good Article This Summer ---All Players are "Home Brews" and Deserve the Public's Support---First Games on Saturday.

The Senior City League's works were wound up last night and will begin to unwind on Saturday next at Riverside, when a double header will be pulled off as an opener. There are four teams in the league, the Strathconas, T. A. S., Park St. Baptists and West Ends. Preparations for the season were arranged at a meeting held in the Examiner office with the above teams represented as follows: W. J. Metheral, A. Quinlan, Jack Pilling and Jack Oldham.

After some consideration the following constitution was drawn up and decided upon:

That this association be called the Peterborough Senior City Baseball League.

That the annual meeting of this league be held not later than the second Tuesday in April.

That the active officers of this league shall consist of a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and one representative from each team.

That a majority of the officers shall constitute a quorum, and due notice must be given to each representative two days before such meeting.

That the entrance fee of two dollars must accompany each application for admission to the league, same being returned if application is not accepted.

No club can be represented at the annual meeting unless the admission fee of $2.00 for the present season is paid on or before the date of meeting.

No verbal proxies shall be accepted at any meeting and all proxies must be signed by an officer of the club and witnessed.

The amount of deposit required from each club shall be determined by the incoming executive and must be paid to the secretary-treasurer on or before the date of drawing up the schedule.

That National League rules shall govern all games as far as actual play is concerned.

That all games must be commenced within fifteen minutes after the advertised time.

That any team delaying a game longer than the above fifteen minutes shall be fined five dollars to be paid before the offending team or teams can participate in another game.

No team shall be allowed to enter the league after the schedule has been drawn up.

No permits shall be issued to any club under any consideration.

A player in the Senior City Baseball League must be a bonafide resident of the city from May the first.

Each player in the Senior City Baseball League must hold a certificate from the league to entitle him to play in such games.

That the number of playing certificates for each club shall be limited to fifteen.

Players who have participated in any recognized professional league are ineligible to play in this league.

A player playing in more than three games in the Midland League in the current season shall be ineligible to play in any more games in this league during that season.

The games will be played at Riverside and the fans will have a chance to see purely home bred players in the game. The teams are fairly fast and the exhibition of ball should be well up to the standard.

The schedule has been drawn up as follows:

Saturday, June 5—T. A. S. vs. Park St.; Strathconas vs. West Ends.

Saturday, June 12—Park St. vs. Strathconas; West Ends vs. T.A.S.

Saturday, June 19—Strathconas vs. T.A.S.; West Ends vs. Park St.

Saturday, June 26—Park St. vs. T. A. S.; West Ends vs. Strathconas.

Saturday, July 3—Strathconas vs. Park St.; T.A.S. vs. West Ends.

Saturday, July 10—T.A.S. vs. Strathconas; Park St. vs. West Ends.

GOOD UMPIRE APPOINTED

Dan McCabe Will Handle the Indicator in the Senior City Baseball League.

The Senior City League has been fortunate in the securing of Dan McCabe as the official umpire of the League for the season. The veteran Peterborough pitcher knows the game from Alpha to Omega, and will prove a most satisfactory arbitrator, as he is known as an impartial and capable official, whose decisions will go unquestioned by the players, and who will have no trouble with the latter. He was the unanimous choice of the League at last night's meeting, and this morning consented to accept the position.

TRAVELLERS BEAT THE KEENE TEAM

Commercial Men Had a Very Easy Task With the Villagers on Saturday.

Th ball team representing the Commercial Travellers of Peterborough defeated Keene in an exhibition game at Keene on Saturday afternoon by 18 runs to 7. The game was played at the fair grounds in Keene, and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators. The homesters had an early lead, but the travelling men found their batting eye before long and ended up the engagement in a blaze of glory and run getting. Dan McCabe pitched the first seven innings for the travellers and did good work. The fielding feature was the playing of Dickie at third, for the winners. Steve Davidson was behind the bat and showed his old-time Peterborough form.

The score by innings follows:

Travellers .. ..100053344—18
Keene .. ..2020000l0— 7

Batteries—McCabe, Blade and Davidson; Dean, McWilliams and Campbell.

THE MANAGERS ARE VERY BUSY

Heads of Senior City League Teams are Rounding Up Fast Players.

As will be seen by the report in another columns, the Senior City Baseball League was successfully floated last night and the opening will take place with proper eclat on Saturday. Local fans will no doubt welcome the news that they are to see something better than intermediate ball this season and doubtless the games of the new organization will be well patronized. With a double-header at Riverside Park each Saturday afternoon during the summer the baseball bugs surely cannot complain of not having enough ball.

Four strong teams will battle for the honours. The city has been thoroughly scoured and the managers of the different clubs will trot out the classiest players in the city for the opening games on Saturday. No restriction is placed on the teams with the exception that the players must be residents of Peterborough. This will ensure fast ball all the way and there should be some lively doings around the ball yards by the river when the big League gets under way.

The managers of the different teams have about rounded out their outfits, and there is great speculation as to the relative strength of the four. Jack Oldham is managing the West Ends, and has a classy bunch of younger players who have all the earmarks of developing into a formidable baseball machine. With their good battery and fast infield the West Ends will be strictly in the hunt. The T.A.S. will be managed by A. Quinlan, pitcher of the Athletics' Midland League team last year and he will likely do a great deal of the slab work for the Abstainers which is a guarantee that the T.A.S. will be one of the teams to beat. With Callaghan, Cahill, and a dozen other good men of that calibre the T.A.S. will be strong all through.

The Strathconas, under the management of W. J. Metheral, will have practically the same team that won the Intermediate City League last year, although there will be some changes and the High Commissioners are not saying anything about who will do the pitching for them this season.

Jack Pilling will be at the helm of the Park St. Athletic Club and the South end aggregation will have a splendid bunch to pick from. Jimmy Pilling, Ryan and other good twirlers are with the Park St. team, and they have a host of men for the other places.

All the teams are hard at work to get in shape for Saturday's opening, and two great games are expected.

PROGRAMME FOR THE WALKERS' BENEFIT MEET

There will be a benefit athletic meet in the Brock St. Rink to assist the outside walkers, who took part in last week's unsuccessful six-day walk. A good programme has been prepared and no doubt there will be a large crowd present for the events. The band of the 57th Regiment will turnout in full strength, and will play a choice programme of new music. The programme will be as follows:

One-half mile run for amateur championship of city.

One-mile run for amateur championship of city.

J. E. Blake and James Graham will run one mile.

Lewis West and Ray Fenton will walk one mile.

Tug-of-war between two good teams for the championship of city.

Fat man's race (one mile).

Mark Spenceley and John Blatchford will walk one mile, and the race should be a corker, as the veterans are right on edge.

"SLOWEST RACE I EVER RAN."

—Fred Simpson.

"The slowest race I ever ran in my life," declared Fred Simpson to-day, to the Examiner, speaking of the $10,000 Marathon ran in Chicago on Saturday, in which the local runner was fifth, and which was won by John Svanberg, the Swedish runner. Fred arrived home on the noon C. P. R. train to-day, accompanied by his brother and looked little the worse for the grind on Saturday.

Referring to the race Simpson stated that he never felt worse than during the contest; it was intensely hot, and try as he might, he simply could not run. His time was well over 3 hours for the distance, by far the slowest that he has ever run.

"When Longboat gave up," he remarked, "I was strongly tempted to do the same as I did not feel capable of finishing out, but I figured out that I was the only Canadian left and that it was to me to finish, if possible, so I stuck at it, although I was making ver yslow time. It was not until the sun sank below the high grandstand, and it became a little cooler that I did any running at all.

"Svanberg ran a splendid race and had things fairly easy throughout. St. Yves was run into the ground, and could not have gone any further ,and hte same was true of Longboat. The hot weather and the slow time just suited the two pluggers, Hayes and Maloney, and they had no difficulty in getting places."

Fred has no definite plans for the immediate future. A big Marathon is being arranged in Kansas City, but the local runner will not be a starter there although he may figure in the grind that is being arranged in Philadelphia.

NEW RUGBY TROPHY GIVEN BY EARL GREY

Ottawa, June 1.—A challenge cup for competition in Rugby football is to be given by His Excellency the Governor-General, according to an announcement made last night. It is hoped to make the trophy emblematic of the Dominion. The trophy is to be a perpetual one. The Governor-General is thus doing for football what his predecessor, Lord Minto, has done for lacrosse, and Lord Stanley for hockey. His Excellency names three trustees, H. B. McGiverin, M.P., of Ottawa, an old footballer; Rev. Bruce McDonald, principal of St. Andrew's College, Toronto, and M. Nolan of Montreal. Regarding the trustees, Earl Grey's wish is that they shall control the cup and that their decisions as to the cup and its custody shall be absolute. Should any trustee die, or otherwise drop out, a successor shall be appointed by the Governor-General for the time being.

At His Excellency's request, the trustees have made suggestions regarding the disposal of the cup and the contest for it, which His Excellancy has approved, with the reservation that the regulations must be considered as subject at any time to the will of the trustees, inasmuch as circumstances are always liable to arise which may render a departure from all rules.

The deed of gift has conditions similar to those for the Stanley and Minto cups.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, June 1.—Developments over the holidays were of a most favourable character and met with prompt response in a very active and strong opening with a good deal of outside buying, and excellent demand for stocks on the part of sold-out bulls. Most of the rails were inclined to hold back, but strengthened materially later on under lead of U. P. which made a new high record since the boom of 1906. Traders were inclined to help along the movement towards higher prices and the market easily absorbed offering and the undertone continues exceedingly strong. During the late afternoon the market grew dull but maintained its firmness. The Harriman interviews lends confidence to the situation as he says he expects a boom in the stock market later on in the year. Steel development is considered very important, as it is calculated to increase the interest which partakes in this market. The copper metal market is also stronger, due to the inclination of big consumers to lay in stocks rather than wait for low prices, and also to the increased exports.

Financing operations continue successful. We believe the market is going much higher and we note accumulation in the equipment issues and the Gould stocks. The market closed firm.

COUNTY COURT OPENS ON TUESDAY NEXT

The jury and non-jury sittings of the June sessions of the county court will open at the court house next Tuesday at one o'clock. His Honour Judge Weller was to have presided, but owing to illness will not be able to do so. Who the presiding judge will be is not yet known. So far only one jury case has been filed, that of Zachaeus Burnham vs. J. N. Ackerman. Mr. Burnham claims that Mr. Ackerman removed a fence last summer from around a cottage belonging to him, thereby permitting trespassing on the property.

Mr. Burnham claims $100 damages and an injunction restraining the defendant from trespassing on the piece of land.

COSTS FOR DEFENDANT

Hamilton Sporting Editors' Case is Finally Settled.

Hamilton, May 31.—The action brought by M. M. Robinson, sporting editor of the Spectator, against F. C. Mills, sporting editor of the Times, for libel, was dismissed this morning at Osgoode hall with costs to Mr. Mills. The costs in the action will be heavy, as there are three sets of them. In the first place a motion was made before the master to dismiss the action because the defendant was not an editor, as set forth in the statement of claim filed by the defendant. The master refused to dismiss it on these grounds. The matter was then taken into the high court by Mr. Mills and it was there ruled that a sporting editor was an editor and the action was dismissed with costs to Mr. Mills. An application for leave to take the matter to the divisional court was then made, and as Mr. Robinson failed to put up costs the matter was dismissed this morning on motion of John King, K.C., acting for Mr. Mills.

After consideration of the above appeals, the Court, on motion of Messrs. Howden and McKee, adjourned until Saturday, June 5th inst., to meet in Peterborough, at 2 p.m., for the purpose of getting more information on the matter before the court.

After the adjournment of the Court of Revision the Council resolved into session for the transaction of public affairs.

The Reeve in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. An account was presented from W. J. Byers for goods, charity, $18.17. Moved by Messrs. Howden and Morrow that the account be passed and paid.—Carried.

Mr. Howden, as chairman of the committee who were to construct a bridge at Orphington Ave., reported that at a meeting of the Committee it was decided to recommend that it would be better to put in a 30-inch tile culvert than to erect a cedar bridge at this point.

Moved by Messrs. Morrow and McKee, that this report be adopted, and the committee are hereby authorized to build a concrete tile culvert at Orphington Ave., instead of a cedar bridge.—Carried.

The Clerk was instructed to arrange a meeting of a Committee of the Council with the Manager of the Peterborough Street Railway Co. in regard to repairing the streets upon which the street railway tracks are laid. The Clerk was also instructed to communicate with the Roadmaster of the Grand Trunk Railway in regard to opening a culvert at the ¼ line on the 9th Con.

Council then adjourned until Saturday, June 5, at 2 p.m., in Peterborough.

THE BANDAGING CONTEST HELD

The annual bandging contest for the nurses at Nicholls Hospital was held last Saturday when three young ladies took part. The prize was keenly contested for, it being won by Miss Davidson. These young ladies will compose next year's graduating class.

SHEA HAD PAIR OF DOUBLES

Peterborough Boy is More Than Making Good in the Inter City League.

"Dubbie" Shea, the well-known Peterborough ball player, who is catching for the Goold, Shapley and Muir team of the Brantford and Hamilton Inter-City League is doing "some" playing these days. On Saturday against the Verity's Dubbie stung the pill for two beautiful doubles, which were responsible for the only two runs scored by his team. In addition he had seven outs and four assists behind the bat and played snappy ball all the way.

JIMMY GRAHAM WALKING HOME

Buffalo "Ped" Hits the Trail on Foot for the Other Side on Sunday.

Jimmy Graham, the Buffalo walker, who took part in the six-day walk in Brock St. Rink last week, showed that he could put his ability as a pedestrian into force by setting out from Peterborough on Sunday morning to walk home. There was little or no money in the walk for Graham, or any of the participants, and the Buffalo veteran concluded as the weather was all that could be desired and the roads in good shape, that he would hit up the trail for home. At least a number of local youngsters met the Buffalo ped. at Manvers on Sunday afternoon. He was westbound on the C.P.R. track, and was cutting out a lively pace with his coat under one arm and his walking suit under the other.

SELLEN HOOKS UP WITH ALFIE

The Two Crack Little Runners Will Come Together in Toronto.

Toronto, June 1st.—Percy C. Sellen and Alfred Shrubb are to race at Hanlan's Point Saturday night, but they have not settled upon the distance yet.

Alfred Shrubb is afraid of the same little ex-I.C.A.C. cock sparrow, and won't race him except at his own distance. He demands 12 miles, because that is his very best distance. Sellen wants 15 miles, because he knows he can do 15 miles in as good time as Shrubb has done it on this continent, while at 12 miles Shrubb's time has always been a trifle better than his own. In other words, Shrubb fades away a bit over the 12-mile mark, and that is just where Sellen has a chance to beat out the great Englishman. They have locked horns over the distance, but will race Saturday night if they have to decide the distance by the toss of the coin.

A five-mile open race for a $50 purse will precede the big race.

The Sellen-Shrubb race at either 12 or 15 miles, will be the "pro." tid-bit, and will rival in interest a Longboat-Shrubb 20-mile clash.

WITH THE RUNNERS.

The Y. M. C. A. Track and Field Club will meet to-night at 7.15 o'clock at Nicholls' Oval for a workout, and a full attendance of the members is expected. The track at the Oval is now in good shape and will be used by the Y. M. C. A. Club until the cinder track at Riverside Park, upon which work has been commenced, is finished.

THE CROP REPORT FOR THE PROVINCE FOR MONTH OF MAY ON WHOLE IS ENCOURAGING

The following regarding agricultural conditions in the Province about the middle of May has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Vegetation. — In the opinion of many correspondents, the growing season of 1909 is the latest for at least a score of years, it being placed at from one to two weeks alter than the average. The exceedinly wet and cool weather prevailing during April and the early part of May is the cause. Returns were made to the Department as to the conditions about the middle of May, and at that date more favorable weather conditions had given a fresh impulse to growth in both field and forest. Up to that time only the earliest varieties of trees were coming into leaf, and in most localities pastures were only beginning to permit of live stock being turned upon them.

Fall Wheat.—Reports concerning the prospects of fall wheat vary greatly, even in the same localities, some describing the crop as looking well, though late, while others state that the fields are not only backward in growth, but are thin and much 'spotted.' Owing to the dry period prevailing whe nmost of the seeding was done, much of the new fall wheat did not start until the rains of late September came, and the young plants entered the winter with very little top. Winter conditions, however, were not unfavourable to the crop, except where ice formed, and an early spring growth would have brought the fields along nicely; but the cold and very wet weather of April retarded growth, and on poorly drained or low land almost drowned out the crop. Much better growth was made on sandy and gravelly soils than on clays, owing to the excessive moisture. While there are many patchy spots, plowing up of the crop will not be generally resorted to ,owing to grass being seeded with the wheat but barely or other spring grains will be drilled into the bare spots. The latest reports are the most favorable, showing that the crop is rapidly recuperating with the growing weather. There is less injury than usual reportde from insects.

Winter Rye.—The acreage of this crop is comparatively small, it being raised chiefly for pasturing, soiling, or for plowing under. It has done better than fall wheat, and is looking very well.

Clover.—Old meadows poor, new meadows promising, is a fair summary of the reurns received regarding this crop. Early reports spoke of considerable heaving, but later retnrns state that much of the loose sod is returning to place. Clover was injured by the long dry spell covering the latter part of last summer and the early part of the fall, and in many instances it was pastured too closely owing to the scarcity of fodder. The unusually cold spring, with frequent rains ,also hurt the crop, particularly on low or badly drained ladn. Like fall wheat, clover looks best on high land and on light soils. While many correspondents predict a good yield of hay, others are looking for a comparatively light cut.

Spring Sowing.—The small portion of the spring crops that were put in early found an excellent seed bed, but heavy rains immediately followed, and the land get too soft to work on, making further sowing almost an impossibility for weeks, except in a few cases where, to use the expressive language of some correspondents, the seed was "puddled" in. While those on high, light, or well drained land have made fair headway wit htheir spring seeding, the bulk of farmers were not more than half way through with that work in the second week of May, a most unusual record for Ontario. However, farmrs were ready and eager to get on the land with the first appearance of dry weather, and while some correspondents were taking a rather gloomy view of the situation others were most hopeful taht with the advent of warm weather there would be a quick advance in the growth of spring crops.

Fruit Trees.—All classes of orchard trees have come through the winter in good condition so far as injury from the weather or mice is concerned, although bark-splitting is reported in some northern localities. Unfortunately there are a number of references to the presence of San Jose scale and the oyster-shell bark louse, and it is a vry evident that a steady warfare must be waged against these and other insect pests if our fruit trees are to thrive. Several correspondents declare taht too many of our orchards are still badly neglected. While leafing and blossoming were about a week or two backward, reports were to the effect that barring late frosts ,and heavy rains at the time of bloom a good yield of fruit may be looked for. Peaches, especially, are looked for. Peaches, especially, are looked to for a large yield, as the buds were but little injured by the winter.

Fodder Supplies.—But for the comparative mildness of the winter there would have been much scarcity of fodder before live stock got upon the late grass. As it is, many farmers have had to feed most economically, and some barns are rather bare of supplies. The scarcity of straw and roots told against generous feeding, and in many cases the situation was saved only by the good crop of corn and the use of the silo. Hay is in good demand, but in most cases there is only sufficient for local demand, as a good deal was baled and shipped during the winter. Oats and wheat are higher in value than for years, but the slow sales this spring at very tempting prices prove that farmers have only about enough for home consumption. In Eastern Ontario oats for seeding are at a premium; in fact, all kinds of provender are scarcer in that section than in the more western counties.

Live Stock.—The general condition of live stock may be briefly described as thin but thrifty. No disease of a serious or epidemic nature has appeared, the mild form of distemper reported in several parts of the Province being of a local nature. Horses are said to be in good heart, although not looking so plump or sleek as in some years ,owing to close feeding. The same may be said of both beef and dairy cattle. The chief ailments reported amongst this class of stock were cases of abortion and other parturient troubles with a number of cows, and scours in calves. Most of the stall fed and other fed cattle have been disposed of, but the number of stockers going upon grass is somewhat less, than in former years. Sheep have come through the winter nicely and lambing has been upon a generous scale; but fear of the dog is holding gback the sheep industry in Ontario. Loss of spring litters has been rather too common with sows, and several correspondents report cases of crippling of hogs; but otherwise there are few complaints made regarding this class of stock except that while high prices are being paid for pork the equally high cost of feed leaves very little profit for the farmer. A number of correspondents hold that on this account there will not be a surplus of hogs offering later in the season.

POLLARD KISS THE VERY LATEST THING

Ruling of Judge Hay Become Important Factor in Divorce Actions.

Chicago, June 2nd.—In his ruling that Mrs. Marylet Elisabeth Di Palma has a right to kiss her husband, if she can catch him, even though he is suing her for divorce, Judge Pollard, of the Dayton Street Police Court, has opened up vast future possibilities.

A kiss as a reconcilor has had much weight from ancient times. "Kiss and make up" now has the sanction of law as a settler of divorce cases out of court.

The Pollardised caress as the latest addition to conciliatory literature may now be taken up by the professors of the University of Chicago for analysis.

In the Di Palma case the father-in-law was fined heavily, $100 and costs, for interfering when the estranged wife sought to catch her husband and kiss him.

Di Palma has taken an appeal and the higher courts may be expected to pass upon the police court dictum. If the case should reach the Supreme Court of the United States and the Pollard ruling be sustained, who knows but that the vexed question of divorce may be put in a fair way toward solution thereby.

But the other side of the shield is yet to be shown. Has a husband whose wife has filed suit for divorce an equal right to chase his wife around the lot and implant a kiss if he catches her? Or, in such an instance, would the courts uphold the right of a mother-in-law to interfere and drive away the pursuing spouse?

Opinion differ. Some who have discussed the matter hold that Judge Pollard made his ruling because of gallantry and sympathy, the beneficiary being a woman, young and fairly good looking.

But it is a poor rule of law that won't work both ways, as the world knows.

Another ramification — can the love germ, which has been eradicated by lack of contact, be reconveyed to the unloving spouse by a kiss bestowed under catch-as-catch-can rules of the game? Or can the unwilling kissee escape by pleading the Chicago germ theory as to kisses, which has nothing to do with the love germ?

The popularization of the Pollardised-kiss will be followed, it is predicted, by a decrease in the number of divorce cases that come to trial.

KEYS OF THE KINGDOM

PASTOR RUSSELL PREACHES WHITSUN SERMON.

Saint Peter Was Twice Given the Privilege of Opening the Doors to the Jews and to the Gentiles—Humblest in the Glorified Church of Christ Will Be Greater Than the First of the Prophets.

London, England, May 30.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle addressed a large convention of Bible students from all parts of the Kingdom to-day. We report one of his discourses:

Christians to-day celebrate one of the most epoch-making events of history—the Pentecostal blessing, by which the Heavenly Father indicated the acceptance of the Redeemer to glory, and the application of the merit of his sacrifice on behalf of the "household of faith," for the covering of their sins. Because of this blotting out of the condemnation of sin as respects believers, the consecrated ones, waiting for such a cancellation of their sins, were accepted of the Lord and granted an anointing and benediction of the holy Spirit. Jews condemned by the Law, which they were unable to keep perfectly, had been unfit for Divine acceptance as sons, and at the very most were permitted to be members of the House of Servants under Moses and the Law. The impartation of the holy Spirit signified to these that they were transferred from the house of servants to the house of sons: "For Moses verily was faithful in all his house as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after; but Christ as a son over his own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end" (Hebrews iii, 5, 6).

The Scriptures very consistently show that God could accept none to be members of his House of Sons until first of all the sacrifice for sins had been offered—more than this, not until it had been presented to the Father and accepted by him. Adam indeed is called in the Scriptures the son of God, because he was created in God's image and likeness; but so soon as he had sinned he forfeited this relationship, and none of his posterity was counted worthy to resume this relationship until redeemed by the precious blood. Abraham, noble and grand that he was, might merely be styled "the friend of God," and others could boast merely of being his mouthpieces and servants. He who came from above and assumed our nature and became a member of our race through his mother, was the Son of God, "the only-begotten of the Father, full of grace and Truth." But we read that, "To as many as received him gave he power (privilege) to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God" (John i, 12, 13). This is in full accord with St. Paul's record in Hebrews xi, 38-40. There, after recounting the worthies of the past, he declares, "These all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise: God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us (the Gospel Church) should not be made perfect." In other words, they cannot get the earthly blessings and privileges and honors which God is pleased to give them until first Christ the Head and the Church his Body shall have been developed and glorified. Then, through the glorified Christ, God's blessing shall exend to the Ancient Worthies and through them to Israel and to all the families of the earth.

This is in full accord also with what our Lord said of John the Baptist, the last of the prophets. His words were, "Verily I say unto you, Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist; notwithstanding, he that is least in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than he" (Matthew xi, 11).

In other words, the humblest one in the glorified Church on the spirit plane, as a member of the Body of Christ and a member of the glorified Kingdom class, will be greater and occupy a more honorable position than the greatest of the prophets. So, then, from this standpoint we perceive that Pentecost distinctly marked a new dispensation, the dispensation of the holy Spirit, the period for the development of the sons of God.

We do not wish to be understood that God never exercised his Spirit or [illegible]. Quite to the contrary, the Scriptures tell us that it was by the Spirit, the holy power of God, that constituted the active principle in the creation. Again they tell us that throughout the past holy men of old spake and wrote as they were moved by the holy Spirit. But they were not moved by the holy Spirit in the same way that the Church is moved and controlled and guided. They were controlled mechanically. They spoke and wrote, but they did not understand; as St. Peter distinctly tells us in the same connection, that "not unto themselves, but unto us they did minister the things now freely reported unto you through the holy Spirit sent down from heaven." In other words, the prophets of old were merely the pen and tongue which the Lord used and that chiefly in preparing statements to be understood by us, his people of this Gospel Age. For instance, the Prophet David, when he declared, "Thou wilt not leave my soul in sheol; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption" (Psalm xvi, 10), had no knowledge he was writing prophecy of Jesus, nor any knowledge of how it would be fulfilled. But St. Peter, after he had received the holy Spirit at Pentecost, was able to point out that it was spoken of Jesus and not of David, whose sepulcher is with us unto this day—"No man hath ascended up to heaven" (John iii, 13).

The Pentecostal blessing of the holy Spirit was pictured in the anointing of Israel's high priest, Aaron, whose sons represented his body, the under-priesthood, the Church. The holy anointing oil poured upon Aaron's head symbolised the holy Spirit poured upon our Lord Jesus and the members of his Body. In Aaron's case the anointing oil descended upon the body, and the prophet declares that it was poured upon "his head, even Aaron's head, and ran down unto the skirts of his garments." Thus the anointing of our Lord, which he received of the Father at the time of his baptism at Jordan, descended upon his members and has been with the Church ever since — upon the Church accepted of the Lord "as membear of the Body of Christ." A similar type was instituted in connection with the kings, who were all anointed in the name of the Lord. These two offices of priest and king were both typical of The Christ—Jesus the Head and the Church his members. As a sacrificing priest, first his own person was sacrificed, and secondly the flesh of the Church, the justified bodies of those accepted to membership in him. These are called a Royal Priesthood because their service extends to a work of glory in the future, typified by Melchisedec, who was both priest and king. So the Christ of Glory will be a Priest upon his Throne. As the priestly office represents the instructions and uplifting influences which will be a part of that Millennial Kingdom work, so his Kingly Office will represent the Authority and Power and Government of that Epoch.

The Gospel of the Kingdom was the theme of the preaching, both of Jesus and the Apostles. It is a great loss to the Church that this feature, once so prominent, has been lost sight of. Instead, the prevailing idea to-day is that civilised peoples of the world constitute God's Kingdom, and it is for this cause that the word Christendom came into vogue as signifying Christ's Kingdom. Alas, the most civilised of these Kingdoms are no more than what the Scriptures term "kingdoms of this world," more or less under the power or dominion of the Prince of this world, Satan. It is for this reason that they are spending millions of money on armies and navies, guns, explosives and torpedoes that they may blow one another off the face of the earth—"because they so love one another!"

The Scriptural proposition is that God is now selecting those who, in the close of this age, shall be glorified, and constitute his Royal Priesthood to administer righteousness, Truth, and corrections to the world—in the name of the Lord and along the lines of his Righteousness. This will be with a view to the world's uplifting out of sin-and-death conditions. So many of God's dear people as obtain this view of matters are thereby prepared for a great blessing. It will take from them unnecessary distress on account of the heathen, for it will show them that God is not neglectful of the heathen, but ultimately, when his plan matures, when his Kingdom shall be established under the whole heavens, all who have not had a full opportunity for reconciliation with him in the present life shall have such an opportunity there—during the Millennial Age—under the ministrations of Christ's Kingdom of Righteousness.

Not only those living at that time will receive a great blessing, but also those who have gone down into the great prison-house of death. "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man and come forth," the faithful to their reward of everlasting life: the ignorant and the undeveloped, to trial or judgment, that they may prove themselves to God. Restitution to original perfection and eternal life, will be the reward of the willing and obedient; but those refusing God's grace will demonstrate their unworthiness of eternal life and bring upon themselves the eternal penalty of Second Death (Acts iii, 23).

It will be noticed that St. Peter referred to Joel's prophecy in connection with the Pentecostal blessing, declaring that what was witnessed and experienced was in fulfillment of that prophecy of Joel (Joel ii, 28). But the prophecy was not all fulfilled—merely a portion of it. Another portion of that prophecy remains to be fulfilled after the glorification of the Church with Christ, after the establishment of the heavenly Kingdom, for which we pray, "Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." St. Peter merely refers to the part of the prophecy fulfilled in his day and, in so doing, followed the custom of his illustrious Master. The Pentecostal blessing came only upon the "servants and handmaids" of the Lord—only upon the consecrated. And so it has been all down through this age. None others have received the Spirit, the unction from the Holy One. It is the spirit of begetting, and only those who receive it can ever hope to be born again—"born from the dead." It is written that our Lord was the "first-born amongst many brethren." The faithful ones of the spirit-begotten class will be those members who will be born from the dead in the "First Resurrection."

Subsequently, however, the other part of Joel's prophecy will be fulfilled—God will pour out his holy Spirit upon all flesh, upon everybody. The power, the energy of God, will operate during the Millennium upon all mankind to the opening of blind eyes and the unstopping of deaf ears, to the awakening from the sleep of death of all those who are in the great prison-house. And in proportion as each shall respond to the influences of the holy Spirit upon his will, so will be the rapidity of his progress upward to harmony with God, though not the path which leads to the heavenly glory. It will be altogether different from the one now open.

Joel's prophecy is stated in a hidden manner, yet it is perfectly plain if the eyes of our understanding are properly focussed upon it. One of these outpourings of the holy Spirit was to be "in those days" and the other was to be "after those days." In those days the Lord would pour out his Spirit upon his servants and handmaids. After those days he would pour it out upon all flesh and the rising generation [your young men] would see the vision which the Ancients [your old men] had seen obscurely—dreamed about. We are living, dear friends, at the culminating point between these two outpourings. The Pentecostal blessing has almost accomplished its designed purpose, the sanctifying to God of a "peculiar people," a "little flock," out of every nation, people, kindred and tongue, to constitute the Body of Christ and be his joint-heirs in the Kingdom. Just as soon as this shall be finished the great time of trouble which the Lord has foretold will come. "A time of trouble such as was not since there was a nation, nor ever shall be afterward," shall break upon the world, not for its destruction, but that, as a plowshare, it may break up the fallow ground and prepare the hearts of mankind. Then will come the great Divine blessing of Truth and grace through the glorified Church and through the earthly Ancient Worthies, the representatives of the spiritual Kingdom.

When our Lord said unto Peter, I give unto you the keys of the Kingdom of Heaven, it was a dark saying which St. Peter could not understand. Some dear Christian people think that the Lord meant that St. Peter should have the right or authority to determine who might go through the gate into the New Jerusalem; and some think that perhaps it meant that to him would be intrusted the keeping of Purgatory and the letting out of Purgatory into heaven such as would be prepared for eternal life by its sufferings. With both of these views we must disagree. In our judgment the Lord's words had a fulfillment that may be plainly discerned from the standpoint of his Word. While it is true that the Church is only now called to be a Kingdom and is not yet a Kingdom in the particular sense, nevertheless, for convenience, our Lord refers at times to the Church as the Kingdom in embryo—in some of the parables, for instance. It is composed of the class which, after being proven and found faithful, will constitute the Kingdom.

When on the day of Pentecost St. Peter, after receiving the holy Spirit, stood up and acted as the chief spokesman and explained the purport of the power of the holy Spirit as manifested, he threw open the door, as it were, to the Jews, who came together and through that doorway several thousand came into that embryo Kingdom. Thus did St. Peter use the first key in opening the way to the Jews. But it was "keys" in the plural that he was to use. And so we find that when three and a half years later God's due time came for granting similar privileges to the Gentiles, in connection with the bestowment of the holy Spirit upon Cornelius, the first Gentile convert. These doors still stand ajar, because the full number of the "elect" have not yet been accepted of the Lord and fully tested and found worthy. We have numerous reasons, however, for believing that the selecting work is nearly at an end; that soon the last member of the Body of Christ will have finished his course with joy and will have passed beyond the veil to join the Church triumphant, the Christ, the great King, the great Prophet, the great Priest, the great Judge, the great Mediator, through whose ministrations Divine blessings and glorious opportunities are to come to all mankind.

Question, dear friends, what is it worth to attain such glory, honor and immortality, and to share with the Redeemer in his great Work of dispensing Divine favor to all families of the earth? What would you give for such a position? That is just the question the Lord is putting to consecrated believers to-day. According to their answer they will be esteemed worthy or unworthy of a place in that Kingdom. The only answer that seems necessary to the Lord, the only attitude on our part that will bring us to a desired place among the "elect," is to give our all to the Lord and to his service. "If ye do these things ye shall never fail, but so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

Skeena River Season.

By means of two new steamers the entire 200 miles of the route between Prince Rupert and Hazleton, the head of navigation on the Skeena River, will be covered by a frequent service throughout the season of navigation. The growth of business along the river is largely owing to the work of construction on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, which follows the river closely to Hazleton, and requires an army of men, the transport with their supplies constituting a large business in itself. The Skeena, however, is world-renowned for its unfailing pack every year of the highest grades of salmon, the canneries being very numerous along the entire river. Hazleton is also the northern depot in British Columbia for the fur trade, and is now the objective point for the prospectors and settlers, who are moving into interior British Columbia along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in large numbers.

Poetic Justice.

A man whose soul had been tortured frequently by the remarks of his wife, who takes a fiendish delight in setting a price on the handsome clothes worn by other women, one day found sweet comfort in the incautious comment of a woman in a crowded car.

"Oh, yes," said that observing other woman, "the hat looks well enough, but it is cheap. It couldn't have cost a cent more than $6."

Thereupon said the man to his wife: "Why do you always pick out the most expensive clothes for especial notice? Why don't you look at something cheap once in awhile? There are cheap things worn. There is a hat in this very car that cost only $6. The woman just behind us pointed it out a minute ago."

"Well," said his wife, "you are the last person on earth who ought to feel proud of it. It was me she was talking about."—New York Times.

Old English Flint Glass.

Large quantities of lead and potash were introduced into the constituents of the glass which in 1673 is described as being clear, heavy and thick as crystal.

A great impetus was given to the manufacture when the edict of Nantes in 1685 drove the skilled artisans from France. Many of them came to England, and the fame of British glass grew until it was considered superior to that of Bohemia.

From 1736 to about 1761 we have but few particulars. Then Michael Edkins, formerly a potter, became prominent as a maker of the highest class of enameled glass, which has become very scarce. It has an opaque white body, beautifully painted in enamel colors with figures, flowers, etc. In fact, it much resembles a glassy porcelain. It is getting scarce, too, and fine pieces are increasing in value.—London Opinion.

Porcine Geometry.

Seven-year-old William had become the proud owner of a pet pig and insisted upon having all the care of it himself. After a few weeks, as the pig did not seem to thrive, his father said to him:

"William, I'm afraid you are not feeding your pig enough. It does not seem to be fattening at all."

"I don't want him to fatten any yet," William replied knowingly. "I'm waiting until he gets to be as long as I want him, then I'll begin to widen him out."

After the Honeymoon.

He (at a picture gallery)—I wonder what that painting represents? The youth and the maiden are in a tender attitude. She—Oh, don't you see? He has just asked her to marry him, and she is accepting him. He—Ah, how appropriate the title! She—I don't see it. He—Why, that card at the bottom says "Sold."

Her Reason.

He—Do you know any good reason why women should vote?

She—Yes, I do.

"What is it?"

"Well, because."—Yonkers Statesman.

CREAM AND CREAM SEPARATOR LEGISLATION

From Farm and Dairy.

Canadians take a great pride in the laws enacted to protect and foster the dairy industry. The laws against spurious dairy products; the laws against milk adulteration; the laws providing for sanitary inspection and instruction in cheese factories and creameries were well conceived and have proven very effective in maintaining the standard and improving the quality of our dairy products. Recently passed legislation in Ontario seeking to control the erection of cheese factories and creameries and to establish a standard of qualification for makers has in it possibilities for further improvement in quality and placing the business of cheese and butter-making on a more stable basis.

It may be possible to legislate an industry out of existence, surrounding it with so many rules and regulations that the freedom of the individual to think and act for himself is so checked that he seeks a new field for his activities, where by his own personal application he can do better for himself and for his country. This cannot, however, be said of our dairy laws numerous and exacting as they are. There is a sameness about them that makes them both effective and workable. Other counties are beginning to recognize this and are copying them and applying them to their own conditions.

A DRASTIC DAIRY FARM

Some countries have gone one or two better and are striking out on new lines. The State of Oregon has recently passed a dairy law, which, though, rather drastic as it is, will, if it can be enforced, go a long way towards improving the quality of the dairy products of that State. How would our farmers, who own cream separators and are supplying cream to creameries, like to submit to the following legislation, which has been enacted by the State legislature of Oregon?

"It shall be unlawful for any dairyman, who skims his milk by cream separator process to offer or expose for sale, or sell any milk or cream coming from a separator that is not thoroughly washed and cleaned after each use thereof, or to offer or expose for sale, or sell any milk or cream coming from a separator that is kept in any stable or other building where any animal is housed or in any other place that is unsanitary or where bad air exists; provided that this does not prohibit keeping separators in a room that is wholly separated by sealed and papered partition from that part of the stable in which animals are housed. All tin and wooden ware and other utensils used about any dairy shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition.

"When cows are kept by any person or persons, for dairy purposes, whether for butter, cheese, or for the production of milk or cream for sale, in addition to provisions already made by law, and now enforced, the stables or barns where such cows are kept shall be thoroughly cleansed every day and kept in a sanitary condition. The cow's udder shall be well cleaned immediately before each milking, and when the udder is soiled by mud or other filth it must be thoroughly washed with water and wiped with a clean, dry cloth.

"It shall be unlawful for any persons who operate cream routes to accept or receive cream on said routes which has been separated or skimmed more than four days, excepting from June 15th to Sept. 15th of each year, during which period it shall be unlawful to accept cream which has been separated or skimmed more than three days."

MUST BE TAGGED

Another clause provides for the same regulations in regard to cream carried over a railroad, steamboat, etc. And further provides that every seller of cream must attach a tag to the receptacle holding such cream on which it must be stated that such cream is not more than three or four days old as the case may be. Moreover, it is unlawful for any creamery agent or employee to receive or accept cream unless it is so tagged.

There is more still. No manufacturer of butter shall be allowed to use cream pronounced unfit for use by the state dairy or food commissioner. Unless such manufacturer complains at once to the proper official that he has received cream that is unfit for use, the possession of such cream shall be prima facie evidence of intent to use the same and shall be deemed a misdemeanor within the meaning of the Act. All cream pronounced by the proper official unfit for use shall be confiscated. Then every creamery must take samples of all cream purchased and hold for two days, subject to the inspection of the proper officials. The law provides for the appointment of officials to enforce the Act.

The creamery business in Ontario is not in such condition that we can afford to ignore its needs at the present time. Educational effort has done and is doing much to improve things. A little wholesome legislation directly in the interest of the creamery business might help some. The cream-gathering system is here to stay. Properly operated it is capable of turning out as good quality of butter as any other system. If the methods followed by our creameries and their patrons are somewhat lax then something should be done to place the business on a better footing. Butter making is destined to become more and more an important branch of dairying in Canada, and those responsible for its success should see to it that nothing is left undone that legislation or education can do, that will bring about improved conditions of manufacture and insure a uniformly good quality of product being turned out at all times and in all places.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF

From Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats and Hoarseness by Using Hyomei.

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house for a week swallowing nauseating drugs. Why not avoid all this? Why not relieve your cold in five minutes? Why not cure it over night? You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrh, bronchitis and asthma.

William Guest, of Ayr, Ont., says: "Booth's Hyomei, has proven to be a most satisfactory treatment for nasal catarrh and bronchial trouble. I have doctored considerably for these troubles and conscientiously say that nothing ever used has given me such quick and lasting benefit as this remedy. I have found it especially good for cold in the head and cough. I am very glad to endorse Hyomei as an article of uncommon merit."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated and antiseptic air. You breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler and its soothing influence as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tract, stops the mucous discharge, allays the inflammation and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei Outfit costs $1.00 and Wm. Madill will refund your money if it fails to cure.

BETTER POLICE PROTECTION

From Farm and Dairy.

Editor, Farm and Dairy,—Each day as we scan our papers and read accounts of the ever-increasing number of cases of murders, "hold-ups," horse-stealing, cattle maiming, etc., the necessity for more efficient police service is more clearly borne in upon our minds. It seems to be conceded on all sides that the only solution of this problem is to be found in the establishment of a rural constabulary, to act in conjunction with our present county constables. I read with a great deal of interest a letter from Col. Vance Gravely, dealing with this subject, some time ago; and as I cannot at present lay my hand upon the paper containing it, I am sure he will pardon me, should I unwittingly appear to advance any of his theories as my own.

My idea is that we should have a semi-military rural mounted constabulary. The members of this corps should be picked men, of intelligence and education, as well as good physique. I should advise that they be governed by the same regulations as the North-West Mounted Police, excepting that they should be under the control of, and paid by, the Provincial Government. In addition to the ordinary duties of county constable, they might report any glaring defects in roads, bridges, etc., to the reeves of the different townships, through which they passed. I should also consider it advisable to have them equipped with small pocket telephones, which they might attach to the wire at any point, thus rendering it possible for them to summon assistance, etc.

Now for the military side. In case of war, these men would form a simply invaluable corps of guides. With their minutely accurate knowledge of the country, they could give detailed descriptions of roads, the condition of rivers, at different periods of the year, the capabilities of bridges for the transportation of troops and, in short, would form the most valuable branch of the militia service. We have only to refer to the North-West Mounted Police, of almost world-wide fame, to see to what a height of perfection a constabulary force can attain; and, I believe, in our own case the mere existence of such a corps would have a salutary effect, and be largely detrimental to the prevalence of crime, so deplorably marked at the present time.—R. NO WOMAN

CAN BE STRONG AND HEALTHY UNLESS THE KIDNEYS ARE WELL.

When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up. Those who have never been troubled with kinney trouble know not the misery and suffering which those afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by healing the delicate membranes of the kidneys and thus make their action regular and natural.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by young and old.

Let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others, that is, cure you.

Mrs. M. Bryanton, Spring Valley, P.E.I., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for two years. They were so bad at times I could not cross the floor for the pain. I tried a doctor but he did me no good at all. I sent to my nearest druggist and got boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I have had no more trouble for nearly three years now."

Price 50 cts. per box, or 3 for $1.25, all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE POULTRY ON THE FARM

From Farm and Dairy.
Prof. F. C. Elford, Macdonald College, Que.

Though poultry deserves credit for what it has done, it is entitled to much more for what it is doing. It is quite safe to say that no department of the farm work pays more for the money invested than does poultry. Very few know just what the revenue from the poultry amounts to in a year. Many who have kept track of it are satisfied that it pays as good or better returns as anything on the farm. Few departments have better prospects. Some years ago when eggs went up to 25 and 30 cents a dozen, farmers thought it was an outrageous price, that every person would go into the business and the prices would go flatter than ever. We thought the same when we sold dressed poultry at 10c. a lb. undrawn. People have gone into poultry more and more and the prices have continued to go up, until prices in the fall when every person is sending to market, range from 18c. to 20c., according to quality and market.

What about eggs? The prices are even more striking. I remember when we sold eggs from an Ontario farm at seven and eight cents a dozen. At that time we never sold for over 20 cents, winter or summer. Now we seldom if ever drop below a cent an egg during the summer and in the winter the price is according to the conscience of the seller, running anywhere from 35c. to 60c. a dozen. These highest prices may not continue, but there is no probability that they will ever be so low as to become unprofitable.

At present prices that farmers get for produce the poultry pays and pays well. Here is a quotation from a letter that is a sample of many received: "I recently sold our lot of chickens on the Ottawa market for 22c a lb. I don't know if that is a record price, they averaged $1.20. The best price I know of for steers is 5½c. a lb. live weight. I am inclined to think there is more profit in the chick business."—B. E. Moffatt. The price was unusually high, but a pound of chicken does not take much more to produce than a pound of pork or beef, and note the usual difference in price.

An acquaintance of mine in the Eastern Townships of Quebec kept about 40 hens and from the flock takes in every year at least $300.00. These prices and returns come where the Poultry Department is recognized, where it receives at least equal attention with the other departments. The initial cost need not be heavy. A very few dollars will start a farmer and every farmer should have an up-to-date poultry department.

Bass' Barley Wine for Invalids

For nutritive qualities, barley, of all cereals, ranks next in importance to wheat.

When malted it contains fat producing and nourishing properties.

Barley malt is rich in grape sugar, starch and proteids.

It is a well known fact that grape sugar is readily assimilated by the most delicate stomach.

The diastase in the malt converts the starch into grape sugar.

The proteids,—the nourishing qualities of the barley,—by the same process, are turned into peptones and parapeptones.

To make this clearer, these proteids, when malted, are converted into a preparation that the most delicate stomach can digest.

When you use Bass' Barley Wine, you get the highest percentage of the nourishing qualities of barley which can be digested and assimilated without effort.

Many of the so-called malt extracts are nothing more than the by-products of the malt and hops of the brew.

From a nutritive point of view they are next to useless.

Bass' Barley Wine is made from pure barley malt and hops by the largest and most famous brewers in the world—Bass & Co.

Unlike most of the malt extracts, Bass' Barley Wine is guaranteed to be absolutely free from preservatives of all kinds.

Barley malt and hops when taken in the form of Bass' Barley Wine have not only great digestive power but great nutritive value.

Bass' Barley Wine will tone up the system, cure dyspepsia, insomnia, and nervous troubles, make firm, healthy flesh and build you up.

It's an excellent preparation for tubercular troubles, nursing mothers and all run down conditions.

Bass' Barley Wine costs 80 cents a bottle and has a nourishing value equal to three bottles of any other malt extract.

SIMPLE BUT EFFECTIVE FROCKS OF LINEN and PONGEE in the NEW COLORS

TO be smartly and appropriately gowned at all times and in all places is and should be the ambition of every living woman, be she sixty or sixteen. Fortunately the appropriate can be attained to always, no matter what the circumstance, while frequently those costumes which appear smartest do not imply necessarily the greatest cost. And this is just the lesson which it behooves every girl to take unto herself—that a little study and a small measure of thoughtful planning will often evolve an outfit which answers every requirement for the style of country place in which she happens to spend her summer, and have left over besides a nice little sum for perhaps contingencies which she might otherwise have had to go without.

Naturally it is difficult for a girl whose allowance, to itself that, perhaps, of her dearest friend to realize that she can manage to be quite as well gowned at all times as that more favored friend, but indeed this is well within the realms of possibility. She must make up her mind, to economize with, to purchase only gowns of more or less simple character, and during the summer time she must eschew the more delicate shades in such textures as linen and the fascinating soft inexpensives, for, alluringly pretty as they are when just made up, the perishable color will soon lose its soft tint and the gown can no longer be worn. She had better keep firmly to white during the summer months, and, no matter how formal the gathering, a girl gowned in a well fitting white frock, be it lawn or linen, is sure to look charming. Bright colored ribbons are fortunately inexpensive and go far to add to the charm of an otherwise all white costume.

It is constantly heard said that the only difficulty with a linen gown is that it cannot be worn out; and for the economical girl this is almost an objection to the texture, for her frugal mind cannot bear to purchase a new gown while she has another that, if old fashioned in its lines, is yet perfectly good. It is a mistake, however, to carry economy too far, and if the last year's frock cannot be altered so as to be up to date it must be discarded and a new one substituted.

ALTHOUGH always a popular summer material, linen seems to be more than ever in favor this year, and is especially smart for all kinds and sorts of morning gowns, both the severely simple shirt waist and skirt costumes for golf and tennis as well as those intended for more elaborate wear. In the majority of country places separate white bodice and skirt costumes are considered suitable for any sort of use during the forenoon, but in the more fashionable resorts a "shirt waist dress" is restricted to the golf links, tennis court or sailboat, a simple dress throughout either of lawn or linen being donned at other times. Indeed, the simpler the dress the better, many of the very smartest models being absolutely plain, of white or colored linen laid in a few plaits or tucks, and only a stock and jabot of lawn or lace and a colored belt to relieve the simplicity.

The high waisted skirt is to be worn throughout the summer by all to whom it is becoming. The average girl looks exceptionally well in this style of dress, for it is a design calling for excessive slenderness and straightness of line. American tailors and dressmakers have finally learned to hang this style of skirt correctly, so that the material hangs loose, so to speak, from the top of the broad band of belting down to the hips, and is cut in in no way to suggest the so-called corselet skirt of three years back. This so-called Paquin skirt will therefore continue to be worn in all such textures as linen, pongee, silk and even in the thinner fabrics as well.

FASHIONS are in a decidedly transitory state at the moment and it would be well for the girl of meagre allowance to avoid all extremes in her dress save that of great simplicity. Her sleeves should not be too small nor her skirt too tight, nor should her waist line be high to the point of exaggeration. It is hard to make definite predictions for the future just yet, but it is safe to say that three months hence full skirts—that is, of course, comparatively speaking—will be in vogue once more, sleeves will no longer show the narrow shoulder line and the belt line will be once more very nearly if not quite in its normal position.

In purchasing a mourning dress it would be well to select a model which shows some trimming and plaiting in the skirt, for while all still fit closely about the hips, there are plaited flounces let in here and there below the knees which give considerable of the old time flare to a short skirt. And here is a good time to emphasize the tremendous importance of the fit of a short dress. Especially in linen is it imperative for the material to be smoothly draped and fitted to the figure, for while in the more sheer fabrics, as mull and lawn, the material will often cling in of itself in graceful, becoming lines, with linen this can never be hoped for. Still another point of immense importance with regard to a skirt which clears the ground is that it hang evenly all around—better wear a second year hat than a skirt longer in back than in front or sides—the first will always be forgiven, the other is inexcusable.

THERE is a decided trimness in the fit of all gowns for young girls this season, and even in the separate bodices there is little blouse in front and in back, and on the sides the waist must be held down smooth and flat under the belt.

One piece linen gowns are seen in great variety this year, and for the morning there is no style of dress more attractive. In dark green, raspberry or natural colored linen, one model which, finished in back with only a few wide tucks, is fastened in front, a little to one side, all the way down from collar to hem with large buttons covered with the material itself, is exceedingly pretty. At the throat is a little guimpe of finest batiste, tucked and trimmed with narrowest Irish or Cluny insertion, and this guimpe is only buttoned into the gown so that it can be freshened whenever necessary. The waist itself is finished at the neck with three to five inch turned down collar of embroidered white linen or batiste, of lace or of the material itself, bordered with a scalloped edging. A soft tie of black or bright toned silk gives a becoming color contrast. Waist and skirt are all in one, but joined with a snugly fitting belt of linen or perhaps of soft silk, and the bodice and skirt must fit to perfection in this severely plain but exceedingly smart little gown.

Taffeta batiste is to be worn again this season and is especially effective when trimmed with heavy hand embroidery, but this material is reserved more or less for afternoon. While attractive in white it is especially good in the bright shades of pink, blue and green, which are always charming this time of year.

GINGHAM is a delightful weight textture for hot weather, and check gingahams made up simply, with just a bit of baby Irish lace at throat and wrist, are in vogue year after year. From small pin point check to those of regular check-or board size the checks are seen, but there is a size somewhat less than a half inch square that is especially smart and youthful. Great ingenuity may be displayed in the managing of all check materials, the texture being folded over upon itself, tucked and plaited in such wise as to give the effect of a solid color, and again an apparently all white band being placed where such an effect may be called for. Bands of plain colored lawn and oftentimes of linen are also employed in the trimming of the check gingham gowns this year.

On both linen and gingham gowns the sleeves are generally seen to be quite plain, long, of course, and finished at the wrist with a narrow edging of white. The yokes of the simplest gowns are all, however, exceptionally pretty and of fine workmanship. Net is not used so much now as sheer batiste, finest tucked organdie and thin lawn combined with some fine entre deux of Cluny or Irish lace. In one extremely simple linen gown was a high collar and narrow square yoke of organdie, relieved only with a tiny edging of crochet lace at the top of the collar, the same edging being noticed as a finish at the cuff of the long, plain sleeve.

IN only a few of the linen, pongee or gingham dresses is there any yoke at the back this season, the material itself coming to the edge of the collar and finished with a narrow revere effect in silk or embroidery. In front the yoke is narrow and generally square, although in a small number of the newer gowns a round yoke is to be seen. When a gown is finished without a high collar about the throat there is no yoke, of course, the gown being finished off at the throat with a soft silk tie or jabot of lace.

Collarless gowns will never remain in favor for city wear, but in the country the fashion is a delightfully comfortable one, and is, moreover, becoming to the majority of young girls. All exaggeration is to be avoided, of course, and especially in the linen and all somewhat heavy materials care must be taken to have the soft white turned down collar fasten well up to the throat, else the lines will be both ugly and in bad taste for the daytime.

Becoming Style for Dressing Hair

THE newest arrangement of the hair is a singularly becoming one to all young girls just graduated from the pigtail and ribbon stage. Any simple massing of the hair in a coil at the back of the head is becoming and youthful, and the girl who has a sufficient amount of hair should always place it far down toward the neck in some loose coil or knot until she is old enough to wear it in a more elaborate fashion.

A braid knot at the back of the head is, however, most unattractive. Better have the hair down her back until she is old enough for a more elaborate arrangement. The present manner of arranging the hair, however, calls for no Samsonlike mass, and the use of false puffs and curls is fast being discouraged, while, of course, the wearing of false hair is always out of the question for a schoolgirl.

The most becoming coiffure to be seen to-day for young girls who are past the braid and ribbon age consists of a soft pompadour of medium size, somewhat flat on the top and pulled out softly on the sides well toward the back, while at the back of the head is arranged a long single puff. To obtain this effect is most simple. The hair is first divided toward the front and back and the pompadour formed by three combs pushed in firmly. Often the hair is not divided at all, being simply pushed forward and the pompadour held in place by three combs, one of medium size for the centre, the others at each side.

Next the hair is taken all together in the right hand about half way down the centre of the head and tied there firmly with a narrow tape or else held by rolling lightly about it a thin strand of the hair itself, and held more firmly by a wire hairpin. Elastic bands should never be used for this purpose, as they break the hair distressingly when being removed. Once all the hair is secure the end is taken, rolled around the two forefingers, forming the large puff, which is fastened at each end underneath by long wire hair pins, the outside of the puff pulled only into shape at each end with two pins of medium length. A shell barrette, not too large, is then slipped below the puff to catch in any short hairs that would otherwise fall loose and give an unkempt appearance. At the top of the puff, bracing the front comb, may be put in two fancy shell hair pins. These will help to hold the hair in place, and with the shell combs and barrette be an attractive finish against the hair.

This long single puff may be evolved from any kind of hair of medium thickness, be it long or short, straight or of natural curl. Straight hair is, of course, more difficult to form in a puff, but with a little practice even the long, thin, stringy variety of hair can be coiled into a puff, which will give the effect of a great quantity of a woman's crowning glory.

If the hair is exceptionally long and thick or else sufficiently soft and wavy to be easily manageable, three puffs, the centre one noticeably the largest, will give a becoming line to the head. When the hair is naturally stiff and stands out well by itself there is always difficulty in keeping the pompadour within bounds and the knot or puff from standing out too far at the back of the head, but for a schoolgirl especially all exaggeration must be avoided. While, anyway, exaggerated headdresses are fast falling from favor.

Hints for the Straight Haired Girl

THE girl with straight hair has indeed a trying time of it during the summer months. In the dry, cold days of winter straight hair, if kept neat and trim, is rather a beauty than otherwise, but on the damp, muggy days when the stray ends of curly hair form into fascinating little whips and ringlets about the forehead, adding double charm to the owner, then the lot of the girl whose straight ends form anything but fascinating tendrils on her brow becomes hard indeed to bear.

She cannot wear a veil while indulging in a game of tennis, golf or any other form of exercise, nor, in fact, does a veil ever look appropriate for a young girl when a simple summer gown is worn, and the only hope for riddance is a hair net. A net, however, requires the utmost skill in adjusting in order that it may not flatten down the pompadour unbecomingly, and even then a net is not apt to look well on straight hair—for waving locks it, of course, not required. Fastened on as loosely as possible, with "invisible" wire pins and laid over only the front part of the hair, a net will be found most comfortable to wear for tennis, motoring, riding, &c., when loose strands blowing about are a real detriment to the enjoyment of the sport.

Often instead of a net it will be found sufficient to fasten up each short strand and stray lock with the invisible hair pins. The hair is first arranged as usual and then each short end taken and fastened in, and if there be not too many such locks to make the scheme impracticable, the plan is a good one to follow.

No girl should go to the seashore or in fact anywhere in summer without taking with her a good hair powder or else a package of powdered orris. In damp weather a small amount of the powder sprinkled on the hair and brushed out lightly will dry it out and make it far easier of arrangement. The powder will in no way injure the hair, will tend to clean it, in fact; but care should be taken not to allow it to get brushed into the roots, which would be apt to dry the scalp of the head too much.

Candle Shades and Sticks.

AMONG the most artistic of the new candle shades are some of green paper, cut out in rose designs and lined with red, rose, ciel, maise and white tissue. Others are water color hand painted in various delicately tinted floral patterns or decorated with narcissus or tulip blossoms arranged perpendicularly around the lower border of the shades.

Unique candlesticks are of willow with rice paper linings and of sweet grass, silk faced. Most novel of all are the Japanese hand made shades of deep brown wicker latticed over rice paper lining.

The sticks which any of these shades may be fitted over are of fumed oak in mission style, equipped with a block base and a crude handle; a tall, slender dark oak stick with a flat, circular base; long stems fitted into bulbs of seed pod shape, semi-coiled cobra designs in bronze and brass castings showing Russian patterns.

Equally adapted for holding artistic shades and decidedly more satisfactory than are the regulation candlesticks are the silver plated candle lamps, which look precisely like a candle and fit into a stick which holds oil and burns without odor. There are also small oil lamps which fit into any stick and have wicks which absorb all the oil in such a manner that tipping over the stick extinguishes the light.

PRACTICAL TALKS BY THE APRIL GRANDMOTHER

"DEW, sun and wind baths will do more for the hair than all the lotions ever concocted," declared the April Grandmother, as she scanned the throng of shoppers eagerly listening to the lecture of a luxuriantly golden locked woman demonstrator. "During the summer months it is especially difficult to keep the hair looking nicely, but if a young girl can muster sufficient energy to take a walk at dawn, let the dew fall upon her hair and dry gradually as the sun climbs upward, her hair, as well as her appetite and general health, will be greatly benefited. A summer shower, which is scarcely heavier than dew, is a blessing which no girl should fail to take advantage of, provided, of course, that she is not subject to cold. With feet and shoulders well protected from the dampness, but with head uncovered, she may quite safely take a very short walk, directly after which the hair should be thoroughly shaken and then dried with a silk handkerchief.

"Let the blessed sunshine fall freely upon your hair if you wish it to become crisp, fluffy and curling instead of continuing oily, heavy and straight." (The April Grandmother had succeeded in finding a straw hat of modest proportions, and frankly disapproved of her débutante granddaughter's mammoth headgear.) "Sunbeams can do wonders for the hair that huge hats have helped to destroy.

"Air the hair daily by shaking it out and allowing it to fly loosely for as long a time as possible. The girl who spends the summer months in the country can always find some secluded bower wherein her 'rat,' roll and puff mistreated locks may obtain the benefit of a sun, air and wind bath, and for at least half of each day she should arrange her hair in a loose braid, parting the locks above the brow in Madonna manner, as that makes a youthful face look additionally innocent and sweet.

"Moisture and sunshine are alike excellent remedies for dandruff or scurf, often the accompaniment of an exceedingly thick suit of hair and due to excessive action of the oil glands, which make the skin of the scalp either too moist or too dry. It is useless to seek to cure this condition by washing the head. While such treatment may produce a brief respite, the oily glands are stimulated to increased activity, and the last state is worse than the first.

For Amateur Art Workers.

AMATEUR art workers are becoming interested in a recently devised means of decorating various useful and ornamental household articles composed of celluloid, leather, fabrics, copper, brass, wood or bone carrying a stamped design. The only utensil necessary to do the work is a fountain pen shaped "art pencil" of brass encased in a turned wooden handle. This tool has an inner chamber into which a stick of paraffin can be placed and heated over any convenient heating apparatus. When the wax has been warmed to melting consistency the artist touches the pencil point to the portion of the design to be covered, and a sufficient quantity of wax to cover the stamping will be dispensed. With the stamping thus protected the background of the article can be painted, etched or dyed.

A salient feature in regard to decorating silken and other fabrics by this means is that after the paraffin has been applied to the design they can be immersed in dyes for coloring, after which the paraffin can be scraped and washed out with naphtha, thus exposing the design.

Brass, copper or bone is decorated by preserving the natural color with a wax application while the etching is done with an acid upon the stamped portion of the article.

"Too much reliance should not be placed on hair tonics and scalp massage. If a girl is anaemic, run down from overstudy or has a sluggish liver, her hair will soon begin to fall out or to look dry and faded, and the first step toward repairing these evils is to build up her health.

"Some young girls, in their anxiety to possess abundant tresses, literally wash the hair off their heads by a weekly or fortnightly soap and water shampoo. This treatment makes the locks temporarily fluffy, but it also dries the scalp, and, by robbing the roots of coloring matter, turns the hair gray. While one white lock above the temples may lend a débutante distinction, its presence indicates unintelligent care of the hair, or suggests that she has been experimenting with it in the hope of changing the color. And that is something from which the innately refined woman shrinks and at which nearly all men sneer, secretly or openly.

"Black hair is so rare a beauty that the girl who possesses it should be careful to keep it satin smooth and free from dust by frequent strokings with a velvet bristled brush occasionally moistened ever so slightly with olive oil.

"Brown hair so soon fades and turns gray that its rich, deep shades are only to be preserved by constant vigilance. One method of keeping it beautiful is to occasionally rub upon the scalp and locks a very little sour milk, allowing it to remain for a few moments and then washing it out with warm water.

"Blond hair should be washed with castile soap and water, then thoroughly dried in the sunshine whenever possible, as that helps to preserve the golden shades. Any preparation containing ammonia is apt to fade light hair and to give it an ashen tinge, while peroxide of hydrogen rinsings will bleach it so gradually that before a girl realizes what is happening she will find herself possessor of far more silver than golden locks."

Slippers and Hose for Summer

SMART slippers and hosiery are of quite as much importance in the finished appearance of a costume as the hat, gloves, belt or any of the so-called accessories. In summer time when short waists are worn by all it is especially necessary to have this part of the outfit as nearly perfect as the allowance will permit of. The simpler the dress the more perfect must it be—this is axiomatic in its truth, and therefore with the style of shirtwaist and skirt costume so generally worn in summer time the shoes and stockings must be of the smartest.

White is now worn almost altogether by young girls, and older women of course as well, and with the all white costume white shoes and stockings have been proven indispensable, no matter how abbreviated in length the waist may still be. Plain white lisle stockings therefore of medium weight and low shoes (not pumps) are smartest for general wear. Pumps are in keeping with afternoon dress, but the athletic girl who does not scorn to walk or ride a bicycle will infinitely prefer a comfortable hygienic low cut tie to a pump, which, slipping up and down as she walks, gives her an ungraceful stride, from which perhaps she will never recover, besides inflicting cruel holes in her fine stockings.

Buckskin is most generally preferred in white shoes, but canvas is cooler and, incidentally, is less costly. The newest white boots, slippers, pumps and tennis shoes are of cravenette, which, being waterproof, is excellent for general wear and, as the material can be cleaned, is most economical.

On pumps kid and metal buckles are being worn again in place of the flat ribbon bows. For ties grosgrain ribbon an inch and a half in width should be used. Even for tennis shoes ribbon is now preferred to the regular cotton strings, although the last are, of course, permissible.

In the city, for travelling and for wear with all gowns of dark shade, as the dark blue and rose colored linens, brown shoes and stockings are used with every shade of gowns save those few with which black harmonize better. Fine lisle stockings, not openwork, and ties, or, if preferred, suede pumps, are smartest in brown, and in the pumps the flat bows have given way, as in the white canvas and suede, to flat buckles of leather or nickel. Heels of medium height only are worn; never the French heel, save with evening dress.

In the evening kid or satin slippers and silk stockings are worn only with elaborate dress. Bronze slippers and stockings are always in good taste with a summer party frock, and black is constantly increasing in favor.

Even if she must stint herself on her belts and ties, no girl must allow the effect of her gowns to be spoiled by imperfect hosiery and shoes. In this she must follow the dictates of Dame Fashion. If suede is commanded instead of patent leather, as at present, suede slippers she must have, even though they be more difficult to keep trim and wear shabby more rapidly.

As to Girls Who Whistle.

THAT old adage "Whistling girls and crowing hens always come to some bad end" must be relegated to oblivion, for whistling has come into fashion, and it would be cruelty to prophesy calamity to all the girls now striving to attain proficiency in the art. Some girls take as naturally as boys do to whistling; while others have to cultivate it, and there are still others whose lips seem to refuse to pucker up in the fashion necessary for proper results. Boisterous whistling is not the sort in vogue, but sweet, birdlike rendering of melodic trills and medleys which, artistically done, is an attractive, clever accomplishment.

MILLIONS OF CELLS.

The human body is composed of countless millions of cells. These cells are constantly dying and new ones are being created. Dead cells are removed from the blood by the bowels, kidneys and skin. These great eliminating organs, filter this waste matter from the blood, and thus purify the blood.

If there is Constipation, or non-action of the bowels—if the kidneys are strained or weakened—if there is defective skin action—then the dead cells are not removed from the body. The blood thus becomes loaded with impurities, and we suffer for it.

The only way to purify the blood is to cure the skin, bowels and kidneys When these organs are healthy and doing their work as nature intended them to do it, waste matter is promptly removed and the blood is kept pure and rich. "Fruit-a-tives"—the famous fruit liver tablets—act directly on the skin, the bowels and the kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" purify the blood because they keep the whole body strong, vigorous and healthy. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.
